The Criminal Investigation Division at the McHenry barracks, working on leads developed by uniformed troopers, went to Morgantown, W.Va., where several consent searches were conducted that led to the recovery of much of the property allegedly missing from several apartments at Ski Harbor. Sgt. James Kerns, Cpl. R.J. Kesh, and Tfc. R.M. Hershberger investigated the case.

DRUG ARREST
A Pittsburgh man was arrested Sunday and charged with possession of CDS (controlled dangerous substance) paraphernalia.

According to a report filed by Tfc. C.E. Goldstrom, Shane Joseph Carpenter, 23, was stopped for a traffic violation on Rt. 219, near Lake Shore Drive. As he was attempting to locate the vehicle's registration card in the glove compartment, the officer observed suspected cocaine residue in plain view.

Carpenter was subsequently arrested on the CDS charge. He was later released on his own recognizance.

ONE-VEHICLE MISHAP
A one-vehicle mishap Monday evening sent two area men to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

According to MSP reports, Gary R. Chadderton, 23, and James L. Nicholas, 30, Oakland, were injured when Chadderton, operating a 1988 Hyundai, failed to negotiate a turn on the Bittering Road, causing the vehicle to cross the center line, run off the road and strike a tree. Both were listed in "stable" condition at Garrett Memorial Wednesday afternoon.

Another passenger in the vehicle, David L. Kitzmiller, was apparently uninjured in the 10:22 p.m. mishap.

Tfc. C.E. Goldstrom was the investigating officer, and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported the injured to the hospital.

TWO INJURED
Two Pennsylvania men were injured early Saturday morning following a single-vehicle accident on the Rock Lodge Road.

State police reports indicate Douglas Wilburn, 25, Salisbury, Pa., was driving a 1986 Pontiac Firebird, near the intersection with Rt. 495, when he swerved to miss a deer. The vehicle ran off the road and struck a utility pole, reportedly ejecting a passenger, Guy Gnagey, 32, Springs, Pa.

Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the 2:07 a.m. mishap, and transported Gnagey to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released, according to a hospital spokesperson. Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported Wilburn to Cumberland Memorial, where he was treated and released.

GCMH Awarded Accreditation From Nat'l Health Agency

Garrett County Memorial Hospital has successfully completed the tri-annual survey from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations, according to Benjamin Rosenthal, hospital president. The Joint Commission's two-day on-site survey of Garrett Memorial occurred in March.

"Above all, the national standards mandate that attention to quality be a top-level activity that permeates the entire organization," said Kenneth Hermann, ph.D., vice president for accreditation surveys at the Joint Commission. "As an example, the quality improvement and assessment standards expect health professionals to use indicators of quality to monitor and evaluate all areas of clinical care. This community should be proud that Garrett County Memorial Hospital is focusing on the most challenging goal -- to continuously raise quality to higher levels."

Within the area of patient care, Garrett Memorial achieved the highest available rating for the assessment of patients, treatment of patients with regard to medication use, and operative and other invasive procedures.

The hospital received 92 out of 100 possible points as compared with a score of 78 received three years ago when the previous survey was conducted.

"Accreditation by the Joint Commission is an assurance to patients and their families of the high level of quality care available at Garrett Memorial," Rosenthal said. "It is also confirmation of our commitment to continuously enhance our services to ensure that area residents are receiving the most comprehensive medical care available."

Rosenthal spoke of a hospital and medical staff whose members strive for excellence on a day-to-day basis and said he is pleased that through this survey, recognition can be given.

"In addition, this survey also offers an opportunity for educational sharing as the staff interacts with the team of surveyors," he added.

American Trust Plans 6th Charity Golf Tournament

American Trust Bank is planning its sixth annual Charity Golf Tournament to be held at the Oakland Country Club on July 22. The recipient of funds raised will once again be the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library.

The bank has sponsored a charity tournament of this nature for the last five years and has succeeded in raising over $52,000 for a number of philanthropic organizations through the generosity of area contributors, a spokesperson said.

The library, which is located in Oakland and serves all of Garrett County, conducts a fund-raising campaign each year during July. Without these needed funds, the library may not be able to continue providing services it has offered in the past, the spokesperson said. Proceeds from the tournament and the entire campaign help support the public library's worthy projects, such as the Children's Book Fund and the Bookmobile service.

A spokesperson for the Ruth Enlow Library reported that the largest segment of library materials used are those produced for children and young adults, which results in a more frequent need for replacement. The Children's Book Fund allows the library to continually replace these materials.

(children's books, reference sources, and video tapes) as necessary. Funds gained from the 1994 American Trust Bank Charity Tournament will be used for the Children's Book Fund.

Registration forms for the tournament are presently being accepted by American Trust Bank. The event has been planned to include the golf tournament, contests, prizes, and dinner. Businesses and/or individuals can participate by entering teams, sponsoring teams, or by simply contributing a donation. Interested persons should call American Trust Bank at 334-9450 or 759-0773, or the golf professional at Oakland Country Club, Wheeler Stewart, at 334-3883.

REAL SUCCESS . . .

The words shared by Southern High School valedictorian Richa Magoon at the school's recent commencement were most impressive, as they were filled with wisdom rarely grasped by a person of her age. The importance of striving for success was the theme of her talk, which was certainly neither unusual nor novel; but it was her definition of success that was so refreshing. She explained that real success is not something that is attainable through material wealth or how high one climbs the corporate and social ladders, but by establishing solid values, building friendships, and trying to be a person who lives by the golden rule; all non-material things that cannot be measured in dollars and cents. True happiness, contentment, and fulfillment are among those things that cannot be purchased.

With this in mind, our thoughts turn to former football star O.J. Simpson, a man with incredible athletic ability, intelligence, good health, charisma, lots of friends, and every single material item that he could ever want. But at this moment, he is one of the most miserable, depressed, pathetic individuals in the world today. There is no happiness, no fulfillment, no contentment. He had the world by the tail, but now his life is in shambles.

Despite the fact that most of the evidence suggests strongly that he is responsible for the violent deaths of his former wife and her companion, he will remain innocent unless and until proven guilty, and we sincerely hope that he is indeed innocent of this horrendous crime. It is truly sad when a hero of so many people comes crashing down in this manner. But innocent or guilty, his life is one of absolute misery right now, and all of his success on and off the playing field and in front of movie and television cameras is of virtually no value. There are few people in the world who would trade their lives for his. His fame and his millions of dollars in the bank cannot restore his happiness. They cannot purchase for him a new life with a new slate that is free of this most recent pain and despair.

There is nothing wrong with owning material things and working hard to climb the corporate and social ladders, as long as these goals are always secondary to the goal of being a fair, honest, caring, courteous person. We thank Ms. Magoon for reminding us of this fact, and we predict that, because of her insight, she will move on to tremendous levels of real success in the years to come.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

A quiet exodus has been taking place this month in Oakland. State employees have been very hush-hush about it, but while we weren't looking they were busy closing the Garrett County office of the Division of Rehabilitation Services (DORS). This office, formerly called the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR), serves people with disabilities.

DORS officials say Garrett County residents will still be served -- they just have to go to the Cumberland office or their counselor or has to come to an undisclosed location to meet with them. Considering the hazardous service Garrett County has been getting in recent months, even with a physical office here, this is not reassuring. There used to be a rehab counselor working out of the Oakland office on a daily basis. Now the "case load" is dispersed between four rehab counselors in the Cumberland office. They have been coming to Oakland on an "as-needed" basis. For anyone who has tried to reach one of them you know this hasn't been working very well.

We all know that transportation is the biggest obstacle for people with disabilities wherever they live, but this is especially true in Garrett County where we have no public transportation. Community Action provides a limited service for people with low incomes but there are no buses, taxis, etc. It will be quite a challenge for consumers to have to travel to Cumberland for their DORS appointments.

I don't think we should sit back and let one of the few state services that we have locally leave our community. Garrett County residents are taxpayers too and shouldn't have to travel to another county to get the services we are entitled to. If you object to the closing of the DORS office please call DORS' temporary Regional Director, Rod Fitz, at 301-791-4760, your state senator, John Hater, at 301-689-4666, and your House of Delegates representative, George Edwards at 301-895-5730. Please register your displeasure at this service being pulled out from under us.

I understand the lease at GW Plaza is up this month and the office secretary is retiring, but that doesn't mean the Garrett County DORS office can't be located somewhere else in the county and a new secretary hired. Grantsville might be a good location since counselors have to travel from the Cumberland area. It would be nice if one of the counselors would consider relocating to Garrett County to cover the entire case load on a daily basis. If the service is moved to Cumberland, does that mean we also lose the part-time secretarial position that was assigned to the Oakland office? It seems to me this is a lose-lose situation for the people DORS is supposed to be serving in Garrett County. They may be moving out quietly, but let's not "take it" that way.

Sincerely,
Lora M. Barnes,
Deep Creek Lake

To the Editor:

Thank you for the excellent write-up in the paper about the American Rivers Clean-up Day, May 18, 1994. Volunteers hauled over two yards of trash out of the Youghiogheny River between Swallow Falls and the bridge at Friendsville. Several area residents participated as a direct result of the article you published.

There were a number of landowners who for one reason or another did not want the river banks of their property cleaned, and those landowners' rights were respected. Since almost all the trash along the Yough comes from high water upstream of Swallow Falls far south as West Virginia, we hope to enlist the cooperation of more Upper Yough landowners next year. Those landowners who allowed us to clean their river banks are thanked, and their privacy is respected.

We need to improve our records somewhat for next year, but it is safe to say clean-up participants included 15 or more river guides, plus three or four volunteers who called in from the newspaper article, as well as official personnel and vehicles led by Jamie Adams from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. These men and women hauled all types of garbage through treacherous waters to loading stations from which the garbage was taken to the landfill.

We thank Bobby Lohr of Lohr Distributors for his generous donation of beverages. He helped to make the post-clean-up celebration a hit with the volunteers. And we especially thank Denny Merrill and his friends in the band "Parhelion." They played spectacular music for hours. There were long periods of time when the crowd was spellbound by their intricate vocal and instrumental exchanges.

We are grateful to the resident volunteers. The Republican, the MDNR, and the river professionals who helped make this year's clean-up a success.

Sincerely,
John Mason

To the Editor:

We commend Ms. Savage for offering a prayer at this year's graduation. Some letters to the editor have implied that prayer at graduation is illegal. There exists no law that prohibits prayer at graduation exercises. Some would say it is unconstitutional. Again, nothing could be further from the truth. The United States Constitution guarantees freedom of speech and student-led prayer is protected by this document. The words "separation of Church and state" do not appear in our Constitution!

The prayer at graduation did not force anyone to believe anything. It did not show intolerance nor did it take away anyone's right to choose their religion. It was simply her expression of her thoughts to her God. If the valedictorian had chosen to speak on communism, this would not be viewed as forcing this form of government on anyone. Student expression cannot be confined to viewpoints that are officially approved. The attorney general's opinion stating that prayer should not be permitted risks violating the Establishment Clause in addition to the Free Speech Clause and demonstrates government hostility toward religion.

In Lee vs. Wisman, the Supreme Court ruled only that when a public school official invites a member of the clergy to deliver graduation prayers and when the official advises the member of the clergy on how to deliver the prayers, the Establishment Clause is violated. The court did not rule that prayer was forbidden at graduation ceremonies. In Jones vs. Clear Creek Independent School Dist., the first case to be decided in light of Lee vs. Wisman, it was held that school officials could permit the graduation class to choose, by majority votes, to have prayer. The decision rests within the discretion of the senior class.

Sincerely,
Dr. and Mrs. Mark Domenick
Mr. and Mrs. John Skipper

GCC Board

ing standards for the teaching and learning of English, despite the withdrawal of federal support. His department has, however, already initiated changes to make sure the standards at GCC are being addressed without waiting for any kind of national standards.

"In many cases our standards are more demanding than those that are being set elsewhere," Brewster emphasized. "We have set our goals and objectives for the language arts program to enable students to communicate effectively and appropriately using informative, persuasive and expressive prose."

Other goals include developing students' language arts skills (reading, writing, research) that will permit them to be competitive in the job market; to enable the student to analyze, interpret and appreciate literature; and to enable the student to evaluate and interpret data. Brewster said. In compliance with GCC's "Characteristics of Excellence," and in cooperation with Vision 2004, the English department will strengthen its curriculum, better serve the needs of students, and bolster success rates for students by improving coordination with the department.

Brewster also discussed the English department's proposal to require a reading and writing entrance test, with students who score high on ACT/SAT test scores, or who have taken a college prep English course, being able to bypass the college entrance exam, and students failing to meet the entrance criteria will be placed in a developmental English program. There are several English courses, including English 90, 95, 99, 101, etc., and each will be suited to the student's level of readiness.

He added that by students taking the CTBS test in the 11th grade, a college prep English course in the 12th grade, and by the implementation of the Tech Prep courses in the county schools, many students are being directed on the right path to emerge better prepared for college after high school.

OTHER BUSINESS

Also discussed at Tuesday's meeting was GCC's recent commencement ceremonies. Eighty-nine students graduated and, according to Herman and Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, "everything went exceedingly well."

A report on GCC's new residence hall, Garrett Hall, included the distribution of the facility's housing guide, and an announcement that 25 paid deposits have already been received for the fall semester. "We are well along the way to a full-up residence hall when we open in September," Herman noted.

President Herman told the board about the Mtn. Top Chamber of Commerce's visit to the college. A presentation was offered by the college regarding some of the new technologies and associated services GCC can provide with its new capabilities, including the distance learning center, a computer generated bulletin board that anyone can access with a computer and a modem to get information about the college or the community, and GCC's new on-line capabilities which allow the college to digitize all sorts of visual entries that can be manipulated to meet the user's needs.

ACADEMIC REPORT

Dean Mitchell reported the second summer session has begun, and is basically an evening program. Summer school students usually work through the day and "look forward to taking courses at night," she said. Sixty-six students are enrolled, with six courses offered. Class enrollment averages 11 to one, which is a "healthy enrollment," Mitchell added.

Two science courses, chemistry and bio-science, are being offered this summer at GCC, and some students from Hood College and the University of Maryland are attending the college for these courses.

The full-time equivalency (FTE) is 7.9, part of which is because of four credit courses offered.

Mitchell announced to the board that a committee to select a psychology instructor for the college met, and her recommendation for the position is Dr. Paul Freda, a board certified psychologist who will be hired at an associate director rank. The board approved Dr. Mitchell's recommendation.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Dr. Herman, acting dean of administration, told the board the college is running on even spending, at 93 percent.

He noted the cash flow showed a spike on May 31, because of salaries and fringe benefits, and he noted it was, in part, because of an unusual payday during the month of May.

West Virginia reciprocity was also discussed by Herman. He noted the reciprocity is capped at $90,000, and GCC's West Virginia enrollment far exceeds the cap. If the college received appropriate reimbursement from the state, he said, the amount would exceed $150,000. Legislation is underway to increase the state-legislated cap, so that it is more in line with reality, Herman concluded.

Concerning the FY'95 funding for GCC, Herman reported the college received in excess of $1.6 million.

He also reported the Garrett County Commissioners funded all capital requests for FY'95 to meet the local match requirement for the state-funded capital projects ($130,000) for the county. Another $30,000 was requested for general capital costs, but it was reduced by $12,000, which he feels will work out for the college.

NEW BUSINESS

A letter received by the board of trustees, from the Foundation Scholarship Selection Committee, named Betty Durst of Northern High School, and Sheri Nelson of Southern High, as the 1994-95 Board of Trustees Scholarship recipients.

A search for a head resident at Garrett Hall ended in the recommendation of Cliff Everett for the position. Herman indicated Everett is well trained in dealing with and relating to people, and has the respect of the students. The board approved Herman's recommendation. Everett will begin his position on July 1.

A search to name a director of accounting was also conducted, with Michelle Quinn, Friendsville, as the college president's recommendation. Quinn has a bachelor of science degree in accounting, and currently works for attorney Craig Ingram in Oakland. She, too, was approved by the board of trustees, and will also begin her job on July 1.

A search for a new dean of administration, to replace Ted Along, who recently announced to the board his intention to not renew his contract, is currently underway. Herman indicated the search is "moving forward" and he hopes to have a new dean on board by September.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of June 27-July 1 is as follows:

Day 1 - Tomato aspic on lettuce, chicken w/mushroom gravy, rice, peas, wheat bread, apricots.

Day 2 - Tossed salad w/green peppers, tomatoes, and carrots. Spaghetti w/tomato meat sauce, Italian bread, spicy summer fruit.

Milk, Coffee, and tea are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Note: Friendsville Senior Citizens are now being served at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant at noon instead of 1 p.m.

Dog Days in June?

"One extreme follows another," the old gardener said. After 10 days of temperatures in the 90's, his adage came to mind. Considering the winter we had (snow, low temperatures and especially ice from Christmas until almost Easter) what could we really expect from summer but three months of sweltering heat?

When the temperature and the humidity are both above ninety, I think it must be dog days. Sirius, the dog star, does not get to the right spot in the sky to commence his days until July 3. Who knows? Maybe somebody got the dates mixed up on this year's schedule. Old heat and humidity got started early this year in any case. I sure didn't look for dog-days-like weather during the final week of spring.

We had a morning thunder and lightning storm the other day. I had to get out of the shower and run around the house (in my bathrobe) shutting all the windows. By the time I finished closing them and mopping up the water that blew in, the rain was over, and I went back around the house (more slowly this time) re-opening the windows.

I don't mind the heat during the day. When heat persists through the night to the point that sleeping is a fitful endeavor, at best, then I do wonder about it a bit. I decided a few years ago that life is too short not to enjoy all of it. So, as an act of the will, I revel in the heat, sweat (just like the horses) rolling out of every pore, and a cool drink to hand. There were one last sliver of chill hiding somewhere in my bones from last winter the past ten days have safely chased it into oblivion.

One of my daily pleasures, in all seasons, and something that often gives me quiet joy, is my walk with the dogs just before bedtime. I have two beagles, mother and daughter, who are wonderful companions indoors or out.

On the clear nights, when the stars are most visible, our walks are the best. It does not matter if I am bundled against the wind and cold or wearing a sweat-drenched t-shirt. I love looking at the stars, and have no trouble understanding how the ancients spun wonderful stories as they tended their sheep in fields far from shelter.

The planets have put on quite a show over the past few months, and promise even more in the weeks to come. Jupiter, the planet named for the god of war, has staked out his place in the southeastern sky. Venus, the planet named for the goddess of love, has shown her diamond-like radiance in the northwestern corner of the sky. They will gradually move toward each other, night by night, until they travel in the same quadrant of the heavens.

I can imagine tales of courtship, but also of rivalry and intrigue. War and love, two of life's most potent themes, would be woven into the story, all derived from what scientists would tell us is mere planetary motion. For the shepherds, watching those stars must have alternated with dreaming until on waking at dawn, they hardly could distinguish between their stories and their dreams. That they took such an intertwining of memories as divine revelation we can conceive easily enough.

Jupiter will be bombarded by fragments of a comet on July 16-21. Astronomers tell us we won't be able to see the fragments hit Jupiter because they will land on the surface facing away from us. We may be able to see a flash, a very small flash, during the hour after impact. What would shepherds have made of that without the benefit of advance warning? That too would be worked into the story of Jupiter and Venus, rivals and lovers.

The nights have been hazy, and the moon has been waxing. Both trends have made stargazing a little more difficult during the past week. The planets are so bright that they still shine through. Also because of their brightness they appear first in the evening. It is fun to look for them as twilight passes into night.

If some star observes the beagles and me during our evening walk, does he laugh? The beagles poke along, their noses to the ground, sniffing up every stray odor, pausing here, and pulling away into another direction. While the dogs have their heads down, the man aims his head upward, swinging his eyes around the sky, taking in the order of the universe, and delighting in the occasional meteorite streaking across the sky, more fleeting even than a single Roman candle on the Fourth of July. If the stars could study us as we study them, what tales might they spin?

The town of Accident will have its annual 4th of July homecoming, beginning with opening ceremonies Friday, June 17, from 7-11 p.m., at the Flowery Vale Center. On Monday, July 4, festivities continue from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. A firemen's parade begins at 11 a.m. on Main Street. Activities and food will be available throughout the day. An art exhibit will be at the Flowery Vale Center, July 3, from 1:30-5 p.m., and July 4-5 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. For more information, persons may call 746-6346.

DANCE

The Terra Alta VFW Post #78 will be hosting a dance on Saturday, June 25, from 9:30 p.m. until 1 a.m. at the Post home, located on Washington St., Terra Alta, W.Va. Music will be provided by Borderline. Admission will be $3 per person, or $5 per couple.

THE GRANTSVILLE VOLUNTEER FIRE Department swung into action this week in preparation for the 17th annual Grantsville Days, set for this weekend. The volunteers are pictured as they begin the tedious task of assembling dozens of permanent prefabricated sections into booths that will be used by various organizations during the festivities. The project of transporting, assembling, and eventually returning the sections to storage requires scores of volunteer labor hours. Photo by C. Spelcher front tire blew, causing her to lose control. The car reportedly skidded into the center median and struck a guardrail.

Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the 2:30 p.m. accident, as did the Eastern Garrett fire company.

DNR Police Make Drug Arrest At Swallow Falls

A Pennsylvania man was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia at the Swallow Falls State Park campground last week, according to a press release from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Robert R. Daniels, 39, Eighty Four, was arrested following an incident that occurred at 12:05 a.m. at a camp site when DNR Park Rangers Michael Cooper and Timothy McMillan "observed suspicious activity," according to reports.

An unspecified quantity of marijuana and drug paraphernalia were found on the site, according to the rangers.

Daniels was lodged in the Garrett County Jail and later released on a $300 bond.

Probation Violator Sentenced To Two Years In Prison

A man convicted of violation of probation received a reimposed jail term of two years, as handed down by Judge Fred A. Thayer of Garrett County Circuit Court. John L. Armstrong, 38, Mountain Lake Park, pleaded guilty to the probation violation charge in proceedings last week.

Armstrong was originally convicted in February 1993 of resisting arrest and attempting to elude an officer of the law, according to the court document. At that time, he was sentenced to three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections with two of those years suspended.

In August 1993, the defendant was charged with probation violation after he apparently ceased to contact his probation agent, quit his job, and moved to a new residence without contacting his agent. He was also charged with writing a bad check, according to the report.

Thayer reimposed the remaining two years in the department of corrections.

Armstrong received credit for time served, which was 38 days.

In a separate case, an Oakland man pleaded guilty to distributing a non-controlled dangerous substance as a controlled dangerous substance. Thayer sentenced Ronald W. Cogley, 32, to one year in the Garrett County Jail, according to the court document.

Cogley was arrested in August 1993 when he reportedly sold "Black Opium" incense to a confidential informant, telling the buyer that the substance was actually hashish.

GCC Board

a document that was presented to the administrative council. It was then redrafted and approved.

The document, according to Herman, is an omnibus document that covers both sexual assault and sexual harassment. "Sexual assault" involves sexual advances, physical or verbal, that become violent in nature...according to the policy, and "sexual harassment" involves persistent, unwelcome behavior, requests for sexual favors, or other irritating and unwelcome sexual conduct.

The new policy at GCC will cover both students and employees. Two approaches are offered to dealing with complaints. Students will be directed to the director of student services, and employees to the director of personnel. Each then follows the procedures for addressing complaints of this nature, Herman noted. The board unanimously approved the Sexual Assault Policy for GCC. A final item on the agenda, presented by Dr. Herman, involved concerns by employees at GCC that titling is not coherent across the board. The organization of a Salary Committee allowed all titles to be reviewed, and gave each employee the opportunity to have a title review. The committee created the title of "associate dean," which was given to Manning Smith and Lowell Bender. This puts them on par with their peers throughout the state," Herman indicated, but does not change their compensation at all.

The next meeting of the GCC Board of Trustees will be July 19.

Southern Middle School Student Contest Winner

Stacy Lewis, who just completed the eighth grade at Southern Middle School, was named the Garrett County winner in the statewide Pamela Basu Science Writing Competition, sponsored by the W.R. Grace Corporation.

Miss Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lewis, Oakland, wrote an environmental awareness poem titled Treasure the Chesapeake, which appears at right.

She was also recently named the winner of a U.S. Achievement Academy award in the category of English. She was nominated for the honor by Marianne Green, English teacher at Southern Middle.

U.S. Achievement Academy award winners are selected based upon a variety of criteria, including the student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership abilities, citizenship, and dependability, plus the recommendation of a teacher, coach, or other school official.

The biographies of all award winners appear in the Academy's yearbook.

Treasure The Chesapeake

By Stacy Lewis

Eighth Grade

Southern Middle School

IMAGINE

Clear waters, what a lovely sight!
Beautiful sunsets,
Lush green marshes,
Healthy fish, crabs, and other bay creatures.
There are many other wonderful things about the Chesapeake Bay.

BUT,

everyday it's being polluted acid rain is being found in the water.
The Sulfuric and Nitric acids are damaging the land.
Trees are dying, fish are being killed.
Trash is being brought to the bay through the watershed.

All the way from New York, trash and things have been carried through the watershed.

All the things found in the Potomac River are being deposited in the Chesapeake Bay.

PEOPLE

need to start taking consideration for the trash they throw away, it could end up in the Chesapeake Bay need to start recycling, not only to help the Chesapeake Bay, but also the Earth.

It's like people don't care about the Chesapeake Bay anymore.

People don't care what they eat, it could have acid in the food.

I treasure the Chesapeake Bay,

I love the water,

I want to be able to keep the nature that is left there alive and healthy.

I love nature and want to preserve the nature.

Learning in school brings matters closer at hand.

Schools actually make you think about the future and I'm glad for that.

I would like to see the clear waters, healthy trees, lush green marshes, and healthy animals in their original habitat.

Meals On Wheels Program Seeking Local Volunteers

The Garrett County Meals On Wheels program, which delivers meals to homebound Oakland area residents, is now seeking volunteers to become drivers and visitors on the Meals On Wheels team.

A group of volunteers from St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, originated the program in 1979 under the assistance of Pastor Richard Seaks. The program is now administered under the Garrett County Health Department and enables individuals to maintain their independence and to continue to reside in their homes.

Each day, Monday through Friday, a hot meal and a snack are taken to the homes of approximately 24 individuals by volunteers who use their own vehicles.

Menus are planned and prepared under the guidance of a licensed dietitian at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and special diet requests are accommodated.

A weekly fee of $12.50 is charged to people of any age or economic status who are unable to shop or to prepare meals for themselves because of illness, injury, or disability. To be eligible, persons must also live within a five-mile radius of Oakland.

Approximately 100 volunteers currently contribute over 7,000 hours of their time to this community effort.

Meals are also delivered on major holidays if they fall on a week day.

"The severe weather during the past winter caused only about two cancellations of delivery, which illustrates the dedication of the volunteers," said Mary Warther, a Meals On Wheels volunteer since 1992.

Persons needing more information about the program or who are interested in becoming a volunteer should call the Garrett County Health Department at 334-8113, ext. GE5.

Local Students Among Those On ACC Dean's List

Students numbering 265 were named to the Allegany Community College dean's list for the spring 1994 semester, according to Dr. Gene Hall, ACC vice president of instructional affairs. Six local students were included in the list.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must earn a 3.8 or higher grade point average on a 4.0 scale and be enrolled in five or more semester hours of course work.

Those local students named were Daniel S. Christopher, Laryssa J. Iapp, Melissa E. Miller, and Toni K. O'Donnell, all of Grantsville; and Swanton residents Patsy J. Bolyard and Tina Tichnell.

Savage River State Forest will offer an evening canoe trip on Friday, June 24. The spaces available are limited, and sign-up will be on the first come, first served basis.

All trip equipment will be provided with the cost of $2 per person. Participants should sign up at the Savage River State Forest office or call 895-5759 or 746-8359.

The trip will begin at the Dry Run boat launch, located at the intersection of Dry Run and Savage River roads. Starting time will be 6 p.m. and the tour will last two hours. Forest Naturalist Eric Savage will serve as leader.

New SHARE Site Designated In Oakland Area

A new SHARE (Self-Help and Resource Exchange) site has been designated in Oakland. The Apostolites of Oakland joined SHARE Western Maryland, and this month's distribution is set for June 25. For information on July registration and distribution dates, persons should call Patricia Hinkle at 334-9646.

SHARE is a non-profit, community development program. In exchange for $13.50 and two hours of volunteer service, each participant will receive about $30 worth of nutritious, fresh food once a month. There are no income guidelines involved.

SHARE is sponsored by Catholic Charities and is a self-supporting program. Warehouse space is donated by Pitt Ohio Express in Cumberland.

The food package is guaranteed to have four to five meats, eight to 10 produce items, and one to three staple items. Each month the menu changes to provide variety for participants.

All persons are welcome to participate in the program. One of the primary goals of SHARE is to encourage community building by stimulating the idea of one-to-one service. The two hours of community service can take the shape of any person helping someone outside of his or her family without receiving payment.

Examples include assisting any church or community organization such as Red Cross, Boy Scouts, 4-H, little leagues, PTA, hospitals, nursing homes, state parks, or others.

SHARE is a nationwide program that operates on a monthly cycle. SHARE Western Maryland is a satellite of SHARE Baltimore. Other Garrett County SHARE sites include Bloomington, Accident, and Swanton.

A meeting concerning starting a site in Grantsville will be tonight at St. Ann's in Grantsville at 8 p.m. Interested persons are invited to attend.

For further information on SHARE sites in Allegany and Garrett counties, persons may contact local SHARE representative Melanie Pratt Dimas at 301-729-3429.

Lions To Install New Club Officers

The Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club will be installing new officers at the next meeting, scheduled for Monday, June 27, at 7 p.m., at Broadford Park in Mtn. Lake Park. The installation will be conducted by District Governor Roy Cook, from the Cumberland Lions Club.

In other news from the club, a recent auction of items donated from local businesses and individuals brought in approximately $5,000, which will be used in the community for various projects such as the fire departments, Habitat for Humanity, Hospice of Garrett County, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Southern athletics and band, Little League baseball, soccer, football, Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and others.

White Cane Days was also held recently and brought in over $1,300 to be used in helping those individuals in the community with sight problems.

Lions International is the world's largest service club with over 1.2 million members, and clubs located all over the world with the common purpose of assisting those with sight problems and with other community activities.

"The Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions are very pleased and proud to be able to assist the various individuals and groups of the Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, and Deer Park areas," stated Jerry Ferguson, president.

Jennifer Thorn Attains 4.0 GPA

Jennifer Thorn, Mtn. Lake Park, completed her junior year at the University of Maryland, College Park, with a 4.0 grade point average.

Thorn is enrolled in the dietetics program in the College of Agriculture. The college dean appointed her to serve as a student ambassador in the dietetics field. During the spring semester, she was inducted into Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society.

Thorn is also a member of the Food and Nutrition Club, the University of Maryland President's Colloquium, and the College Republicans.

She is the daughter of Don and Carolyn Thorn of Mtn. Lake Park.

Chester H. Sines Files For Sheriff

Chester H. Sines, former chief of police of LaGrange, Ohio, and a seven-year veteran police officer, has filed on the Democrat ticket as a candidate for Garrett County Sheriff.

Sines is a 1964 graduate of Southern Garrett County High School. He entered the U.S. Army in 1960, and served in Vietnam as a staff sergeant (E-6), from 1967-68. He received an honorable discharge and a Purple Heart. He has an associate degree in police science, and one year of psychology from Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio.

"My goals as sheriff will be to maintain a highly effective, highly motivated sheriff's department that relies on teamwork," said Sines. "In this way, we will be able to best serve the citizens of Garrett County, and do the job required of the sheriff's department."

Sines is employed by Deep Creek Ready Mix, and is a member of the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren. He resides at Swallow Falls with his wife, Linda, and their children, Cheryl, Bryant and Crystal. Linda L. Sines is serving as the candidate's treasurer. Campaign contributions may be mailed to Rt. 5, Box 4735, Oakland 21550.

WVU Faculty To Work On NASA's Unmanned Airplane

West Virginia University and Fairmont State College will be working with an aircraft design company located in Bridgeport to develop an unmanned airplane to do scientific research at altitudes of 16 miles above the planet.

Richard Walters, associate chairman of WVU's Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering, said in addition to faculty in the College of Engineering, researchers in the Liberty College of Arts and Sciences will also be involved in the project. The aircraft, named Theseus, is part of NASA's Mission to Planet Earth program, a global-scale study of the interaction of all environmental factors that make up the Earth system.

Planet Earth is to achieve, for the first time, an understanding of the processes that control the atmosphere and oceans of Earth so that accurate predictions can be made.

Kevin Niewoehner, NASA THESEUS program manager, said he is pleased with how the program will involve education and the private sector.

"The THESEUS UAV will provide Earth scientists with unprecedented access to the upper atmosphere," he said. "NASA views the THESEUS development activity as an outstanding opportunity to engage government, private industry and academic enterprise -- from the vo-tech student through post doctoral researchers, in this vital aerospace endeavor."

Sen. Robert C. Byrd announced recently that The National Aeronautics and Space Administration awarded $6 million -- $1 million to WVU, $100,000 for Fairmont State and $4.9 million to Aurora Flight Sciences of West Virginia -- to develop the plane, which will be used to survey environmental changes.

Dr. Walters, who has been at WVU since 1959, said the plane is expected to be flying by 1996. It is being designed to provide long-range, high-altitude data gathering without the cost associated with manned aircraft.

"We're going to do supporting research," Walters said. "And we hope to do some long-range planning in what these aircraft will be used for and what critical technologies need to be developed."

The planes will be effective in economically collecting weather data and monitoring carbon dioxide levels, plus it will be able to fly over the poles to obtain information on ozone levels. "The plane represents a relatively inexpensive way to gather data," he said.

Walters said the research will benefit students. "Students will definitely be involved at the company that is building the plane and engineers will be cooperating with us in the classroom," he said. "This is great because it will provide opportunities for students and it involves research in the areas our professors are interested in."

The plane will be assembled at the Robert C. Byrd National Aerospace Education Center of Fairmont State College and flown from nearby Benedum Airport.

Hike/Canoe Trip To Be Held At Savage River

Savage River State Forest will offer a day hike canoe trip on Saturday, July 2, beginning at the Monroe Run hiking trail at 9 a.m. The trip will continue down the Monroe Run trail for approximately five miles to Big Run State Park.

The canoe trip will be on the Savage Reservoir, and will last for approximately two hours.

The trip will be led by Forest Naturalist Eric Savage and will conclude at 4 p.m. at the Monroe Run parking lot, one mile north of Rt. 495 on the New Germany Road.

Spaces are limited and are available only on a first-come, first served basis. The cost of the trip is $5 and all equipment will be provided.

Interested persons may sign up at the Savage River State Forest or call 895-5759 or 746-8359.

Poster Contest Heightens Elder Abuse Awareness

A recent poster contest, sponsored by Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, titled "Elder Abuse Prevention," was conducted for county elementary and middle school-age students, to heighten community awareness about the tragedy of elder abuse, according to a spokesperson from the agency.

Winning posters were created by Amber Gregory, Red House Elementary; Cheera Rinker, Accident

Elementary, and Mark Like, Northern Middle School.

The posters were displayed at a workshop, titled "Financial Exploitation of the Elderly," sponsored by the local agency on aging, along with the Garrett County Department of Social Services, the Geriatrics and Gerontology Education and Research (GGER) Program of the University of Maryland, Baltimore, and the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC).

The students were also recognized during a luncheon with the senior citizens at Flowery Vale Senior Center and the Mary Browning Senior Center. Each will receive a $50 U.S. savings bond for their participation in the contest.

Small business health plans? It's time to exercise your options.

1. It's time you had a choice.

The only choice a lot of health insurers offer small employers is simple:

Take it or leave it. Not us. Because though Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland* is one health care company, we have more choices when it comes to health coverage for your employees.

Whether you're looking to offer a high quality HMO, an Opt-out plan that provides your employees with convenience and savings but also lets them choose doctors outside of the network, or even traditional health insurance where they can pick any doctor they want, you'll find the coverage you're looking for -- at a cost you can handle.

2. The most for your money.

When you choose Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland you gain a partner that's as interested as you are in working to keep health care costs in line. Each of our health care options is designed for maximum cost efficiency. On the average 85 cents, or more, of every premium dollar goes directly toward providing health care.

3. We make it easy.

When you choose a health coverage option from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland, it's easier for you to do your job. You'll Plus, depending on the options you choose, you'll benefit from programs designed to reduce the paperwork and administrative load on you and your staff. Features such as no-balance billing or no claims to file so your employees won't have to worry about paperwork or paying a portion of a doctor's bill, freeing up valuable time and money for both of you.

4. We offer quality care.

Your employees want access to quality health care in convenient locations, and that's what they'll get no matter which Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland coverage options you offer them. Whether it's from the fully-credentialed doctors and professionals in our HMO networks, the variety of physicians and specialists to choose from in our

Opt-out plans, or a network of more than 20,000 health care providers with our traditional coverage, your employees will get the quality care they want and need.

5. One health care company.

Finding a range of coverage options when deciding which health plans to offer your employees can be a daunting task. Just researching all of the coverages and all of the companies takes up too much time. But it can be easier. A lot easier. Drama Students Portray Historic County Persons

Students in Jane Avery's drama class at Southern High School were instructed this spring to prepare a final project involving historic personages of their own county. Each student chose a famous (or infamous) Garrett Countian, researched the individual, and prepared a five-minute staged monologue, which they performed for their classmates and Avery as a final exam.

"The students really got a kick out of this project," Avery said. "They discovered that there is a great deal of very interesting history right here at home."

The English and drama teacher explained that the students utilized back issues of The Glades Star for research on their characters. The students chose various individuals based on various reasons.

"Some chose people who had the same last names, others picked figures they had admired in the past," Avery said. Who the students chose was not as important as was how well they "got to know" their characters, mainly because, as Avery stated, five minutes on stage can seem like a lifetime if one is not fully prepared and knowledgeable of his or her role. Each student chose a moment in the life of his or her character and noted the current "goings on," and then remembered past experiences that had put them on certain paths in life. Andrew Wildesen portrayed Corporal Parker S. Rhodeheaver as he remembered a terrifying day during World War I, and Jason Huber as John W. Garrett told of his railroad difficulties during the Civil War. Mary Browning, portrayed by April Melton, talked of her busy life as wife and mother in untamed, primitive Garrett County, and Ruth Enlow, played by Missy Gidley, spoke of the importance of books and reading. Derek Spirk presented his personification of Meshack Browning, offering rigorous hunting lessons to all audience members.

Other students and the historic characters they portrayed were Ryan Anderson as Convict Ralph Anderson, Wendy Callicot as Elizabeth Key-Howard, Jeremy Graham as Capt. Charles E. Hoyer, Kelly Millican as Harriet Enlow, Dane Huxford as Alonzo D. Naylor, Meghan Price as Fanny Berkeley Ward Hinebaugh, and Krysta Stacy as Catherine Lower Thompson.

"This was a fun project for everyone," Avery said. "We've all learned interesting things about Garrett County history."

"A Sheriff For The People"

I am Corporal Randy Sines, a Republican candidate, for Sheriff of Garrett County.

I want to be the sheriff who represents all the citizens of Garrett County. I will work together with all police agencies, citizen groups and civic organizations to insure the safety and well-being of its citizens.

I am soliciting funds for my campaign. Any contribution will be greatly appreciated.

"How To Watch A Soccer Game"

PART IV

by Dave Spirk

This is the final article in this series designed to give you a basic understanding of the game of soccer. Part I focused on some of the game facts. Part II cited the Laws of the Game. Part III focused on Positions and Strategy. Now, let's take a look at the

People have commented to me recently that soccer seems to be quite different from other sports because the referees seem quieter and use a minimal amount of signals. This is a good observation and it speaks well for the men in black (or turquoise for some international games). That is exactly what they are trained to do. The referee is schooled to not impact the outcome of a game. His role is simply to do two things: ensure the safety of the players and enforce the Laws of the Game.

First, let's talk about the crew. A preferred grouping of referees includes the field referee and two linesmen. Other options exist, but are never used in sanctioned international games.

The Linesman

The job of the linesman is to signal when a ball goes out of play (the whole ball across the line) and who gets possession for the throw-in. This is done with a flag he holds and points in the direction of possession.

His second function is to signal "offside" calls. He is to position himself even with the next to the last defender so he can clearly make this call.

If he sees this type of infraction he will stand still at the point it occurred and raise his flag for the referee to stop play and award an indirect free kick to the defending team. (However, he may be waved off if the referee disagrees with his call.)

Third, he is to look for fouls and misconduct the referee may not be able to see from his position on the sideline.

He is also entrusted to call corner kicks by pointing his flag at the corner of the field and goal kicks by pointing at the goal box. Both of these occur when the ball goes out of play over the goal line. He makes his judgment based on who touched the ball last.

The linesman must also be in position to see when a goal is scored. He signals this by running up the sideline where he is ready to restart play.

He may have other duties like backing up time and score keeping, but basically he uses only three signals, all of which are done with the flag. He doesn't even have a whistle!

Referee

The field referee works with the flow of the game. He runs with the play and should never be more than 10 to

TO RUN IN AUSTRALIA - A unique opportunity awaits two members of the Southern High School boys' cross country team who have been selected by World Sports Exchange to participate in the City to Surf Race in Australia in August. Todd Howard, left, and Charlie Wesley, right, who will be juniors this fall on Coach Carl Booth's (center) reigning 1A state championship team, will spend 10 days "down under" (Aug. 7-17), training in the "Outback" with some of the nation's top collegiate coaches for several days and then running in the City to Surf Race, the largest distance race in the world. Some 40,000 runners from all over the world participate in the 10-mile event, which begins in the city of Sydney and ends on the ocean beach. Persons interested in making a donation to help the local boys defray their travel expenses are asked to contact Coach Booth at 693-7891.

15 yards away from the action in order to be in a position to see what is going on. He must look regularly at his linesmen for their signals from the sidelines. He is to blow his whistle only to start the game, start a new time period, when an infraction occurs, to start play on a penalty kick, and to end any time period. A minimal number of whistles are used in order to keep the game moving and to allow an attacking team the advantage of a quick re-start following an infraction or ball out of play.

The referee uses only six hand signals. He will hold his hand straight in the air to indicate an indirect free kick. He will hold his hand in the air at an angle to indicate the direction of play on a restart and also to signal a direct free kick. He will also point either to the goal box or corner kick area when signaled by his linesmen. He may also point to the Penalty Spot to indicate a serious foul and the award of a penalty kick. The sixth hand signal is made with both hands down and pushing forward (like he's rolling a large ball).

This signal is used to indicate "advantage." This call means that the referee did in fact see a foul committed; however, the team with possession of the ball did not lose control of the ball and, rather than stop play, the referee decided it was to the attacking team's advantage to keep the ball in play. (This is a tough one for parents to watch and understand, especially if it was your kid who was fouled!)

As far as safety of the players goes, only the referee may decide to call off or suspend a game because of weather.

One other call that is often misunderstood by spectators occurs when a player is down on the field. (Another tough one for parents to watch when it's your kid.) The referee may, at his discretion, allow play to continue until either a stoppage of play or when play moves in the direction of the downed player where further injury may be possible. This is done to prevent teams from faking an injury to stop an attack.

That's about it. The game is designed to continue play as much as possible. It's done with hand signals and flags to assist international play so language isn't an issue. It's meant to be played in a safe and controlled manner. Love the Ref! He's there to help.

Final Wrap

The crowd can be as much fun to watch during the World Cup as the game itself. Nationalistic pride is displayed by thousands of fans wearing team colors, waving flags, and singing, to encouraging their team on the field.

From time to time there may be boos when they disagree with a call by the officials, but this is not a prominent part of the game. One key difference from American sports is whistling from the crowd. In the U.S., we encourage our teams this way. International soccer fans whistle to disapprove of the way either team is playing!

It's a great sport that will get you hooked quickly on its strategy, tactics, and continuous action. I truly hope you enjoy your new-found sport and that you'll come to love it even after the World Cup games have concluded on July 17!

This concludes this four part series. Reprints may be ordered from the author by sending $8 to: Soccer Watch Dave Spirk, P.O. Box 2446, Mtn. Lake Park, MD 21550.

Central Garrett tied the game, 8-8, in the bottom of the fourth inning, but allowed the visitors four more runs in the fifth, never a gain to regain the lead.

Also contributing to George's Creek's win were Eric Schramm, with a double and RBI, and Jon Miller, with two RBI. The team is now 5-3 for the season.

Andy Brenneman had a double, two singles and four RBI to lead Central Garrett. Nick Mitchell doubled, singled and had three RBI, and E.J. Schofield added two singles and two RBI for the losing team.

In a Saturday afternoon pitcher's duel at Northern High School, Central Garrett's Jason King had three singles, driving in three runs, to lead his team to a 5-4 win over the Keyser Moose.

Keyser held a 4-0 lead before Central scored twice in the bottom of the fifth and had three hits in the sixth. Scott Sisler pitched four hitless innings, and Andy Brenneman was on the mound for the final three, to net the win.

Central Garrett continued its winning streak Monday with an 18-4 win over Victory Post 155 in Westernport.

The Oaks scored seven runs in the first inning and 10 in the second, breezing easily past their opponents. Matt Settle and Zach I evening each doubled and singled for Central. Victory Post's Scott Sisler and Dennis Wolfe both tripled, and Jeremy Reed singled twice for the losing team.

Free Fishing Day Offered On July 4

The Department of Natural Resources, Forest and Park Service, have announced a "free fishing day" on July 4. In conjunction with the free fishing day, New Germany State Park will host a fishing rodeo on that date from 9 a.m. to noon.

All contestants must register to be eligible to win prizes, and registration will be held at the boat dock facility.

Local Bikers Fare Well In Canaan Race

by Donna Lee

The third annual "24 Hours of Canaan" mountain bike race began at noon Saturday June 4, at Timberline Ski Resort, and the first finishers cranked across the finish line just after noon on Sunday, June 5.

Approximately 1,000 riders had started arriving Thursday, some staying in condos, some in tents, all done to a toast by Sunday afternoon. The "24 Hours" is a relay race; bikers take turns eating, sleeping, riding the 11-mile loop, then cleaning up to start all over again -- all day long, all night long. Top teams had mechanics to clean and repair their bikes; most riders did their own.

Men's first place pro team consisted of Gunnar Shogren, riding for Diamond Back; Roger Bird for Nuke Proof; Brad Erickson for Trek; David Duvall, a Baltimore courier riding for Trek; and Philip Meyers, mechanic. Gunnar is from Morgantown; his team mates for the event are from Baltimore and locally known as outstanding competitors. The team rode 24 loops in 24 hours and 4 minutes. Gunnar, who rode seven of the loops, teaches the mountain hike course for the Adventure Sports

Women's first place pro-expert team also had locally known riders: Diane Miller, naturalist at Deep Creek Lake State Park; Alice Vernon of Whitetail Bicycles in Morgantown; Sue Hades of Charlotte, N.C., riding for Trek; and Carlotta Cuernone of Emmaus, Pa.

Local junior riders included Bobby Gray from Oakland, Lee Collins and Tim Williamson from McHenry, John Stark and Noah Rawe from Grantsville. Bobby's team had two riders drop out after three loops, forcing him to double up. The northern boys had one team member out near the end. All five high school students stood up to grueling effort and took-home bragging rights that day.

Laird Knight of Davis, W.Va., was organizer of the event with Diamond Back

Bicycles a major sponsor. Although the race was previously held at Davis where people enjoyed the power line and atmosphere, all agreed that Timberline Resort is an excellent choice for riders of varying abilities. (That's what they said, but with six miles of uphill, they didn't mean just any "varying abilities.")

All men's pro teams took home cash, first team receiving $3,200. The first place pro-expert women's team received donated prizes, an all too familiar downer. Nevertheless, every finisher was a winner among mountain bikers, and there were lots of prizes-nearly as many as stories of crashes and mechanicals!

Our area is well-suited to this form of recreation, and it is supported by the nitty-gritty work of the much-appreciated West Virginia Mountain Bike Association volunteers.

The Northern Steeler youth football team will conduct registration for players age 9-13 (grades 5-8), at the Accident Little League field on Wednesday, June 29, through Friday, July 1, from 6-8 p.m. each day, and at the Grantsville Park, Monday, Aug. 1, and Tuesday, Aug. 2, from 6-7 p.m.

Returning players are asked to bring a photocopy of their last report card. New players must bring photocopies of their birth certificate and their last report card.

For more information, persons may contact Ben Sisler at 746-5630.

Oakland Falls To First Federal

In Pen-Mar League Play Saturday at Allegany Community College, First Federal defeated the Oakland Oaks, 6-2, pushing the winning team's record to 10-0 on the season, in defense of last year's championship.

John Cullen, winning pitcher, allowed just one run and one hit over six innings, striking out 10 batters. Troy Wagner, relief pitcher, finished up in the seventh inning. Brian Grose had four singles, to drive in two runs for First Federal.

Cullen also produced a triple and a single, and Myrie Grose added a pair of doubles to add to the team's win. Bobby Uhl added two singles, contributing to First Federal's 14 hits.

Chad Miller had a double and single, adding to Oakland's final two-run score.

Attend Area Races

The Spring Fling Run, a hilly 5K (3.1 mile) race at Alpine Lake Resort, sponsored by the resort, near Terra Alta, and Preston Memorial Hospital, saw 34 runners cross the finish line, including members of the Garrett Sports League.

Dave Ritchie, Swanton, finished in second place, with a time of 18:52. Nikki Brown, Mtn. Lake Park, finished in 20th place overall, and first place in the 15-19-year-old division, with a time of 22:50.

Garrett Sports League members were also among the 65 runners who finished last Saturday's 14th Annual Savage River Moonshine Classic 10K (6.2 mile) Run at Big Run State Park.

Todd Howard, Swanton, finished seventh overall, and first in the 15-19-year-old division, with a time of 37:47. Dave Ritchie, also of Swanton, finished 10th overall, and second in the 25-29-year-old division, with a time of 38:51. Mike Kozier, Oakland, finished 14th, and second in the 40-44-year-old division in 40:15.

Jerry Buckel, Bittering, finished 26th in the race, with a time of 43:15. Rudi Kremer, Friendsville, took 34th place with a time of 46:30, and Colleen Nordeck, Oakland, finished 41st overall, and second in the 45-50-year-old division.

Brad Rippey, Elk Garden, W.Va., was the overall winner, with a time of 35:12. Lynn Bridges, Cumberland, was the first female runner to cross the finish line, in 42:15.

Women's Golfing Results Reported

The play of the Oakland Golf Club's Women's Association, June 16, was a two-person "Captain's Choice."

Winning first place, with a score of 84, was the team of Betty Humberston and Hazel Wright. Two teams tied for second place with 87: Cheryl Wotherspoon and Wid Brown, and Mary Spencer and Helen Nordeck. Taking third place, with a score of 88, was the team of Fran Bell and Betsy Polce.

Winning low putts, with a total of 27, were B. Humberston and H. Wright, with the teams of R. Seward and M. Boehmer, and Carolyn Sleightholm and L. Pernel taking second place with 28.

Area Speedway Review

Somerset County Speedway

Rain was all around the Somerset County Speedway, in Meyersdale, Pa., last Friday night, but it didn't dampen the spirits of the drivers or fans. Sixty-four cars chased the checkered for the eighth week in a row.

In the first of six heats, Rodger Stephens of Meyersdale cruised to victory. Stephens is hoping to change his luck in the last half of the season and put the first half behind him. The second heat once again went to top runner Tom Humberston. The third heat went pole-to-pole for Jamie Kemp from Confluence, Pa.

Bobby Smith was able to pull out a victory in the last lap of the fourth heat, while the Consolation event went to Dave Lehman. In the Pro Stock Heat, point leader J.R. Isner snatched the victory from D.J. Griffith.

Racing was somewhat delayed since WJAC-TV Racing Round-Up was at the track to feature the Somerset County Speedway. Several drivers were interviewed as was Jack Fullerton. Footage of several heats and features were also shot.

Moving into the "C" Main, we had first-time winner Doug Kimmel from Somerset take the lead from Dave Greer in the ninth lap. Kimmel has been racing for several years and his wife works side-by-side with him in his quest for victory. Kimmel and Greer were followed by Doug Barclay, Dennis Sell, Dale Wilt, Joe Conn, Ray Wilburn, Greg Herring, Carl Arnold, Roger Baughman and Marvin Hosselrode.

The Pro Stock Feature was held next as 10 Pro Stocks took the track. Later several drivers from Cumberland have been dominating the track, but this week area drivers ruled.

Brad Brown from Garrett, Pa., and John Saylor from Meyersdale battled it out before Saylor took the lead in the fifth and held on for the checkered. Saylor was followed by Brown, D.J. Griffith, J.R. Isner, Dennis Sponaugle, Greg McClellan, Doug Shaffer, Dana Cotter, Gene Moats and Ralph King.

The "B" Main was action packed as "rookie" driver Ben Ansell and 18-year-old Greg Cornell looked for the win. Cornell came out on top with his first career win while Ansell settled for second. They were followed by Clair Duppstadt, Dale A. Miller, Nelson Bailey, Jon Deal, Denny Rounds, Dave Geyer, Charlie Phillippi, Brad Reckner, Jack Dively, Henry Bockes, Mike Meringer and Ernie Livengood.

Jockeying for position in the "A" Main resulted in the red flag coming out three times. When the checkered flag dropped, Tom Humberston from Grantsville, was there to pick up his third win of the season. He was followed by Jamie

Racing will continue at the speedway with the mid-season championships this Friday, June 24, at 7:30. Maple City Tire of Meyersdale will donate trophies to winners of the five feature events. The lady drivers will be able to compete in a "Powder Puff" and pitmen will be competing in a race of their own. These two special races are for inexperienced drivers who have not been regular drivers at this or any other track.

Racing action at the Interstate 79 Speedway was as hot as the weather last Friday night, June 17.

With over 125 cars signing into the pit area, the Semi-late division ran their feature event first. Scott Miles and Nolan Dalton put on a great two-car battle lap after lap after lap with Dalton pressuring Miles more each lap. On several occasions, Dalton pulled along side Miles but never had the momentum to make the pass. At the checkered flag, Miles beat Dalton by inches followed by Rick Strickler, Jerry Haseleu and Shawn Davis. Heat winners were Strickler and Chris Smith.

Tim Hitt jumped out to lead the first lap of the Late Model A-Main and never looked back as John Mason and Denny Chamberlain gave chase through the entire 25-lap event. Mason had a chance during a caution to pull on Hitt's bumper, but he could not make a pass when the green flag dropped. Following Hitt, Mason and Chamberlain to the line were Nick Jones, Chuck Harper, Doug Horton, Frank Wilson, Mike Benedum, Tom Gump and Rod Rovello. Harper, Horton and Robbie Scott took heat wins.

Kenny Rogers, Clifton Cochran, and Roger Pitzer picked up UMP Modified wins in the heat races but no one had anything for Mike Wilson when it came feature time. Wilson took the lead midway through the race and went on to get his fifth win of the '94 season. Rounding out the top five were Ron Parrish, Cochran, Kevin Jones and Larry Grogg.

Mike Lewis ran away from the other 4-Cylinder stockers to claim his second victory over Hayward Baker and Tommy Pennington. Lewis and Don Cutlip got heat wins.

Driving the #6 Mark Martin look-alike Pure Stock, Mark Bell got his first win of the season with Jimmy Shaffer and Jim Byers chasing him to the line. The Pure Stock drivers get an added $50 bonus when they win if their car is painted to resemble a Winston Cup car. Adam Makone, Byers and Denny Sandy were heat winners.

It was Pittsburgh Circle

four and won by inches at the flagstand. Miles and Haseleu made up the front row at the start with Miles leading the first two laps. Then the race had several cautions. The race got started again with Miles leading lap three then on lap four Haseleu took over. On lap 11, with Haseleu still leading the caution flag fell for the eighth time. This brought into effect the eight caution rule which states, any race having eight cautions will race two laps, first lap green flag, second lap white flag, and then the checkered flag. So with Haseleu leading and Miles right on his tail the green fell and Miles knew what he had to do with only two laps to do it in. As the two came for the checkered flag, Miles took to the inside and just got the nose of his racer in front and held on for the win. Haseleu and Miles both came to the flagstand to see who had won. The checkered flag was given to Miles and both drivers shook hands. Haseleu took second with Shawn Davis, Kevin Hamrick and Duane Mooreland following. Heats went to Miles and Haseleu.

Brian Shaffer took command of the UMP Modified race from the start. This race also had eight cautions and had to be shortened from the original 20 laps to Late Model class this year although he has seen victory lane with a win in the UMP Modified a few weeks back. Mike Lewis of Oakland made it to victory land in each of his last three events as he won at Elkins last week, then at Interstate 79 Friday night, and again at Elkins Motor Speedway. Alan Teter likes victory lane also as he made it two in a row at Elkins.

In the Late Model main event Chuck Harper and Nolan Dalton brought the field around for the drop of the green flag. Nolan Dalton took the lead but on lap two, cousin Gary Dalton took over and stayed in front the rest of the way. The win looked like it was going to be easy but a caution on lap 14 put Denny Chamberlain on his tail. The two raced nose to tail for the next 10 laps then Dalton pulled away and went on to victory. Chamberlain took second followed by Frank Wilson, Chuck Harper and Terry McKisic. Winning the heats were Chamberlain and Wilson.

The most exciting race came in the Semi-late class as Scott Miles passed Jerry Haseleu coming out of turn four and won by inches at the flagstand. Miles and Haseleu made up the front row at the start with Miles leading the first two laps. Then the race had several cautions. Soccer Season, Camp Registration Deadlines Nearing

The Mountaintop Soccer Association has announced its registration for the fall season is nearly complete. The deadline for the league, to be guaranteed placement, is Saturday, June 25, according to MSA President Carol Ann Lovett. Anyone who enrolls prior to June 25 will be charged $15 per player. Registrations received after that date will be assessed a $10 late charge, Lovett noted.

MSA is attempting to upgrade uniforms and minimize confusion created by late registration, Lovett said. Teams will form and begin practice before school starts, to ensure completion of the schedule before the snow season begins, she added.

Additionally, MSA-sponsored soccer camp registration ends on June 27. The camp will be instructed by coaches from Britain, and professional players will be on hand, sponsored by the North American Soccer Camps (NASC), the oldest and largest provider of this service in the United States.

Soccer camp will be conducted the week of Aug. 1-6, and cost for training is $88. Each camper will re-

GCC BASKETBALL CAMP - Eighty-four area campers, grades 3-12, are attending Garrett Community College's basketball camp this week. Headed by GCC head men's and women's coach, Dennis Gibson, other coaching staff includes Jamie Workman, Dave Martin, Steve Galusky (GCC), Roger Bowman (Preston High School), Dave Bender (Southern High), Merv Yoder (Turkeyfoot High), Kevin Selby (Northern High), and Jim Gruseck (Northern Allegheny High). Counselors for the week-long event are lieve we'll exceed our original projections, and are planning to send five or six instructors. Scholarships have been donated by several civic groups and businesses to assist those who may not be able to afford the cost of the camp.

The soccer camp is available to all interested persons, and is not exclusively for Garrett County residents. "This is not a money-making project by MSA," Spirk emphasized. "The organization purchased a membership with NASC to reduce the cost per camper." Family discounts are also available.

Registration information and forms for enrollment in the fall soccer season may be obtained by calling Jan Finkel at 387-5488. Registration forms are also available at Arrowhead Market, Deep Creek Lake; Reahey's Pharmacy, Grantsville; Englander's Pharmacy, Oakland; and Slopeside Market, McHenry. Persons interested in information about camp may call Spirk at 387-8039.

Deep Creek Lake Sailboat Racing Results Noted

by Harry Filemyr

The Deep Creek Yacht Racing Association had its third weekend of the June series. Race Commander Don Griffin took advantage of the unusual easterly breeze for an "around the corner" course, from Holy Cross Point to Green Glade Cove and back. In B fleet the Workmeisters led all the way. Thagards, in second place, made a last second spinnaker takedown while rounding the last mark. A stray spinnaker sheet lassoed the mark and tethered it to the side of their boat as they started up-course. Ed Peters, in third, was not able to take full advantage of the situation as the mark was hidden from his view and carried off station.

The second race was an upwind downwind purist's delight. Keith Spinnenweber extended his lead over the Laser fleet on every leg to sail alone at the finish. A wind shift just before the start led most of the Scot A fleet to try to start in the same spot. Amid much shouting and shoving so many boats were over the line early that a general recall was signaled. A fleet would start behind instead of ahead of B fleet. In B fleet, Al Thagard led at every mark while David Wible slowly worked into second. After the last mark Thagards went right while the Wibles split tacks to the left, found better wind and crossed ahead at the finish line. In spite of the 10 minute handicap, John and Barbara (his mother) Meredith, with Bruce Spinnenweber seemingly glued to his transom, sailed through most of the B fleet for 1, 2 finishes.

Sunday's race was prudently canceled when it appeared that the only wind would accompany a lightning storm. All boats returned to their home ports safely.

RESULTS:

Saturday First Race
Lasers -- Kevin Russell, first; Keith Spinnenweber, second; and Steve Wilson, third.

Flying Scot A -- John and Barbara Meredith, first; Dan and Carol Muss, second; and Bruce Spinnenweber and Kyle Royal, third.

Flying Scot B -- Lynn and Jane Workmeister, first; Al and Jean Thagard, second; and Ed Peters and Jim Betts, third.

Saturday Second Race
Lasers -- Keith Spinnenweber, first; Kevin Russell, second; and Gordon Cleaton, third.

Flying Scot A -- John and Barbara Meredith, first; Bruce Spinnenweber and Kyle Royal, second; and Jack Carpenter and Tom Scannell, third.

Flying Scot B -- Monica and David Wible, first; Al and Jean Thagard, second; and Lynn and Jane Workmeister, third.

Migraine-Not Just Another Headache

Migraine is a debilitating disease that affects an estimated one in eleven Americans.

People ages 30-45 are most likely to suffer from migraine. It tends to affect about three times more women than men.

Migraine is different from other types of headache. Severe pain occurs on just one side of the head and is accompanied by nausea and vomiting as well as extreme sensitivity to bright light and noise.

Migraine attacks last from 4 to 72 hours. Typically migraine sufferers experience an average of one attack per month.

There are two types of migraine: migraine with aura and migraine without aura.

Between 10-20% of migraine sufferers experience auras before pain begins. An aura may last 15-45 minutes. The person may see colors, flashes of light or bright spots, and may experience other symptoms: loss of vision, numbness or tingling, weakness in limbs, mental confusion and occasional hallucinations.

The exact causes of migraine are not understood. There may be a number of "triggers" including: emotional stress, certain foods (such as cheese, red wine, and chocolate), the menstrual cycle and changes in sleep or eating patterns.

Genetics may play a role, too: people with a family history of migraine are at greater risk.

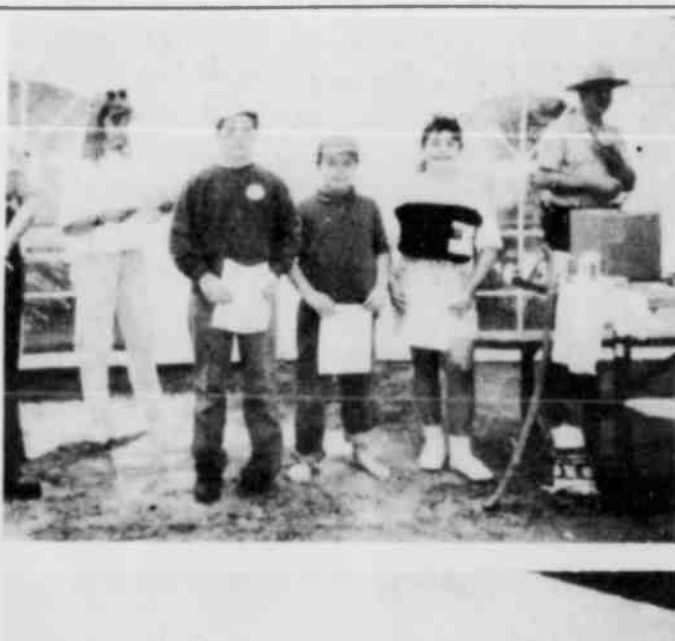

If you suffer from migraine, or think that your headaches are migraine, it is important to see your doctor.

The first step in treatment is to determine the migraine trigger and try to avoid it.

If it is not possible to avoid the trigger, there are prescription medicines available that will help reduce the likelihood of an attack and others to help reduce the pain.

GRANTSVILLE DAYS

Schedule Of Events: Friday

Persons desiring more information about specific events may telephone the following: Tractor Pulling Contest, 895-5797, 895-5371, or 689-3820 between 5 and 8 p.m.; Horse Pulling Contest, 895-5865 or 245-4406; Tennis Tournament, 689-8334 or 895-3440; 3 on 3 Basketball, 895-5720 or 689-3253; Grantsville Days Chairman, 895-5177 or 895-3271; Grantsville Days Booth Chairman, 895-5903.

FRIDAY, JUNE 24

The following schedule of events is subject to change without notice:

- 1 p.m. - Tennis Tournament, sponsored by Grantsville Holiday Inn.
- 4 p.m.-3-On-3 Basketball Tournament, sponsored by Del. George Edwards.
- 7:15 p.m.-Annual Parade, Main Street, Grantsville, co-sponsored by Grantsville VFD and Lions.
- 8:30 p.m.-"Sound Alternative" Jack DuBose and Tom Keirstead, DJ's sponsored by Hilltop Delite; food and craft booths at the park; Midway games and food by Grantsville VFD.
- 10:30 p.m.-Fabulous Fireworks Display, sponsored by Grantsville Foodland.

The 17th Annual Grantsville Days Celebration will be held this weekend, Friday through Sunday. A new portable stage is being built just in time for the celebration. The Lions began planning for the stage in 1991 with donations from 3 local businesses; Harbison-Walker Refractories, Yoder's Meat Packers and Beitzel Corp. Since then, over $1,100 has been raised to help fund the project, which is estimated to cost nearly $5,000. The stage location for this year's Grantsville Days will be in the lighted softball field at 1st base. The grassy outfield will be used for seating and the public is requested to bring lawn chairs or blankets and an umbrella for rain or sun protection. This area will also be perfect for watching the fireworks on both Friday and Saturday nights starting at 10:30 p.m. After Grantsville Days, the stage will be stored in another area of the park where summer concerts can be held. If you or your business would like to donate to the stage fund, send it to:

GRANTSVILLE LIONS CLUB
P.O. BOX 450
GRANTSVILLE, MD 21536

All donations will be appreciated by the Lions. The Grantsville Days Celebration is free to the public with entertainment scheduled from Friday night at 8:30 p.m. after the parade to Sunday at 4 p.m. Come out and enjoy the great food and entertainment. FLEXIBLE APPOINTMENTS-CONFIDENTIAL

Local "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Program Underway

The local nomination and selection committee for the eighth annual "Maryland You Are Beautiful" program have been named by county coordinator Pat Vetter.

"This is your chance to have your voice heard by singing the praises of an outstanding volunteer in your community," Vetter said, noting that the contest theme is "Sing Praises To." Nomination forms will be available in public buildings and in newspapers throughout the county by the end of the month. The deadline for local nominations will be August 14.

"We are looking for citizens who give of their own time, energy and resources to better their community. If you know of someone who gives of their time for volunteering, please nominate him or her," Vetter said.

The committee members are Hazel Klotz, a previous winner; Betty Jo Swauger, Dawn Schettel, Nancy Wagner, Diana Shder, Betty Lou Cogan, and Lois Martin. The first meeting was held yesterday and the statewide kick-off campaign will begin Friday, June 24.

GLAF Theater

college, and schools to perform.

"We are also cognizant of the need for a facility for larger events which could take place when the theater is not in use, and for smaller events which can be held even when the theater is being utilized. The concept of a mini-convention center is key to our serving the multiple needs of the county and to the Garrett Showcase's overall financial viability."

Harvey said the Garrett Showcase would be developed as a not-for-profit venture through donations of funds, materials, and services and from grants from various sources. The project's cost is expected to be 1-1.2 million dollars. Harvey said the project would in no way diminish GLAF's interest in working with the Deep Creek Lake Amphitheater project which is expected to support functions requiring a large stage and large audiences, and which can be carried out in a large open space.

"We owe a great big thank you to the Dellagattis and others involved, as well as to Fred Warther for all his work on the project, and to Diane Thayer, who has assisted in formulating the concept and has made valuable suggestions," Harvey said.

"We have wonderful volunteers and opportunities to do great programs and help create great facilities for our county. It will be challenging and rewarding because we will enjoy the outcome and have fun getting there."

The artist's rendition of the proposed theater will be officially unveiled at the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival Gala Benefit, scheduled for this Saturday, June 25, at the McHenry House at Wisp Resort.

is $8,064, according to the report. An investigation is underway.

Other incidents of theft have been reported to the sheriff's office in the past two weeks. Two 1985 Chevrolet car doors were reportedly stolen from Garrett Auto Glass on Rt. 219 South.

The doors were on the property on June 7 but were gone on June 8. They are valued at $200 each, according to the report. Harold Herron reported the theft to the police.

Three Norway spruce trees were reportedly stolen from Lucas Nursery, located on Rt. 219. Adam J. Lucas told police that the trees were stolen on the evenings of June 17 and June 20. They are valued at $70 each, with a total loss of $210.

Laura L. Letlich, Friendsville, contacted the police to report the theft of a cash register, calculator, and cash. The items were apparently stolen from Laura's Consignment Shop sometime between 6 p.m. on June 18 and 9 a.m. on June 19.

The culprits broke a window in the rear door of the store to enter, and then removed the items. The losses are as follows: cash register, $400; calculator, $80; and $300 in cash.

A Kenmore gas grill was reportedly stolen from a Lake Shore Drive vacation residence. Kenneth G. Rieth, Fairfax, Va., told police that the grill was taken sometime between June 4 and 18. It is valued at $150.

Presenting the health care company that works for everybody.

1. It's Your Choice.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland is the one health care company with more choices of health coverage for you and your employees. Whether you're looking to offer a high quality HMO, an Opt-out plan that provides your employees with convenience and savings but also lets them choose doctors outside of the network, or even traditional health insurance where they can pick any doctor they want, you'll find the coverage you're looking for — at a cost you can handle.

2. The most for your money.

When you choose Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland you gain a partner that's as interested as you are in working to keep health care costs in line. Each of our health care options is designed for maximum cost efficiency. On the average, 85 cents, or more, of every premium dollar goes directly toward providing health care. And when it comes to funding, we can help there too. We offer flexible options that will work for just about every company and every situation.

3. We make it easy. When you choose a health coverage option from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland, it's easier for you to do your job. You'll have just one sales representative to work with for all of your options. Plus, depending on the options you choose, you'll benefit from programs designed to reduce the paperwork and administrative load on you and your staff. Features such as no-balance billing or no claims to file so your employees won't have to worry about paperwork or paying a portion of a doctor's bill, freeing up valuable time and money for both of you.

4. We offer quality care.

Your employees want access to quality health care in convenient locations, and that's what they'll get no matter which Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland coverage options you offer them. Whether it's from the fully-credentialed doctors and professionals in our HMO networks, the variety of physicians and specialists to choose from in our Opt-out plans, or a network of more than 20,000 health care providers with our traditional coverage, your employees will get the quality care they want and need.

5. One health care company.

Finding a range of coverage options when deciding which health plans to offer your employees can be a daunting task. Just researching all of the coverages and all of the companies takes up too much time. But it can be easier. A lot easier. Because when you offer Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland, you'll find the solutions to lots of health care needs — all from one health care company.

The widest range of choices.

When you choose one health care company — Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland — you can have access to a number of plans you already know:

- HMO Options including: FreeState Health Plan, Columbia Medical Plan, CareFirst, Potomac Health Plan
- Opt-out Coverages
- Preferred Provider Network
- Traditional Health Insurance
- New Small Employer Group Options

No matter which plans you offer, when you pick Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland, you've already made the right choice.

Ask your benefits advisor about the new Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland.

Food For Thought

McClive's Restaurant

Eat the way you want. A survey by the National Restaurant Association found that seven out of 10 restaurants are more than willing to make substitutions for diners. And over 90 percent will serve sauce or salad dressing on the side.

Easy-to-make chopped salad of assorted greens, onion, tomatoes and cucumber gets real character from a vinaigrette seasoned with minced garlic cloves and chili powder.

You could buy nonstick spray for cake pans, casseroles and sauté pans, but it costs a lot less to put your favorite kind of cooking oil in a clean plastic spray bottle.

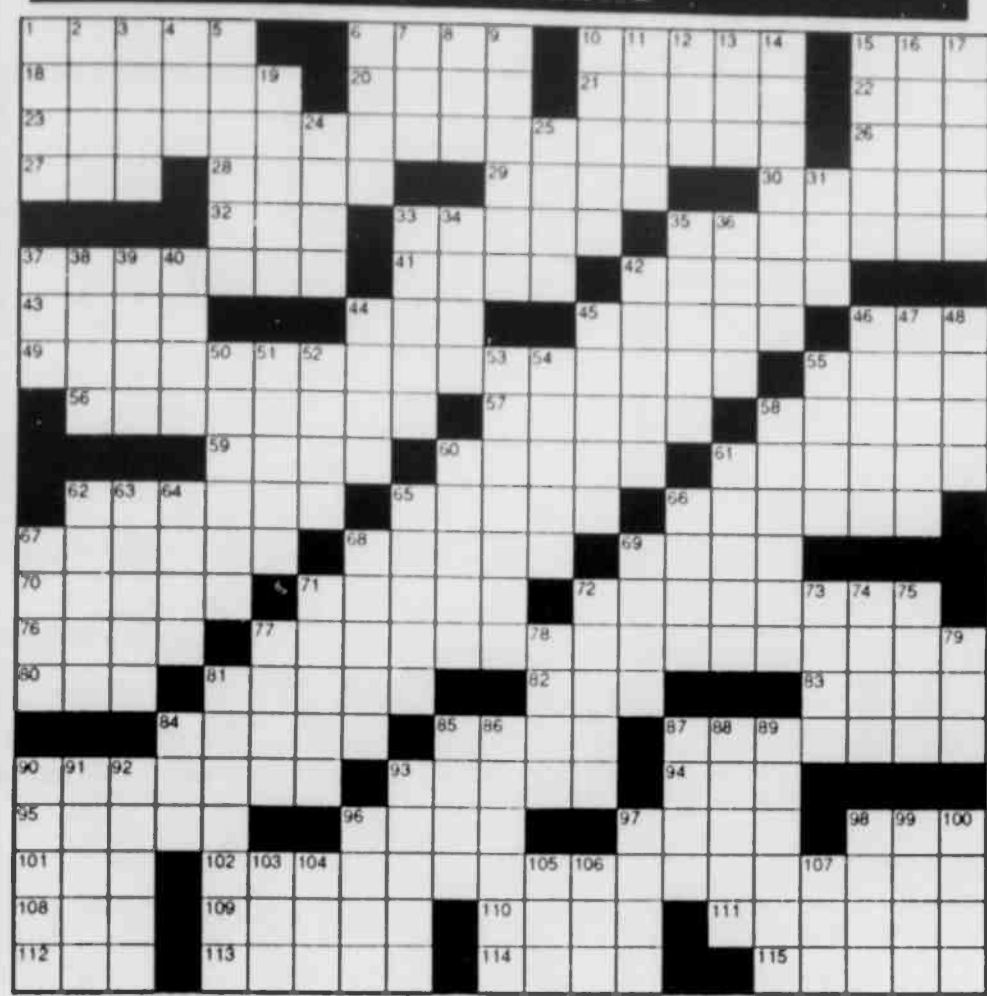

Adapting any recipe for your microwave oven, you can reduce or eliminate fats. They're not needed for browning, but they do add flavor.

You can substitute sliced cooked potatoes for noodles to make a just-a-little-different lasagna. It takes about 2 1/2 pounds of potatoes and your regular recipe to make a standard pan full.

There's no substitute for the special flavors of our famous First Order, come in and try some.

Dollars & Sense

by Bryon Elson

If you share information about your checking account with telemarketers, you're opening yourself to fraud, warns "Everybody's Money," the consumer magazine for credit union members published by the Credit Union National Association.

Talk with credit union manager Carol Knouse, and she'll tell you several members of her credit union have fallen victim to raids on their share draft (checking) accounts.

The telemarketers are subtle, says Knouse, of Carolina Mediredit Credit Union in Winston, Salem, N.C. "It's hard to tell legitimate business from scams."

How do these unscrupulous marketers operate? You might receive a postcard or telephone call informing you that you've won a prize, or that you qualify for a major credit card even if you've had past credit problems, says Susan Tiffany, editor of "Everybody's Money."

According to the Federal Trade Commission, if you express interest, the telemarketer usually asks, "Do you have a checking account?" If you confirm that you do, the telemarketer explains the special offer.

"Near the end of the pitch, the caller may ask you to get a check and read all the numbers at the bottom," explains the "EM" editor.

"You may be told the caller needs the information to make sure you qualify for the offer, or the caller may say the offer requires you to pay a fee, and the check information allows the company to withdraw the fee from your account," says Tiffany. "Or, you might not receive an explanation at all."

If you reveal your checking account number, the telemarketer can raid your account by using a "demand draft," which carries your name and account number but doesn't require your signature.

When your bank or credit union receives the demand draft, it takes the amount from your checking account and pays the telemarketer's bank.

Don't confuse this with legitimate arrangements to make mortgage payments or other payments directly from your account on a regular basis. Those require your authorization in writing.

exited the store and Tibbs allegedly removed a "Crown Royal" bag from his vehicle and they re-entered.

Law officers followed the two and an arrest was made, Murphy said. The detective reported that the officers found Tibbs to be in possession of 58.5 grams of marijuana, which was in the Crown Royal bag.

Tibbs was released from police custody after posting 10% of a $5,000 bond, according to a sheriff's office spokesperson.

In other sheriff's office news, several arrests have been effected in the past two weeks on charges such as DWI (driving while intoxicated), break and enter, and destruction of property.

Richard L. Elliot, (age, residence not reported) was arrested on D Street in Mountain Lake Park last week and was charged with DWI. He was reportedly driving in an erratic manner which led to the traffic stop.

Daniel P. Uphold, 24, Oakland, was charged with DWI on June 11. He was involved in a one-vehicle accident on Oakland-Sang Run Road at the time of the arrest, according to the report.

Thomas E. Gordon, 41, Oakland, was arrested on a DWI charge on June 18. He was stopped by officers because he was operating without registration plates, according to the report. The arrest took place on Hallmand Road.

Tamra D. Ringer, 32, Terra Alta, W.Va., was charged with DWI on June 19. She was stopped on Oak Street in Oakland for crossing the center line and speeding, according to the report. The arrest was effected at 4:25 a.m.

A 27-year-old Oakland man was arrested on the charge of assault. Steve Burns allegedly shot up pots, pans, plates, and other items in his home during a domestic argument. The incident took place on June 12.

An Oakland man was charged with assault on June 13 after he allegedly kicked and pushed his wife at their residence. James Conrad is accused of committing the offenses on June 12.

Calvin C. Love Sr., 50, Oakland, was arrested on the charge of malicious destruction of property, according to the sheriff's office log. He is accused of behaving in a disorderly manner and endangering the life of a woman, Sharon Lograsso. The alleged incident took place on June 13.

Philp A. Hebb, 33, Bayard, W.Va., was arrested on the charge of battery on June 5. He is accused of battering Artie E. Hebb at her Mountain Lake Park residence.

Russell Leighton, 60, Oakland, was arrested for violating an exparte order, according to the police log. Leighton was allegedly ordered to leave an Oakland home but refused to do so, and was then arrested and transported to the

THE LAW ENFORCEMENT TORCH RUN was conducted June 13-17, when more than 1,500 Maryland law enforcement officers ran a combined total of nearly 1,000 miles across the state to benefit Maryland Special Olympics. The relay runners began in Oakland, Elkton, Ocean City and Point Lookout and carried a lighted Olympic torch through 21 counties in the state, ending Friday evening near Towson University for the official lighting of the Olympic cauldron during opening ceremonies of the Maryland Special Olympics' 25th Anniversary Summer Games. Since 1966, the Law Enforcement Torch Run has raised more than $500,000 for Maryland Special Olympics. Runners representing Garrett County in the torch run, shown left to right, were Harland Tichnell, 1st Sgt. Daniel E. Stanton, David W. Broadwater, Bill Thomas, DeAnne Kelley, Harold McDonald Jr., Marshall Smith, Mike Kozler and Jim Cline.

Center For Gifted, Talented Students Offered at GCC

State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick announced Feb. 18 that 12 centers offering special opportunities for gifted and talented students will be sponsored this summer by the Maryland State Department of Education, in partnership with a network of educational institutions, business groups, environmental groups, and government agencies.

The network of centers will feature advanced level curricula in international studies, environmental science, mathematics, technology, social studies, and the arts.

One of the 12 centers in this network will be the Western Maryland Math and Science Center, an educational partnership of the Garrett County Board of Education, Garrett Community College, and GMI Engineering and Management Institute, offering a one-week intensive educational program for students entering grades 7, 8, or 9, and teachers at any grade level in algebra.

The lead instructors for the week-long program are Ted Gardella and Stu Schultz of the "Tune In Math and Science" (TIMS) project from Flint, Mich. Gardella and Schultz are nationally recognized educators in mathematics and science. They have developed an innovative mathematics and science curriculum for the program that demonstrates to students and teachers the connections between algebra, physical science and the real world. Both have been actively involved with teaching students and training

"TUNE IN MATH AND SCIENCE" instructors, Stu Schultz, left, and Ted Gardella, will lead a week-long Western Maryland Math Center at Garrett Community College, July 11-15. Six vacancies still exist for gifted and talented students entering grades 7, 8 or 9, who would like to participate in the program. Persons may call Dr. Nancy Priselac, coordinator of mathematics at GCC, at 387-3045.

teachers throughout the United States.

The algebra component will introduce students and teachers to the latest in mathematics technology, including distance learning, computers, graphing calculators, models and big screen projection. The emphasis will not be on paper and pencil tests, but rather on cooperative group experimentation, enrichment experiences with data analysis, and exploring mathematical conjectures under the facilitation of experienced "master" teachers.

"Students will create better ways to learn mathematical concepts so they can return to their home schools in the fall with a better understanding of what it will take to achieve mathematical excellence as we move into the 21st century," said Nancy Priselac, coordinator of mathematics at GCC, and coordinator of the summer program.

The algebra component will serve 40 students and 15 teachers. This component will be located at GCC, and six vacancies still exist for students to participate in the program, according to Priselac. Persons with questions regarding the algebra component, or those who would like more information about this component, may contact Priselac at 387-3045.

Math, Science Institute Offered For Co. Teachers

Dr. David Dougherty, vice president at GMI Engineering and Management Institute, Flint, Mich., announced that GMI will jointly sponsor and fund a week-long summer institute for math and physical science teachers in the use of the "Tune in Math and Science" project materials at Garrett Community College, June 27 through July 1.

The Western Maryland

Regional Education Service Agency will act as a partner for the event, according to Dr. Nancy Priselac, coordinator of mathematics at GCC. Teachers employed in sixth through 12th grade positions in either math or science in Garrett County are invited to attend the institute, free of charge, Priselac said. College professors working with pre-service or in-service programs, along with college mathematics and physical science faculty, are also invited to attend.

Ted Gardella and Stu Schultz, distance learning instructors with the TIMS project, will train participants to integrate math and science as a new approach to teaching algebra concepts at any grade level.

"Ted and Stu are nationally recognized teachers and are dynamic in their presentation of new methodologies while integrating technology into curriculum," Priselac added. Participants will have the opportunity to experience, first-hand, the newest teaching innovations in the integration of technology into the mathematics and science curriculum. Gardella and Schultz will interact with the participants and demonstrate the newest of these new innovations in the classroom.

Broad Ford Parent Volunteers Honored

Broad Ford Elementary School recently honored its parent volunteers who donated 75 or more hours during the school year with a luncheon at the Oakland Country Club.

"These parents have provided invaluable services to the students and teachers at Broad Ford," said Thomas R. Fowler, principal.

Those who received the awards were Roberta DeBerry, Denise Reese, Loraine Stephens, Brenda

Ham Operators To Participate In ARRL Field Day

Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service (GCARES) amateur radio operators will work around the clock this weekend, from 2 p.m. on June 25, until 2 p.m. on June 26, to get on the air and contact thousands of other operators in the United States and Canada as part of the American Radio Relay League's (ARRL) Field Day.

Jim McCroby, president of GCARES, the field day is the annual "shakedown run" for the ARRL's national field organization. The field day is one way ham operators to "get outdoors and have fun under some difficult conditions," said McCroby. "But it's also a chance to fine tune emergency communication skills. We use generators and set up antennas in the field. The idea is to put together a self-sufficient, working station quickly, and begin making contacts."

The ARRL field organization has been effective in establishing emergency communications nets during floods, hurricanes, fires, earthquakes and other major disasters, according to McCroby. Members of formal emergency organizations, including the Amateur Radio Emergency Services (ARES) and the Radio Communication Emergency Services (RACES) participate regularly. The league estimates more than 35,000 ham operators participate in the field day each year.

This year's GCARES field day operations will be at the Mt. Nebo site. From Oakland, take the Oakland-Sang Run Road, continue past the golf course, and watch for signs directing to the site on Mt. Nebo Road. For call-in directions, use KB8NUF--146.805 Repeat.

The public is invited to attend, and those interested in more information may call McCroby at 334-2804.

Electric Meter Tampering Illegal And Dangerous

Tampering with electric meters is not only dangerous -- it is illegal.

"Diverting electricity is a serious matter," explained Nancy Neff, The Potomac Edison Company's Western Division manager in Cumberland. "Our main concern is for the safety of our customers, because tampering with meters can be extremely dangerous. It is also illegal, and those caught stealing electrical power will be prosecuted. Just as shoplifting adds to the cost of other products, the illegal taking of electricity adds to its cost for all customers."

Potomac Edison has trained its field personnel in the Cumberland and Oakland areas to detect signs of meter tampering. Broken seals are a common indicator that the meter has been tampered with, according to Ms. Neff. "If our customers know of someone who is tampering with an electric meter, we ask them to contact Potomac Edison," Ms. Neff said.

Potomac Edison serves more than 52,500 customers in its Western Division, which includes Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland.

FIRST STEPS...

Have you ever watched a baby learning to walk? Its first steps are hesitant. It often falters, but, slowly gains more confidence.
Soon, mother can no longer keep up.

First steps of spiritual growth are like this, too. Our faith, at first, is quite uncertain, but as we become more certain of God's love, we gain more confidence. Soon our faith plays a part in every decision we make. Faith in God becomes the guiding principle of our whole life.
You can help others to take their first step toward God. Help them understand that God can make a difference in their lives, too. Invite a friend to visit your church or synagogue with you.
This could well be just the support they need.

THE 90-DAY MATURITY
June 26, 1994Background Scripture:
Exodus 13:17-14:31
Devotional Reading:
Exodus 15:22-27

Last year my wife and I visited the Sinai Peninsula, the site of the Exodus. It didn't matter to us that Biblical scholars dispute as to the exact route the Israelites took and on which mountain Moses received the ten commandments. As we drove across that desert, we vividly remembered the Exodus as if we had participated in it ourselves.

And, as a matter of spiritual fact we do participate in the Exodus.
God calls each of us out of the bondage of Egypt and like the people of Israel, it takes faith to heed that call and persevere in it.
In our lives, too, between God's call and our own Promised Land there is usually a Sinai where we exist solely by the grace of God.
The exodus, like life itself, is a venture of faith.

Like us, the people of Israel sometimes wavered in their faith.
When the Pharaoh and his army caught up with them they complained sarcastically to both God and Moses: "Is it because there are no graves in Egypt that you have taken us away to die in this wilderness? What have you done to us, in bringing us out of Egypt?"
(14:11).

WE TOLD YOU SO
Might we not have said much the same? God promises are hard to believe when our lives are threatened. To Moses they protested: "Is this not what we said to you in Egypt, 'Let us alone and let us serve the Egyptians?' For it would have been better for us to serve the Egyptians than to die in the wilderness "All of us feel that way sometimes.

But Moses replies: "Fear not, stand firm, and see the salvation of the Lord, which He will work for you today." And we know what happened then: the Israelites escaped and Pharaoh's army was destroyed. It was a salvation the people of Israel would never forget—at least in the long run.
(In the short run they frequently forgot, just as we do.)

Let's say that I have an appointment with my boss tomorrow morning and I'm afraid he's going to let me go. I know the company has got to cut the payroll and so I pray fervently for God to save my job. And if the next morning my boss still gives me the pink slip, does it mean God is unfaithful with this promise?

THE NICK OF TIME
The answer is no. Sometimes God delivers us from peril just as He delivered the Israelites in the Sinai. But sometimes, just as later
He failed to deliver Israel from the Assyrians, we are not saved either. We flunk out, we lose our job, our marriage ends up in divorce, the loved one we prayed for dies and peace does not come in Bosnia and Serbia. The deliverance we pray for comes, although perhaps not in the form we expected. Instead of being saved from some danger, we may be safe in it, given the strength and grace to see it through.

Now I confess to you that, given my choice, I would prefer to be delivered as the people of Israel were. I would rather not have to wait for the Promised Land. Yet I admit that God has never been more real in my life than in those times when I was not delivered in the nick of time. So Moses' admo-nition is as relevant to us as it was to the Israelites: "Fear not, stand firm, and see the salvation of the Lord."

Adoniram J. Gordon once said,
"The promises of God are certain, but they do not all mature in 90 days." Some do, some do not. If we "fear not" and "stand firm" we will see all of the promises kept in God's own time.

COVER STORY

Networks switching channels, not game plans

BY SUZANNE GILL

Come fall, many viewers will be changing channels as a dozen ABC, CBS, and NBC affiliates switch to upstart Fox, but the shows themselves will be more of the same, recycling premises from "My Three Sons" to "The Real World."

ABC begins with "On Our Own," a comedy starring six real-life siblings as enterprising orphans. Sunday. On Monday veteran "Coach" and newcomer "Blue Skies" lead into football. Tuesday, the hit-making time slot between "Full House" and "Roseanne" goes to "Me and the Boys," with stand-up comic Steve Harvey as a widowed dad. And Ellen DeGeneres returns in the retitled "Ellen."

Wednesday "Thunder Alley" leads to "All American Girl," with Margaret Cho as a Korean-American college grad living with her aggravating extended family. Friday and Saturday are unchanged, but the network takes a risk Thursday, leading with "My So-Called Life," a brooding drama. Chad Everett follows in "McKenna," an outdoor adventure.

CBS With a slim lead over ABC, CBS renews its Sunday and Tuesday lineups. Monday, "Evening Shade" yields to "The Boys Are Back," a return-to-the-nest comedy with Hal Linden.

Wednesday looks like trouble, with Dudley Moore in "Daddy's Girls" and Della Reese working with a scapegrace from heaven in "Touched by an Angel."

Buddy police series "Due South" and "Chicago Hope," a hospital drama, are new Thursday. "Under Suspicion," a police drama with a murky premise, bows Friday. Judith Ivey stars in "The Five Mrs. Buchanans."

Fox Fox leads out of its Sunday football block with a macho detective drama, "Fortune Hunter." "The Simpsons" returns to Sunday, with locker room comedy "Hardball" and sex romp "Wild Oats." Fox's troubled movie slot moves to Tuesday, leaving Monday to "Melrose Place" and the orphan-siblings saga "Party of Five."

"Models, Inc." claims a Wednesday berth. "Uptown Undercover," a "Miami Vice"-type drama, joins "Martin" and "Living Single" Thursday. Fridays get the high-tech adventure "M.A.N.T.I.S."

NBC "Earth 2" extends NBC's sci-fi franchise Sunday. Monday is unchanged, but Tuesday looks resurgent as "The Martin Short Show" joins "Wings," "Frasier," and "The John Larroquette Show." Wednesday, Bill Cosby sleuths on in "The Cosby Mysteries," and Sam Waterston joins "Law & Order."

"Friends," a roommate saga, and Dabney Coleman's "Madman of the People" bookend "Seinfeld" Thursday; the night ends with "E.R.," Michael Crichton's answer to CBS' "Chicago Hope."

"Homicide" gets a surprise renewal on Friday, teaming with "Unsolved Mysteries" and news clone "Dateline II."

Featured Saturday are Gene Wilder in "Young at Heart" and Melissa Gilbert and Cicely Tyson in the law drama "Sweet Justice."

Veterans, rookies brace for 'Models, Inc.' launch

BY SARA BENNETT

Fox prepares to tighten its grip on prime-time dramas about beautiful people with the premiere of "Models, Inc." on Wednesday, June 29.

"Models" stars Linda Gray as a model agency mogul. Her character, Hillary Michaels, was introduced at the end of "Melrose Place" this season. Both shows are from executive producer Aaron Spelling.

Not that anyone is complaining about that. Spelling has made Wednesdays on Fox his own with "Melrose" and "Beverly Hills, 90210." With "Models," he sticks to the same soap-opera style formula and relatively young cast.

Gray is the series veteran, by far. Many of her young "Models" co-stars have never appeared on TV, but that doesn't worry them, or her, too much.

"I had to evaluate. Do I want to do this?" Gray says. "Because with 'Dallas' (where she starred for a decade), everyone had experience. So I thought, 'Hm... how is this going to be?' But you know, everybody is very, very willing. They really want to work."

Teresa Hill, who portrays Linda Holden, a model with a dark secret, lists her TV appearances as "zippos, nothing."

"I've done commercials, but never TV," she says.

Brian Gaskill, a 24-year-old newcomer to television, is finding that "TV could be easy, but if you want to be good it's hard, because it moves so fast. And to be good in that limited amount of time is a challenge."

The challenge for "Models, Inc." is to be good under a familiar umbrella. Have viewers seen enough complex relationship dramas with gorgeous, troubled 20-somethings?

Probably not, they're still making more

Q: Please settle an argument. Where is "The X-Files" filmed, in Canada, England or the United States? Where can I write to the show? -T. Jones, age 13, St. Charles, Mo.

A: The show, which returns next fall, is filmed mainly in Canada. Write to the cast C/O Fox Broadcasting Company, 10201 W. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90035.

Q: My idiot six-toed husband and I are having an argument. What was the name of the movie that took place in the Southwestern United States and starred Richard Thomas, Kim Darby and Desi Arnaz Jr.? -L. Nafedi, Laurel, Mont.

A: That was Catherine Burns, not Darby, co-starring in "Red Sky at Morning."

Q: Where can I write to B.J. Armstrong of the Chicago Bulls? -A fan in Ohio.

A: Chicago Bulls, 980 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Q: I remember watching a Western show called "Dirty Sally" starring Jeanette Nolan. Any chance that it might resurface again? We'd love to see the reruns. -Jean Andrews, Tucson, Ariz.

A: The series ran on CBS only from January to July 1974, too few episodes for a standard syndication deal. I suppose it's possible some cable channel might pick up the reruns, but the chances are very slim.

Q: How old is Gary Busey? Also, I once saw a movie with Henry and Peter Fonda, plus Richard Jaeckel, as loggers in Oregon. What was it? Is it on video? -Tricia Seeser, Kimberling City, Mo.

A: Busey turns 50 on June 29. "Sometimes a Great Notion" is available from MCA/Universal

Q: What was the name of Katharine Hepburn's father? -Loretta of Sidney, Ohio.

A: Dr. Thomas Norval Hepburn.

Q: Please settle a disagreement: I say that Terry "Hulk" Hogan and Paul "Crocodile Dundee" Hogan are not father and son. Right? -Carole Jacobs, Ormond Beach, Fla.

A: Right.

Q: Please settle a bet with a friend. She says Andrea McArdle of Broadway's "Annie" played the daughter of Allie in "Kate & Allie." I think she's wrong. -R.E.S., St. Joseph, Mo.

A: She is, but not as badly as you may think. Allison Smith, who played Jennie Lowell on "K&A," succeeded McArdle in the title role of that musical.

Q: Is Ben Savage ("Boy Meets World") related to Fred Savage ("The Wonder Years")? -Aaron Mottaghi, Mt. Morris, Mich.

A: They're brothers.

In Focus

Sam Elliott is Union Gen. John Buford in the premiere of "Gettysburg," airing Sunday, June 26, on TNT. Part 2 airs Monday, June 27.

Buford is the man credited in history for choosing the site on which the Battle of Gettysburg was fought.

Martin Sheen, Jeff Daniels, Tom Berenger and Stephen Lang co-star in this Civil War epic.

"Gettysburg" marks the first time this famous battle has been depicted on film.

In Focus

Randy Hahn will be joined by Ron Newman for ESPN's World Cup soccer coverage of Argentina vs. Bulgaria on Thursday, June 30.

Argentina's inconsistent run of games preceding the World Cup raised more than a few eyebrows in the international soccer community.

Diego Maradona and company will look to grab three points from a Bulgarian team that barely scraped into the World Cup with a victory over France in qualifying rounds.

Cable Overview

'Gettysburg,' 'Jefferson' lead all-American week

BY SUZANNE GILL

Yachtsman, cable pioneer and big-league team owner and movie studio head Ted Turner makes his dramatic debut in "Gettysburg," his epic about the most famous battle of the Civil War. A special TV version of the 1993 theatrical release airs Sunday and Monday, June 26 and 27, on TNT.

After a self-conscious beginning typical of film epics, "Gettysburg" quickly sets up the battle, carrying it out with the aid of 5,000 re-enactors.

Turner's co-stars, some of whom are barely recognizable behind obligatory beards, sideburns and mustaches, include Sam Elliott, Tom Berenger, Jeff Daniels and C. Thomas Howell.

Stephen Lang appears as Maj. Gen. George E. Pickett, and Martin Sheen plays Gen. Robert E. Lee.

"Gulliver's Travels" gets the Turner touch, too, on The Cartoon Network. Friday, July 1, Ted Turner introduces the Turner Family Showcase edition of Jonathan Swift's story.

Looking good makes for good looking, as this week's Discovery Sunday selection proves. "Beauty and the Beasts" focuses on people's responses to other creatures based solely on appearance. "Beauty" airs Sunday on The Discovery Channel.

"Deaf Mosaic" joins the Discovery Channel lineup Sunday. The weekly program for the hearing-impaired is a production of Gallaudet College.

A Spike Lee double feature combining "Do the Right Thing" and "Mo' Better Blues" airs Sunday on the USA Net.

Even in the days of black and white, an actress's hair color could affect her career. Consider then Hollywood's Ravishing Redheads, this week's festival on American Movie Classics. Beginning Monday, AMC features films with carrot tops Rita Hayworth, Lucille Ball, Maureen O'Hara and Susan Hayward.

The Fourth of July weekend gets off to a red, white and blue start with "Thomas Jefferson: The Pursuit of Liberty," debuting Saturday, July 2, on The Disney Channel. Narrated by Edward Herrmann, the special looks at Jefferson's enduring influence on the nation. Sandra Day O'Connor, Jimmy Carter and George W. Bush provide commentary.

For a show on the cutting edge look no further than "Secrets of Technology," debuting Saturday on The Learning Channel. The eight-part series begins with a 40,000-year retrospective of toolmaking titled "And Then Came the Blade."

Soap Talk

Alfonso reprises role as Hope on 'Days'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

It has been four years since Kristian Alfonso left the role of Hope and "Days of Our Lives." The young and beautiful actress was one of the few who successfully went from daytime to nighttime TV.

Fans and the producers of "Days" have been asking her to return since the day she left. So why return now, after a successful run on "Melrose Place" and several TV movies?

(Executive producer) Ken Corday had been calling me for a couple of years about this," says Alfonso. "There were things I was always kind of worried about, like character development. She was always such a great character, and when she came back I wanted her to continue with the many facets she has."

"I sat down with Ken and (head writer) Jim Keilly and they told me the story they had planned. I was sitting there thinking, 'This could be great.' It is going to be fun and challenging. I also have to thank my fans, because they were the ones who kept me in the mind of the producers, because they wanted me back."

The executives at "Days" also couldn't refuse. "They have left me many opportunities for the future, so I will have a chance to work on other projects, too," she says.

Alfonso says that there is a chance she could return to "Melrose Place" in the fall. "They left the story line open so I could come back. I really like my character (she plays a Hollywood madam) on that show, too. She is so completely different from Hope."

Alfonso says she is not at all sure that her character will be paired with Bo (Robert Kelker-Kelly) in the end. The pair were a popular supercouple in the late '80s, but Bo was played by Peter Reckell back then.

"There is a chance Hope will end up with either Bo or John Black (Drake Hogestyn)," she says.

Alfonso says she enjoys working with both men, but the public will probably choose which man wins her heart.

When she is not working, Alfonso spends the majority of her free time with her 3-year-old son, Gino.

"I have a hectic schedule, but I make time to be with him every day. I think we underestimate the intelligence of children. They know so much. It really does my heart good to see him happy."

Big swords, shields and scenery in 'El Cid'

BY JOHN HARMON

"El Cid," airing on NBC Sunday, June 26, is a film of sharp broadsword and even sharper beauty.

Shots of breathtaking Spanish scenery provide great contrast to the bloody battles that rage throughout this panoramic 11th-century epic.

Charlton Heston portrays Rodrigo Diaz, the legendary Christian hero known as El Cid (which means "The Lord") who drove the invading Muslim Moors from Spain.

The movie is full of colorful skirmishes and swordfights and features a climactic beach battle that is nothing short of spectacular. Action-adventure fans should be pleased by the incessant ringing of swords, launching of arrows and galloping of horses.

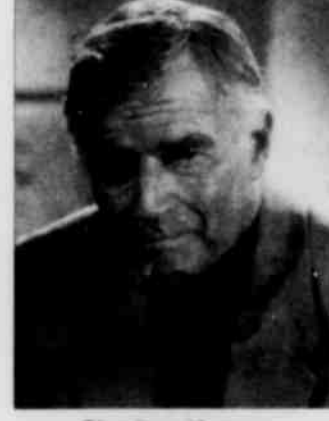

It's easy to see why the massive sets and complex battle sequences earned the picture an Oscar nomination for art direction-set decoration in 1961.

While action does take preference over acting in this film, there are some notable performances.

Heston delivers as the courageous Hispanic hero in a performance that bears more than a few similarities to his 1959 Oscar-winning role in Ben Hur.

Herbert Lom is chillingly effective as Ben Yussuf, the leader of the invading Moors whose mysterious face is constantly hidden behind a black veil.

Sophia Loren complements the beauty of the Spanish countryside in her glamorous yet convincing portrayal of El Cid's loyal wife.

Charlton Heston

While war has never been a pretty sight, "El Cid" makes it easy to forget the horror and hard to forget the honor imbued in the days of knights and warriors.

Elsewhere on Sunday, CBS airs "A Family of Strangers" with Melissa Gilbert, Patty Duke and William Shatner. TNT rolls out the epic Civil War drama "Gettysburg" Sunday and Monday, June 27.

Fox premieres "Green Dolphin Beat," a drama about a pair of mismatched policemen on Monday. NBC rebroadcasts "Tonya and Nancy: The Inside Story."

"Revenge" on CBS, Tuesday, June 28, features Academy Award winners Anthony Quinn and Kevin Costner. Madeleine Stowe co-stars as Quinn's wife and the object of ex-Navy pilot Costner's affections.

A retired lawman reflects on his adventurous career on Saturday, July 2, when CBS premieres "Wyatt Earp: Return to Tombstone." Hugh O'Brian, Harry Carey Jr. and Bruce Boxleitner star.

Time Out

A look into Bob Neal's NBA Draft crystal ball

BY JEFF PLASS

When the NBA Draft begins on TNT Wednesday, June 29, the most buzz will surround the way the first six picks fall.

With everyone talking about the "big four" (Purdue forward Glenn Robinson, California guard Jason Kidd, Duke forward Grant Hill and Connecticut forward Donyell Marshall), team need at the top of the draft, specifically teams in need of a center, will dictate the order of selection throughout the remainder of the draft.

TNT basketball announcer Bob Neal will be covering the proceedings for the 10th year in a row, and sheds some light on how he views this year's draft.

"Grant Hill could be the best player in the draft," Neal says. "I think he is. But I talked to (Milwaukee head coach) Mike Dunleavy about two weeks ago, and he's still talking about Glenn Robinson."

But I question Robinson's conditioning. He didn't look to me to be in great condition relative to the NBA, and his defense is suspect. Grant Hill is a complete player. There's a chance that Milwaukee could surprise, but I don't think so. Dunleavy really liked the upside of Glenn Robinson."

Here's the way Neal sees the lottery picks shaping up:

1. Milwaukee Bucks - Glenn Robinson (F), Purdue
2. Dallas Mavericks - Jason Kidd (G), California
3. Detroit Pistons - Grant Hill (F), Duke
4. Minnesota Timberwolves - Juwan Howard (F), C, Michigan
5. Washington Bullets - Eric

Montross (C), North Carolina

6. Philadelphia 76ers - Donyell Marshall (F), Connecticut

7. Los Angeles Clippers - Lamond Murray (F), UCLA

8. Sacramento Kings - Sharon Wright (C), Clemson

9. Boston Celtics - Yinka Dare (C), George Washington

10. Los Angeles Lakers - Cliff Rozier (F), Louisiana

11. Seattle SuperSonics - Eddie Jones (G), Temple

"And, you know, all this gets switched around," Neal adds.

"For instance, Washington could take Dare. They've talked about it. And obviously that would leave Eric Montross to one of these other teams."

But, if he's there, I think Dare is the guy Boston wants, because they're going to try to go big. And they've got questions about (Michigan guard) Glen Rose."

Ultimately, picking the draft in any sport is, at best, a crap shoot. But with someone who has as much NBA experience as Neal has, one tends to believe he's got a pretty good idea of what he's talking about.

NHS Class Of '59 Extends Deadline For Reservations

The 1959 graduating class of Northern High School is extending the deadline for reservations to its 35th class reunion to July 1, because of difficulty in reaching some former classmates.

The event will be held Saturday, July 16, at the Grantsville Holiday Inn with a social hour at 6 p.m., dinner at 7, and the dance at 9:30 p.m. Cost per couple is $38, and single, $20. For those who cannot attend and would like a booklet, the cost is $3.50.

Reservations may be made until July 1 by mailing checks to Margaret Hinebaugh Frost, Route 1, Box 205, Friendsville, MD, 21531, (phone 301 746-5740) or Wilma Hanlin Wilburn, P.O. Box 54, Grantsville, MD, 21536 (phone 301 895-5656).

Literacy Council Members Attend LLA Conference

Brandon Seifert, Lorraine Ledden, and Nate Motz, all members of the Literacy Council of Garrett County, recently returned from Little Rock, Ark., where they attended the Laubach Literacy Action Biennial Conference. Laubach Literacy Action is an organization dedicated to helping those adults who are functionally illiterate or those persons learning English as a second language.

The purpose of the trip was to be trained in various new teaching methods, program management, assessing learner progress, and how to adapt and design tutor training. The three-day conference was held at the Statehouse Convention Center on the Arkansas River in downtown Little Rock. The conference was open to all Laubach members including new readers who have recently become literate.

Glimpse Of The Past ...

THE JOHN GEORGE CHRISTOPHER RILEY HOMESTEAD was located in the White Church area near Gorman, obviously in the early 1800s, as the sign on the log house pictured above indicates. Noted poet James Whitcomb Riley, from Indiana, was a member of the local Riley family and would often visit the White Church homestead where he would sit upon a stump in the front yard and write his poetry. The log house is now gone. This photo, on loan by Milton Riley, Pleasant Valley, is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican.

In addition to the seminars and classes a number of networking opportunities were made available such as the Quapaw Quarter Tour, Taste of Arkansas Festival, Leadership Luncheon, and the Friday evening Awards Banquet.

The Literacy Council of Garrett County was formed in 1986 as a volunteer organization made up of people who work to eradicate illiteracy in Garrett County. Students are referred to the organization by agencies, churches, friends, former students, or by individuals desiring to read and write better. This service is free of charge and confidentiality is strictly observed.

The next meeting of the Council will be June 27, at 7 p.m., in the meeting room of the Ruth Enlow Library. Those interested in becoming a volunteer tutor or would like information on reading help can call Brandon Seifert at the Council Office which is located in the basement of the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland Branch, at 334-8606.

Giffin Named First United Banking Officer

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board and president of First United National Bank & Trust, recently announced the promotion of Judy A. Giffin to personal banking officer. Giffin is located at the Center City Community Office, primarily serving the needs of the professional community throughout First United's market area.

"We continually enhance our specialized services to meet the needs of our community," Stanton said. "As we move forward Judy will lead an effort to provide customized products and services exclusively designed for professionals." This will enable Judy to utilize her talents and ability to create complete banking relationships among individuals with unique and diverse requests.

Mrs. Giffin began her career with First United in 1982 as a customer service representative. In 1988, she accepted the position of Personal Economics Program (PEP) coordinator. In this capacity she was recognized nationally and by the State of Maryland for her various accomplishments. Most recently she served as Community Office Manager at First United's first super-market office, located in Martin's Food Store, LaVale. As community office manager, she developed her lending and managerial skills while excelling as a motivator in sales.

Vacation Bible School Scheduled For July 25-29

St. Paul's United Methodist, St. Peter's Roman Catholic, St. Mark's Lutheran, and St. Matthew's and St. John's Episcopal churches are currently preparing for their annual VBS.

This year the school will be held July 25 through July 29, with openings at St. Paul's Church and most classes in St. Peter's, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each day. All children who will be going into kindergarten up to those going into ninth grade are welcome to attend.

"We're really excited about the theme for our Vacation Bible School this year. 'Son Country Farm' theme will help create an atmosphere of fun and excitement while featuring life-related Bible study, lively country songs, skits, crafts, games and snacks," said Kathy Shaller, director of VBS.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1994 B-7

SCOUTS LEARN CANOEING SKILLS - Members of the Junior Girl Scout Troop 5019 of Dennett Road School recently participated in a canoe clinic at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The course, taught by park naturalist Diane Miller, is designed to develop confidence both in and out of the canoe. Scouts were sent off in teams of four to paddle with their hands away from shore. They then flipped the canoes and worked as a team to empty the water and upright the vessel. To complete the course, paddle strokes were reviewed and practiced. Pictured above, Miller watches the team of Emily Lynch, Miriam Sincell, Alison Unilo and Erin Frantz prepare to try their "hand" at paddling.

Volunteers are needed. For information, persons may please call Kathy Shaller at 334-9032, or one of the above mentioned churches.

On The Menu...

ALL FIRED UP!

Move over boring old hamburgers. Get along little hot doggies. It's time to add some spark to your grill.

Remember the one time a year when Dad would don his chef's hat and fire up the charcoal grill? No longer is barbecue grilling just an annual event. The barbecue grill has become one of the top 10 cooking appliances in America. The National Eating Trends Report conducted by The NPD Group, Inc., found that 31 percent of households use their grill once every two weeks.

Interestingly, the research says we gravitate toward the same foods we've always enjoyed. We can't seem to get away from our favorite hot dogs and hamburgers. However, we certainly can make them more exciting. Simple ingredient changes turn everyday meals into special occasions.

Trade in hot dogs for spicier bratwurst. Dress them up with Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard. Dijon mustard in place of standard yellow mustard is a quick, easy way to add zest to dressings, marinades and relishes. To bring a distinctive taste to burgers, stir Dijon mustard into the hamburger mixture before grilling.

Start your next barbecue with a unique twist to another favorite. Grill nachos with pretzel chips instead of tortilla chips. Mr. Phipps Pretzel Chips are baked and fat free. You can indulge in nachos with less fat. Save your good pan from barbecue grill smudges by making the cooking pan for nachos from Reynolds Wrap Aluminum Foil.

Grill individual servings of vegetables too! Even when dinner is prepared on the backyard barbecue grill, it's easy to include fresh garden vegetables in the menu.

FOILED AGAIN

Remember to recycle the aluminum foil after your barbecue. Aluminum foil is 100% recyclable. Over 25% of households nationwide now recycle aluminum foil. Why not join them by recycling your aluminum foil from the grill. Here are tips to get you started.

When lining the inside of a charcoal grill with heavy duty aluminum foil, puncture the foil at the grill vent openings for air circulation.

At public campsites or parks, for cleanliness, place a sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil over the rack. With a knife, make slits in foil at rack openings to allow juices to drip through. At home, this also works great for barbecuing small or delicate items like shrimp or fish.

Use crumpled pieces of heavy duty aluminum foil as scouring pads to clean barbecue grill racks.

After coals have cooled completely, lift the foil used to line the grill and dispose of ashes. Remove foil from rack. Rinse used foil and place in aluminum recycling bin with aluminum cans, or if you have a large quantity of foil, store it in a separate container.

Recycling aluminum saves 95% of the energy required to make aluminum from bauxite ore. Four pounds of bauxite are saved for each pound of aluminum recycled.

In 1993 the makers of Reynolds Wrap recycled more than 34 tons of aluminum foil.

Take relatively clean foil to your nearest aluminum recycling center. Aluminum foil recycling may not be available in all areas. For help in locating the recycling center in your area, call 1-800-344-WRAP or your community waste management officials.

Dijon Pretzel Burgers

Makes 6 servings

- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 24 Mr. Phipps Pretzel Chips (any variety), crushed (about 1/2 cup crumbs)
- 6 tablespoons Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard
- 1/2 (8-ounce) package cream cheese, softened
- 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
- 1 tablespoon minced scallions
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped pimientos
- 6 hamburger rolls
- 6 lettuce leaves
- 6 slices tomato

In bowl, mix ground beef, pretzel crumbs and 4 tablespoons mustard. Shape into six patties. In small bowl, blend cream cheese, horseradish, scallions, pimientos and remaining 2 tablespoons mustard; set aside. Grill burgers over medium heat until desired doneness. On each roll bottom, place a lettuce leaf and tomato slice. Top with burger, 2 tablespoons cream cheese mixture and roll top. Serve immediately.

Pineapple Chicken Kabobs

Makes 4 servings

- 1 (15 1/4-ounce) can pineapple chunks in juice
- 1/4 cup Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard
- 2 tablespoons firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1 pound chicken, cut into chunks
- 2 medium red peppers, cut into chunks (about 32 pieces)

Drain pineapple, reserving 1/4 cup juice. Blend reserved pineapple juice, mustard and brown sugar; set aside. Onto eight 10-inch skewers, thread chicken, pineapple and red peppers. Grill over medium heat brushing with mustard mixture and turning frequently until done, about 7 to 10 minutes. Serve with additional mustard if desired.

Lemon Tarragon Dip

Makes about 2 1/2 cups

- 1 (15-ounce) container reduced-fat ricotta cheese
- 1 (3-ounce) package light cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 cup chopped scallions
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon dried tarragon leaves
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1/2 teaspoon cracked black pepper
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- Mr. Phipps Pretzel Chips, Tater Crisps or Tortilla Crisps

In small bowl, with electric mixer, blend ricotta cheese and cream cheese until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients except chips. Cover and refrigerate 1 hour to blend flavors. Serve as a dip with chips or crisps.

Grilled Pretzel Nachos

Makes 6 servings

- Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap Aluminum Foil
- 3 ounces Mr. Phipps Pretzel Chips (any variety), about 2 cups
- 5 ounces Mexican-flavor pasteurized processed cheese, cut into small cubes
- Chopped scallions, chopped tomato and sliced black olives for garnish
- Dairy sour cream (optional)

Make a foil nacho pan (see below). Arrange half the pretzel chips on pan; sprinkle with one-third of the cheese. Top with remaining pretzel chips and cheese.

Place foil nacho pan on grill over low heat; cover grill. Heat until cheese melts, about 4 to 5 minutes. Sprinkle with scallions, tomato and olives. Serve immediately with sour cream if desired.

Nacho Pan

1. Stack two 14-inch sheets of Heavy Duty Aluminum Foil to make double thickness.
2. Mold stacked sheets of foil around a dinner plate to form a round pan.
3. Turn back edges of foil and crimp around plate to form a tight rim. Remove dinner plate.
4. Fill with nachos to heat on grill.

Grilled Bratwurst with Sauerkraut Relish

Makes 10 servings

- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard
- 1 (16-ounce) bag sauerkraut, well drained
- 1 1/2 cups coarsely chopped onions
- 1 medium red pepper, cut into strips
- 1/2 teaspoon caraway seed
- 10 bratwurst
- 10 frankfurter rolls

In large skillet, over medium heat, melt margarine. Blend in sugar; cook, stirring constantly until mixture turns light golden brown, about 2 minutes. (Some sugar may harden.) Add mustard, sauerkraut, onions, pepper and caraway seed; stir until sugar completely dissolves. Reduce heat to low, cook until onions and pepper are tender, about 15 to 20 minutes.

Grill bratwurst over medium heat until done. Place in rolls; top with sauerkraut mixture. Serve with additional mustard if desired.

FIRE 'N ICE

Wrap a combination of your favorite cut fresh vegetables and 1 to 2 ice cubes in Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap Aluminum Foil. To season the vegetables, top with a pat of margarine and sprinkle with dried basil leaves before wrapping in foil. Cook in a covered grill 20 to 25 minutes or until done. The foil holds in the heat and the ice cubes provide just enough moisture to steam the vegetables.

School Enrichment Activities Held At Broad Ford Elem.

The School Enrichment Program of Broad Ford Elementary School sponsored a week of Type III enrichment activities for all fifth grade students during the week of May 23-27. The enrichment clusters were high interest, hands-on, curriculum-related activities provided by fifth grade classroom teachers, the computer resource teacher, the math/science resource teacher, parent volunteers, and the school enrichment teacher.

Each child chose a cluster of personal interest and participated in that cluster for one hour a day for five days. The clusters that were offered included:

"Snappy Shots" instructed by fifth grade teacher, Terri Hilliard. The children learned the fundamentals of picture taking, how to set up a darkroom, and how to develop black and white photographs. Special guests included Dusty Stanton and Jim Matthews.

"Timber to Toys" was instructed by Jack Burdock, fifth grade classroom teacher. The students learned how trees are forested and made into wood products. The students built birdhouses and moveable toy bears from wood. Elaine Zimmerman assisted with the cluster.

"Outdoor Adventures" was facilitated by Carole Glatfely, fifth grade teacher. The students learned orienteering techniques, camping and outdoor cooking techniques, and participated in an overnight camping trip. Special guests included Diane Miller, Carolyn Blizard, and Jim Hart. Sandy Jamison assisted with the cluster.

"Artists Away" was facilitated by Suzie Fike. The students participated in wildlife sketching, stamping, watercolor painting, graphic art design, and T-shirt painting. Special guests included Brian Richter, Jim McNeil, Laura Stutzman, and Sandy DeWitt. Sheila Russell assisted.

"Catapults" was instructed by Jim Sconyers, math/science resource teacher. The students built harmless, but workable catapults and experimented with them. They shot for distance, height, and accuracy with several different models. "Computer Turtle" was led by Chuck Trautwein, computer resource teacher. Using a trundle wheel and large protractor, the students measured and recorded the size of the school. They measured and recorded locations of trees and playground equipment. Using this information and a computer program called "Logo," the students created a map of the school grounds.

"Nine-Patch Stitchery" was instructed by Ginny Grove, fifth grade teacher. The students became quilters for five days. Each child made a little quilt, one foot square. Special guests in-

Frostburg Author Publishes Book

King of the River, a book of autobiographical sketches by Frostburg's Guy Mallow, has just been published.

The accounts of Mr. Mallow's youth in West Virginia relate stories of the family settling on a farm, fishing in streams, his first encounter with a plug of "tobacco," hunting in the "hollers," and a moving experience with his high school football coach, Mr. Weimer.

"Page after page chronicle the interesting and historical aspects of rural life, moving to the Cumberland area to work at the Celanese Plant, and teaching his son and grandson to fish in the South Branch," stated the publisher.

"This little treasure is an account of spirit, determination, and faith, written in Mr. Mallow's personal and intimate style of speaking," he said.

Copies of the book are available at the Book Market in Oakland.

Springs Church Bible School Set June 26-30

The Springs Mennonite Church in Springs, Pa., will be sponsoring a Bible school from Sunday, June 26, through Thursday, June 30. It will be held in the Springs Mennonite Church from 7 to 9 p.m. each evening. Children aged 3 to the eighth grade are welcome to come.

The offering for the week will be used to buy Bibles for children in Russia. The children will meet together at the beginning of each evening and listen to a story about children in Russia. The children will also have a music, game, and craft time as part of the program each evening. Lois and April Hepler will lead the music. Linda Beitzel will organize the crafts, and Steve Heatwole will play games with the children.

The week concludes with a short program Thursday evening, in which parents are invited to watch their children share what they've learned throughout the week. Everyone is welcome.

Better Hearing Tip:

When speaking to someone with a hearing loss, it is best not to yell, but speak only slightly louder. Speaking too loudly can often make it even harder for the person to hear. Speak slower and more clearly, and rephrase a sentence if the person didn't hear you the first time.

DNR Urges Safe, Mindful Boating For 1994 Season

The 1994 boating season has begun with several fatal boat accidents in Maryland waters, according to a report from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources; (DNR). In light of this and in recognition of National Safe Boating Week, DNR Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., has reminded all boaters to be safe and responsible while boating.

"I am urging all boaters to wear their personal flotation devices," Brown said. "We have already seen too many tragic examples of what can happen when a PFD is not being worn."

In each case where a person died in a boating accident during last summer's boating season, the victim was not wearing a life jacket. Most victims could have been saved if they had been wearing lifejackets. In addition, more than 68 percent of all victims had a measurable blood alcohol content.

"Natural Resources Police (NRP) officers have already handled many cases of OWI (operating while intoxicated) across the state this year, and there were more than 200 cases last year," said Col. Thomas R. Turner, acting superintendent of the NRP, "Drinking and boating is not a safe practice."

Turner added that the apprehension and prosecution of intoxicated boaters will be a priority again this year for the NRP. In addition to regular patrols, operation SWAMP (Safe waterways through Alcohol Monitoring Patrols) will utilize specially trained NRP officers to enforce alcohol and safety laws in problem areas around the state.

Many of the accidents the NRP has investigated this year have shown to be the result of unsafe boating practices or inexperience in boating. Persons born after July 1, 1972, are required by state law to take a safe boating course before operating any numbered or documented vessel in Maryland waters. However, basic boating safety and advanced boating courses are highly recommended for any boater -- even those who were born before that date.

There are other benefits to a safe boating course, Turner said. Two survivors of the tragic sinking of the El Toro II in the Chesapeake Bay last December attribute their survival to learning how to conserve body heat in cold water as part of their training in a boating safety course.

Responsible boating also means taking care of the environment:

Pump, Don't Dump. New laws require the proper disposal and treatment of all boat sewage. For a list of pump-out facilities, persons may contact the DNR Boating Administration at (410) 974-2918.

Persons should recycle used oil and antifreeze; neither product belongs in the waters. For information on recycling locations, persons may contact the Maryland Environmental Service at 1-800-RECYCLE.

Persons should properly dispose of all trash, including fishing line and plastics.

All should be sensitive to the damage that may occur to submerged aquatic vegetation (SAV) when motorized vessels, including personal watercraft, are operated in shallow waters. Boaters should also avoid disturbing waterfowl and other wildlife.

Secretary Brown reminded boaters to remain alert of everything around them at all times on the water.

"Be aware of other boaters, swimmers, stationary, and floating structures and wildlife," he said. "Remember that you are responsible for the effect you and your vessel are having on each of these things and we'll all have a safer 1994 boating season."

Wins Scholarship

Louisiana State University student Barbara A. Browning of Oakland recently won the Nettie P. Wilson Scholarship to study in the LSU School of Library and Information Science.

Browning attended Southern High School and is now working on a master's degree in library and information science.

DEER PARKHOMEMAkers MEET

The Deer Park Home-makers met June 14 at the Deer Park fire hall. Betty Thrasher, acting president, conducted the meeting.

Seventeen members and one guest, Charlene Friend, were present. A get well card was signed for Mabel Hauser, who is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The gift of the month was won by Ruth Calderwood.

The demonstration, titled "Issues of World Food Day," was led by Janet Browning and Betty Trick. The club received $20 for its participation in "Tasty Yesterday" at Garrett Community College.

The Fairboard committee will meet July 13 at the Accident town hall, at 9 a.m. Achievement Day will be Oct. 12 at the Bittering town hall.

Each member is to bring a gift to the next meeting for an exchange game.

Hostesses Leona DeWitt and Caroline Lake served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Junior Women Install Officers

The Junior Woman's Civic Club held its annual installation of officers for the 1994-95 club year June 2 at Cornish Manor. Those installed were: Angie Bosley, president; Brenda Crabtree, vice-president; Debbie Weissgerber, recording secretary; Sherry Gosnell, corresponding secretary; and Lori Yant, treasurer.

Nine new members joining the club were recognized and are as follows:

Frances Callis, Deanna Groves, Belinda Messinger, Beth Phillips, Sue Saunders, Tracy Slagle, Rose Turney, Mari Vaughn, and Lori Yant. Also receiving recognition for perfect attendance were Angie Bosley, Brenda Crabtree, Sherry Gosnell, and Vicki Naliborski. Two guests, Debbie Holler and Janice Spiker, attended the meeting.

The evening concluded with the drawing for the door prize, a dried flower centerpiece, which was won by Lori Yant.

The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, July 7, and will be a planning session and selection of committees for the upcoming year. The Junior Woman's Civic Club is open to women, 18 and older. Anyone interested in attending a meeting or learning more about JWCC may contact Angie Bosley at 387-6728 or any club member for further information.

DNR Offers Yough River Canoe Trips

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR),

State Forest and Park Service is offering a canoe trip on the Youghiogheny River. The trip will follow a non-whitewater section of the river from the Pennsylvania Electric Power Plant to the bridge at Sang Run.

Novice paddlers and those interested in the historical, cultural and ecological aspects of the Yough River are invited to sign up for the tour. Lunch and all equipment will be provided and the cost of the trip is $15. Guides for the trip will be DNR ranger and park naturalist Diane Miller. The dates for the trip are July 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29, all Fridays. Reservations are required, and those signed up should meet at the Deep Creek Lake Recreation Office by 9 a.m. For more information, persons may call Miller at 387-5563.

Rebekahs Convene In Petersburg For Dist. 12 Convention

The District 12 convention of the Rebekah Assembly was conducted June 4 at the Petersburg Rebekah Lodge 5.

Approximately 43 members and guests attended the day's activities, including assembly officers, Joan Casto, president; Elaine Weekly, vice president; and Debbie Siers, warden. District 12 officers present were: Sandra Brooke, district deputy president; Alma Whitehair, vice president; Mary Matlick, secretary; and Evelyn Hendrickson, treasurer.

Elaine Weekly conducted a workshop concerning the rituals of the Rebekah lodge; Carolyn Hathaway gave a report about the assembly's financial status; Debbie Siers talked about her duties as assembly warden, and told about her travels throughout the state, including a visit to Johns Hopkins Medical Center for Eyes; and Joan Casto talked about a current fundraiser, set up to finance the cost of rocking chairs for the International Order of Oddfellows (I.O.O.F.) Home in Elkins.

The convention reconvened after lunch to elect officers for the 1994-95 year. Those elected were: Sandra Brooke, district deputy president; Pam Keplinger, vice president; Mary Matlick, secretary; and Evelyn Hendrickson, treasurer.

Rebekah lodges in District 12 are: Petersburg Lodge 5, Petersburg; Marylyn Lodge 23, Blaine; Mt. Olive Lodge 31, Keyser; Lillian Lodge 58, Elk Garden; Liberty Lodge 95, Parsons; and Blackwater Lodge 274, Davis.

Liberty Lodge won an award for submitting the best delegate report, and shared an award with Blackwater Lodge for best attendance. A white elephant auction was included in the day's activities, and proceeds from this and other donations will be used to benefit the Rebekah Assembly, the Low Vision Program, Un Pilgrimage, and the Emergency and Disaster Fund, among others.

The next district convention will be June 24, 1995, at Parsons.

Annual Car Show Set In Terra Alta

Plans are being formed for the annual Car Show, which will be held on Monday, July 4, Caldwell Street, Terra Alta, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Sponsored each year by the Mountaineer Corvette Club, Terra Alta Civic Club, and Terra Alta Rotary Club, the event is held in conjunction with the July 4th festivities in Terra Alta, sponsored by the fire department. All types of vehicles will be accepted in the show with awards being given and plaques being presented. Serving as chairman again this year will be Hans Goehl, 789-6490, president of the Corvette Club.

Members of the clubs invite car owners to enter their vehicle and view the display before the July 4 parade, free of charge.

AURORA SCHOOL REPORT

Kimberly Fike and Kendra Durst participated in the West Virginia Social Studies Fair at Marshall University on May 20-21 in Huntington.

Kimberly received third place in Division II, U.S. History, individual, for which she was awarded an engraved plaque and certificate of award for her project, "Why Harpers Ferry, John Brown?"

Kendra was entered in Division I, U.S. History, individual category, and received a certificate of merit for her project, "Who in the World is Norman Rockwell?"

Accompanying Kimberly were her mother, Debbie Fike, and a friend, Tina Fint. Kendra was accompanied by her mother, Lori Durst, and her grandmother, Hazel Durst. Both girls are Aurora school students.

An elimination dinner is planned for July 22, sponsored by the Aurora Athletic Boosters, to provide funding for next year's program. Tickets are $25 each, and all have a chance for prize money with approximately $2,000 cash being offered.

Registration for classes in Kingwood for Space Quest Der Sommer Spiel of Espanol is due prior to July 11 for those enrolling a child in an August class taught by Andrea and Amy Barlow.

The PTO met on June 14 at the school, and Mr. Lofink presented a financial report for the year. The school received $1,554.47 from scrap metal from the old school and this was used to purchase storage cabinets, resource books, computer supplies and two desks, and also partially funded the purchase of a duplicator. Programs funded from the $2,185.00 raised with candy sales included Sea World, ventriloquist, scholastic magazines, Newspapers in Education Week newspapers, and a pizza party for students meeting reading goals. Supplies purchased with this money were for custodians, computer cleaning, telephones, classroom/office, research materials, and $500 from this fund went toward a duplicator.

The cost of a High Speed Duplicator was $4,900. Of this amount, the PTO contributed $2,500. With the above funds contributing, an amount of $1,796.84 came from the general account. Also, athletic events, including a donation of $2,500 from East Preston, brought in $4,561.68, but fell short of the year's expenses of $5,671.57.

SHAHAN, GEORGE TO WED

Michelle Renee Shahan of Aurora and Eric Allen George of Mt. Storm invite their friends and relatives to join them on the occasion of their marriage Saturday, June 25, at 4 p.m., at the Cahary Temple Church, Mt. Storm.

WFWM Receives Grant Programming

The Maryland State Arts Council recently awarded a grant of $2,320 to WFWM, public radio station for Frostburg State University. The grant will allow the station to continue its excellence in offering alternative programming for western Maryland, according to a spokesperson.

According to WFWM station director Rene Atkinson, the station will enhance and expand locally originated classical, jazz, and Celtic/folk music. WFWM is western Maryland's only public and community radio station and is the only station in the area providing these types of programs, Atkinson added.

WFWM broadcasts 43 hours of classical music as well as 31 hours of jazz and four hours of Celtic/folk music each week. Programs are both live-announced and taped features. The station also regularly broadcasts performances of the Baltimore, San Francisco, Chicago, Pittsburgh, and Milwaukee Symphony Orchestras and the popular Library of Congress Master Series.

Taped programs, such as "The Evolution of Jazz," are broadcast with cooperation from the National Federation of Community Broadcasters through its Rural Radio Initiative.

WFWM can be found at 91.7 FM and 93.7 on Cumberland's TCI cable system.

Grantsville Bike Rodeo Scheduled For Monday

Bike riders of all ages are invited to attend Grantsville's first bicycle safety rodeo on Monday, June 27, at 6 p.m. at the Grantsville Community Park. Organized by the Garrett County Health Department's Community Outreach Team and Grantsville's Community Planning Group, the event will incorporate bicycle inspections, skills tests for riders, a safety course on cycling rules and proper helmet use, and outdoor activities and certificates for OAKWOOD EAST, Garrettland, Inc.'s newest apartment complex, located on A Street, Mtn. Lake Park, was welcomed to the community during recent grand opening ceremonies. The apartments are designed for persons 62 years of age or older, and are equipped to accommodate persons with handicaps and/or disabilities. Above, officials and celebrities attending the grand opening were, shown left to right: Mike Hill, assistant property manager for Garrettland, Inc.; Sherry Upole, Mrs. Maryland; Betty Dalton, resident manager for Oakwood East; Roger Frazee, representing Devlin Inc., builders of the apartment complex; R.T. Thayer, president of Garrettland, Inc.; Dave Turney, mayor of Mtn. Lake Park; Diana Silder, Garrettland property manager; Duane Yoder, representing Community Action; and Asa McCain, mayor of Oakland. Below, Mayor Turney, left, plays the washtub as he joins members of the Hammers & Strings Dulcimer Band, who provided entertainment during the grand opening activities. For more information about Oakwood East, persons may call Silder or Hill at 334-9915, or stop by Garrettland, located in the Thayer Center on Rt. 219, Oakland.

Riders will have the opportunity to have their bicycles inspected for free before testing their skills in more than 10 riding obstacle courses. Riders will practice stopping and starting, as well as balancing, signaling, and controlling their bikes. All participants will be given a brief safety presentation concerning the rules of the road, as well as the importance of always wearing a bicycle helmet properly when riding. Numerous activities, including relay games, will take place during the course of the rodeo, and refreshments and participation certificates will be available for everyone present.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Army Spec. Carl F. Snyder has completed a U.S. Army primary leadership development course at Camp Jackson, Uijong-Bu, South Korea.

Students received training in supervisory skills, leadership principles, and small unit training techniques essential to a first-line supervisor in a technical or administrative environment. Snyder is an avionics mechanic at Camp I.A. Guardia, in South Korea. He is the son of William F. Snyder and Donna Cummings, both of Aurora, W.Va.

He is a 1990 graduate of East Preston High School, Terra Alta, W.Va.

U.S. Navy Airman Apprentice George I. Reeves, son of Joan M. Reeves of Route 1, Aurora, W.Va., recently graduated from the Basic Avionics Technician Course.

During the course at Naval Air Technical Training Center, Naval Air Station Memphis, Millington, Tenn., students receive technical instruction on the fundamentals necessary to perform job-entry level aviation electronics maintenance tasks. Students also receive instruction to prepare them for further specialized training on operational aviation electronics equipment found in naval aircraft.

Reeves, a 1991 graduate of East Preston High School of Terra Alta, W.Va., joined the Navy in April 1993.

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Raymond E. Cooper, a 1974 graduate of Southern High School, recently deployed with Fleet Hospital Six, Stationed in Camp Pendleton, Calif., to Croatia.

Cooper was hand-picked to accompany 240 Navy and Marine Corps personnel who are working with United Nations Protection Forces on the former Republic of Yugoslavia. Cooper will assist in providing medical services to 36,000 United Nations troops from 34 countries in this war-torn region of the world.

The U.S. facility, previously manned by Army then Air Force personnel, provides a 60-bed primary emergency treatment center. The hospital and living quarters have been set up in tents at Camp Pleso, the main staging ground for UN troops in Croatia.

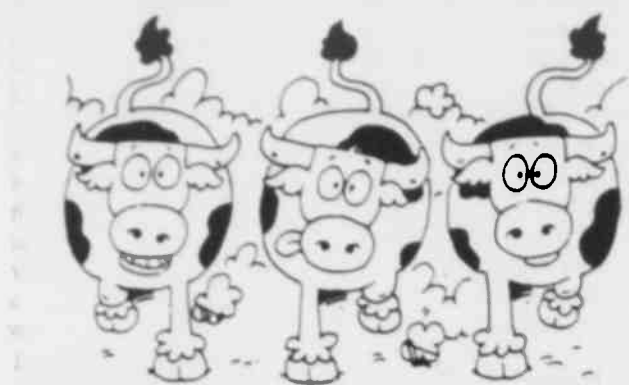

Personnel assigned to this, the single largest group of U.S. troops in the region, may also assist with humanitarian cases.

Cooper joined the Navy in July of 1974.

JUNE DAIRY MONTH

Today's Dairy Farmers Are Environmentalists, Too

Walking to the milk barn at sunrise. Watching cows graze quietly on rolling green pastureland. Experiencing the birth of a calf.

Even in the '90s, there is nothing like living off the land to instill a healthy respect for the wondrous ways of nature. This intimate bond with Mother Earth is what makes dairy farmers born environmentalists.

Today's dairy farmers work hard to protect the environment as they supply consumers with wholesome dairy products. Across the country, a growing number of dairy operations are re-constructing wetlands, recycling manure and wastewater, using recycled paper as bedding, and practicing rotational grazing. These and other methods, which have been developed to meet strict federal and state environmental laws -- help maintain healthy cows, reduce soil and water pollution, and use our natural resources more efficiently.

"Dairy farmers have made great strides over the past 10 years in using conservation technology to protect the environment," says Jerry Hytrey, director of the Conservation Technology Information Center in West Lafayette, Indiana. "They want to be good neighbors, especially in areas where suburbs now butt against the farm."

Here are some other ways dairy farmers around the country are working to remain good environmentalists.

MANURE STORAGE AND RECYCLING

Proper manure management is a major challenge for dairy farmers. After the issues of soil erosion and purchased fertilizer, it is the number three environmental concern for agriculture, according to states reporting to the Environmental Protection Agency. A number of farms are using ingenious methods to address this problem.

For example, one dairy operation in Clymer, New York, installed a gravity-flow system using high pressure water and PVC pipeline to move waste from cow lots to a holding pond.

Even dairy operations that do not have the land or lagoons to absorb all the solids that cattle produce have alternatives. On one farm, cow manure is stored in a concrete-lined manure pit. The manure is tested for nutrients, then applied to land in spring or fall.

Farmers have learned the economics of recycling manure onto their cropland. A manure analysis shows that 1,000 gallons of manure contains 30 pounds of nitrogen, 14 pounds of phosphorus, and 36 pounds of potassium.

METHANE REGENERATION

Research at Colorado State University shows that cattle produce less than two percent of the methane gas that contributes to global warming. Cows consuming diets with a high percentage of grain and feeding supplements can reduce that percentage even more. Dairy producers who cover their lagoons can stop the methane from reaching the atmosphere and use it as an energy source. In Oregon, a creamery association contracted with an energy company to build a plant that converts cow manure to electricity and lawn food. Manure from 8,000 cows, together with byproducts from the local creamery, will be converted into one mega-watt of electricity and 12,000 tons of lawn food each year.

WASTE WATER RECYCLING

Some dairy farms use water up to three times before using it to irrigate crops. The water is first used to sprinkle and clean cows' udders before they enter the automated milking parlor. Then the water flushes the alleyways, built to catch manure before it harbors disease. Finally, the water goes to the lagoon. One pipe then takes the cleanest water back to the dairy to flush the alleyways again, while the other pipe sends water that has been screened to remove solids to the field to irrigate crops.

ENVIRONMENTAL BEDDING

Some producers are improving their bedding by using newspaper or other printed paper, which harbors less bacteria than straw and sawdust. One producer in Gardiner, Maine, grinds up 1,000 pounds of used phone directories into a sawdust consistency. He minces soiled paper with food scraps from a grocery store to make topsoil compost for his organic gardening enterprise.

ROTATIONAL GRAZING

This system, which uses fewer chemicals than row-crop farming, is catching on among farmers of smaller operations. The cows transport manure to the fields themselves. Some dairy farmers have switched to seasonal milking, matching the highest growth period of grass in the spring with the highest milk output of their cows.

RECYCLED WHEY

The cheese industry processes 57 billion pounds of whey, a milk by-product, each year. To date, only half is used in human and animal feed, while the rest is discarded. Research at the Ohio State University has found that whey can be used to make calcium magnesium acetate, a substitute for road salt. The research is being studied by the Ohio Department of Transportation.

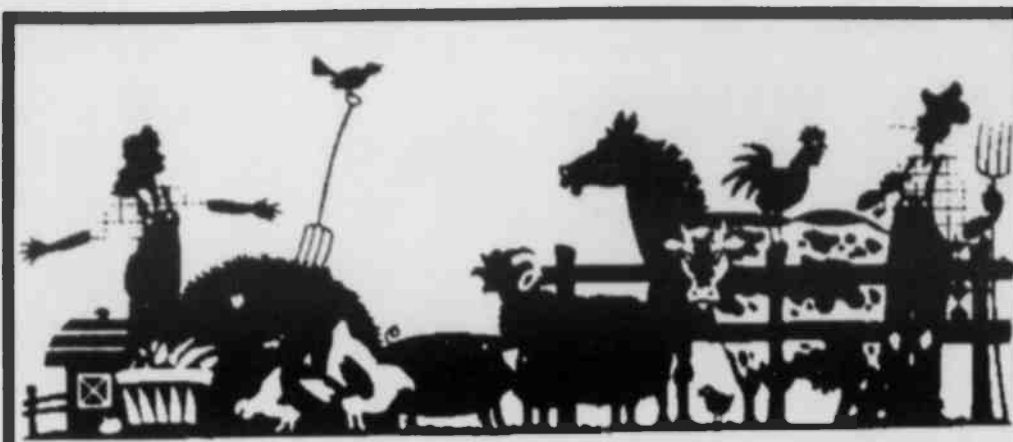

"Good conservation makes good economic sense," says Hytrey. "By practicing good conservation measures, dairy farmers not only preserve the environment, but cut fertilizer costs, boost production, maintain good herd health, and enhance their property values, too."

Little Relief Felt From Hot, Dry Weather

During the week ending June 19, rye and barley harvests were underway and wheat harvest was beginning. Soybean planting was nearly unchanged until more small grain was harvested and more moisture becomes available. Some insect pressure was noted. Harvest of peas and strawberries continued. Melon and corn planting were completed; vegetable planting was active. Crops in some areas were showing stress from low moisture levels.

Pasture feed averaged in good condition except most counties bordering the bay were poor. Hay making slowed. Small grains were rated in fair to good condition. Peaches were in poor to fair condition with a below average fruit set. Apples rated better, mostly fair, with average to above average fruit set. Some farmers were irrigating crops.

Topsoil moisture rating averaged 48 percent very short, 41 percent short and 11 percent adequate, while subsoil moisture was rated eight percent very short, 61 percent short and 31 percent adequate. Conditions

Algae In Ponds

The recent hot and dry weather has been ideal for the growth of algae in farm ponds. A reasonable amount of algae can be beneficial, often serving as a food supply of fish. However, excessive algae can be very troublesome in a pond, forming extensive mats of long strands of plant materials that can trap fish. Algae can give a pond an offensive odor or even cause off-flavor in fish. Algae can cause severe oxygen depletion and sometimes pH problems.

Algae can be controlled with chemicals, but the treatment is rather expensive. Probably the best way to control algae is with "grass carp." Unfortunately, grass carp are illegal in Maryland. There are several chemicals that will help control algae. I have a fact sheet available that lists all the chemicals that you may have by containing my office.

Crop Notes

I am sure that the southern flow of warm winds have carried plenty of potato leafhoppers into our alfalfa fields. Don't wait for damage symptoms to show.

Other than the effects of weather conditions field corn is coming along good. Fortunately, there has been very little insect activity at this point of time. Bill Knepp, nutrient management specialist, is pulling a lot of soil samples for nitrogen testing. He is finding the nitrogen levels very good in fields that have had adequate manure applications.

Conditions are excellent for spider mites on beans. These little insects are difficult to see, but they can do tremendous damage in a short period of time. They are sucking insects that inject a toxin into the leaf. To check for their presence, shake a leaf over a piece of white paper and look very closely for little dots moving around. Those little dots are probably spider mites. For recommendations, give me a call at 334-1989.

SUMMER IS HERE! -- Although the weather has been summer-time hot, summer has just officially begun. Some crops have already started to mature, such as the rye being harvested in the photo above. First cutting hay is being baled, and since the area recently received some rain, the corn is growing. The photo above was taken on the Gary DeBerry farm north of Oakland on Route 219.

Retail Dairy Prices Remain Relatively Low

The Consumer Price Index (CPI) for dairy products rose the least out of the other major food product categories in 1993, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). The CPI for dairy products rose only 0.9 points, compared to 5.1 for cereal and bakery products; 20.7 for fruits and vegetables; and 4.6 for meat, poultry, fish and eggs.

Dairy foods have consistently continued to give consumers a good value for their money through the years. Historically, prices of milk and other dairy products have risen at a slower rate than other foods, according to the BLS.

Final data for 1993 showed the CPI for all foods rose 2.2 percent. This was higher than the 1.2 percent increase in 1992, which was the smallest increase in 25 years. The price of food at home (in grocery stores) rose 2.4 percent, while food sold in restaurants and fast food outlets averaged 1.8 percent above 1992. By comparison, the CPI for all goods and services rose 3 percent.

Economists predict 1994 food prices will rise 2 to 4 percent, a relatively moderate pace. Supplies of foodstuffs will be more than ample in 1994, while consumer demand will be stronger as economic conditions improve. These offsetting effects on food prices will work to hold increases in the low to moderate range.

Retail dairy prices should increase in the 1 to 3 percent range for the year.

Prices should be stable during the first half of the year with some increases in the second half of the year, according to dairy economists.

The BLS charts the retail price of selected food groups for use in reporting the CPI. The base year is 1982 when all products were recalculated and assigned a value of 100.

State Completes Gypsy Moth Spray Program

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) completed its 1994 statewide gypsy moth cooperative suppression program as of June 3.

"We sprayed the trees on over 96,000 acres of private, federal, state, or other public lands. These valuable tree resources have been protected from damage by gypsy moth caterpillars," said Riley.

The total number of acres sprayed is more than twice the acreage we sprayed last year and is about the average number of acres sprayed in the years between 1988 and 1991. This increase is due to a rise in gypsy moth populations in the central section of the state and on the Eastern Shore along with the full participation of Garrett County," Riley said.

"In Central Maryland, gypsy moth populations had collapsed over the last two years but, as is typical of the pest, they have begun to increase again. This year, MDA sprayed the trees on over 19,000 acres in Montgomery, Frederick, Eastern Washington, Howard, and Carroll counties, over twice the acreage sprayed in these areas last year," said Robert Tichenor, chief of the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Forest Pest Management Section.

With the participation of Garrett County in the 1994 suppression program, the Western Maryland counties showed a five-fold increase in acres sprayed, rising from 7,647 acres in 1993 to 38,860 in 1994.

"MDA crews sprayed the trees on nearly 30,000 acres on the Eastern Shore this spring, which is twice the acreage sprayed in 1993. The largest number of acres sprayed were in Talbot, Dorchester and Wicomico counties," said Tichenor.

The spraying began April 27 in Talbot County and finished in Garrett County June 3. Each designated spray area received one aerial application of either Bt (Bacillus thuringiensis) or Dimilin.

"Although we sprayed the sites most infested with gypsy moths, there are other areas with trees that are experiencing leaf damage due to gypsy moth caterpillars or other leaf eating insects," said Dr. Robert Rabaglia, forest entomologist with the Department of Agriculture.

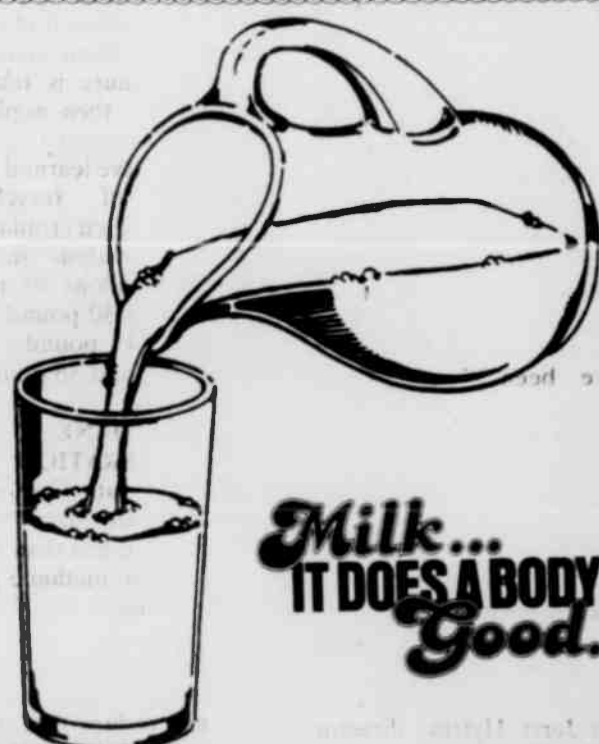

"Statewide, there are several areas that are experiencing tree defoliation due to looper or tent caterpillars. Loopers are small - about an inch long - and either green or brown. They move by extending the front end and then bringing the rear end up close to the head creating a loop, or hump, this has led to their names 'loopers,' 'inch-worms,' or 'measuring worms'. Tent caterpillars make characteristic webbing in the forks of trees. They grow to about 2 1/2-inches long and have a white stripe on their back and a row of blue dots along each side.

Generally, looper or tent caterpillar defoliation is not as serious as gypsy moth because they feed earlier in the spring and for a shorter period. This gives the tree a chance to put out new leaves and replace its food supply earlier in the season," Rabaglia said.

"We are getting calls from homeowners with questions about what they can do for their defoliated trees. A tree is not dead just because it has been defoliated. It should be given a chance to recover," Tichenor said.

For further information on the gypsy moth or the cooperative suppression program, call Robert Tichenor, Forest Pest Management, Maryland Department of Agriculture, (410) 841-5922.

Friend Awarded B.S. Degree; Will Study In England

Oakland native Jay R. Friend, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Friend, Oakland, recently graduated with a B.S. degree in international marketing from the University of Alabama.

With a minor in public relations, Friend completed his studies at Alabama with a cumulative 3.933 GPA. He achieved distinction through induction in several honoraries, including Phi Beta Delta, an international honor society in which students are nominated for demonstrated scholastic achievement in international scholarship; Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society recognizing students of good character who have excelled in scholarship in the top five to ten percent of their class; and Pinnacle, a national honor society honoring students of outstanding academic performance and significant involvement on the campus and in the community. Other honors included several "Outstanding Performance" awards for individual senior seminars, presented by his college during honors ceremonies.

Friend also worked for the University where he co-authored and published a model program for adult student (age 25 and above) services which addressed the need for universities nationwide to respond to changing demographic and educational needs.

Friend has been accepted by the University of Hull, England, for graduate studies, and will pursue a master's degree in international business this fall.

SWANTON NEWS

Carolyn Snyder, Bowie, visited Earl, Helen and Bob Winters and other relatives here last week.

Orval Teets and Wayne Goff, New Creek, W.Va., attended the retired railroaders' breakfast at the Shrine Club, Cumberland, last Thursday.

Caroline and Dan Hutson spent several days in Norfolk, Va., with Encie and Kenneth Teets. While there they also spent some time on the beach.

On Monday evening Mary June and Ellis Harvey hosted a picnic supper at their cottage, Deep Creek. Guests were Doug and Iva Goodrich, Salisbury, Vt., Betty and Harley Wildesen, Dorothy and Andrew Beckman visited relatives in Warren, Ohio, last weekend. While there they attended a birthday party for Anthony Beckman, Dorothy's grandson.

Margaret Beckman has been confined to the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Peggy and Harold Friend, in the Warren, Ohio, since April 13, with rheumatoid arthritis and severe lung congestion. She is reportedly improved somewhat, but is still unable to return to Garrett County.

HOWELL REUNION

The Howell reunion was held on June 12 at the Swanton Community Center. Approximately 70 persons attended. Gifts were awarded to the following: youngest child, Shaun Layman; oldest man, Clarence Paugh; oldest lady, Mary Paugh; most family members present, Fred and Doris Howell; and traveling the farthest to attend, Mary Louise Rembold, San Francisco, Calif.

The next reunion will be held on the second Sunday in June, 1995.

WEDDING RECEPTION

On October 8, 1993, Judith Anne Maphis and Edward (Sonny) Ashby Weimer were married in a private ceremony conducted by the Rev. Gail Hixon. Wanda Maphis, mother of the bride, hosted a wedding reception for the couple, Saturday, June 18, at the Glatfelter pavilion, near Oakland. The wedding cake was baked by Phyllis Friend. Music was furnished by Ray and Carol Sweitzer, the Rev. and Mrs. Hixon, and other friends. Numerous friends and relatives attended.

COMMUNITY CENTER

Election of officers for the Swanton Community Center was held Monday, June 20. Officers were then installed by Kathryn Wick, and will take over their respective offices July 1.

New officers are: president, Phyllis Friend; vice president, Opal Ezenbaker; recording secretary, Doris Howell; treasurer, Joan Riley; corresponding secretary, Helen Winters; membership secretary, Mary June Harvey; and trustees, Orval Teets, Arthur Lake Jr., Mark Rodeheaver, Louise Beckman, and Kathryn Wick.

Membership dues for the year (July '94 through June '95) remain at $5 per family, and should be paid during July to Mary June Harvey, membership secretary. A chicken barbecue dinner will be held July 9 at the center. The next regular meeting will be July 18, at 7:30 p.m.

PERSONALS

The Swanton School reunion will be Saturday, July 16, at 1 p.m., for all former teachers, students and their families. Further information may be obtained by calling 387-9523 or 334-3077.

Noel Smith, who was injured in a traffic accident June 11, is a patient in the rehabilitation center at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va.

A.J. Fleming celebrated his 15th birthday June 15 with ice cream and cake at his home. Family members present were John and Linda Fleming, Lucinda, Steve and Amber Davis, Lawrence and Randy Virts, Richard Gerlach, and Mareva and Orval Teets.

CHURCH NEWS

James Baker, Jesse Skipper, the Rev. Joe Hatcher, Richard Gerlach, Orval Teets, Ellis Harvey, George Rexrode, Harley Wildesen and Ray Sweitzer attended the Brotherhood meeting at Hoves United Methodist Church last Tuesday evening.

The Brotherhood breakfast will be Saturday, June 25, at 7:30 a.m., at the Casselman Restaurant in Grantsville.

The United Methodist Women held their annual picnic June 14 at the home of Joan Riley, Thousand Acres. Attending were Wanda Maphis, Mary June Harvey, Betty Wildesen, Louise Beckman, Shirley Lipscomb, Dorothy Hatcher, Mareva Teets, Linda Fleming, Lucinda Davis, Dorothy Beckman, Sandy Friend, Ildra Frantz, Luella Baker, Lorena Rodeheaver, Phyllis Friend, Amy Sweitzer, Barbara Rexroad, Alverta Sweitzer, Doris Howell, Joan Riley and Garnet Halsey.

Devotions were led by Louise Beckman. A "brown bag" auction was conducted.

Last weekend Lorena and Mark Rodeheaver and Lucinda and Steve Davis took the youth fellowship on a camping trip to the Glen Teets lot on Deep Creek Lake. On Father's Day the campers hosted a picnic for their fathers and other family members. Campers were Josh Teets, Jimmy Shreve, A.J. Fleming, Steve Butler, Ellida and David Schofield, Holly and Joni Wilson and Amber Davis. Visitors to the camp on Friday and Saturday were Addy Wilson, David Jones, Richard Schofield and Jamie Bernard.

Fathers were honored during the 11 a.m. worship service on Sunday. Each father present received a small gift.

Special awards went to the oldest father, Clarence Paugh; the youngest father, Bob Sweitzer; the youngest grandfather, George Rexrode; and fathers with the most children present at the service, Charles Teets, Glen Teets, and George Rexrode.

Pastor Joe Hatcher, his wife, Dorothy, the Rev. Lynn Beckman and his wife, Mary, and Mary June Harvey returned home Sunday evening after spending Wednesday through Sunday at the West Virginia Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church, Buckhannon, W.Va.

SHARE pick-up at the church will be Saturday, June 25, from noon to 1 p.m.

The family picnic and "pound party" for the pastor and his wife will be held at Glen Teets lot, Deep Creek, from 4 until dark, Saturday, June 25. In case of rain, it will be held at the community center.

Sixth Graders Receive D.A.R.E. Certificates

The sixth grade students from Southern Middle and Bloomington Elementary schools participated in D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) graduation recently, with nearly 300 students receiving certificates.

The program is a cooperative effort between the Garrett County Board of Education and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. The primary emphasis of D.A.R.E. is to assist students in recognizing and resisting the pressures that may influence them to experiment with drugs.

The graduation event was kicked off with skits discouraging the use of drugs, performed by Bloomington students. Southern Middle Principal Jack Rickman and Sheriff Van Evans were recognized for their assistance in making the program a reality, and each gave a short talk.

The students were then awarded their certificates for completing the program and passing the final exam. Three students out of the total 296 were recognized for obtaining perfect scores on the test, and each were given a D.A.R.E. book-bag. They were Wendy Brennehan, Bloomington, and Southern Middle students Jennifer Sanders and Andrew Sisler.

The students were served refreshments and watched a slide presentation. They were then dismissed to the outside of the school for a "K-9" demonstration presented by Cpl. Randy Sines and his dog Deke, both of the sheriff's office.

"I was impressed by the students' concern and genuine interest in learning about resisting the pressures of using drugs," said Detective Pat Kelly of the sheriff's office. "The entire group had fun, giving me good memories and the hope that maybe something was said in class that will make these students think twice before becoming involved in drugs. After all, these kids are our future."

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Frances Stemple of Egdon underwent hip surgery last Sunday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital after fracturing her hip in a fall on Saturday. This Monday she was transferred to Mountain View Rehabilitation Center in Morgantown for therapy. Visiting her this weekend were her daughter, Barbara Merrow, and her family of Marietta, Ohio.

Dwight Bonner of Ohio visited Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Leticia Bonner at Egdon, also with his uncle, William Pennington.

Lisa Lewis and her daughter, Carinna, have returned to Aurora from Houston, Tex., where they had visited with her mother-in-law, Roberta Lewis, and other members of her husband's family for the past month.

Cecil Snyder, Ben DeWitt Road, and Louella Fike, Aurora, attended the annual Fleming family reunion held June 18 at Winchester. On Thursday, Mrs. Fike was accompanied by Gerald Lee of Joshua Tree, Calif., who is visiting here with relatives, when she returned her son, Norman Fike, to Marietta, Ohio to pick up his tractor-trailer.

Guests last week of Herb and Jean Starr, Stemple Ridge, were his mother, Annie Starr; his sister and brother-in-law, Delores and Bill Collins, all Twinsburg, Ohio, and their grandson, Robert Porter, Akron. Also visiting the Starrs have been Lyle and Mary Ann Harsh, Rick, Kimberly, Mason and Emily Harsh, Lori and Greg, Lyle's daughter and husband; also, Dale Harsh and his grandson, Richard Collier, Claud and Hildean Poling and Harold Harsh.

Mary McMillan, Rowlesburg, remains a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Her sister, Jessie Fedorow, Aurora, has been staying with Mary's husband, Tom McMillan, in Rowlesburg and transporting him to and from the hospital.

Pat and Adrian Stemple, Stemple Ridge, visited with their son, Tom, and his family, Fairview, Mich., and attended high school graduation of their granddaughter.

Terry and Jill Hauser returned from a South Carolina honeymoon and a reception was held for them June 18, at the Maple Spring Church. Among those attending was his mother's aunt, Wilma (Stahl) Artis, and her grandson, Jeffrey Wilson, York, Pa., who is now writing a column for The Republican. Also in attendance were Mrs. Hauser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Masters, and her sister, Stephanie.

There were 125 present for the 50th annual Raymond Hauser family reunion held Sunday at Broadford Lake. Here for the reunion and to visit their father, Lester Hauser, at Cortland Acres Nursing Home were Everett and Darlene Hauser of Michigan and Richard and Pat Hauser of Oklahoma. There were many other family members from Michigan, Virginia and surrounding areas.

On Sunday an anniversary picnic was hosted by Gary and Sylvia Beckman and Amanda at their home in Loch Lynn to honor Mr. Beckman's parents, Oliver and Eleanor Beckman, on the occasion of their 45th wedding anniversary. Both the elder and younger Beckmans celebrate that same day, as well as Mr. Beckman's sister and husband, Rose Ina and Melvin Harsh, Egdon, who, along with their two daughters, share the same wedding anniversary. The Harshes, their daughters and members of their families as well as other guests were in attendance.

Rebecca Teets of Egdon was treated and released Monday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Accident Students Take Enrichment Clusters Courses

Fourth and fifth grade students at Accident Elementary School participated in an Enrichment Clusters Program from May 31 through June 3. The School Enrichment Program sponsored four days of Type III enrichment activities for all fourth and fifth grade students. The enrichment clusters were high interest, hands-on, curriculum-related activities provided by fourth and fifth grade classroom teachers, the computer resource teacher, the math/science resource teacher, a parent volunteer, and the school enrichment teacher. Each child chose a cluster of personal interest and participated in that cluster for one hour for four days.

"Snappy Circuits" was instructed by fourth grade teacher, Mrs. Twyla Stewart. The students learned about electricity, its uses and safety. The students made electromagnets and soda can flashlights. They viewed a special presentation by Potomac Edison. Special guests included Carol Craver, John Avona, and Tom Stemple.

"Lights! Cameras! Action!" was instructed by fifth grade teacher, Mrs. Lori Otto. The students learned the fundamentals of photography, how to set up a darkroom, and how to develop black and white photographs. Special guests included Jim Crabtree and Charlie Pariseau.

"Outdoor Adventures" was facilitated by Mrs. Anna Buckingham, fifth grade teacher. The students learned orienteering techniques, camping and outdoor cooking techniques, and basic lifestyles of North American Indians. Special guests included Eric Savage, Carolyn Blizzard, Buck Jarusek, and Becky Fike.

"Let's Be Chefs" was led by Donna Hinebaugh, fourth grade teacher. The students learned good nutrition habits, built an actual food pyramid, cooked with a chef, and decorated their own cake. Special guests included Ann Sherrard, Frank Pisano, and Carole Miller.

"Computer Turtle" was instructed by Chuck Trautwein, computer resource teacher. Using a trundle wheel and large protractor, the students measured and recorded the size of the school. They measured and recorded locations of trees and playground equipment. Using this information and a computer program called "Logo," the students created a map of the school grounds.

"3-2-1 Blast Off!" was led by Jim Sconyers, math/science resource teacher. The students built and painted their own model rockets. They launched their rockets and measured the highest altitudes they reached using a computer program.

"Artists Away!" was facilitated by Vicki Teets, parent volunteer. The students participated in watercolor painting, origami, graphic art design, and wildlife sketching. Special guests included Jim McNeil, Laura Stutzman, and Shelly Upole.

Northern Garrett Republican Women Meeting Slated

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club will meet June 28 at 7 p.m. at Hill Top Inn.

Members of the Garrett County Board of Education will be guests speakers. Any candidates are welcome to attend.

Final plans will be made for the joint northern and southern picnic to be held July 14 in the Accident park.

New members are welcome or any other Republicans.

Hospice To Host In-Service Session

Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., will conduct an in-service session on Thursday, June 29, beginning at 6:30 p.m., in the Community Service Building near Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Jean James, M.A., from Garrett Counseling, will present a program titled, "What to Say to a Dying Person." The program is designed for the Hospice volunteer caregivers, but is open to the public. Reservations may be made by calling 334-5151.

A covered dish dinner will be shared at 6:30 p.m., following by the program at 7:30 p.m.

Volunteer Families Sought To Host Exchange Students

Every year, thousands of American families participate in a culturally-enlightening program called the American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE). This non-profit program offers a terrific opportunity for Americans to learn about another culture in a fun-filled, family setting.

AISE is seeking volunteer families to host high school-aged exchange students for the upcoming school year. AISE provides families with complete background information about each student, and allows the families to choose the student whom they would like to host. Students have their own health insurance and spending money, and host families provide students with room and board, and most importantly, insight into typical American life, said the spokesperson.

With more than 3,000 students from over 30 countries arriving in August, AISE is actively seeking families who are willing to host an exchange student for the upcoming school year. Interested persons may call AISE at 1-800-518-1111.

Herbert Receives Academic Honor

Christopher D. Herbert has been selected to receive honorary award recognition by having his biography published in the 17th Annual Edition of the National Dean's List for 1993-1994.

The National Dean's List is the largest, most prestigious publication in the country recognizing academically gifted students, according to a spokesperson. Only half of one percent of the nation's college students receive this award.

Herbert has just completed his freshman year at Garrett Community College. Lillian R. Mitchell, dean of Academic Affairs, nominated him for this award.

Herbert is the son of Douglas and Barbara Herbert of Swanton.

member of the Westmar Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Lighthouse Holds Annual Board Mtg.

Garrett County Lighthouse Inc. conducted its annual meeting of the board of directors on June 16. Elected into office were Martha Jachowski, president; Barbara Briggs, vice-president; Arthur Naylor, treasurer; and Betty Malloy, secretary.

Executive Director Debbie Jo Adams-Noroski presented the 1993-94 Annual Report to board members, highlighting the second year of operations for Lighthouse. A sampling of the report included a public awareness and outreach, consumer services and programs, continuing education and training, mental health month activities, expansion planning, financial management, and the building of the proposed facility.

The budget for fiscal year 1994-95 was also presented to board members for approval. Following Adams-Noroski's report Donna Gregory, program coordinator presented the Annual Quality Assurance Report. Ms. Gregory, along with consumers and board members, chairs the Quality Enhancement Committee. This committee routes surveys to the community, consumers, board members, and others. The purpose is to collect data on the quality of Lighthouse services, and plan for future services.

A Lighthouse community service volunteer was recognized at the meeting for over 100 hours of service to the community. A gift certificate was presented to the consumer by newly elected President Jachowski.

ASC Will Hold Phone-A-Thon

The Allegany and Garrett County units of the American Cancer Society will be holding their Phone-a-Thon fundraising campaign from mid-June through the end of July. During this time, volunteers will be telephoning local residents to request financial donations on behalf of the local American Cancer Society Units.

Public donations enable the ACS to support research, and to continue to provide education programs/materials and patient service programs in the community, according to the ACS. For more information about the programs or services of the local units, persons may call the American Cancer Society at 722-2145.

Public Notices

Richard H. Wolfe proposes improvements to ponds located on his lot at the Gleanings Village in McHenry, Garrett County. As part of normal maintenance, he plans to dredge the lower pond removing an emergent wetland which has recently formed on the upper end. He also proposes to restore the upper pond to an open water condition. The authorized work will result in the permanent loss of 2,746 s.f. of emergent wetland and impacts to 6,375 s.f. of associated buffer. The authorized activities include removing vegetation, excavating, dredging and grading. Mitigation will be accomplished on-site. The wetlands are associated with an unnamed tributary to Sang Run, a Use III-P stream. The nearest major intersection is Sang Run Road and U.S. 219. The aforementioned work requires a Nontidal Wetlands and Waterways Permit and Water Quality Certification. Information on this application may be obtained by contacting Liz McDowell at (301) 689-8150.

Sherbin, Trustee, dated August 13, 1991 and recorded in Liber 569, folio 177, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, the holder of the indebtedness secured by the Deed of Trust having appointed Alvin E. Friedman, Kenneth J. MacFadyen, Martin S. Goldberg, and Daniel Menchel, Substitute Trustees by instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the Land Records of the County aforesaid, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the parties secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer for sale at public auction:

AT THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, AT THE COURTHOUSE DOOR, OAKLAND, ON WEDNESDAY, JULY 13, 1994

AT 1:00 O'CLOCK P.M.
ALL THAT LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett County, Maryland and described as follows:

ALL that certain lot or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 10, Garrett County, Maryland, and more particularly designated on the Plat of Section 1, in Paradise County, Maryland, in Plat Book R.L.D. No. 2, page 41, as Lot No. 43.

TOGETHER with and subject to covenants and restrictions set forth in Declaration dated June 5, 1974, and recorded in Liber No. 350, folio 232, and Supplementary Declaration of Covenants and Restrictions dated August 15, 1977, and recorded in Liber No. 380, folio 271, both having reference to the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple. The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty as to the description of the improvements.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $16,000 will be required at time of sale, such deposit to be in cash, certified check, or in other form as the Substitute Trustees may determine acceptable, in their sole discretion. Balance to be paid in cash within ten (10) business days of the final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If payment of the balance does not take place within the specified period stated, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to them, the Substitute Trustees will declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney's fees and all other charges incurred by the Substitute Trustees. Interest to be paid on unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the deed of trust note from date of sale to the day the funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder, there shall be no abatement of interest caused by the delay. Taxes and water rent to be adjusted to date of sale. Condominium fees and/or Homeowners Association dues, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchasers sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees.

Assignee's Sale Of

Valuable Residential Real Estate

All those parcels of DEEP CREEK LAKE and together with the improvements thereon, North of Oakland near Deep Creek Lake, situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Raymond A. Ferguson, dated September 5, 1991, recorded in Liber No. 570, folio 30, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said Deed of Trust and it having been duly assigned to the undersigned for the purpose of foreclosure, I hereby give notice that I will on FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1994,

AT THE HOUR OF 1:30 O'CLOCK P.M.

in the rotunda of the Courthouse in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder the following property:

UNIMPROVED LAKE RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY 30.62

acres, more or less.

Being the same as was conveyed to Raymond A. Ferguson by deed dated November 2, 1971, recorded in Liber No. 317, folio

233, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland; and 20.00 acres, more or less.

Being the same as was conveyed to Raymond A. Ferguson by deed dated April 2, 1966, and recorded in Liber No. 270, folio 146, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Excepting out conveyances to date leaving 21.04 acres, more or less, and 1.69 acres, more or less, respectively.

This land has been surveyed for subdivision into approximately 13 lots and has one approved perk site.

IMPROVED LAKE RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY 13.55 acres, more or less, improved by a 1 and 1/2 wood and stone frame structure with wood rail fence. Believed to include the following fireplace, enclosed porch or family room, patio with roof, fireplace, septic and well. One large and several small sheds. Number of bedrooms or baths in the house is unknown.

This parcel is also believed to include a 925 square foot red brick rental house with one bath and fireplace, and 18 rental spaces for trailers with water and 15 installed septic systems.

Being the same as was conveyed to Raymond Arthur Ferguson, by deed dated June 19, 1964, recorded in Liber No. 263, folio 289, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Directions: U.S. Route 219 North from Oakland to Deep Creek

Lake. Make a right turn onto Pysell Road. Improved property is located approximately 1/4 mile on the left side of Pysell Road.

Unimproved property is located approximately 1/4 to 1/2 mile past the improved property on the same side of the road, and is known as the Ferguson Subdivision.

Each parcel will be bid separately. The unimproved property will be bid first and may be sold as individual lots. We reserve the right not to bid the residential property.

Terms of Sale: A cash deposit, cashier's check or certified check of TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($10,000.00) shall be paid at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, cashier's check or certified check at settlement, which shall be within twenty days

(20) after final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett

County, Maryland, time being of the essence, interest at the rate of seven percent per annum shall be paid on unpaid purchase money from date of sale to date of settlement. Except that if the mortgagee, its successors or assigns is the purchaser, no deposit shall be required and a credit will be allowed for the mortgage debt.

The property will be sold subject to all restrictions, liens, covenants, and encumbrances of record. In the event that the purchaser fails to go to settlement as required, the property shall be re-sold at purchaser's risk and expense. Taxes and all other public charges to be adjusted to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, and document preparation shall be borne by purchaser. The above described property will be sold in "as is"

condition and without warranty as to the accuracy of information

Local Teenager Arrested For Reckless Shooting

An 18-year-old Oakland youth was charged with four counts of reckless endangerment this week after he allegedly shot two bullets into a neighbor's house. Harvey G. Bowser Jr. was arrested Monday by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Steven D. Hinebaugh contacted the sheriff's office after his home was struck with two bullets, one of which entered his daughter's bedroom. Hinebaugh told police he had just called his daughter, Kera, to supper when the house was struck. The 7-year-old girl had just left her room when the bullet came through, according to the report. The second bullet struck another portion of the home, but apparently did not enter.

Officers went to the nearby Bowser residence and questioned the defendant, who first said he had shot his gun at a stump. He later recanted the story and said he had actually been shooting at a rabbit, and reportedly indicated to officers that he was aware that the Hinebaugh resi-

Local Segments To Be Featured On MPT Program

The July 9 episode of Outdoors Maryland, the Emmy Award winning program on Maryland Public Television created by Glenn Tolbert, McHenry, will feature several segments on Garrett County.

One segment will be a story on ginseng, known as the king of the Chinese herbs, that is harvested in Garrett County.

Another will be a story on the North Branch of the Potomac River in Garrett County, examining how that particular waterway has been cleaned up after years of acid mine drainage pollution and neglect.

Whitewater rafting on the Youghiogheny River in Garrett County will be still another segment on the July 9 program, which will begin at 9 p.m.

Outdoors Maryland, which airs locally on Oakland channel 36 (8 on Oakland cable) is produced by Michael English. Underwriting for the program is provided by the Potomac Electric Power Company.

WHEN IT RAINS IT POURS - Even an umbrella couldn't keep Deep Creek fireman Jim Lascaris dry on Tuesday. Assisting divers enjoyed a chuckle when Lascaris surfaced with the umbrella he found while diving for a submerged truck which rolled into the lake on Monday. The driver of the Toyota pickup, Craig Fraiser of New Zealand, reportedly pulled into a steep driveway along State Park Road and exited the vehicle. The truck then began to drift backward with fellow New Zealander, Tanti Mermillan, still in the passenger seat. As she leapt to safety, the truck rolled down the driveway, across the road, down some steps, and between trees before it entered the lake, floated beyond a dock, and sank. Buddy's Towing, with the assistance of DCVFD divers James Adams, Eddie Beckman, and Lascaris, retrieved the vehicle the next day.

Summerfest, Quilt Show Set In Grantsville

A Summerfest and Quilt Show will be held July 14-16, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily at the Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville. Fiddle, Banjo Contests Slated In Friendsville

The 30th Annual Old-Time Fiddlers Contest and 6th Annual Banjo Contest will be held Saturday, July 16, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Town Park in Friendsville. The Fiddle Contest was first held in conjunction with the Friendsville Bicentennial in 1965 and has since become an annual event.

Sponsored by the Friendsville Rotary and Lions Clubs, the contests are open to all amateur fiddlers and banjo players in the area. Prize money and trophies will be awarded to the top three winners in three age divisions of the fiddle contest and one age division of the banjo contest. During intermission, the Fisher Family from Dawson, Pa., will perform. Family members include Carol Ann, who plays fiddle and sings, mother Judy, who plays piano and sings, father Cal, who plays guitar, and Uncle Harry, who plays 5-string banjo and sings. The Fisher Family has recorded two albums and performed at many fairs, festivals, and malls throughout a seven-state area.

Local bands and dancers will perform country, bluegrass, and gospel music from 3 to 6 p.m. on Saturday and refreshments will be available. Contest registration begins at 6 p.m. Spectators are requested to bring a lawn chair. In the event of rain, the contest will be held the following day (Sunday) at 2 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

For more information, persons may contact Judy A. Fisher, R.D. #1, Box 179, Dawson, PA 15428; telephone (412) 736-2297 (evenings), or contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948.

Pa. Jail Escapee Captured Locally By GSCO, MSP

After receiving an anonymous tip last week, the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, assisted by officers of the Maryland State Police, captured an escaped convict who was temporarily residing in a Friendsville cabin. Gerald D. Frazee, 27, Uniontown, Pa., was taken into custody last Thursday evening and remains a prisoner at the local jail.

Frazee had escaped from the Western Penitentiary, a maximum-security prison located near Pittsburgh, Pa., on May 4 by hiding inside a supply truck. He was accompanied by another prisoner, Donald Biauce, who was captured by Pennsylvania police shortly after the escape.

Frazee, who is originally from Garrett County, was serving a 20-year prison term for armed robbery, according to a sheriff's office spokesperson.

A call came into the sheriff's office several days before Frazee's capture, and officers learned that he was staying in a cabin on Old Morgantown Road. Deputies responded to the cabin last Tuesday, but were

County Agencies Make Reports To Commissioners

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners heard monthly reports from representatives of several county agencies Tuesday.

Economic Development
Construction on the Northern Garrett County Industrial Park should be finished by July 15. According to Tom Jones, director of economic development for the county, by that time the facility will be operational and ready for more occupants.

Jones also remarked that the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, the Garrett County Development Corporation, and the Mountaintop Chamber of Commerce have chosen Glenn Tolbert Productions to create a promotional video on Garrett County. Tolbert, a McHenry resident, has produced regional and national public television programs. According to Jones, the video will highlight tourism, industry, business, and the quality of life in the county.

Health Department
Dr. Rex Archer of the County Health Office reported on funding for the office's program on tobacco use. Funding for the program has increased $7,000 over last year, Archer stated. The Health office had requested $90,000 to fund this year's program but was granted $58,000. Last year the program received $51,000.

Archer also commented that the Rural Health Council's First Annual Rural Health Conference will take place October 6-7 at the Wisp resort.

Board of Education
County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Rysavage stated that replacing Dennett Road Elementary School's chimney, which was struck by lightning June 16, will cost an estimated $27,000. This sum does not include repairs to the school's roof which was also damaged by the blast.

Sanitary District Has Hearing On Water, Sewer Master Plan

At a public hearing on proposed changes to the Garrett County Water and Sewer Master Plan held Tuesday, Garrett County Sanitary District representative Marilyn Fienmeyer described seven major amendments aimed at upgrading and expanding the county's sewer and water systems.

Chestnut Ridge
To address the problems of failing private septic systems and the potential for commercial development near Interstate 68, the plan proposes the installation of a sewer collection system and an upgrade to the sewage treatment plant to serve the new Chestnut Ridge sanitary service area. According to the plan, the sewer lines would run "along Route 40 east of Grantsville to Route 219 North, and the area south of Route 40 to Chestnut Ridge Road including the Holiday Inn south of Interstate 68." Almost $2 million in grant and loan monies has been secured for this project.

Deep Creek Lake
Because new state regulations require that septic tank waste be treated before it is applied to land, the county plans to construct a facility to receive and treat septic waste at the Deep Creek Lake waste water treatment plant. Costs for this project have been estimated at $2.1 million.

In a second amendment affecting the Deep Creek area, the plan proposes that a new treatment facility be constructed to meet future needs. A site for the plant, which is designed to handle up to 0.3 million gallons of sewage per day, has already been purchased by the county Sanitary District.

By processing sewage piped from McHenry, the new facility would lighten the load on the plant currently serving Deep Creek, thus enabling it to serve more lake area customers.

Industrial Park
This project calls for the construction of a new sewage treatment plant to serve Bausch & Lomb, Hyde Laundry, and Buchmann Optical. This facility would also handle waste from future commercial residents of the fifty acre, Phase II addition to the park.

Keyzers Ridge
The potential for commercial development in the

Charles Grab Jr. To Be Featured At Penn Alps

Charles Grab Jr. will perform a program of trumpet music on Saturday, July 9, at 7 p.m., as a part of the summer series, Music at Penn Alps. Tickets will be available at the door.

His program will be wide-ranging and varied, including selections by Purcell, Handel, Ward, and Copland, plus traditional Irish and spiritual songs. He will be accompanied on piano by Eric Kitchen.

Grab is a native and resident of Hagerstown, and a graduate from Frostburg State University. He further received a master of music degree from Youngstown State University, Ohio. He currently teaches private brass lessons for Hagerstown Junior College and trumpet at Shenandoah University and FSU, as well as teaches a studio of private brass students at his home.

He is principal trumpet with the Maryland Symphony Orchestra and the Mercersburg Community Chorus Orchestra and solo cornetist with the Hagerstown Municipal Band. He plays trumpet with the St. James Brass Quintet, the Maryland Symphony Brass Quartet, and the Shenandoah Faculty Brass Quintet.

Upcoming events of music at Penn Alps will include the Men of Accord, a barbershop quartet, on July 16, and Sergio Belluz, Baritone, on July 23. For more information on the series, the dinner/concert option or advance tickets, persons may call Spruce Forest Artisan Village, at 301-895-3332. Music at Penn Alps is sponsored by Spruce Forest Village and Penn Alps, with additional support from the Maryland Arts Council.

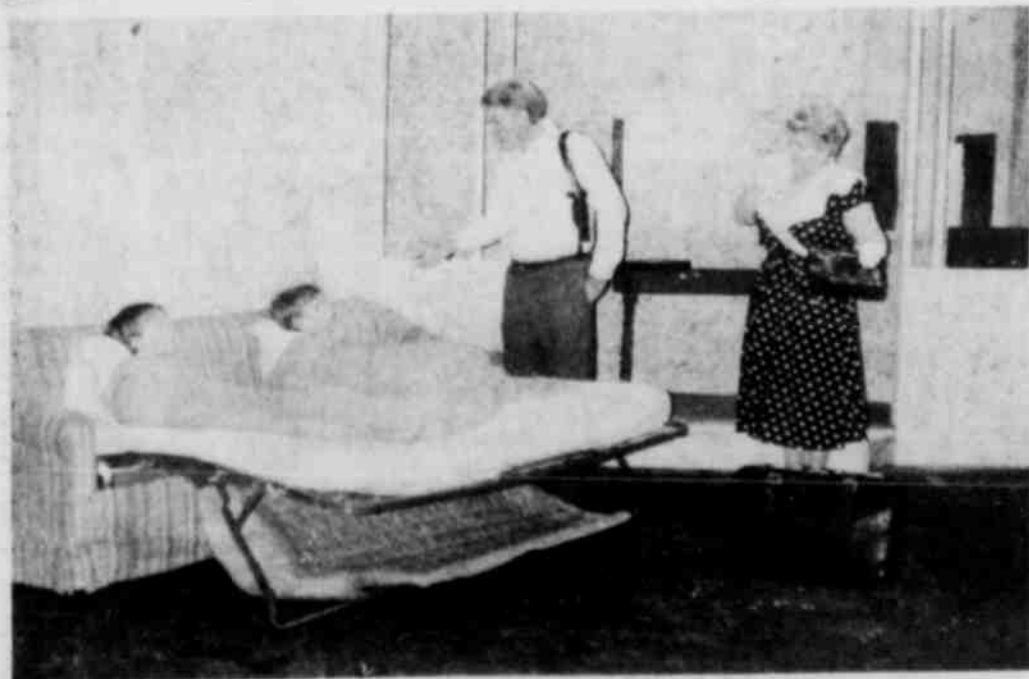

Celebration Of July 4 Slated At Broadford

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and the staff of Broadford Lake invite the public to attend the annual 4th of July celebration at Broadford Lake.

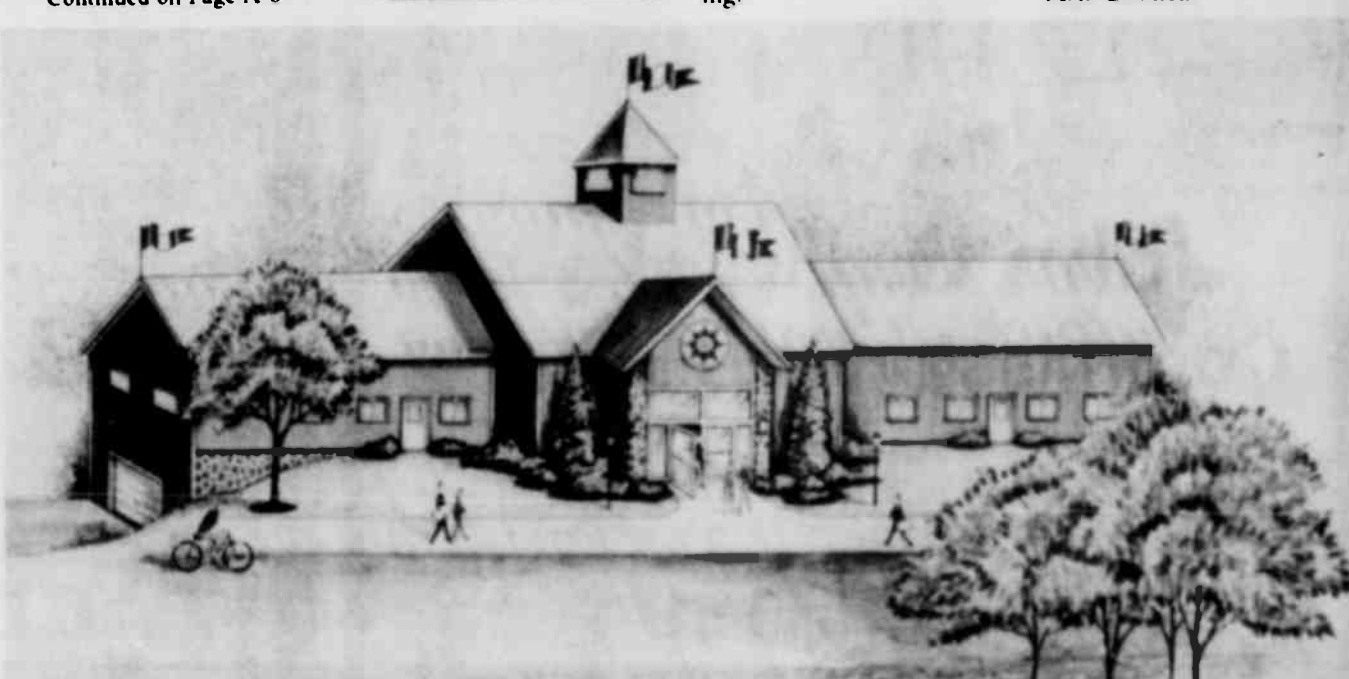

Picnicking and swimming will be available, as usual, and the day will be capped by a fireworks display shortly after dark.

The Mayor and Town Council noted its appreciation to all who have made donations to help defray the cost of the fireworks. Others wishing to contribute may send their checks to the council or drop them off at the municipal building.

LOST IN YONKERS TO TAKE THE STAGE - The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will present Neil Simon's Pulitzer Prize winning comic drama, Lost In Yonkers, on July 6-9 at the Garrett Community College auditorium, beginning each evening at 8 p.m. The play will be produced by Act IV Productions, Inc., and will feature an all-local cast. Shown are actors Jesse Shimrock (Arthur Kurnitz), Tyler Smith (Jay Kurnitz), Rob Smith (Louie Kurnitz), and Sue Markins (Aunt Gertrude) as they rehearse a scene from the play, which is set in Yonkers, N.Y., and covers nearly a year in the lives of a family during World War II. Others in the cast line-up are Neil Leveranz, Robyn Ingram, and Frances Acton. Jay Batham is the director for the show, assisted by Dan Ledden, who is also the technical director. The set will be designed by Ben Sincell and properties manager is Ryan Anderson. Tickets for the play are now on sale at the following pharmacies: Gregg's, Englander's, Beachy's, and Deep Creek. They are also available at the GLAF box office at GCC, and are priced at $7.50 for adults and $2 for students 16 and under. Lost In Yonkers is being produced by special arrangements with Bakers Plays, Boston, Mass. For more information, persons may contact the GLAF office at 387-3082.

PROPOSED "GARRETT SHOWCASE"

GARRETT SHOWCASE PLAN UNVEILED - What has been described as a "very preliminary" design and plan for a Garrett County multi-purpose art and community center, proposed by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, was unveiled at GLAF's annual gala benefit, held Saturday evening at the McHenry House. The initial idea for the center was that of Elise Delligatti, and she and her husband, Jim, have agreed to provide the seed money as well as two acres of land near Uno's Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake. GLAF's Facilities Committee Chairman Fred Warther donated the framed design, painted by Barry Domenick. The concept of the building, which will house a theatre, art gallery, and several convention spaces, was recently approved by the GLAF board. Further feasibility studies, programming, zoning application studies, and business plans were also authorized by board members. "This kind of multi-purpose center is something many local people have dreamed of for years," said Jim Harvey, president of GLAF. Harvey noted that the project will cost approximately $1.2 million, and that the non-profit organization is currently working on fundraising project goals. The recent benefit generated approximately $12,000 for the funding of GLAF's summer season, Harvey said. He expressed gratitude on behalf of the board for the "wonderful response."

Grantsville Man Found Guilty Of Handgun Violation Charge

Among the recent cases heard by Judge Ralph Burnett in Garrett County District Court proceedings was one involving a Grantsville man who was convicted on one count of possessing a handgun in his vehicle on a public road.

Russell C. Uphold, 37, was handed a 60-day suspended sentence, fined $400, and placed on one year of probation supervised by the DWI monitor.

The conviction stemmed from an incident on Oct. 5, 1993, at Fuel City in Grantsville, when Maryland State Police initially arrested him for DWI (driving while intoxicated). A subsequent search of his vehicle revealed a .22 magnum handgun, along with 103 bullets for the gun.

A sentence revision on Uphold's DWI charge resulted in the judge granting probation before judgment. All conditions of his probation will remain as originally imposed, according to court records.

Not guilty verdicts on charges of harassment, breaking and entering, burglary and felony theft were handed to Lesa A. Baker, 35, Oakland, resulting from separate incidents in February and April at the home of Darlene E. Sliger, also of Oakland.

Court records indicate Sliger and another complainant, Cathy Ford, charged Baker with breaking into Sliger's home and stealing a couch valued at more than $300. Sliger and Ford also filed charges of harassment against Baker.

Cross-complaints of burglary and felony theft, filed by Baker, also resulted in not guilty verdicts for Sliger and Baker.

Baker charged that Sliger gave her the couch, and that Sliger and Ford broke into her apartment on May 13 and took the couch without permission.

In other district court news, Sherry Snyder, 28, Friendsville, was not prosecuted on one count of trespassing on private property, at the request of the complainant. She had been charged with the offense on Nov. 1, 1993, by Lawrence Hartman, who claimed she refused to vacate his land after he notified her to leave.

Patricia A. Kitzmiller, 28, Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count of battery, at the request of the complainant, Michael L. Kitzmiller, also of Oakland.

Clifford J. Friend, 37, Swanton, was convicted on one count of battery, stemming from a July 28, 1993, incident involving a juvenile.

Judge Burnett sentenced Friend to one year in jail, with all being suspended except 15 days, fined him $350, and placed him on one year of supervised probation for the offense. He must also make a $250 contribution to the battered spouses' and children's center in Garrett County.

An additional charge of child abuse was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

David E. Stewart, 30, Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count of battery and one count of malicious destruction of property, because his wife refused to testify. Stewart's initial charge for the offenses stemmed from a Jan. 21 altercation at the home of Labitha I. Stewart.

James A. Fridel, 24, Oakland, pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty on one count of harassment. Judge Burnett sentenced him to 10 days in jail, fined him $100, and placed him on one year of unsupervised probation. An additional charge of stalking was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Fridel was charged with the offense by Jennifer K. Beckman who claimed that between March 1 and April 5, the defendant had called her home, threatened to kill her father, her older brother and her boyfriend, and would regularly speed up and down her street.

Michael R. Reams, 34, Swanton, had one count of harassment against him placed on the stet docket, on the stipulation he remain away from the complainant, Patricia Boyce.

Also placed on the stet docket was a charge of violation of a protective order against John E. Filsinger, 40, McHenry, because of an agreement with the defendant's council and the court. He was charged with the offense after an April 6 incident at the home of Judy L. Filsinger, Oakland.

A McHenry man was not prosecuted on one count of malicious destruction of property, stemming from a March 3 incident at the home of Michael A. Crosby, McHenry. Aaron M. Cook, 19, had entered Crosby's home to get a movie from a classmate. While inside, he broke a fishing pole and a fan, and put ketchup on a TV and mirror.

According to court records, Cook told the investigating officer that he had done the acts as a college prank.

Everett L. Carr, 46, McHenry, had a request for a jury trial granted by Judge Burnett. Carr was charged with eight counts of petty theft, six counts of felony theft, and one count of theft-scheme, resulting from an incident from July 1993, through September 1993, involving Lakewood Resorts Council of Owners, Inc.

Richard R. Paugh, 44, Mtn. Lake Park, had one count of battery placed on the stet docket, at the request of Bonnie S. Paugh. The charge resulted from a Feb. 14 incident.

An Oakland woman was granted probation before judgment on a charge of giving a false statement to an officer.

According to district court records, Debra E. Bennett, 30, was handed a seven-day suspended sentence, fined $100, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Bennett reportedly told Maryland State Police on June 6, 1992, that her brother-in-law's motorcycle was stolen. On April 4, 1994, the cycle was recovered, and, according to court documents, the last person to sell it was Charles A. Craver.

Craver told investigators that he had bought the motorcycle from Bennett for $50 cash. He had no receipt or title, but did have witnesses. He said Bennett was not at home on the day he

Commissioner Seat Is Sought By Roger P. Giotfelty

Roger P. Giotfelty Sr., Oakland, has announced his candidacy for Garrett County Commissioner. Giotfelty is a Republican and will be vying for the District 3 position currently held by Brenda Butcher.

"I would like to have the challenge of being the next commissioner and to serve the residents of Garrett County," said Giotfelty. "I feel that years of volunteer involvement in community affairs and being a life long resident of Garrett County have provided the background that is necessary to be a viable candidate."

The candidate was born in Garrett County and has been a resident for 36 years. He served as a member of the Garrett County Fair Board for over 10 years and has been a member of the Oakland-Mountain Lake Park Lions Club for over 20 years. In the 1970s, Giotfelty has held various offices including that of president from 1975-76. He has also served as zone chairman Lion District 22-W.

Sheriff's Office Probing Reports Of Car Damage

Several reports of damages done to automobiles were noted at the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week. Three cars parked at Buchmann Optical were vandalized, as was one parked in Grantsville during Grantsville Days.

Linda S. Shillingburg,

Terra Alta, W. Va.; Laura L. Folk, Horse Shoe Run, W. Va.; and Rebecca C. Aronhalt, Elk Garden, W. Va., all contacted the sheriff's office Monday to report that their cars had been scratched while parked at Buchmann Optical.

Shillingburg's 1987 Pontiac was scratched on the front and rear passenger doors, causing $200 in damage; Folk's 1988 Dodge was scratched on the front fender, causing $200 in damage; and Aronhalt's front driver's side fender of her 1992 Ford was scratched causing $50 in damage.

There are currently no suspects in the case.

Ronald C. Hetz, Grantsville, reported to police that someone broke out the driver's side window of his 1978 Pontiac on June 26. The vehicle was parked on Main Street in Grantsville and the damage was done during the Grantsville Days celebration, according to the report.

The repairs to the Pontiac will cost $300, according to the report.

Randolph Lake Compact Proposed By Sen. Sarbanes

U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes introduced legislation Tuesday to permit Maryland and West Virginia to enter into a joint agreement for Jennings Randolph Lake. The lake is on the North Branch of the Potomac River in Garrett County and in Mineral County, W.Va. The lake is growing in popularity as a recreational site, and better management of its resources is needed, Sarbanes said.

The lake was created with the construction of a dam across the river in 1982 to enhance the water quality of the Potomac, reduce flood damage, improve the water supply, and increase opportunities for recreation. However, the creation of the lake removed the natural boundary between West Virginia and Maryland. The meandering nature of the former river and the depth of the lake have made it impossible to re-establish the precise location of the boundary. As a consequence, according to Senator Sarbanes, "enforcement of the natural resources and boating laws and regulations have been tentative at best, and at worst, nonexistent. As recreational uses of the lake continue to increase, it is anticipated that enforcement problems will become increasingly difficult."

BPW'S YOUNG CAREERIST CANDIDATE, Liz Goldsborough, placed in the top four in state competition at the Maryland Federation Business and Professional Women's convention in May. To qualify for state ranking, Goldsborough presented her speech, titled "Florence Nightingale," on the local and state levels. She has an associate's degree in nursing from Allegany Community College, and a bachelor's degree in biology from St. Mary's University in Texas. She is currently employed as patient care coordinator for Cuppitt & Weeks Nursing Home. Pictured above, from left to right, are BPW President Liz Daniels, Goldsborough, and Theresa Feather, Young Careerist chairman.

The Sarbanes legislation will provide the states of Maryland and West Virginia with concurrent jurisdiction over the project area to enable them to jointly enforce natural resource boating laws and regulations. Congressional approval of such an agreement between two states is required by the Constitution. The Sarbanes measure is co-sponsored by Maryland Senator Barbara Mikulski and West Virginia Senators Robert Byrd and Jay Rockefeller.

"The lake and surrounding area extraordinarily beautiful and include some of the most picturesque are countryside in the nation. The lake and the North Branch of the Potomac River below the dam support a recreational trout fishery that is one of the best in America. Other recreational opportunities including boating, downstream whitewater rafting, hiking, and picnicking are drawing increasing numbers of visitors to the lake. This is a natural resource for us to treasure - and to preserve," Sarbanes said.

Sarbanes says he has taken a number of steps in recent years to preserve the lake while making its beauty more accessible for the people of Maryland. He has worked with the governments of both states and the Army Corps of Engineers to improve the access road on the Maryland side of the lake, he has addressed acid mine drainage on the North Branch of the Potomac, and he has had language added to appropriations legislation to have the Corps of Engineers develop a new management plan for the lake.

Four Morgantown Youths Arrested For Car Theft

Four teenagers from Morgantown, W.Va., were arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office last week after they allegedly stole a van and a car and drove into Garrett County.

The sheriff's office received a call from a resident who was suspicious about the four youngsters who were seen in the van and brown Honda four-door. They apparently traveled to Buckle's Store and attempted to buy gasoline.

The teenagers are also accused of breaking into the home of Melba I. Bittinger and stealing cash and a checkbook. They were taken into custody on Tuesday morning after local police checked with Morgantown law officials, who reported that the van had been stolen earlier that day.

The boys, aged 16, 14, 15, and 13, were taken to a detention facility in Rockville where they are awaiting trial. A sheriff's office spokesperson said.

Clyde Hetrick Candidate For Commissioner

Clyde E. Hetrick, Grantsville, announced this week that he has filed as a Republican candidate for county commissioner, District 2.

A veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps, Hetrick is a 1967 graduate of Northern High School and a 1990 graduate of Garrett Community College in social and behavioral science and secondary education.

Hetrick currently serves in the inactive Marine Corps Reserves and is a member of American Legion Post 214, Grantsville. He was commander of the Garrett County Veterans and Associates for three years. He was a representative, vice president, and president of the GCC Student Government Association and received a Certificate of Excellence while a student at GCC.

He is currently employed at Garrett Community College in the multi-media area, where he works with audio visual equipment and the new interactive television technology which connects GCC with other educational institutions across the state and beyond. Before being employed at GCC, he traveled extensively while working on oil and gas rigs, on which he was seriously injured in 1980. The injury left him disabled, but as a result of his college education he obtained a lighter work position at GCC.

Hetrick said that, if elected, he will attempt to give the people of Garrett County more opportunities for education and employment. "Any individual can do and overcome any impairment or handicap if given the opportunity and the education," he said.

He said he also believes that the people of the county have a right to have a say

Pennsylvania Man Pleads Guilty To Sex Offense

A Meyersdale, Pa., man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to the charge of perverted and unnatural sexual practice. Donald Bockes, 35, was charged with the offense after an incident in September 1992 which involved two other individuals.

Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer accepted the plea, which came after a plea agreement, and ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Charges against Bockes that were not prosecuted were child abuse, third degree sexual offense, conspiracy, and assault and battery.

The incident took place at a Grantsville residence, according to the court document where Bockes allegedly engaged in sexual activity with another man. The charge on which he was convicted arose from this alleged activity.

Bockes incurred the remaining charges in light of the fact that an 8-year-old boy was present at the time of the homosexual encounter, and the defendant allegedly instructed the boy to allow the other male to accost him. Although he was restrained by the men, the boy was able to break free and escape, according to the court document.

A sentencing date was not indicated in the report.

In other circuit court news, a young Baltimore man pleaded guilty to one count of escape. Neil B. Johnson, 19, was charged with the offense after he left the Savage Mountain Youth Center on March 29 by climbing through a dormitory window.

Thayer sentenced Johnson to three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections and then suspended all but time served, which was 86 days. He ordered the defendant to be on two years of supervised probation.

Johnson apparently attempted to steal a van after escaping from the center but was unable to do so. He then took $20 from a purse located inside the van and left on foot. He was apprehended a short time later, according to the report.

Trying Times at GCMH...

These are severely trying times in the health care industry, and unfortunately the Garrett County Memorial Hospital "family" is not immune from the dramatic, far-reaching changes that are occurring at an alarming rate in this arena.

Hospitals all over the nation are being forced to take drastic steps just to keep their doors open, as in-patient days and reimbursement for health care continue to dwindle. Hospitals will never again be the same kind of care provider they once were.

The most painful "right-sizing" decision made recently by the GCMH board management, and the one that has caused the greatest unrest there, was the layoff of five employees. Rumors about hospital administration have been rampant and union activity and influence are, as one would expect, at an all-time high. While management is attempting to respond to the rumors, questions, and concerns of the employees, the uncertainty of the entire situation is creating extreme anxiety, not only among the employees, but also among members of the board, management team, and medical staff.

While the loss of employment was devastating for those five employees, when compared to the situation at hundreds of other hospitals, this is a relatively tiny number. Most Maryland hospitals are doing exactly the same thing in far greater numbers, with scores, and in some cases, hundreds, of employees losing their jobs. In neighboring Pennsylvania, for example, six of Pittsburgh's hospitals have laid off a combined 2,000 employees in the past 12 months, and more layoffs are expected.

Mergers and closings of hospitals are occurring on a daily basis throughout the nation, as each is struggling to survive on an entirely new playing field, where the rules of how to play are as yet undecided.

It pains us to see our community hospital in the midst of such turmoil, but we have great faith that the board of governors, management, the employees, and the medical staff will be able to come together, weather this storm, and prepare as best they can for whatever new hardships tomorrow will most certainly bring.

We are blessed with an outstanding hospital with incredibly talented people. This facility would be the envy of people residing in thousands of other rural areas. Many good things continue to happen there every single day, despite the problems now being experienced. Besides cost-containment measures, hospital management is also working hard on some new revenue enhancement efforts that will help ease the financial burdens.

Addressing the negatives, but moving full-steam ahead on the positives, seems to be the best advice to all involved.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The beauty and fragrance of a flower reminds one of the beauty in friendship. It blooms from bud to beautiful full grown flower.

The Activities Department of Goodwill Menomonee Home lost such one in the death of Lois Arvin. She brought to us a special friendliness that bloomed in the hearts of the residents.

Her kindness was demonstrated in sharing with us roses from her garden -- the flowers she tenderly cared for and enjoyed.

More to her thought, were the "flowers" she found in people. The gentle touch, the caring smile, the contagious laughter and the understanding heart were shared with volunteers, residents and staff as she volunteered at the Home.

Even though Mrs. Arvin is gone to the eternal reward, the fragrance of her friendship will linger, prompting us to tenderly care for others as she so graciously shared with us.

Sincerely,
Idella Bender
Activities Director

To the Editor:

Contrary to what many believe, Thomas Jefferson had absolutely nothing to do with drafting the U. S. Constitution. He wasn't even in the country at the time. He was in Europe from 1784 to 1789, serving, for most of that time as U. S. minister to France. By the time he returned, the Constitution had been drafted, debated, and ratified into law.

In its article, "Thomas Jefferson," the Encyclopedia Britannica has this to say as to what he thought about the Constitution:

"The need for a bill of rights: 'This severest criticism of this constitution was directed toward its omission of a bill of rights that would place essential liberties of the individual CLEARLY BEYOND the reach of the federal government.'"

The Supreme Court's interpretive powers: "Jefferson opposed judicial review on the grounds that it constituted a threat to the people's liberties from that department of the government least subject to popular control."

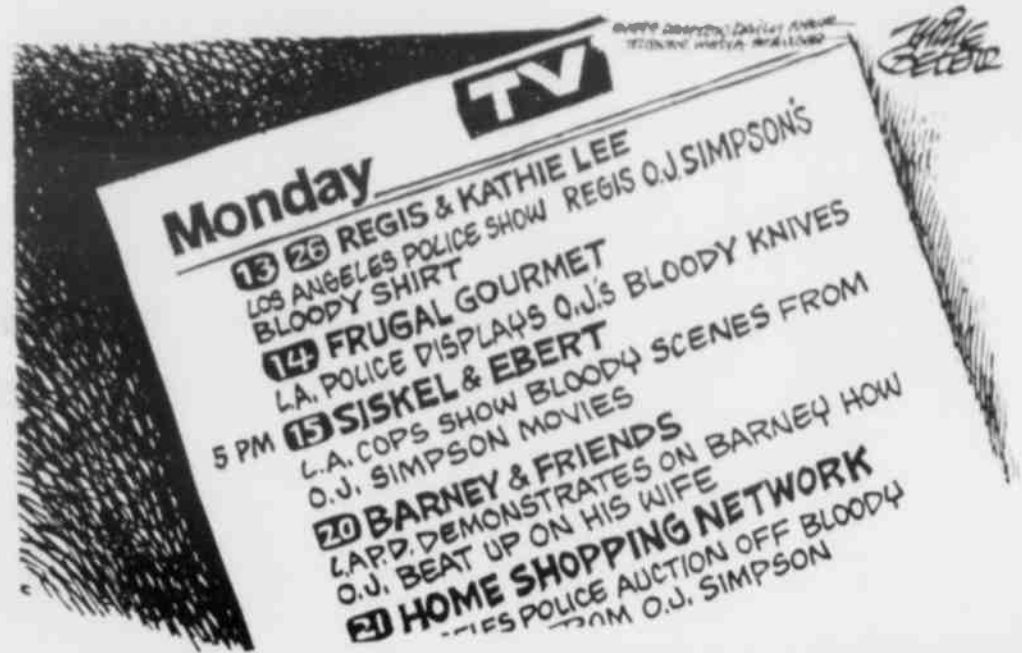

The way he thought it should be interpreted: "Jefferson believed that a STRICT or NARROW interpretation was essential to the preservation of the people's liberties."

The first 10 amendments (Bill of Rights) were added to the Constitution in 1791 to limit and restrain, not expand and enlarge the power of the federal government. "Congress shall make no law," tells Congress what it CANNOT do. There is no enforcement clause to this amendment as there is in several of those added later, beginning with the 13th.

It says in Article 36, Declaration of Rights, Constitution of Maryland, "...Nothing shall PROHIBIT or REQUIRE the making reference to belief in, reliance upon, or invoking the aid of God or a Supreme Being in any government or public document, proceeding, activity, ceremony, SCHOOL, institution or place." This must be terribly embarrassing to Maryland Attorney General Curran.

To me, the question is not so much whether prayer should or should not be part of a graduation or any other public activity, but whether the federal or state governments have any authority in the matter one way or the other, and the wording and intent in both the U. S. and Maryland Constitutions are clear; they do not. The Supreme Court's 1963 ruling was wrong, at least to the extent that it is being applied today, and I believe Thomas Jefferson would agree.

Constitutional separation of church and state as it is interpreted today is not a doctrine, it's a myth.

Sincerely,
Jerry Stewart
Oakland

To the Editor:

On June 25th, an event occurred which caused great joy and great sorrow. The event was the birth of my daughter, a daughter born while her father was incarcerated in the Garrett County jail serving a year for a DWI. Although this in itself is not earth shattering news, the events leading up to the birth are, to say the least, rather interesting and noteworthy.

After obtaining a note from my doctor requesting the presence of my husband at the birth, believing that his support was very much needed, a court order was obtained for the purpose of allowing my husband to accompany me to the hospital under guard or alone for the birth of our child, under the discretion of Sheriff Van Evans. Simple enough, pretty well stated; or so we thought.

Sheriff Evans, in his infinite compassion and sense of fair play, did agree to allow my husband to go to the hospital, hand-cuffed behind his back, to the delivery room only, then returned immediately, making sure that several things would happen. My husband would not be there during labor when really needed, he would most likely miss the birth anyway, he would not be able to hold his daughter, and to cause humiliation for him and myself during the actual birth. Thank you very much for nothing, Sheriff Evans.

Although I don't expect all who read this letter to be sympathetic to my personal plight, at least this incident should raise one question in your mind... when did the sheriff of our county receive or take more power than a Circuit Court judge?

This is a question that I can't seem to find the reason or why for, but I think it's time to delve into this blatant disregard for authority and the demeaning treatment of those who are unfortunately under his control.

This is an election year and as Paul Harvey so often says... "Stay tuned for the rest of the story!"

Denise Kisselovich

Our family had a very frightening experience on Sunday. Our ball team was having a pizza party to celebrate the end of the season at Broadford Park. The kids decided to go to the beach and swim. En route to the beach, a couple of the kids from our team ran up to us and told us to hurry up and get down there because our son, Derek, had gone under, and was not coming up. My husband ran ahead of me and when I got there, they had already gotten our son out of the water. He was lying on his side and had already regurgitated a good amount of water. It was terrifying to reach the beach and see my son lying

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

MARYLAND'S ASSAULT PISTOLS BAN

By Governor William Donald Schaefer

On June 1, Maryland's landmark ban on 18 assault pistols went into effect, capping our four-year campaign to outlaw these dangerous, high-powered weapons. Also included in the law are provisions that increase penalties for the use of an assault pistol during the commission of a crime and update the list of regulated firearms subject to the seven-day waiting period.

I was joined at the signing of the assault weapons bill by Jim Brady, press secretary to former President Ronald Reagan, and his wife Sarah Brady. As many of you might know, Jim was severely injured in 1981 during an assassination attempt on President Reagan's life. Since then, the Bradys have been strong advocates of gun control measures, working with states like Maryland to adopt stronger laws to protect citizens.

The bill signing made me think of the other advances we've made in Maryland's gun control laws -- something I have made an integral part of my annual legislative package since 1988. The creation of a Handgun Roster Board to prevent the possession and sale of "Saturday Night Specials," a law requiring guns to be stored safely around children, and a law tightening sales of guns at gun shows are all groundbreaking pieces of legislation.

Gun control legislation always sparks a debate because opponents of gun control worry that efforts to curb access to some guns will harm their constitutional right to bear arms. But the gun control legislation I proposed over the years was introduced with one purpose in mind: to protect our citizens. I want to make it clear that I do not believe gun control will solve all of Maryland's public safety problems, but it is a strong and necessary step toward making Maryland a safer place to live and work.

People who follow General Assembly matters know that each year since 1991, I have proposed banning specific types of assault weapons -- firearms that rightly belong on the battlefield rather than on our streets. What disturbs me is the length of time it took to convince the legislature that these guns serve no useful purpose, and are really good for only one thing -- killing people. These are not guns that anyone would use for hunting or sporting purposes, and they are not the kinds of guns you would want to keep in your home for protection.

While a ban on assault weapons has won consistent support in the House of Delegates, it was frustrating to watch my proposal die in committee each year in the Senate without giving the bill the fair opportunity to be decided by a full vote of the General Assembly. It took carefully planned legislation to allow the bill to be decided objectively in another Senate committee, which ultimately led to the bill being voted on by the full Senate. We owe our legislature a vote of thanks for their courage in doing what was right.

We also owe our success to the great amount of public support a ban on assault weapons has gained in recent months. This year more than any other year, Marylanders voiced their concern about the growing amount of crime and violence in our state. In fact, a recent newspaper survey found that more than half of Maryland's residents favor banning handgun sales and two-thirds agree with restrictions on semi-automatic weapons.

Unfortunately, police tell us more and more they are finding these high-powered assault style weapons in drug busts, and that assault weapons are used in one out of every 10 crimes. In 1988, Baltimore city police collected 11 assault pistols. Last year, the number was 67.

I wanted to test for myself how serious Maryland's gun problem is. I set up a flagpole outside the State House to tell us during the 90 days of the legislative session whether someone in Maryland had died that day from a gunshot wound. When we put up the flagpole, the police told us we might as well keep it at half-staff. And we almost did -- every day but three -- because someone, somewhere dies from a gunshot wound in Maryland just about every day.

While Maryland is still ahead of the nation in the passage of gun control legislation, it will be up to the next governor and legislature to keep the momentum going. In the meantime, citizens can help by supporting the candidates who advocate tougher gun control laws. Hopefully, this will make it easier for gun control laws to be passed in the future. If you have thoughts about how we can make Maryland safer, write me: Governor William Donald Schaefer, State House, Annapolis 21401.

AMERICA'S FOUR REVOLUTIONS

A revolution is, by definition, a turning again, and again, and again. We use the word in two different contexts, physical and political. The Earth revolves around the sun. Each revolution signifies one year. If the Earth would ever stop revolving, we would all be in big trouble.

While we recognize that revolution of the Earth must continue for life to endure, we treat political revolution as something that has a beginning and an end. Our own Revolution we commemorate annually on July 4. We treat it as a purely historical event, rather than as a process that must continue for our society to endure in liberty and order.

If we study the history of our republic we can detect the unfolding of the Revolution in every decade. Just as we mark the Earth's revolution around the sun, so also we can mark specific revolutions, specific turning points, in our history. The first was, of course, the war for independence and the political revolution of 1776 and the years following.

The second revolution was the Civil War. Everything between 1776 and 1861 can be viewed as either following from the original Revolution or leading up to the Civil War. The Civil War was so far reaching that we cannot say with certainty, it is over today. There remains a sense of being northern and southern. There remains the issue of race as related to political and economic equality. There remains the primacy of national government over state government. It was a potent dispute which continues to fascinate and puzzle us.

The third revolution was possibly because of the second. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was the first to affirm that government and especially national government is the answer. It didn't matter what the question or problem might be, FDR replied that the federal government could and should respond on behalf of us all. Such a political affirmation was possible only because Lincoln had already established the primacy of national government over state governments.

Since 1933 there has been no meaningful political debate apart from the battle lines expressed by the slogans "Government is the answer," and "Government is the problem." Our country is polarized around these two slogans. There are those who want yet another government program to solve our problems (welfare and health care reform, as examples). There are those who say simply, "Get government out of our lives."

Both positions are belied by a naive hypocrisy. Those who advocate government as the answer like the idea of government telling other people how to run their lives, as long as government does not order them around. These are the people who want strong environmental legislation, but who resent the restrictions which limit their ability to develop property they own. They are the people who say higher taxes are all right, but rush to their accountants to develop new means of tax avoidance.

The folks who want government out of their lives, on the other hand, are quick to sign-up for Social Security as soon as it is their turn. They say they paid for it, but of course, the money most people paid in runs out in the first few years. It too is a welfare program. Farmers, by tradition the most independent of Americans, have learned that to survive they must farm the government first and their farms second.

The American ideal is that we should be a government run by the people. The current American reality is that we are a people run by the government.

FDR's vision of a people of the government, by the government and for the government is coming to an end. The energy of his revolution is nearly spent. Some will shout "Hurrah!" but what comes next? The time is ripe for America's fourth revolution, but what kind of revolution will it be? Anarchy and totalitarianism are all too possible for our future.

We have time to choose something else, to rediscover the principles of our first revolution which I sum up under two headings: self-reliance and community. We need to rebuild a nation of persons who believe they should do everything for themselves that they can do. That is self-reliance. We need to rebuild a nation of persons who believe they should do everything for their neighbors, near and far, that they can do. That is community.

The revolution we need will not be initiated by anyone in Washington, D.C. or in any of our state capitals, county seats or city halls. The only thing which can save our nation is a revolution initiated by millions of persons, standing on their hind legs, and declaring themselves to be independent and free.

motionless. Naturally, the worst went through my mind.

The main reason I am writing this letter is to make the citizens of Oakland aware that they have some young heroes in their community. Their names are: Jennifer Sanders, Robert and Bobbie Sue Simmons. There are two more people

LITTLE BUDDHA

Miramax Films; directed by Bernardo Bertolucci; starring Keanu Reeves, Chris Isaak, Bridget Fonda, Alex Wiesendanger and Ying Ruocheng

There is an intriguing gentleness to this tale of a nine year old Seattle boy, who is believed by some Tibetan monks to be the reincarnation of their beloved Buddhist teacher. Director Bernardo Bertolucci continues here the exploration into tensions between Eastern and Western thought, philosophy and lifestyle that he began in The Last Emperor and followed with The Sheltering Sky.

Little Buddha lacks the drama, pacing and intensity of either one. Its stance is more meditative, its approach far more simplistic. In fact, the fascinating part of the film is not the contemporary plot at all, but rather the flashbacks shown as the unfolding of a picture book story, of the life of Siddhartha who became the Buddha.

Keanu Reeves plays the role of Prince Siddhartha with an exquisitely chiseled beauty. The majesty of Bhutan and Nepal is given full play through Vittorio Storaro's resplendent cinematography. Even the modern Washington landscape evokes a sense of wonder under the master's touch.

Little Buddha has a literal quality in its telling of Siddhartha's search for enlightenment that prunes elements of mystery and imagination from its sense of a spiritual quest. What is left is like a children's fairy tale version of the Buddha's evolution, with some super Cecil B. DeMille style special effects.

The film's naivete conveys an innocence that often works to its benefit in the contemporary sequences. Young Jesse's (Alex Wiesendanger's) parents seem surprisingly accepting of the monks' beliefs in their son's spiritual powers. When Jesse and his dad travel with the holy men to Tibet, their initiation into Buddhist rituals seems artless and undeveloped. Yet the essence of their experience has an internal validity. The abbot of the monastery to which the child travels is played by Khyongla Rato, recognized by Buddhists as being a reincarnated lama since he was five years old.

or plot that Bertolucci achieved with The Last Emperor. If one suspends disbelief however, it is a thoughtful, engrossing film.

Rated PG for mild profanity and intense imagery.

1-10 Rating: 6 1/2. An American child is thought by Tibetan monks to be the reincarnation of a spiritual master.

PRIOR WEEKS RATINGS

Flintstones — PG, "6." Genial Fred Flintstone undergoes a personality change when ambition makes him betray his best friend Barney.

Maverick — PG, "8." Genial con-man/gambler Bret Maverick makes his way toward a high-stakes poker match, with a charming thief and a mysterious ex-lawman in tow.

Crooklyn — PG-13, "7." A large, loving black family struggles to make ends meet amidst neurotic neighbors and financial adversity in 1970s Brooklyn.

When A Man Loves A Woman — R, "8." An affluent young couple's marriage and family are threatened by the wife's secret drinking.

Backbeat — R, "7 1/2." The earliest days of the Beatles, when tensions between John Lennon and his best friend Stu Sutcliffe threaten to destroy the band.

The Favor — R, "7." A discontented housewife, obsessing over the high school boyfriend she hasn't seen in fifteen years, begs her free spirited best friend to find him and live out her fantasies.

charge. He was fined $200, and placed on one year of supervised probation. Fonzi was arrested for DWI on July 24, 1993, by the Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

David Richard Armstrong, 22, W.Va., was granted a sentence revision after being found guilty of DWI in earlier court proceedings. All of his sentence was suspended, except for time already served.

Roger Lee Pennington, 38, Va., failed to appear for his DWI court hearing. A bench warrant and a new $1,000 cash bond were issued by the judge. His initial arrest for the offense was on April 30, by state police.

Ronald Dale Dalton, 33, Md.; Steven Rudolph Beckman, 24, Md.; and Susan Jeanette Santos, 33, Md., all had their DWI charges amended to DUI. The judge fined each $350, sentenced them to 30-day suspended sentences, and placed each on 12 months of supervised probation. Dalton's arrest by MSP occurred on April 16; Beckman was arrested by sheriff's deputies on March 27; and Santos was arrested on April 22 by sheriff's deputies.

Michael Chura Thomas, 33, Lyles, Tenn.; and Delmas Floyd Tasker, 42, Md., also had their DWI charges amended to DUI. Each was given a 60-day suspended sentence, a $350 fine, and one year of supervised probation.

Sentence revisions were granted for Carlton Leo Merrill, 48, Pa.; Denver Keith Fichorn III, 22, Md.; and Russell Clarence Uphold, 37, Grantsville, on their earlier DWI convictions. The judge granted each probation before judgment on their charges, but all conditions of the original probations will remain the same.

A petition for violation of probation against James William Graham, 40, Mentor, Ohio, was dismissed. Court records indicate the defendant had completed the conditions of his parole.

Kerrie Jaunista Kinnard, 23, Md., was convicted on a DWI charge. She was fined $350, handed a 60-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation. She was charged with the offense on Feb. 20 by Maryland State Police.

Marshall Edison Wilt, 62, Md., had his DWI charge amended to DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol). Judge Burnett

BPW Members In Attendance At Convention

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club was represented at the recent "Women Make the Difference" Convention in Hagerstown. Attending from the local club were: Elizabeth Daniels, president; Barbara Flinn, legislative chairman; Teresa Feather, Young Careerist chairman; and Elizabeth Goldsborough, 1994 Young Careerist.

The local club received a number of awards at the convention, including: the Membership Equalization Award (154%), first place award for new members and first place for membership retention ($50 cash prize); and awards for the club's Woman of the Year, Employer of the Year, and for legislation and public relations efforts.

The top award received was a new award presented by the Future of Women in the Workplace Committee to Nancy Harsh for her "great educational achievement and advancement in the workplace." Corinne Hayward, state chairman, presented the award to Ms. Harsh.

Elizabeth Goldsborough placed among the top four finishers in the state Young Careerist competition.

Providing the luncheon center pieces was local club member Bea Crocco, of Flowers by Webers.

Membership in BPW is open to all working women and men. The Garrett County club meets the second Thursday of each month at Will O' the Wisp.

WEPCO Federal Credit Union was represented at the 60th Maryland Credit Union League's Annual meeting, held June 16-18 at the Sheraton Fontainebleau Hotel in Ocean City.

Attending from WEPCO were: Chairman James Weasenforth and wife, Polly; Vice Chairman Franklin Woy and wife, Boots; Treasurer Glenn Harvey and wife, Catherine; Director Joseph (Pepper) Inskeep and wife, Nellie; Director William McKenzie and wife, Virginia; Director William Smith and wife, Lillian; Director Raymond Miller and wife, Doris; Director Robert Alkire and wife, Marion; President Howard Warnick; and Vice President Lane Smith.

There are 95 credit unions that belong to the Maryland Credit Union League, of which 50 were represented, with 550 people in attendance.

The directors and managers attended educational sessions on the following topics: Strategic Planning for Success, Succession Planning, Opportunities in Mortgages, and Increasing Loan Volume. They also attended a business meeting where credit union officials planned the league's strategies for the coming year and reviewed last year's league activities in such areas as education, state and federal legislation, marketing, and other pertinent areas.

During the business meeting, credit union officials voted for their selected nominee(s) to represent them on the board of directors of the league. There are approximately 62 million credit union members in the United States, with one million members in the State of Maryland.

WEPCO Federal Credit Union now has over 10,000 members and assets in excess of $58 million. Chairman Weasenforth said WEPCO has experienced a "tremendous growth" over the past five years, due in part to the opening of their Oakland branch office and the addition of new services and loan types.

Credit unions are member-owned, self-help financial cooperatives that promote thrift and provide a full range of financial services to members. The Maryland Credit Union League is a statewide trade association based in Baltimore that serves state and federal credit unions within the state.

Paugh Reunion Set

The family of the late Wesley and Pauline Paugh will hold a reunion on Sunday, July 10, at Kitzmiller Community Park. All friends and relatives are invited to attend and bring a picnic lunch for a 1 p.m. meal.

Area Catholic Parishes In Final Stage Of Project

Roman Catholic parishes of Allegany and Garrett counties are in the final stage of a planning project to determine how best to strengthen the faith life of their members and meet ministry needs in light of available clergy.

The Ministry Task Force initiated through Bishop P. Francis Murphy in 1992 is ready for its final consultation with parishes before submitting its recommendations. The task force, chaired by Rev. Paul Byrnes, will be meeting with each parish this fall to present the plan, to hear comments, and to answer questions.

Rev. Byrnes says the emphasis in the planning project has been on collaboration. The proposed plan involves each parish in a three-phase effort. The first phase of collaboration will be one of programs; the second phase, one of administration; and the third phase, one structure.

The work of this Ministry Task Force was one part of a broader planning process that was begun by Bishop Murphy in 1990 and coordinated by Eleanor Horneman OSF of Midland. It began with each parish forming a self-study committee which worked for a year to develop recommendations to strengthen respective parishes based on detailed data about each parish, its ministries, its buildings, and its finances. They also offered recommendations for the region.

As part of this phase more than 4,200 parishioners completed a survey. The information from the self-study and the survey was used to determine topics for regional task forces. These task forces dealt with the areas of evangelization, youth, and finance. Their findings have been incorporated into the work of the Ministry Task Force.

The progress and findings of the planning projects were also monitored by the Western Regional Council, a representative body of all the parishes in the region.

Thomas Named To Who's Who

Matthew D. Thomas was recently nominated for honorary award recognition in Who's Who Among American High School Students for the 1993-1994 school years. This award, presented to only 5% of all high school students each year, was for high academic achievement.

The student was on the honor roll all four semesters, two of which were the distinguished honor roll and he completed the school year with a 94% grade point average. He is an enrolled member in the Center for Talented Youth (CTY) of the Johns Hopkins University and recently had a poem published by the American Academy of Poetry.

Matthew will be entering his sophomore year at Northern High School, where he lettered in both cross country and track. He is the son of David and Nancy Thomas, Friendsville.

Maryland You are Beautiful®

"MARYLAND & GARRETT COUNTY YOU ARE BEAUTIFUL" CITIZEN RECOGNITION

We are looking for Maryland's Beautiful People - those special people whose inner beauty compels them to actively love their neighbors. We want to make Marylanders aware of the great things their fellow citizens are doing. The "Maryland You Are Beautiful" citizen Recognition Ceremony celebrates and honors individuals or groups from each county and the City of Baltimore who make Maryland Beautiful. Each County will select one special individual or group to be honored as "Maryland's Most Beautiful" at a private reception with the Governor and a public awards ceremony in Annapolis scheduled for October 19, 1994. This event will be free and open to every Marylander, with entertainment provided by talented groups from every corner of the state.

The individual or group chosen for Garrett County will be recognized at the commissioners meeting October 4, 1994

after performing in Sunday's talent show. Below right is another parade entry, an antique auto sponsored by Hair Shapers, one of Grantsville's newest businesses, who delighted the younger members of the crowd by tossing goodies to them. Rains dampened the parade, but not the spirit of the hundreds of people who attended the many events of Grantsville Days. More photos, all taken by C. Speicher, will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

last June, I have driven 35,000 miles throughout the district, met with at least 100 community groups and associations to learn first-hand what could be done to improve our lives and what type of representation we want to get the job done," Dhillon said Tuesday. "Talking to teachers, senior citizens, law enforcement officials, and many parents, the message is clear - we want a representative who embodies hard work, independence, and open-mindedness; someone who makes our priorities Washington's priorities."

The candidate said one of his priorities is economic and business development that bring long-term, quality jobs to the sixth district, particularly in the western region. He also stated that he supports the development of a health care program that will give all Americans coverage and provide portability, but he maintained that such a program should not be built on the backs of businesses.

He supports capital punishment, the "truth in sentencing" concept in dealing with criminals and increasing the number of police officers, prevention programs that address juvenile crime, and programs that address violence against women.

"I will also support a balanced budget, tough campaign finance reform, and term limits for congressional offices - being a representative wasn't intended to be a career," Dhillon said.

His area office is located at 11 North Allegany Street, Neil Dhillon, Cumberland, announced his Democratic candidacy on Tuesday at Garrett Community College for Maryland's Sixth District Congressional race. His morning announcement was the first of several throughout the district area.

Dhillon has served the district in the past as legislative director under former Congresswoman Beverly Byron. He has also served as chief of staff for several congressmen in Washington during the past 10 years. He was named to the national position of acting deputy assistant secretary for the U.S. Department of Transportation in 1993, and assisted in the development of President Clinton's infrastructure agenda for the 1990's.

"Since I began contemplating the possibility of becoming a representative

Lefty Driesell Will Speak At Scouting Dinner

Charles G. "Lefty" Driesell, one of college basketball's winningest coaches, will be the featured guest speaker at the Monday, July 11, "Friends of Scouting" dinner, according to Page Shanklin, chairman of the Potomac Council, BSA's 1994 Sustaining Membership Enrollment (SME) campaign.

Currently head basketball coach at James Madison University, Driesell has compiled outstanding records in each of his three college coaching positions, which in addition to six years at JMU include 17 years at the University of Maryland and nine at Davidson. He assumed JMU's head coaching responsibilities in April 1988 and late in the 1991-92 season reached a plateau (600 career wins) achieved previously by only 12 Division I coaches. In 1993-94 he led JMU to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 11 years and in so doing became one of only 13 coaches to lead teams from three schools in NCAA play.

Driesell's 600th victory allowed him to join a select group that includes many of college basketball's top names. While the 13th coach to have 600 Division I games, he was only the sixth to have reached that milestone in 30 seasons, an average of 20 wins per season. That 600th victory came in JMU's 81-57 win over American in the Colonial Athletic Association Tournament semifinals, just two days after he was named conference Coach of the Year for the second time in three seasons.

He previously took over teams at Davidson and Maryland, building both into nationally ranked programs. He was named Southern Conference Coach of the Year at Davidson (four times), Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year (two years) and the earned the CAA Coach of the Year award in 1989-90 and 91-92 while coaching JMU.

Driesell in the winningest coach in the history of both Davidson's and Maryland's programs. During his tenure at UM (1969-86) the team enjoyed a 348-159 (.686) record, and won the National Invitation Tournament ('71-72) and the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament ('83-84). He took Maryland to post-season play a total of 11 times.

MRS. MARYLAND ADDRESSES LIONS CLUB - Mrs. Maryland, Sherry Upole, recently spoke to the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club at the American Legion Post 71 in Oakland, explaining to the club members the requirements for becoming Mrs. Maryland and what she will have to do before she enters the Mrs. USA contest. Upole then entertained questions from the group. She is shown above with Lions Club President Jerry Ferguson.

The Friends of Scouting Dinner is an annual event attended by financial supporters of Potomac Council who have made significant contributions to the current SME campaign. This year the dinner will be held at the Ali-Ghan Shrine Club, Cumberland, Monday, July 11, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

A limited number of tickets are still available for the Potomac Council Friends of Scouting Dinner. For information, persons may call the Scout Service Center, 301-729-1300, before Tuesday, July 5.

Swartzentruber Is Named Winner Of Dewey Award

The Garrett County Federation of Teachers announced this week that Jeri Swartzentruber, special education teacher at Southern High School, has been named the 1994 winner of the John Dewey Award.

The award is given annually by the GCTE to a person nominated by a member who contributes toward education in an exceptional way.

Ms. Swartzentruber holds an undergraduate degree from the University of Houston and a master's degree from Virginia Commonwealth University. She has 17 years of experience in education and is currently chairperson of the special education department at Southern.

She is also involved in a number of school and community organizations and programs, including Special Olympics, 4-H program, and the Garrett County Federation of Teachers, for which she is building representation. An avid equestrian, she is the Maryland state chairman of the U.S. Team Roping Championships, and a member of the U.S. Combined Training Association, U.S. Dressage

Oakland native Jay R. Friend, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Friend, Oakland, recently graduated with a B.S. degree in international marketing from the University of Alabama.

With a minor in public relations, Friend completed his studies at Alabama with a cumulative 3.933 GPA. He achieved distinction through induction in several honoraries, including Phi Beta Delta, an international honor society in which students are nominated for demonstrated academic achievement in international scholarship; Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society recognizing students of good character who have excelled in scholarship in the top five to 10 percent of their class; and Pinnacle, a national honor society honoring students of outstanding academic performance and significant involvement on the campus and in the community.

Other honors included several "Outstanding Performance" awards for individual senior seminars, presented by his college during honors ceremonies. Friend also worked for the University where he co-authored and published a model program for adult student (age 25 and above) services which addressed the need for universities nationwide to respond to changing demographic and educational needs. Friend has been accepted by the University of Hull, England, for graduate studies, and will pursue a master's degree in international business this fall.

Bloodmobile Nets 26 Pints In Friendsville

The American Red Cross bloodmobile netted 26 pints of blood at its June 10 visit to the Friendsville fire hall. Thirty-three persons presented themselves, of whom five were deferred for various reasons.

Alan MacI became a two-gallon donor at the visit, while Nancy Feather and Mary Frazee each reached the one-gallon level.

Eleanor Teets and Esther Benedict were the volunteers who assisted the Johnston staff of the Red Cross, which now furnishes paid personnel to cover all stations except walkers and canteen.

The next visit to Friendsville will be Aug. 19.

Thrills, Spills Highlights Of Weekend Racing

by Henry Fienmyr

The Deep Creek Yacht Racing Association concluded its June series last weekend with a day of wild sailing and a one of close competition.

Chip Dodd, weekend race commander, requested at least two patrol/rescue boats to cover these races. Before the Saturday was over, four would be busy.

On Saturday, the wind blew at least 15-18 mph, but with sharp gusts like mini-line squalls -- the terror of sailors since time immemorial.

Eight Lasers, six A Fleet Scots and seven B Fleet Scots started the first race. Most of the Lasers capsized several times, but the Laser can be righted with a little effort, about like rolling a barrel up a mountainside. A prolonged gust caught the Scot fleets near the finish line at the Turkey Neck Yacht Club moorings. Dan Muss and Frank Meehan took off downwind, side by side, planning like a pair of ski boats, but with little option of control. Dick Gregory, beating upwind with his centerboard stuck halfway down, sailed directly into their path. "Their eyes were as big as saucers -- and so were mine!" Dick recalled. "One went on each side of me with no room to spare."

The B Fleet did not fare so well in that gust. Three boats were knocked down, spilling their crews into the lake. Workmeisters were almost down, but made it to a nearby dock where they pulled down their flogging sails. When asked if they wanted assistance or intended to continue racing, Jane Workmeister said firmly, "I'm not going to put these sails up again!" Only three B Fleet starters finished the race.

For the second race the wind was stronger, but the gusts less sharp. Five Lasers, four A Fleet Scots, and three B Fleet Scots returned to start. The course was upwind-downwind in the "slot" off Turkey Neck. Kevin Rissell, Laser fleet captain, asked that a patrol boat stick close to them because of "the fatigue factor."

One B Fleet boat got in trouble early, going aground and tangling the mast in the trees on the Thousand Acres shore. They got off without outside assistance, but after 20 minutes of struggling toward the first mark, they withdrew and sailed home.

In the A Fleet, only John Meredith flew his spinnaker downwind. This kept him well in front until the last leg when a gust knocked down his boat and dumped him overboard. He got back aboard while crew Tony Kaminski righted the boat. The same gust turtled (upside down with mast stuck in the bottom) Bruce Spinnenweber. The other two A Fleet boats hung on the edge, then headed for shelter in a cove. Meredith also went for shelter, saying later, "I didn't see any reason to get more beat up if no one else did."

In the B Fleet, the two remaining boats sailed a match race crossing and recrossing with different styles. Ted Kemp would roll onto his beam ends and, scarcely easing the mainsail, would pinch into the wind, nibbling upwind distance. Dave Wible, with wife Monica and sister Sharon, would dump wind from the mainsail and fly away on the power of the jib, not always toward the finish line. Kemps won this "tortoise and hare" contest.

Thirty boats turned out for Sunday's race. The course, sailed in gentle southwest breezes, was a test of speed and position in varying conditions with few tacks. The Carpenters got away from the Scot A Fleet early, but were becalmed and overwhelmed on the first downwind run. The Scots, eight abreast with spinnakers flying, then overran the Laser fleet. The lead changed between three other boats as the Carpenters worked their way through the pack, regaining the lead and holding it to the finish.

Kevin Rissell and John Coolidge, sailing school instructors, confirmed their credentials by finishing every race and scoring three first and two seconds.

RESULTS
SATURDAY FIRST RACE
Laser - Kevin Rissell, first; Keith Spinnenweber, second; John Coolidge, third.

Scot A Fleet - John Meredith and Tony Kaminski, first; Dick Gregory and Allison Felix, second; Charles and Patti Buffington, third.

SECOND RACE
Laser - Kevin Rissell, first; Keith Spinnenweber, second; Gordon Cleffon, third.

Scot A - No finishers.
Scot B - Ted and Ralph Kemp, first; David, Monica, and Sharon Wible, second.

SUNDAY RACE
Laser - Kevin Rissell, first; John Coolidge, second; John Meredith, third.
Scot A - Jack and Harry Carpenter, first; Dick Gregory and Allison Felix, second; Doug and Audrey MacMillan, third.

Scot B - Lynn and Jane Workmeister, first; Jeremy Frank and friend, second; Ed Peters and Alan Armstrong, third.

Women's Play,
Friday Scrambler
Results Reported

The Oakland Golf Club Women's Association game for June 23 was an "accuracy tournament," with points given for hitting in the rough, the trees, sand, and water.

Betty Humberston won first place with only two penalty points: Martha Lou Ashby placed second with seven, and taking third place was Roberta Seward with 10.

Winning low putts for the First Flight with 32 were Annis Colaw, Pat Filsinger, and Anne Jesnak. Betty Humberston won low putts for the Second Flight with 30, while Rita Humberston won for the Third Flight, also with 30.

FRIDAY SCRAMBLER
The highlight of the scrambler June 24 was a hole-in-one made by Marj Knutson using a three wood on the par-three, 171-yard third hole. This was the first hole-in-one for Mrs. Knutson, who is a seven-handicap golfer. Knutson's team also won first place, carding a low score of 32. The team included Marj Knutson, Dave Lewis, Dave Davis, and Audrey Finnance.

Tied for second place with 34 were the teams of Larry Dixon, Anne Jesnak, Skip Rebele, and Wanda Pullen, and Larry Harvey, Pat Filsinger, Mary Spencer and Don Pullen. Third place was also won with a tie score. Carding 35 were the teams of J.R. Shillingburg, Mike Kildow, Will Bell, and Sherry Grant, and Annis Colaw, Charlie Riley, Ernie Finnance, Fran Bell, and Carroll Burge.

Tee-off time for the Friday Scramblers is 5:30 p.m., and all members or guests of the Oakland Golf Club are welcome.

Area Speedway Review

Somerset County Speedway

The Mid-Season Championship races came to a halt at the Somerset County Speedway in Meyersdale, Pa., when rain came during the Pro Stock Championship. Two feature events were completed.

In the "D" Main Clyde Prince took the lead in the fourth lap and continued on to victory. In the last lap Greg Herring was running third before he ended up on the wall between turns three and four. He was unable to complete the race. Prince was followed by Ken Wilson, Roman Yoder, Dave Greer, Marvin Hoeselrode, Gordon House, Mike Jones and Nathan Leydig.

Prince, Wilson and Yoder collected Mid-Season Championship trophies donated by Maple City Tire in Meyersdale. Prince was also presented a sinner's hat donated by Stitches Unlimited in Berlin, Pa.

Doug Shaffer was in the lead in the "C" Main before losing that lead to Mike Barndt. In the eighth, Barndt went wide and left a door open for Shaffer to regain the lead. Shaffer sent on to collect the checkered flag while Barndt went to the pits. Shaffer was followed by Ed Kemp, Steve Chipps, Len Livengood, Dave Geyer, Brad Reckner and Henry Bockes. Once again, trophies were presented to the top three finishers.

The Pro Stock feature got under way but was stopped in the 15th lap when Denny Sponaugle from Cumberland dropped a drive shaft which caused a fire to ignite. He drove into the pits where the Meyersdale Volunteer Fire Department promptly extinguished the blaze. The flames were a result of grease and not of gas. Before racing could continue, the rain came.

Your ticket stub will be honored for the continuance of the Mid-Season Championship of Friday, July 1 only, and if rained out, the following Friday. We will complete the Pro Stock feature, the "A" and "B" features, and the ever popular "Powder Puffs" and Mechanic Races. Racing at the speedway will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Cumberland Raceway

There were three new winners in Victory Lane at the Cumberland Raceway for the Cresap Automotive Machine Night. Cresap Automotive added a bonus of $175 to the top three finishers in all three classes. Cresaptown Mobil gave an extra $25 to the three feature winners and M&M Embroidery, of Schellsburg, Pa., gave each feature winner a special dated Cumberland Raceway Feature Winner hat.

The Ponderosa Steak House Late Model feature was won by Bob Hershman, of Swanton, his first win this year at Cumberland. "The Gang" and Lambert's Auto Service gave Hershman a $100 bonus, making the win worth $1,150.

The Hamilton Dodge Semi-lates was won by Lynn Ogden, of Cumberland, his first feature win ever. Ogden, by beating Jim Deneen, was able to claim bonus money from "The Gang," Lambert's Auto Service, Hamilton Dodge and Eric Shaffer for a total of $815 for the win.

Allen Stone, of Hagers-town, put his Roy Rogers #01 in Victory Lane in the Pure Stock feature. This was his first win ever at Cumberland. The win was worth $325. The Pure Stock feature ran non-stop. Promoter Ben Evans is rewarding the Pure Stock drivers who raced June 25 by giving them free admission to the July 9 race.

In the Ponderosa Late Model feature, Bob Hershman, from Swanton, took the lead from the pole position. He was chased for 18 laps by Bob Salathe, Scott Brode, J.R. Keifer and Todd Price. The only caution of the race came on lap 18 when Randy Kimmel stopped in turn four. On the restart, with two laps to go, Hershman held on for the win. Bob Salathe fin-

In the Hamilton Dodge Semi-late feature, Lynn Ogden went out in front at the start. Ogden wanted that bonus money of $190 on Jim Deneen, who started 11th. Shane Beegle and Eric Zembower chased Ogden until lap eight when a caution came out. On the restart Donnie Witt and Jim Deneen moved up to the top five. On the white flag lap Shane Beegle pulled beside Ogden coming out of turn two and they raced side by side into turn three, but Ogden pulled off his biggest and first win ever. Shane Beegle finished second followed by Donnie Witt, Jim Deneen, Eric Zembower, Jack Pencil, Wade Peer, Bob Elbin, Dave Troutman and Allen Buckley. Heat winners were Lynn Ogden, Jim Deneen and Eric Zembower.

The Pure Stock feature was an outstanding race with Darras Deneen leading for nine of the 12 laps. On lap 10 Allen Stone, who started sixth, got the lead. On the white flag lap Dennis Sponaugle, who started fifth, got the lead out of turn two but Stone came back on the inside out of turn three to get the lead and the win. Dennis Sponaugle finished second, followed by Johnny Harr, Darras Deneen, Bill VanMeter, Rick Saville, David Riley, Jeff Nicholson, Don Nicholson and J.R. Isner. Heat winners were Darras Deneen, Johnny Harr and Rick Saville.

There were 18 Late Models, 26 Semi-lates and 33 Pure Stocks in the pits and all features had head-up starts.

Fan of the week was Paul Swanner, of Ridgeley, W.Va. The Jr. Fan Club winner was Greg Fuller, Jr. of LaVale. The Tri-State Racing Photos Hard Charger Award went to Donnie Witt.

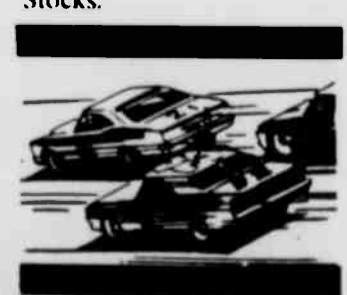

There will be no racing at the Cumberland Raceway on July 2. The next scheduled race will be July 9, it will be Jr. Fan Club Night. Jr. Fan Club members will get a bus ride around the track.

Interstate 79 Speedway

Heavy rains and strong winds hit Interstate 79 Speedway prior to the start of Friday evening's racing activities. Promoters Mark Richards and Steve Baker made the decision to cancel the Make-A-Wish Night festivities along with the regular racing program.

This week, July 1, will be Mid-Season Championship in all five divisions. Gates will open at 6:00 p.m. with hot laps at 7:30 and racing at 8:00 p.m.

Coming Sunday, July 17, will be the STARS Late Models in the second round of the West Virginia State Championship Series. Also on the racing card will be the UMP Modifieds, Pure Stocks, and 4-Cylinder Stocks.

Grantsville Splits, Central Wins A Pair

Grantsville lost one and then won one in Bi-State Pony League action this past week, while Central Garrett recorded a pair of victories.

Grantsville fell to George's Creek on Friday, 5-1, in Westernport and then rebounded for a 13-9 win last evening over Victory Post, also in Westernport. Meanwhile, Central Garrett rolled over visiting Mount Savage, 12-2, Friday and then crushed Midland on Tuesday, 14-4, in Midland. Grantsville is now 7-4 on the season, while Central has won 10 of 13 games.

Grantsville managed just one hit off George's Creek's Mike Dunn on Friday, as Bill Spicher rapped a double. The home team's big inning was the four-run second, when Aaron Wilt Matt Fritz yielded just five hits in taking the loss. The Grantsville offense came alive last evening against Victory Post by recording 12 hits and taking advantage of nine errors by the home team.

Fritz tripled and singled for Grantsville, while Joe Fullerton and Joe Layman each doubled and singled.

Kevin Morgan singled twice for Victory Post (0-11), as Joe Wilhelm went the distance for the win.

Zack Leverenz fired a three-hitter for Central Garrett last Friday against Mt. Savage and Jason King led the offense with four singles and two RBI. The contest was shortened to five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Leverenz recorded four strike-outs and walked just two to avenge an earlier

Mark Moulden doubled and singled to account for two of Savage's three hits. The loss evened Mt. Savage's record at 5-5.

Jason King recorded three singles in Central's big win over Midland on Tuesday, while Ryan Butler singled twice.

Corey Gatin and J.R. Monahan each singled twice for Midland, as Scott Sisler went the distance for Central to record the win.

Grantsville will play again this Friday at Ellerslie.

Stem And McBee New Coaches Of SHS Volleyball

The Southern High School girls volleyball teams will be coached by Cindy Stem and Gwen McBee for the fall 1994 season.

Stem has been assistant volleyball coach for three years and has been named head coach to replace Sue Snyder, who resigned after coaching both the junior varsity and varsity for the past six seasons.

McBee has been named assistant coach after being a volunteer coach with the program for the past two years.

Girls interested in playing volleyball for the Rams this fall should pick up an information packet at the school office between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., beginning July 5. All forms must be filled out and returned on the first day of practice, which will be August 15 from 3 to 6 p.m. in the auxiliary gymnasium.

Archery Shoot Winners Named

The winners of a 3-D archery shoot held Sunday along Cherry Ridge Road at Mt. Storm were announced by G&I Sporting Goods, sponsor of the event.

Cletis Bosley scored a 209 to win the bowhunter division, while Jeff Iser and Bill Sutton placed second and third, respectively, with 198 and 192.

Winning the challenger division was Jason Ours with a 231, followed by Paul Roderick with a 225 and Leon Evans with a 216.

Junior Weasenforth won the unlimited title with a 193, with Eddie Moreland placing second with 189 and Leonard Carr in third with a 186.

Chad Fridley scored a 233 to win the youth division, while Scottie Ours placed second with 218 and Angela Hipp third with a 156.

Lori Moreland shot a 188 to win the women's class, followed by Sandi Friend, 183, and Vicky Gaigler, 123.

Clinton Weasenforth won the cub division with a 174, Brad Roderick was second with a 163, and Brian Weasenforth placed third with a 93.

The next shoot will be held July 10.

GCC's Griffith Gets Full Ride To West Virginia

Darrick Griffith, a standout pitcher for the Garrett Community College Lakers, has received a full scholarship to continue his collegiate career at West Virginia University this fall, according to Ed Wildesen, GCC coach.

Griffith, who appeared in 13 games this past season for the Lakers, finished with a 5-3 mark and a 3.47 ERA. He struck out 64 batters in 67.5 innings for an average of about one per inning. He yielded 78 hits and 48 walks.

Griffith and Todd Blackburn both received the GCC Pitching Award for the 1994 season.

Griffith is a graduate of Edison South High School in Ohio.

Cutter And Fike Win Grantsville Days Tournament

Gene Cutter and Brian Fike won two trophies apiece at last weekend's Grantsville Days Tennis Tournament.

Cutter won the Men's A division title by defeating Sean Gregory, 6-2, 6-4, and then teamed with Frank Reyes to top Gregory and Pete Hornback, 6-4, 6-3, to capture the doubles championship.

Fike won the Men's B title by downing Brad Wooldraper, 6-3, 6-4 in the finals, and then took the Boys' 18 and under singles championship with a 0-6, 6-2, 6-4 win over Brandon Ferguson.

Gail Ringer topped Jane Rossie, 6-4, 6-2, to win the women's title, while Hugh Umbel and Beth Doerr defeated Tony Moffett and Angie Green, 6-3, 7-6 (7-2) to capture the mixed doubles championship.

Garrett Edges Fort Cumberland In Legion Play

An 11th inning single by Brian Reams sent home the winning run for Garrett County against Fort Cumberland Monday evening in Mountain District Junior American Legion competition at Bel Air.

Rich Warnick scored on Reams' single to break a 10-10 deadlock and pave the way for a 12-10 Garrett County win. The contest was the final game in the first half of the Mountain District season, which was won by Garrett County with a 6-1 record.

Reams also recorded a three-run homer in Garrett's eight-run fourth inning after Fort Cumberland had taken a 3-2 lead. The home team then chipped away at Garrett County's lead with seven runs over Warnick then led off the top of the 11th with a double and came home on Reams' single. Reams then stole second and scored what would be the final run of the game on a single by Mark Elliott.

Reams, who also recorded a double, also received credit for the win on the mound after relieving Butler in the eighth inning.

Bob Fritz hit a double and two singles for Garrett to send home three runs. Warnick doubled and singled for two runs and Elliott added a pair of singles. Garrett finished with 13 hits.

Manta Rays Open 1994 Season At Freestyle Meet

The Garrett County Manta Rays swim team, coached by Joanne Graybill, opened their season Saturday by participating in the annual YMCA Freestyle Meet at Frostburg State University.

The Manta Rays were among seven teams that competed in both A and B flight competition. Those in A flight are swimmers who have won a B flight championship or who compete on a year-round basis.

In A flight competition, capturing second places for the Manta Rays were Adam Chorpennig, junior, in the 50- and 100-yard free. Kevin Goralski, cadet, in the 50- and 100-yard free; and Amanda Bell, cadet, 100-yard free.

Taking third place A flight ribbons were: Stephanie Friend, senior, 50 and 100 free; Aaron Chorpennig, senior, 50 and 100 free; Shelley Reynolds, cadet, 100 free; and Amanda Bell, cadet, 50 free.

First places in B flight events were garnered by: Jenny Grant, junior, 100 free; Daniel Sincell, junior, 100 free; Noelle Collins, junior, 50 free; Natalie Sanders, prep, 50 and 100 free; Adam Chorpennig, prep, 100 free; Bryan Schwalm, cadet, 25 and 50 free; Chris Speicher, mini-tyke, 25 and 50 free; and Shar Hollingsworth, mini-tyke, 25 and 50 free.

man was arrested on drug charges this week. David P. Moon has been charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, according to the report. The charges stem from a traffic stop effected on Rt. 59 in May.

Walter R. Eggers, 41, Grantsville, was arrested on the strength of a warrant this week. He has been charged with violating an ex parte order by harassing and trespassing on the property of Pamela Eggers, according to the report.

Russell E. Lasker, 22, has been charged with malicious destruction of property. The complainant in the case, Robert Burns, said the defendant broke out two front windows, a bathroom window, and a ceiling light in a trailer owned by Burns.

An arrest warrant was issued for the arrest of Connie Enlow, 26, Friendsville. She is accused of entering the apartment of Robin Frazee by climbing through a rear window and damaging it in the process. A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Dean A. Hockman, 39, McHenry. The defendant apparently failed to appear in Garrett County District Court on June 20.

An arrest warrant was issued for Ronald W. Cogley, 32, currently an inmate in the Garrett County Jail. He is accused of violation of probation.

Loch Lynn Red House School

The consolidated Loch Lynn Red House Elementary School, to be built south of Oakland, will receive water from the Mtn. Lake Park system and sewage service from the Trout Run plant, according to the plan.

Two further amendments, Fienmyr explained, consisted of updates and technical revisions to the existing master plan.

Commissioner John Braskey stated that the board record will be left open for one week to receive input from the community. The complete text of the proposed changes to the master plan is available for public review at the board of commissioners' office.

GOBA Activities Discussed At CDMA Meeting

The annual meeting of the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) - Commercial District Management Authority (CDMA) was held last Tuesday and a review of GOBA's past activities as well as goals for the future were discussed.

Those activities and accomplishments noted at the meeting included the Maryland Historic Trust grant proposal to fund a walking tour brochure of historic Oakland. A letter of support has been sent to GOBA noting the possible financial backing of up to $5,000. The project may be initiated even if the money is not granted, a GOBA spokesperson noted.

GOBA co-hosted a winter and a summer Fresh Air Festival, along with WKII radio station. Cathy Clacker served as coordinator of the events. The "Home for the Holidays" promotion, organized by Connie Margison and Amy Rudy, was also noted, as was the "Harvest Scavenger Hunt," coordinat-

A GOBA billboard in McHenry is currently being repaired and will be re-installed in July by a crew from the town of Oakland. The state paid GOBA to have it removed so that the road could be widened to facilitate access to the new Maryland State Police barracks.

GOBA coordinated a cooperative effort with the Mountaintop Chamber of Commerce, Garrett County Economic Development Corp., and the Garrett County Promotion Council with the purpose of financing Oakland's contribution to a statewide train brochure that will highlight the nine remaining Victorian train stations in Maryland. At least 150,000 copies are to be printed and distributed, with the purpose of encouraging travel and tourism in the area.

The local group co-sponsored a "round table" discussion with Frostburg and the Maryland Downtown Development Administration (MDDA) to facilitate the exchange of ideas on how to promote and revitalize small town "downtowns." A quarterly board meeting of MDDA was hosted locally on June 17, with the main topic of discussion was a proposed study of the possibility of utilities assisting economic development projects, particularly in small towns. This study would help both utilities and the organizations associated with small towns to understand one another's needs and structures, which may facilitate cooperation in development projects.

Also discussed were ways MDDA could help the local association discover funding sources for possible purchase of the train station and Coke building.

GOBA's advertising activities for the past year were noted, including a travel section of Pittsburgh Magazine, April 1993. Fifteen local businesses placed ads in the "Exploring Maryland's Tableland" section.

Also noted was a full page, two-color advertisement in the Garrett County Vacation Guide, and a one-sixth page ad in Destination Maryland on the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County page and one in the Mid-Atlantic Monthly. This ad, according to a GOBA spokesperson, reached over 800,000 people, which led to "hundreds of requests" for information from GOBA.

Other activities noted included GOBA's Christmas decorating efforts, with garlands and bows on parking meters and the Town Christmas Tree at the St. Matthew's Episcopal Church. Also cited were the Autumn Glory parking meter decorations. GOBA sponsored free downtown parking from Thanksgiving through January 1 as well as for several promotions at other times of the year, including sidewalk sales and the Fresh Air festivals.

Donations to GOBA this year totalled $6,600, mainly from the town of Oakland for projects including the Victorian street lights, two welcome signs, and the Fourth of July fireworks. The Deep Creek Lake Business Association donated $100, also for the July 4th fireworks, and the MDDA contributed $50.

GOBA's short term goals include increased quality advertising in regional publications, and the formation of a group of live to 10 volunteers or an organization to help with regular maintenance of the Oakland Community Park.

Long-term goals include the recreation of the historic downtown atmosphere in Oakland, the continuance of the Revitalization Plan projects, and the continued development of the park.

The park thus far contains the Mountain Fresh Pavilion, landscaping on the Yough side of the train station, and a bridge over Wilson Creek. Restrooms are currently under construction at the town parking lot.

The train station remains an issue, with ideas needed on a feasible use of the building and a plan for purchase, restoration, and maintenance of the complex.

by Ed King

Customer demand for lakefront homes, in particular over the past eight to ten years, has driven up the price on all lakefront properties. The market scarcity of new, undeveloped lots and nice, improved properties in the mid-price range reflect this supply/demand situation.

Lakefront homes, in most cases, have Class "A" dock permits while lake access homes and townhome developments have assigned boat slips. Having a dock is a feature adding both value and price to a piece of real estate. The value of having a private dock or assigned dock slip also applies to the appreciation rate, which in turn impacts the resale of a property.

There is a myth that Deep Creek Lake property is now "too pricey," with prices over a quarter of a million dollars. True, there are many properties above this price range. And, true, many buyers are wanting homes with features similar to or better than their primary homes. These demands, along with the land cost, are running prices up very high. Many private homes, custom-built over the past three or four years would most likely approach the half-million dollar range.

Consider, though, the true points-of-difference in buying Deep Creek property. There is so much charm to be found in some of the older homes. Updating may be desirable. However, if they are lake homes the real points-of-difference are still there — quality family time, boating, skiing, swimming, fishing, the views, the sunsets, the fog on misty mornings — all the "natural beauty" that is Garrett County!

Listed below are several lake properties available for under $200,000. If you are willing to compromise new construction and fancy features, the same lake, the same views, the same recreation, are all there for your enjoyment at a reasonable price.

who deserve praise for their efforts in rescuing my son, but unfortunately, I did not get their names. One of the ladies is an EMT and the other was a nursing student, (at I remember correctly).

According to the accounts of this experience, the three young people mentioned above were responsible for bringing Derek out of the water far enough to escape drowning. The EMT and the nursing student completed the rescue in assisting the children. Our son is not a very good swimmer, and while he was attempting to keep himself from drowning, several children were with him in the water, including the three who rescued him, who all thought he was "playing around." When they finally realized what was happening, they were able to get hold of him and take him to safety. One child reported that his lips had turned blue and his eyes were real big. These children thought that he was dead, but instead of panicking, they reacted with critical, life saving instinct. They are to be commended for their efforts and reacting as quickly as they did. A few more minutes and it would have been all over for Derek. You can't imagine how many times I have thanked God for sparing our son's life and how thankful we are for the people who were there to rescue him.

Where was the lifeguard who was on duty that day? From the reports I have received, the lifeguard was not responsible for the efforts of the rescue of our son. She told us "I saw him bobbing up and down, but I thought he was just playing." From our point of view, if you are going to be a lifeguard, you simply cannot make that kind of an assumption. While I realize that one person cannot be responsible for 100 people or more at one time, and if you are constantly scanning the water, you may not see an emergency situation immediately, but if you see three or more people dragging someone out of the water, shouldn't that be an indication that you have an emergency? It really makes me angry every time I think about it.

There simply are not enough lifeguards to cover the span of the Broadford Lake beach. I sincerely hope that this near fatality will be enough for whoever is in charge, to consider placing more lifeguards on duty.

Broadford Lake may be faced with the risk of shutting down because of a lack of financial support from Mtn. Lake Park and other county agencies. According to Mr. Ringer, an Oakland town councilman, Mtn. Lake Park did not contribute this year because they felt that paying some streets took precedence. Maybe it did, but this is a large resort area. What happens to all the funds that come into this county from the resort profits? Why can't the community and other agencies come up with the money to save a public facility that everyone enjoys every summer?

Every time you think about complaining about the price of admission or the cost of renting a pavilion, remember, you are picking up the tab to keep your park open for your enjoyment.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ed Nutter Jr.
Mtn. Lake Park

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to Torrey C. Brown, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, asked that it appear in this column. It was written just prior to the initiation of the boating regulations.

Dear Dr. Brown,
I am a lake front property owner in Deep Creek, Garrett County, and have been deeply involved with the Penelec/DNR licensing agreement-lake management issues. You may remember that I, together with other property owners, made several counter-proposals with regard to the drastically increased user fees impacting primarily property owners on the lake who already supply over 40 percent of the Garrett County revenues through property taxes. Very few of our proposals were incorporated, and our recommendation that boats launched at the state park ramp or elsewhere be charged a reasonable daily fee was totally ignored for now. It was obvious this suggestion was vetoed by the lake DNR people who claimed that it would be "too expensive" to administer. We intend to continue to pursue this point so that day-users on the lake will pay their fair share toward lake management costs.

What prompts me to write you this letter is that I just found out from the DNR police that there are absolutely no Deep Creek Lake boating regulations in effect. Apparently, at the time the old leasing agreement expired, these regulations also expired. For some unexplained reason, the regulations were not reinstated at the time the new agreement was implemented. The DNR police told me that the only regulations they can enforce currently are those state of Maryland regulations pertaining to vessel operation. They admit that the "no wake" and other caution buoys placed in the lake this spring are unenforceable. The prohibition against water skiing in narrow parts of the lake, together with restrictions on the operation of noisy-car-splitting jet skis are not in effect.

It boggles our minds how this could happen. I personally attended all of the meetings relative to lake management/user fees, and to my knowledge no issue was ever made by any of the parties regarding the 1993-94 DCL boating regulations.

Another serious concern of ours is that during the busy weekends and holidays it is not possible to contact the DNR or Park Police through their local telephone numbers. To reach them one must either call Cumberland (a long distance call), or attempt to use the Annapolis 800 number, which is very busy. On Sunday at about 1 p.m. I spent over an hour trying to contact a DNR officer with regard to lake safety issues. It wasn't until late afternoon (about 3:30 p.m. or 4 p.m.) that someone returned my call. Additionally, neither my neighbors or I saw a DNR Police Boat on the lake at any time during the weekend. With the grossly increased annual budget for DNR Lake Management (which has yet to be justified in any way) it should be easier to contact the officers responsible for lake safety, rather than harder. We also should expect more frequent police boat patrols, especially on the weekends, rather than the reverse.

By copy of this letter to The Honorable John Hale and The Honorable George Edwards we hope that this glaring omission can be corrected promptly before there is any serious accident on the lake because of the inability of your police to enforce these safety regulations.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

J. Baird Atwood

Food For Thought

Chef Francesco Pisano
McClive's Restaurant

Soft shell crabs, a summer treat, take almost no time to cook - sizzle in oil about three minutes per side. We like to throw a spoonful of minced garlic into the pan, too.

Gourmet chefs are cutting the fat out of foods to meet the demands of health-conscious diners. In France, there's a new vichyssoise, the leek and potato soup, thickened with non-fat cheese instead of cream. A famed New York chef presents chicken breast with and without skin.

A hinged wire basket, makes it easier to grill and turn small fish or skewers. Oil both fish and basket or grill to prevent sticking. Fish are delicate and might fall apart if they stick.

Lovely topping for pancakes: sliced strawberries (from a pint basket), 1/2 cup honey and 1 Tbs. lemon juice. Let stand an hour to blend.

The very best plums feel firm and plump with just a little "give" under gentle pressure. The light grey "bloom" on the skin is a natural protection and doesn't affect quality.

The very best of everything is the start of the terrific cook at:

SPRING CREEK OUTFITTERS - Allen Noland (left) and Harold Harsh, Jr. stand in front of their shop in Loch Lynn. The store handles everything for the expert or the novice fly fisherman.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Spring Creek Outfitters

Spring Creek Outfitters stocks a full line of fly tying materials and equipment to satisfy everyone from the fly fishing novice to an expert. Owned by Harold Harsh, Jr. and Allen Noland, Spring Creek Outfitters is located at the corner of Second Avenue and Alderson Street, one block west of Rt. 560, in Loch Lynn.

The owners decided to open their shop because of increased interest in fly fishing and the lack of quality equipment and materials in the area.

Harsh and Noland offer lessons and instruction as well as fly tying classes and guided outings to the finest fly fishing waters in Garrett and Allegany counties.

They will build custom rods to the customer's specs, using the finest materials and rod blanks by Thomas and Thomas, Hexaglyph, G. Loomis, Lamiglas and Fenwick.

The shop offers convenient evening and weekend hours to suit the working angler. They are open Monday through Friday from 4 to 9 p.m. and on weekends from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Spring Creek Outfitters can be reached by calling 334-6409.

Accident's Fourth Of July HOMECOMING

Monday, July 4
9 a.m. To 10 p.m.

For nearly 100 years, the town of Accident has observed July 4 with picnics. Beginning in 1989, the day's events were broadened into an all-day festival featuring a Main Street parade, arts and crafts, historic tours, games, food and entertainment.

The July 4th festivities will begin with a flag raising ceremony at 10:30 a.m. at Park East by American Legion Post 208, with music by the Accident Concert Band. The schedule of activities throughout the day is as follows:

9 a.m. - 5 p.m. - National Guard On-Site Displays & Demonstrations, Park East - Company C, 121st Engineering Battalion will feature field equipment and medical displays, rope bridge set-up and face painting for children, plus demonstrations of minuteman hatchet throwing and musket firing. Arts & Crafts Show & Sale, upper level of fire hall - original handmade arts and crafts, antiques and collectibles. The Accident Cultural and Historical Society will display items relating to the Drane House Preservation Project plus Accident souvenirs.

1:30 - 5 p.m. - July 3 and 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. July 4 & 5 - Art Exhibition, Flowery Vale Center Exhibits of art and craft items to be judged with ribbons and prizes awarded.

11 a.m. - Parade down Main Street

11:30 a.m. - Dinners in the lower level of the fire hall

11:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. - Carnival games at Park East, Historic Walking Tour beginning at upper level of fire hall, horseshoe pitching at Park East, contests open to anyone. Military Uniforms Display, lower level of fire hall.

Noon - Musical entertainment at fire hall pavilion by Pipes & Drums of Garrett Community College.

1 - 3 p.m. - Horsedrawn wagon rides from Park East to the Drane House historic site.

1:30 p.m. - 5 p.m. & 7 p.m. - 10 p.m. - Bingo at lower level of fire hall.

1:30 p.m. - Patriotic Program at fire hall pavilion.

World War II veterans will commemorate the 51st anniversary of the war effort; Accident Concert Band and Garrett Community College Chorus will perform "To Be An American" cantata.

3:30-5:30 p.m. - "Make N' Changes" performs country and classic rock music at fire hall pavilion.

6-7:30 p.m. - The Birkbys will perform gospel and fiddle music.

5-6 p.m. - Emergency Services Demonstration at Park East.

distance calls or attempt to use the Annapolis 500 number, which is very busy. On Sunday at about 1 p.m. I spent over an hour trying to contact a DNR officer with regard to lake safety issues. It wasn't until late afternoon (about 3:30 p.m. or 4 p.m.) that someone returned my call. Additionally, neither my neighbors or I saw a DNR Police Boat on the lake at any time during the weekend. With the grossly increased annual budget for DNR Lake Management (which has yet to be justified in any way) it should be easier to contact the officers responsible for lake safety, rather than harder. We also should expect more frequent police boat patrols, especially on the weekends, rather than the reverse.

By copy of this letter to the Honorable John Harf and The Honorable George Edwards we hope that this glaring omission can be corrected promptly before there is any serious accident on the lake because of the inability of your police to enforce these safety regulations.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter. Sincerely, who deserve praise for their efforts in rescuing my son, but unfortunately, I did not get their names. One of the ladies is an EMT and the other was a nursing student, (I remember correctly).
J. Baird Atwood

According to the accounts of this experience, the three young people mentioned above were responsible for bringing Derek out of the water far enough to escape drowning. The EMT and the nursing student completed the rescue in assisting the children. Our son is not a very good swimmer, and while he was attempting to keep himself from drowning, several children were with him in the water, including the three who rescued him, who all thought he was "playing around." When they finally realized what was happening, they were able to get hold of him and take him to safety. One child reported that his lips had turned blue and his eyes were real big. These children thought that he was dead, but instead of panicking, they reacted with critical, life saving instinct. They are to be commended for their efforts and reacting as quickly as they did. A few more minutes and it would have been all over for Derek. You can't imagine how many times I have thanked God for sparing our son's life and how thankful we are for the people who were there to rescue him.

Where was the lifeguard who was on duty that day? From the reports I have received, the lifeguard was not responsible for the efforts of the rescue of our son. She told us "I saw him bobbing up and down, but I thought he was just playing." From our point of view, if you are going to be a lifeguard, you simply cannot make that kind of an assumption. While I realize that one person cannot be responsible for 100 people or more at one time, and if you are constantly scanning the water, you may not see an emergency situation immediately, but if you see three or more people dragging someone out of the water, shouldn't that be an indication that you have an emergency? It really makes me angry every time I think about it.

There simply are not enough lifeguards to cover the span of the Broadford Lake beach. I sincerely hope that this near fatality will be enough for whoever is in charge, to consider placing more lifeguards on duty.

Broadford Lake may be faced with the risk of shutting down because of a lack of financial support from Mtn. Lake Park and other county agencies. According to Mr. Ringer, an Oakland town councilman, Mtn. Lake Park did not contribute this year because they felt that paying some streets took precedence. Maybe it did, but this is a large resort area. What happens to all the funds that come into this county from the resort profits? Why can't the community and other agencies come up with the money to save a public facility that everyone enjoys every summer?

Every time you think about complaining about the price of admission or the cost of renting a pavilion, remember, you are picking up the tab to keep your park open for your enjoyment.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ed Nutter Jr.
Mtn. Lake Park

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to Torrey C. Brown, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, asked that it appear in this column. It was written just prior to the initiation of the boating regulations.

Dear Dr. Brown,
I am a lake front property owner in Deep Creek, Garrett County, and have been deeply involved with the Penelco/DNR licensing agreement-lake management issues. You may remember that I, together with other property owners, made several counter-proposals with regard to the drastically increased user fees impacting primarily property owners on the lake who already supply over 40 percent of the Garrett County revenues through property taxes. Very few of our proposals were incorporated, and our recommendation that boats launched at the state park ramp or elsewhere be charged a reasonable daily fee was totally ignored for now. It was obvious this suggestion was vetoed by the lake DNR people who claimed that it would be "too expensive" to administer. We intend to continue to pursue this point so that day-users on the lake will pay their fair share toward lake management costs.

What prompts me to write you this letter is that I just found out from the DNR police that there are absolutely no Deep Creek Lake boating regulations in effect. Apparently, at the time the old leasing agreement expired, these regulations also expired. For some unexplained reason, the regulations were not reinstated at the time the new agreement was implemented. The DNR police told me that the only regulations they can enforce currently are those state of Maryland regulations pertaining to vessel operation. They admit that the "no wake" and other caution buoys placed in the lake this spring are unenforceable. The prohibition against water skiing in narrow parts of the lake, together with restrictions on the operation of noisy-car-splitting jet skis are not in effect.

It boggles our minds how this could happen. I personally attended all of the meetings relative to lake management/user fees, and to my knowledge no issue was ever made by any of the parties regarding the 1993-94 DCI boating regulations.

Another serious concern of ours is that during the busy weekends and holidays, it is not possible to contact the DNR or Park Police through their local telephone numbers. To reach them one must either call Cumberland (a long

Below, helmets donated by Cycles Across Maryland, Inc., were awarded to Grantsville students by lottery drawings. Gourmet chefs are cutting the fat out of foods to meet the demands of health-conscious diners. In France, there's a new vichyssoise, the leek and potato soup, thickened with non-fat cheese instead of cream. A famed New York chef presents chicken breast with and without skin.

A hinged wire basket, makes it easier to grill and turn small fish or skewers. Oil both fish and basket or grill to prevent sticking. Fish are delicate and might fall apart if they stick.

Lovely topping for pancakes: sliced strawberries (from a pint basket), 1/2 cup honey and 1 Tbs. lemon juice. Let stand an hour to blend.

The very best plums feel firm and plump with just a little "give" under gentle pressure. The light grey "bloom" on the skin is a natural protection and doesn't affect quality.

SPRING CREEK OUTFITTERS - Allen Noland (left) and Harold Marsh, Jr. stand in front of their shop in Loch Lynn. The store handles everything for the expert or the novice fly fisherman.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Spring Creek Outfitters

Spring Creek Outfitters stocks a full line of fly tying materials and equipment to satisfy everyone from the fly fishing novice to an expert. Owned by Harold Marsh, Jr. and Allen Noland, Spring Creek Outfitters is located at the corner of Second Avenue and Alderson Street, one block west of Rt. 560, in Loch Lynn.

The owners decided to open their shop because of increased interest in fly fishing and the lack of quality equipment and materials in the area.

Marsh and Noland offer lessons and instruction as well as fly tying classes and guided outings to the finest fly fishing waters in Garrett and Allegany counties. They will build custom rods to the customer's specs, using the finest materials and rod blanks by Thomas and Thomas, Hexaglyph, G. Loomis, Lamiglas and Fenwick.

The shop offers convenient evening and weekend hours to suit the working angler. They are open Monday through Friday from 4 to 9 p.m. and on weekends from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Spring Creek Outfitters can be reached by calling 334-6409.

Accident's Fourth Of July HOMECOMING

9 a.m. To 10 p.m.

For nearly 100 years, the town of Accident has observed July 4 with picnics. Beginning in 1989, the day's events were broadened into an all-day festival featuring a Main Street parade, arts and crafts, historic tours, games, food and entertainment.

The July 4th festivities will begin with a flag raising ceremony at 10:30 a.m. at Park East by American Legion Post 208, with music by the Accident Concert Band. The schedule of activities throughout the day is as follows:

9 a.m. - 5 p.m. - National Guard On-Site Displays & Demonstrations, Park East - Company C. 121st Engineering Battalion will feature field equipment and medical displays, rope bridge set-up and face painting for children, plus demonstrations of minuteman hatchet throwing and musket firing. Arts & Crafts Show & Sale, upper level of fire hall - original handmade arts and crafts, antiques and collectibles. The Accident Cultural and Historical Society will display items relating to the Drane House Preservation Project plus Accident souvenirs.

1:30 - 5 p.m. - July 3 and 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. July 4 & 5 - Art Exhibition, Flowery Vale Center Exhibits of art and craft items to be judged with ribbons and prizes awarded.

11 a.m. - Parade down Main Street

11:30 a.m. - Dinners in the lower level of the fire hall

11:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. - Carnival games at Park East.

Historic Walking Tour beginning at upper level of fire hall, horseshoe pitching at Park East, contests open to anyone. Military Uniforms Display, lower level of fire hall

Noon - Musical entertainment at fire hall pavilion by Pipes & Drums of Garrett Community College

1-3 p.m. - Horsedrawn wagon rides from Park East to the Drane House historic site

1:30 p.m. - 5 p.m. & 7 p.m. - 10 p.m. - Bingo at lower level of fire hall

1:30 p.m. - Patriotic Program at fire hall pavilion. World War II veterans will commemorate the 51st anniversary of the war effort; Accident Concert Band and Garrett Community College Chorus will perform "To Be An American" cantata

6-7:30 p.m. - The Birkbys will perform gospel and fiddle music.

5-6 p.m. - Emergency Services Demonstration at Park East

SAFE WATER PLAY
Children of all ages enjoy playing in water. Many families have small swimming pools. It is absolutely necessary that adults supervise children who are using any size swimming pool. Even small wading pools can be extremely dangerous.

*A wading pool with only a little water in it is potentially dangerous. It takes only a few minutes and less than an inch of water for a water without adult supervision. It is easy for children to fall into a bucket and drown.

With proper supervision, children can have a lot of fun with water play. But parents and adults must be willing to spend the time to insure the safety of children who are playing in water.

Wet and Wild Activities
"Painting" - Give your child a sand bucket or can with water in it and an old paintbrush. He/she will enjoy "painting" the house, steps, garage, fence, sidewalk, etc. with her own bucket and brush.

Garden Sprinkler - Instead of playing in a pool, attach the garden hose to a sprinkler. Turn on the water and listen to the squeals of delight as your children run through the spray of water.

Balloon Catch - Fill small balloons with water and use them to play a game of catch with your child.

Water Play Accessories - Simple household items can make water play a lot of fun. See if you have any of these items: Sponges, funnels, measuring spoons, sieve, empty plastic bottles, corks, measuring cups, muffin tins, strainer, empty squeeze bottles.

Wet Sand - For a change, wet some sand in your child's sandbox. Talk with her about the differences between the wet and dry sand. She may want to dig rivers, streams, and lakes in the sand and fill them with water.

Ping-Pong Boats - Use clean, empty margarine tubs for boats. Float the boats in a wading pool or dishpan. Have family members take turns trying to toss ping-pong balls into the boats.

Sailboat - Need: Clean styrofoam meat tray, crayons, pipe cleaner, construction paper, stapler. To do: Have your child use crayons to decorate the styrofoam meat tray. Stick the pipe cleaner through the center of the tray. Secure it by bending the end on the underside of the styrofoam tray. Cut a small diamond shape out of the construction paper. Fold the diamond in half to make a sail. Place the pipe cleaner in the fold of the sail and staple to hold it in place. Take the sailboat outside for a voyage in a wading pool or dishpan.

RECEIVES CAREER TRACK AWARD - The Garrett County Federation of Business and Professional Women's organization recently presented the Maryland organization's first annual Career Track award to Nancy Harsh. The award recognizes a woman over the age of 35 who has made major changes in her career. Harsh began work at Hopemont Hospital as a kitchen helper, and has since progressed to beautician. When the position of beautician at Hopemont was eliminated, she was moved to a social services aide position. She became so interested in the work that she obtained her bachelor's degree in that field at Davis & Elkins College. Harsh is currently the head of the social services department at Hopemont. Pictured above, from left to right, are Mrs. Harsh's daughter, Debbie Raynovich; Nancy Harsh; Corinne Heyward, state BPW corresponding secretary, whose idea sparked the Career Track award; and Garrett BPW President Liz Daniels, another of Mrs. Harsh's daughters.

Sink or Float - Have your child gather a number of items from around the house (such as a paper clip, sponge, cork, plastic toys, marble, etc.). Take them outside to a wading pool, dishpan, or bucket of water to see which items sink or float.

Try some experiments with your child. Can you make something that sinks, float? (Place a sinking object on a floating object. For example, place a marble on a sponge.) What object holds the most things and still floats?

Bubble Blowing - Blowing bubbles is a fun outdoor activity for all ages. Children who are 2½ years old and older can learn to blow bubbles if you show them how.

An easy bubble solution can be made from: ½ cup dishwashing liquid (not the kind used in dishwashers); 5 cups water; a tiny bit of cooking oil added to the soap and water mixture will make the bubbles tough enough to float in the air without breaking easily.

You can buy bubble wands and pipes at a store or try any of these:

*plastic berry basket bottoms (dip in bubble solution and wave in the air) *plastic rings from a six pack of soda cans (dip in bubble solution and wave in the air) *thread spools (dip one end in bubble solution and blow through opposite end)

*plastic drinking straw (dip one end in bubble solution and blow through opposite end)

See which member of your family can make the biggest bubble!

Bobber - Need: plastic container with tight fitting lid (such as a pill bottle); piece of string (approximately 12 inches long); glue. To do: Remove the lid from the plastic container. Place the end of the string inside the container. Glue the container's lid in place. Allow the glue to dry.

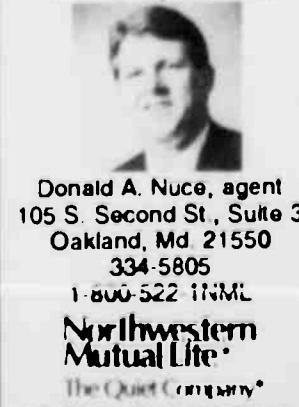

Take the bobber to a wading pool, dishpan, or bucket of water. Place the bobber into the water. Pull the bobber under the water with the string. Let go of the string and watch the bobber BOB!

Q. Do you agree that women are able to take more pain than men? My husband seems to fall apart whenever he develops a pain or an ache.

A. Many of my male readers are going to resent the fact that I tend to agree with your non scientific observation. At the same time, I don't know of any in depth studies that have rated women's ability to withstand pain as compared with men.

There are many variables that determine the capacity to tolerate pain — known as the "threshold of pain." Even those with a high tolerance for pain may, under special circumstances, find that tolerance lowered. When there is additional emotional stress, even those with high tolerance for pain may react more severely than usual.

The capacity to withstand pain is not a comparative game. Children and adults must not be stigmatized when they react more actively than is commonly expected.

Some people cannot tolerate the slightest pain associated with the drilling of teeth. Others can sit through the most exhaustive sessions in the dentist's chair without a complaint.

Stoicism and tolerance for pain can be acquired. I have found that when patients are armed with the truth, when their fears are allayed and then their anxiety level is reduced, their threshold of pain improves.

Q. My old card table has a label underneath that says, "Shwayder Bro. Inc., Manufacturers of Samson luggage, card tables and chairs, Patent — Factories Denver, Colo., Detroit, Mich." The label also has a picture of five men. How old is the table? Is that the same company that makes Samsonite luggage?

A. Jesse Shwayder of Colorado worked for the Seward Trunk & Bag Co. in New York City, but wanted to return home to start his own company. In 1910, he invested $3,500 and started making suitcases in a Denver store. His three brothers joined him in the years from 1912 to 1923. Their first trade name was Samson, which was used to indicate strength. In 1916, the company began using an advertisement that showed a picture of the four brothers and their father standing on a plank resting on a handcase. The slogan read, "Strong Enough to Stand On." In 1925, when a fifth brother joined the business, a different picture — without their father — was used.

A drop in sales during the Depression forced the company to make other products, such as folding card tables with wooden legs (first made in 1931), stiffs, doggie dinettes and sandboxes. In 1936, the card tables were made with tubular steel legs, and two years later, the company began making chairs to match the tables. The company name was changed to Samsonite in 1965.

Q. My family name is Putnam and I am looking for some information on the origin of the Putnam canning jar for a family history.

A. Henry W. Putnam was an inventor who created special sealing devices for canning jars but he is famous for a jar that he did not invent. In 1875, Charles de Quillfeldt of New York City patented a toggle-type seal for a bottle. The rights to his patent were sold several times and in 1878 became the property of Henry Putnam and Karl Hutter. Putnam continued to buy the rights to de Quillfeldt's inventions and develop his own modifications. The best known is the Lightning jar, which was used for beverages and home canning. Putnam's name and the name Lightning were both embossed on the jar after 1886. The jars sell for $3 if aqua, amber jars sell for $25 to $30. Putnam continued to work in New York until at least 1906.

BY NOW, I would have thought I had heard just about everything anyone could say about growing old in this country. I've heard horror tales of people being reduced to bankruptcy just so they could qualify for medical and long-term care. I've heard about the lack of social workers which has led to an alarming decline in services available to the elderly. I've also heard chilling stories about home bound elderly persons being abused by their so-called "aides."

Two weeks ago, at a seminar on writing for the senior market, I heard something that left me absolutely stunned, not so much for what was said, but for the logic used to support the statement. During a break in the seminar, a woman who said she was in her early 50s, told me she planned to commit suicide before she has to deal with, what she called, "the crazy pressures of growing old in America."

This woman said her decision was "logical," adding, "After all, all we're good for when we get old is to support the medical and nursing home industries. And when we're given them all we have, we're just warehoused until we die."

I tried to make her see things differently, but she would have none of it. She said she wasn't the only one who feels this way, and cited relatives and co-workers with the same sentiments. I know there are always those who see the half empty glass, who won't light a candle to dissipate the darkness, and who believe they're more likely to experience more of life's ills than joys in balance. What worries me is that this attitude may be becoming more prevalent. The aging baby boomer generation seems to be more cynical and less positive about their lives than their parents and grandparents were.

A FLAG DAY CEREMONY, which included some special presentations, was held at the Oakland Municipal Building June 14 and conducted by members of Oakland Lodge 11, Woodmen of the World. The history and presentation of both the Maryland flag and United States flag to Oakland Mayor Asa McCain was held at the Municipal Building. The ceremony then continued at the Oakland fire hall, where the Woodmen presented the same two flags to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, as well as a check for $1,600 to pay for the new tires on the Oakland VFD's newly restored antique fire engine known as Number One. Above, left to right, are: Allen Murray, member of Lodge 11 and former chief of the Oakland VFD; Joe Helbig, OVFD member; Dave Spurrier, OVFD lieutenant; Delbert Bittlinger, Lodge 11 president; John Sines, of Lodge 11; and John Feather, OVFD second assistant chief. Below left, Asa McCain, who is also treasurer of Lodge 11, presents the check to Helbig and Feather, while at right, Spurrier presents a copy of the Laura Stutzman original lithograph print of the 1994 Oakland downtown fire to Bittlinger in appreciation of Lodge 11's continued support of the Oakland VFD.

Fire Marshal Issues Safety Tips for 4th

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele urges Marylanders to use caution and care during this 4th of July to avoid serious injuries from illegal fireworks.

In his annual warning, Gabriele is recommending that Marylanders attend one of the many licensed public fireworks displays throughout the state as opposed to experimenting at home with illegal fireworks and explosive devices.

Last year, approximately 20 individuals were injured by fireworks in the state during the 4th of July holiday period. These injuries included debris in the eyes, as well as burns and lacerations to the hands and fingers.

The Office of the State Fire Marshal and other law enforcement agencies remind citizens that only sparklers that are labeled as "gold sparklers," "snap-pops," and "snakes" are allowed for use by citizens in Maryland without a license. However, in Baltimore City, Montgomery, and Prince George's counties, all types of Class "C" fireworks are illegal for possession, use, sale or distribution.

All other types of fireworks, including firecrackers, aerial salutes, cherry bombs, smoke grenades, etc., are prohibited for sale or use to the general public.

Anyone found possessing illegal fireworks with the intent to use those devices or selling or distributing fireworks may have the fireworks confiscated as well as face a fine of $250 for possession and $1,000 for use.

For further information regarding the location of licensed public fireworks displays and general fireworks safety, persons may contact the Office of the State Fire Marshal at 1-800-525-3124, Monday through Friday during normal business hours.

On Dean's List

Friendsville resident Robert Hicks, Route 1, has been named to the dean's list at Shepherd College for the spring semester.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must maintain a 3.2 grade point average for the semester and carry at least 15 hours of course work or be in the professional teaching block.

Located in West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle, Shepherd College is a public, liberal arts institution offering associate's and bachelor's degrees. Shepherd is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Md. State Parks In Garrett Co. To Host Events

The Maryland State Parks in Garrett County will host a variety of events throughout the month of July, including the following:

July 6 & 20 - Evening mountain bike rides will be held through Garrett State Forest for beginner to intermediate riders on existing snowmobile trails.

Riders are to meet at 6 p.m. at the Herrington Creek parking lot on Herrington Manor Road, one-half mile north of Herrington Manor State Park.

July 9 & 27 - Day tours of Snaggy Mountain, featuring a bicentennial red oak and other natural and beautiful wonders in the Garrett State Forest. All interested persons should meet at 10 a.m. at the Herrington Creek parking lot on Herrington Manor Road, one-half mile north of Herrington Manor State Park.

July 13 & 23 - Day tours of Lostland, featuring Cascade Falls and other natural wonders in the Potomac State Forest. All interested persons should meet at 10 a.m. at the Potomac-Garrett State Forest headquarters in the front parking lot.

July 16 - Junior Biker Day for junior mountain bikers and anyone interested in mountain biking. Events consist of competition among junior riders, along with demonstrations on safe mountain bike riding, starting at 9 a.m. at the lower parking lot of Herrington Manor State Park. For more information about these park activities, persons may call the Potomac-Garrett State Forest at 334-2038.

Weekly nature hikes will be held along the shores of Deep Creek Lake and on Meadow Mountain, and Brant Mine hikes will also be held weekly at the Deep Creek Lake State Park, featuring a two and a half-mile hike to the historic Brant Mine and Homestead site. The Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area will host Youghogheny River trips every Friday during July beginning at 9:30 a.m. This 4.1-mile canoe trip is on a non-whitewater section of the river and the $10 fee covers equipment and lunch, with a 10-person limit per trip. For more information on these park activities, persons may call the Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area at 387-5563.

For more information about these and other events, contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, telephone 334-1948.

COVER STORY

Sis, boom, boom: holiday brings fireworks, music

BY SUZANNE GILL

It's bombs bursting in air that viewers want this holiday weekend, television is the place to find them.

The ballistics begin Sunday, July 3, with "Fireworks!" on A&E. George Plimpton, a life-long pyrotechnics fan and author of a book on the subject, is host of the special. It travels the globe to factories, hobby shows and international competitions, stringing together two hours of "oos" and "ahs."

Plimpton profiles several great fireworks families, especially the Gruccis of New York, who did a display at the Clinton inauguration.

Asked to describe the fascination of fireworks, Plimpton says, "It's the eighth lively art. It has beauty, it has color, it has noise, it can be made poetic and aesthetic, it can be directed as a choreographer can do. It is the magic of turning inert matter into something spectacular."

Plimpton's enthusiasm is ignited. "Stars are rather insignificant, comets boring, and we only see one side of the moon. (But if) you use the canvas of the sky to put fireworks against, you've done something better than the gods can do," says the gunpowder heretic.

He concludes, "The Japanese have a very enlightened attitude toward fireworks: They set them off at every occasion."

Meanwhile, in Washington, D.C., preparations are under way on the West Lawn of the Capitol for Monday's Fourth of July concert, "A Capitol Fourth," to air on PBS (check local listings).

"We have a big rehearsal the night before," says executive producer Jerry Colbert, "(to which) live or six thousand people come, and we work the bugs out. And then we stay up all night and re-edit it, and then fire!"

The fire this year will be provided by host Joel Grey, star of "Cabaret" and "George M."

Joel Grey

and performers Faith Hill (singing an up tempo version of Jams Joplin's "Piece of My Heart"); John Ratt, the original Billy Bigelow, singing selections from "Carousel" with Florence Henderson; The Neville Brothers, with a spiritual medley; and the 107-piece National Symphony Orchestra.

"That place is so wonderful for a Fourth of July show," says Grey. "I think it lends itself to what's so quintessentially American, that outdoor picnic, with families coming together, the country coming together."

"Fourth of July is a birthday," observes Erich Kunzel, the concert's maestro. "When you have your own birthday, you like to have a party, so that's exactly what a Fourth of July concert is."

"Joel Grey will come down (through the crowd) with 'Alexander's Ragtime Band.' Being the Yankee Doodle person, that's perfect for the Fourth of July."

Also perfect for the occasion is the original composition "The Jefferson Memorial Portrait," composed by Lee Holdridge for this year's concert.

And then there is the traditional "1812 Overture," popular, Kunzel says, "just because we use the cannons, to tell you the truth."

And for the finale, what else? Fireworks.

Denzel Washington delivers an Academy Award-winning performance in "Glory," a Civil War drama airing Sunday, July 3, on CBS.

Washington's portrayal of Pvt. Trip, a slave who joins the country's first black military regiment, earned him an Oscar for best supporting actor.

"Glory" is based on the story of Col. Robert Gould Shaw (Matthew Broderick), a young white soldier who was given the task of training the first all-black regiment for battle.

SOAP TALK

Joanna Johnson leaves 'Bold and Beautiful'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Several readers have written in to ask about Joanna Johnson, who played Karen on "The Bold and the Beautiful." Johnson has left the show, and it was by mutual decision. The actress, who also played Caroline from 1987-90 on "B&B," felt that Karen never quite found her place on the show.

Fans were disappointed when Karen and Ridge (Ron Moss) were not put together in a story line. Moss and Johnson were a soap opera supercouple when she played Caroline, who died in 1990. When the actress returned as Caroline's twin sister, Karen, Ridge was shocked when he first met her, but they became friends. Unfortunately, there was little interaction between the characters, because Ridge was involved with Taylor.

In other news, actor Steven Keats, who played Alfred Gresham in flashbacks on "All My Children," was found dead May 8 in his New York apartment. Police reports indicate Keats committed suicide.

The actor was best known for his role as Carol Kane's husband in "Hester Street." He also had a successful theater career. He is survived by two sons and a sister.

Dear Candace: I am so upset with "B&B." How can they let Sheila continue on as she has without any punishment?

I have read some of the articles you have written, and I have to agree that the character needs to suffer for what she has done.

It was bad enough when she switched the paternity tests, but now she has killed her psychiatrist. When Sheila was on "The Young and the Restless," she stole babies and killed people, and she never got caught. It just isn't fair.

I like the actress who plays Sheila (Kimberlin Brown), she is very good at acting evil. But I would really like to see her do some time for the crimes she has committed.

I would like to write to the producers at "B&B." Mary C. in New York.

Dear Reader: You are right, Sheila should be held accountable for her crimes. But if the character went off to jail there would be no place for Kimberlin Brown — and what a loss that would be.

You can write to "B&B," C/O CBS, 3000 Riverside Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

Advice from 'Dr. Ruth': Learn before you leap

BY JOHN CROOK

Dr. Ruth Westheimer has a message for singles everywhere: You are responsible for your sexual decisions, so base them on correct information.

The sex expert, known to millions of viewers as "Dr. Ruth," participates in "In a New Light," ABC's third annual information/entertainment special designed to educate the American public about AIDS. It airs Saturday, July 2.

"What we do see today, despite all the (AIDS) talk, is all types of behavior that we would have thought would be much less," she says. "People do not talk about using condoms, for example. More important, though, is that people don't talk about it if you are going to have a relationship, make it a productive one rather than, at the first quarrel, look for a new partner."

Her frank talk about sexual relationships has prompted accusations from some camps that she is advocating promiscuity. Not true, she emphasizes: Monogamy and celibacy are very credible options.

"You will never see me on a television program disputing any of those people who say that we shouldn't talk about it and who are against everything that I am for," she says, "because nothing gets accomplished. Each side shouts a viewpoint, and that's the end of it. I do believe that (journalists) and I have an obligation to speak out. I would like to say to these people, look, I respect your opinion, period. Now, let's do the educating."

"You can still educate and yet say that you do not believe that people should be sexually active before marriage. And I think people who believe that should adhere to it."

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Where can I write to actor Paul LeMat? —Bill Hallam, Tucson, Ariz.

A: LeMat is working on a Canadian-based TV series version of "Lonesome Dove." Write him C/O "Lonesome Dove: The Series," CTV Television Network, 42 Charles St. E., Toronto, Ontario M4Y 1T5, Canada.

Q: What was the name of Matt Dillon's horse? —Pat Vaughn, Henderson, N.C.

A: Dog. Or maybe Boy. No, wait, that was an infamous "Petticoat Junction" trivia question. I have no idea, actually, but after I waded through the 50 septillion letters your question generates (gee, thanks, Pat!), I will report the results here.

Q: What happened to Becky on "Roseanne"? —Meadow D'Arcy, Oakland, Calif.

A: I presume you are asking about Lecy Gorenson, the original Becky, who quit to attend school full time. Ironically, she has since dropped out and is looking for work in films.

Q: Whatever happened to Wayland Flowers, who had a dummy named Madame? Who was the actor who portrayed Superman and later killed himself? —Robert Mayhew, Bennington, Vt.

A: Flowers died several years ago of what his family said was cancer, but was widely reported in the press as complications from AIDS. George Reeves was the first TV Man of Steel.

Q: Please settle an argument. I say the leading actress on "Silk Stalkings" is named Mitzi Kapture. My brother says her last name is Kafture. Who is right? —Rachel Spelhof, Muskegon, Mich.

A: You are. Q: Where can I write to Stephanie or Eftem Zimhalist

Lecy Gorenson

Jr.? I read a very interesting story about the family printed in 1922. I'd like to share it with them. —Jane Burns, Collingdale, Pa.

A: Try writing Eftem C/O "The Legend of Prince Valiant," The Family Channel, P.O. Box 64549, Virginia Beach, Va. 23467-4549.

Q: Please tell me where I could write to Adrienne King ("Friday the 13th" 1 and 2). I understand she is a New York-based actress, if that is any help. —Greg Gilbert, Keswick, New Brunswick, Canada.

Q: I have drawn a portrait of Kenny Rogers and would like to send it to him. Can you give me an address? —Anna Minnehan, Sebastian, Fla.

A: Sorry, neither performer has any agency information listed via any of the several resources I checked. Anna, you might check with a music store for the address of the company that released Rogers' last recording. That's what I generally suggest with musicians.

Tom Cruise (pictured in wheelchair) stars in "Born on the Fourth of July," airing on the USA Network, Monday, July 4.

Cruise earned a best actor nomination for his portrayal of Ron Kovic, a real-life Vietnam veteran who became a vehement anti-war protester upon his return from Asia.

Oliver Stone co-wrote the film with Kovic.

"Born" followed on the heels of Stone's first Oscar-winning Vietnam film, "Platoon."

TIME OUT

'Jocks' to offer new slant on world of sports

BY JEFF PLASS

"Sports junkies with a sense of humor," is how host John Caponera describes the target audience of his new Comedy Central sports expose, "Jocks," premiering Friday, July 8.

"It's not a parody and it's not a sketch show," Caponera says. "It's actual comics going out and covering real sporting events as they happen."

"And whatever comedy angle we can find to make it funny, we're gonna do."

Each episode of "Jocks" will feature recurring segments such as "Switch to Decal," highlighting various coaches, players, announcers and fans who seem a bit hypertensive; "Ball Busters," in which comics play the sports in which the real pro get clobbered; and "Classic Screw Up," a blooper segment whose name speaks for itself.

"We might have a segment on the over equipped golfer," Caponera adds, "or the over equipped fisherman, or the over equipped roller blader."

"We might do a segment called 'Final Thoughts,' where a wide receiver goes up and the defensive back is gonna blast him and we ask, 'What's going through this guy's head?'"

A native of Chicago's rough-and-tumble South Side, Caponera maintains strong feelings about the sports teams he grew up watching.

"I grew up six blocks from Comiskey Park," Caponera states, "and I'm still a very big Sox fan and a Bulls fan and a Bears fan."

"I don't believe these fly-by-night guys who move to L.A. and all of a sudden become Dodger fans."

John Caponera

The wise-cracking Caponera becomes very serious when discussing the impact sports had on him while he was growing up.

"I grew up in a pretty tough area," he explains, "but there was a park across the street that was our salvation. We would go over there and whatever was happening that time of year, we played. We had touch football leagues. We had basketball over there. They tore the park during winter so we could play hockey."

"A lot of the kids I grew up with wound up getting into drugs and got messed up in gangs and stuff. So (playing sports) was kind of my escape. Of the kids I grew up with, half went one way, into sports, and the other half got into trouble. So (sports) kind of saved me."

And what does the host of "Jocks" do these days to unwind?

"Now that I'm getting older," Caponera concludes, "I'm playing a lot more golf."

MOVIE MARQUEE

Holiday theme gives week's reruns a lift

BY SUZANNE GILL

"Some Like It Hot," with Marilyn Monroe, Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis, airs Thursday, July 7, on TNT, and hot it is this week for movie viewers—at least here and there.

ABC's presentation of "Dangerous Liaisons," the 1988 Michelle Pfeiffer, John Malkovich, Glenn Close costume (and sometimes uncostumed) drama of sexual politics, is easily the hottest thing other than the temperature on Sunday, July 3.

"Glory," CBS' Sunday movie, is the magnificent 1989 Civil War drama starring Matthew Broderick, Denzel Washington and Morgan Freeman, with an encore on Monday, July 4.

Also Monday, TNT offers a "Gettysburg" marathon combining the movie and a behind-the-scenes special, then slips into "Yankee Doodle Dandy," with James Cagney, and "Serious York," starring Gary Cooper.

For a little family Bonding this holiday, try TBS' quadruple header of "Goldfinger," "Live and Let Die," "Moonraker," and "Diamonds Are Forever," or HBO's airing of "The Living Daylights," Monday.

On Wednesday, July 6, Lifetime offers something new in "Part of the Family," allowing Robert Carradine to shed his nerd persona for a dramatic role that combines the unlikely components of tabloid reporter and romantic lead.

Carradine's character follows his nose for news when his fiancée's parents give him the bum's rush instead of their daughter's hand in marriage. (No, it's not his career they don't like.)

Also Wednesday, for those who missed its premiere two weeks ago, The Disney Channel repeats "The Efficiency Expert," a delightfully sweet 1992 Australian release starring Anthony Hopkins.

Set in the 1960s, "Expert" is a parable of friendship and business and how the two elements meet in a small-town factory where everyone wears the company's product—soft-soled slippers—to work.

On Saturday, July 9, Fred MacMurray and Barbara Stanwyck bring sex and danger to the world of life insurance in "Double Indemnity" on American Movie Classics. On HBO, Tom Cruise finds more trouble in a shirt and tie in the cable debut of "The Firm." Cruise plays a law-school graduate who joins a sinister law firm.

On The Menu...

A FOURTH OF JULY Pack 'N Go Picnic

Join the majority of Americans in dining al fresco on a star-spangled picnic this Fourth of July. With a little planning and a festive holiday menu, your celebration can go with you on the boat, to the park or just out in the yard. And if you won't have access to a grill, no problem. Everything is made ahead of time, so when you get to your picnic site, just unpack and enjoy!

Start the culinary fireworks with Mile High Chicken BBQ. Juicy strips of chicken breast, in a tangy barbecue sauce, are stacked between layers of crisp lettuce, sprouts, strips of bell pepper and slices of crusty bread. The barbecue sauce gets its lively seasoning from chicken-flavor instant bouillon, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. The addition of blue cheese dressing makes for unique sandwiches fit for the First Family.

No one will pass up delicious Seashell Pasta Salad. Pasta shells, shrimp and colorful vegetables get added interest from thyme, garlic and the zing of bottled lemon juice for a taste that will have revelers waving the flag. For an accompaniment that will earn you salutes, serve Herb Focaccia Squares. Savory chicken-flavor instant bouillon, used along with sage and rosemary, provides a sophisticated appeal to these fresh-baked squares.

Thirsty picnickers will love the purple fruitiness of Pineapple Grapeade. The original combination of pineapple and grape juice is enhanced with the zip of bottled lemon juice. For traditional tastes, also offer chilly Tropical Lemonade, an all-American fruit punch that refreshes with a tangy lemony sweetness. Be prepared with plenty of ice as glasses are refilled again and again.

For an explosive finale, present Patriotic Cheesecake, made silky smooth with sweetened condensed milk. This flamboyant dessert showcases the stars and stripes on a rich, creamy cheesecake laden with fresh strawberries and blueberries in the design of Old Glory. Sweetened condensed milk also provides homemade goodness to Toffee-Topped Pecan Bars. Irresistibly crunchy with chopped pecans and toffee candy, their delicate crunch is sure to add sparkle to your outdoor gathering.

Declare your independence from time-consuming meal preparations with a pack 'n go picnic that's easy to make and enjoy. The sunshine and fresh air of the great outdoors will complement this tantalizing menu and make for a relaxing and memorable gathering of family and friends.

Tips For The Perfect Picnic

- ★ Plenty of icy drinks are essential for a perfect picnic. Store crushed ice in an insulated thermos to add to your pitchers at mealtime.
- ★ Paper towels rinsed in water and sprinkled with bottled lemon juice make quick work of cleaning sticky fingers and faces. Simply pack the damp cloths in plastic bags and dispose after use.
- ★ To ensure a successful picnic, make a checklist of essential items so that nothing is left behind. Don't forget salt, pepper, a blanket and a kitchen garbage bag to leave your picnic spot looking great.
- ★ Think green for your picnic, and store food in reusable plastic containers. After the meal, simply stack containers inside each other so that cleaning up is easy and takes up little space.
- ★ Freshen your plastic containers before putting them away by rinsing them with bottled lemon juice, then water. They'll stay clean and sweet-smelling until their next use.

Seashell Pasta Salad

(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

- 1/2 (1-pound) package small pasta shells, cooked as package directs and drained
 - 1 (8-ounce) container low-fat plain yogurt
 - 1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
 - 2 tablespoons honey
 - 2 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon
 - 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
 - 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
 - 1/2 pound medium shrimp, peeled, deveined and cooked
 - 2 cups broccoli flowerets
 - 1 cup halved cherry tomatoes
 - 1 medium yellow bell pepper, sliced
- In small bowl, combine yogurt, bottled lemon juice, honey, bouillon, garlic and thyme; mix well. Set aside. In large bowl, combine remaining ingredients and pasta shells. Add yogurt mixture; mix well. Chill thoroughly. Refrigerate leftovers.

Tropical Lemonade

(Makes about 2 1/2 quarts)

- 8 cups water
 - 1 (12-ounce) can frozen tropical juice concentrate, thawed
 - 1 cup bottled lemon juice
 - 1/2 cup sugar
- In large pitcher, combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill. Refrigerate leftovers.

Mile High Chicken BBQ

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- 1 pound skinned boneless chicken breasts, cut into strips
 - 1/4 cup chopped onion
 - 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
 - 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
 - 1 cup ketchup
 - 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 - 1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
 - 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 2 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon
 - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - 1 (8-inch) round bread loaf, sliced in thirds
 - Lettuce, alfalfa sprouts and assorted sliced vegetables*
- Bottled blue cheese salad dressing
- In large skillet, brown chicken, onion and garlic in margarine. Stir in ketchup, sugar, bottled lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, bouillon and mustard; simmer 10 to 15 minutes. On bottom half of bread, layer 1/2 each of lettuce, sprouts, sliced vegetables, chicken mixture and salad dressing. Top with 1 bread slice; repeat layering. Top with remaining bread slice. Wrap in plastic wrap or foil. Chill. Cut into wedges before serving. Refrigerate leftovers.

*Assorted vegetables: tomatoes, bell peppers and cucumbers.

Herb Focaccia Squares

(Makes 12 to 14 squares)

- 1 frozen bread dough loaf, thawed according to package directions
 - 3 tablespoons olive oil
 - 2 to 3 tablespoons chopped fresh sage leaves
 - 1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh rosemary leaves
 - 1 tablespoon water
 - 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
 - 1 teaspoon chicken-flavor instant bouillon
- Let bread dough stand at room temperature 1 1/2 hours. In small saucepan, combine remaining ingredients; simmer 5 minutes or until bouillon dissolves. Roll dough into a 14 x 7-inch rectangle, 1/4-inch thick; place on greased baking sheet. Brush with herb mixture. Bake in preheated oven at 400° 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool. Cut into squares before serving.

Pineapple Grapeade

(Makes about 1 1/2 quarts)

- 3 cups water
 - 1 (12-ounce) can frozen grape juice concentrate, thawed
 - 1/2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice
 - 1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
- In pitcher, combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill. Refrigerate leftovers.

Toffee-Topped Pecan Bars

(Makes 24 to 36 bars)

- 1 1/2 cups unsifted flour
 - 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
 - 1/4 cup cold margarine or butter
 - 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 1 cup coarsely chopped pecans, toasted
 - 1 (7.12-ounce) package milk chocolate-covered English toffee candy bars, cut into small pieces (6 bars)
- Preheat oven to 350° (325° for glass dish). In medium bowl, combine flour and sugar; cut in margarine until crumbly. Press firmly on bottom of 13 x 9-inch baking pan. Bake 15 minutes. Meanwhile, in large bowl, combine sweetened condensed milk, egg and vanilla extract; mix well. Stir in nuts. Spread evenly over prepared crust. Top with toffee pieces. Bake 25 minutes or until golden brown. Cool. Cut into bars or triangles. Store covered in refrigerator.

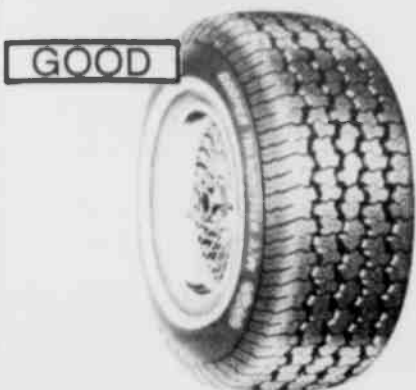

Patriotic Cheesecake

(Makes one 13 x 9-inch cheesecake)

- 2 cups graham cracker crumbs
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup margarine or butter, melted
 - 4 (8-ounce) packages cream cheese, softened
 - 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
 - 4 eggs
 - 1 cup bottled lemon juice
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - Fresh strawberries, sliced
 - Fresh blueberries
- Preheat oven to 300°. Combine crumbs, sugar and margarine; press firmly on bottom of 13 x 9-inch baking pan. In large mixer bowl, beat cheese until fluffy. Gradually beat in sweetened condensed milk until smooth. Add eggs, bottled lemon juice and flour; mix well. Pour into prepared pan. Bake 45 to 50 minutes or until center is set. Cool. Chill. Garnish with strawberries and blueberries. Refrigerate leftovers.

Tip: Line 13 x 9-inch pan with aluminum foil, extending foil over ends of pan. Bake cheesecake, cooling completely. Then place cheesecake in freezer 30 to 40 minutes. Lift from pan by 13-inch sides of foil. Peel off foil; place on serving tray.

LAUREL RUN CHURCH OF GOD

Michael Calhoun, Brian Sisler, Adam Schroyer, Charlie Davis, Stephanie Fisher, Sarah Welen, and Jodie Frazee, of Laurel Run Church of God, spent a week at the Church of God Youth Camp at Rippling Waters, W.Va.

The Laurel Run Church of God is planning a 70th year celebration for Sunday, August 21. Persons in the community having pictures or historical facts about the growth of the church that they would be willing to share is asked to call 746-5320 or 746-5319.

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF BRETHREN

Ladies Aid of Asher Glade Church of Brethren will meet Thursday, July 7, at 7 p.m. at the church.

Vacation Bible School will begin Monday, July 11, and continue each evening from 7 to 8:30 p.m. through Friday, July 15. The program will be held Saturday, July 16, at 7 p.m. at church. Plans are being made for the Sunday school and church picnic at Friendsville Lions Park on Sunday, Aug. 14, with a picnic dinner at 1 p.m.

Three youth and two leaders of the youth group met at the home of Rick and Tammy Thomas. Tammy gave the opening prayer. Chris Umbel gave the secretary's report. The July 24 meeting will be at the home of Matt and Laura Wolfe at 5 p.m. Members will go swimming at the home of Brandi and Heidi Frazee in August, and have a movie night at the church July 29 at 7 p.m. with youth serving refreshments. The Thomases served refreshments.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The mowing of the community park was done last week by Lions Homer Rodeheaver, Marlin Lawson, Bill Robinson, and Oscar Van Scheetz. Use of equipment was donated by Rodeheaver and Lawson. The volunteers were George Fiches and Jason Fiches. Mr. Fiches also donated the use of equipment.

Lion Oscar Van Scheetz and volunteer George Fiches moved the picnic tables.

Twila's Old Mill Restaurant, with President Marlin Lawson, presiding. There were 13 members in attendance. Bill MacLane Sr. was unable to attend because he is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, Room 312.

The club heard a request from a member to buy glasses for a resident of Friendsville. After a brief discussion, it was decided by the club to do so. An appointment has been made for her and she will receive her glasses.

The club has been invited to Family Day at the fairgrounds at McHenry on July 30. The club was asked to bring a chicken barbecue as well as the food concession trailer.

There was also a discussion held on future projects for the community park. The plans include: roofs over the bleachers, construction of a soccer field, and erecting a basketball court. Members also plan to finish installing the lights on the baseball field.

The Friendsville Lions Club and the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department will co-sponsor a chicken barbecue this Saturday, July 2, and again on July 4 beginning at 11 a.m. The location will be the Friendsville Discount Liquor Store parking lot.

Friendsville Lions Club will be held July 14 at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. All members should make an effort to attend, according to President Lawson.

ROTARY NEWS

The Friendsville Rotary Club held its regular meeting Monday evening.

President's Night was celebrated by honoring the club's only active charter member, Ross Selby.

District Governor Dr. Harold Cordis presented the Paul Harris Fellow Award to Ross Selby for his 45 years of continuous service to the Rotary Club and the Friendsville community.

The gavel was passed from retiring president Hugh Dopson to president-elect Chuck Overton. Other officers of the club are: Mary Waleck, 1st vice president; Carol Calhoun, 2nd vice president; and Don Frantz, secretary-treasurer.

Rotary Anns and Al Boyer, of the Hagerstown Rotary Club, were guests.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Esby Hook and son, Jonathan, honored their daughter and sister, Heather, with a party on Wednesday, June 26, for her 11th birthday. A decorated cake and other refreshments were served. Guests were: her granddaughter, Ms. Grace Hook; Josh Hook, Katie Cherry, Lacie Dumire, Shannon Frazee, Amanda Nazelrod, Jamie Grove, Laura Uphold and her aunt, Mrs. Doris Thomas, here; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Thomas, Lisa and Charlene and Mr. and Mrs. John Sines and daughters, Kandi and Elizabeth, all of Oakland.

REUNIONS

Some 115 attended the reunion of the family of the late Jefferson and Hannah (Meyers) Lowdermilk Sunday, June 26, at the Farmers' Wildlife Association, Asher Glade. A covered dish picnic dinner was served. The Ernest Lowdermilk family was in charge of the program and auction. The auction quilt was made by Myrtle Taylor, Mason-town, W.Va., and won by Merle Hinebaugh. Selling most tickets for the auction was Charles Thomas. Family traveling the farthest was the Warren Lowdermilk family, Memphis, Tenn.

present from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Florida, and Maryland. Orval Teats opened with prayer before dinner. Oldest man present was Frank Teats, 91 years; oldest lady, Ada Herring, 97, Farmington, Pa.; longest married couple, Frank and Agnes Teats, 62 years; largest family present, (the late Hiram and Edith Frazee family); youngest child, Elizabeth Parsons, 3½ months, Pittsburgh; most recently married, Michael and Leah Sherrod, Baltimore; and traveled longest distance, April Meyers, Tampa, Fla. Games were provided for children by Bill Dennis, Farmington, Pa. Door prizes were won by children and adults. The 1995 reunion will be at Teats Farm the fourth Sunday in June.

Over 50 members attended the Charles and Bertha (Riley) Pike reunion and dinner at the Bittinger fire hall Saturday evening. Relatives came from Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Maryland. Gifts were distributed among the children. A get-well card was signed by all to be sent to Ms. Twyla (Like) Vitez, Mont Alto, Pa.

The Harvey and Pearl (Fearer) Teats annual reunion will be held July 1-3 with camping, games, church service, etc., at Restless Ridge Hunting Camp (near fish hatchery).

The 21st Humberston Reunion will be held Sunday, July 10, at Grantsville Town Park with a basket lunch at 1 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Miss Spirk Becomes Bride Of Mr. Young In May 29 Ceremony

Miss Kristalynn Spirk and Jonathan Michael Young were married at a candle light wedding held on May 29 at the Village Bible Church, Hot Springs Village, Ark. Miss Spirk, the daughter of David and Karen Spirk of Deer Park, graduated from Conway High School, Conway, Ark., and attended the University of Central Arkansas. She plans to complete her degree as a registered dietitian at San Diego State University in the fall. Mr. Young, son of David and Margaret Young of Hot Springs Village, graduated from Jesselville High School and attended the University of Central Arkansas. He is currently serving in the Navy on the USS Kitty Hawk, San Diego, Cal.

The Rev. Jay Holstead officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. John Greer of Conway, Ark. Guests attending the wedding were registered by Mrs. Jean Smith of Conway.

The bride's father sang "I Will Be Here For You" at the opening of the ceremony and then escorted Kristalynn down the aisle. Maid of honor was Amy Meins, Conway, and matron of honor was the bride's sister, Karalynn Burns, Little Rock, Ark. Bridesmaids were Tracy Brock, Conway, and Michelle Young, sister-in-law of the groom, Dallas, Texas. The groom's father served as best man and guests were seated by David Young Jr., David Spirk Jr., and Derek Spirk. Summer Brock served as flower girl and Brian Smith was the ring bearer. Acolytes were Timothy Smith and Daniel Brock. Rice bags were distributed by Eric Smith following the reception in the church social room.

The bride's silk moire taffeta gown was worn by her mother twenty-five years earlier. The bouffant skirt cascaded into a chapel sweep. Her illusion three tiered veil was held by a cluster of taffeta, pearls, and lace petals. The bride also wore her mother's pearl and diamond earrings. She carried a bouquet of cream roses and violets. The couple left for their new home in Santee, Cal. following the ceremony.

Webster-Barrett Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Terrence McBride, McHenry, announce the engagement of Mrs. McBride's daughter, Lisa Marie Webster, Annapolis, to Bruce Barrett, Annapolis, son of Mrs. James Barrett, Baltimore, and the late James Barrett.

Miss Webster is also the daughter of the late Gerald Webster.

A Sept. 24 wedding is being planned in Annapolis.

Kovach-Artice Nuptials Set

Jim and Robin Baker, Oakland, and Michael Baulsir and Karen Frost, La Plata, announce the engagement of their daughter, Tami Sue Kovach, to Glenn Roger Artice Jr., son of Glenn and Mary Artice, Aspen Hill, Pa.

Ms. Kovach is a 1988 graduate of Severna Park High School. Mr. Artice is a 1983 graduate of Northern High School. He is employed at Phenix Technologies, Accident.

A September 3 wedding is planned. Invitations are being sent.

Miss Davis To Wed Mr. Kuhn

Mrs. Darlene Davis, Elk Garden, W. Va., announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Rebecca Lynn, to Mark Ray Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kuhn, also of Elk Garden.

The bride-elect is a 1991 graduate of Union High School, Mt. Storm, W. Va. She is currently employed by Buchman Optical, Inc., Mtn. Lake Park.

Her fiancé is a 1989 graduate of Elk Garden High School and is employed by C.R. Millwork, Hartmansville, W. Va.

A July 2 wedding date has been set for 3 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church in Mt. Storm. Although invitations have been sent, all family and friends are invited to attend.

Correction Noted

In last week's edition of The Republican, two items in an engagement announcement Bernadette Clare Prince, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Prince, Addison, Pa., and Jeffrey Glen Friend, son of Patricia Friend, Deep Creek Lake, and David Friend, Craneyville, W. Va., were reported. Mr. Friend was incorrectly identified as Glen Friend.

The wedding is set for Saturday, July 2, (not July 23 as reported) at 5 p.m. at Bethel United Methodist Church, Mtn. Lake Park. A reception will follow the ceremony at the Elks Lodge, Oakland.

We regret the error and any inconvenience it has caused the families.

Jennifer Snyder, Joey A. Burns Wed In Double-Ring Ceremony

Jennifer Eileen Snyder and Joey Allen Burns were united in marriage on July 24, 1993, at the New Life Christian Church. Pastor Harold Harman performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Hallie M. Snyder, Mtn. Lake Park, and J. Dwight Snyder, Gortner. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burns, Mtn. Lake Park.

Peggy Lambert was the pianist, and Lavinia Buchert, the vocalist.

A unity candle was lit during the prelude, by the mothers of the bride and groom.

Given in marriage by her mother, and escorted to the altar by her cousin, Alex Mellott, the bride wore a gown of French satin schiffli lace, centered on a Victorian bodice which was embroidered with sequins and pearls. The traditional high neckline, with a sheer yoke featuring multi-strands of pearls and lace, extended swan-like to the jewel encrusted Victorian sleeves. The sheer V-back dipped into a Basque waist. Appliques graced the front and back of the full skirt, while a garland of organza ruffles and inverted "V" ruffles accented the semi-cathedral, lace-edged train.

The bride wore an elegant silk floral headpiece of pearl sprays and silk flowers, with multi-tiered, waist-length tulle. She carried a bouquet of aqua, peach and white silk roses, with baby's breath and pearls.

Her jewelry consisted of rhinestone earrings and a pink ice ring, a gift from her maternal grandmother, Georgia Mize. In keeping with the tradition of wearing something old, the bride chose an identification bracelet worn by her maternal grandmother, the late Hallie Crotts, who was a World War II Army nurse.

Peach and aqua-colored flowers were presented by the bride's mother and maternal grandmother, in memory of her maternal grandfather, Russell J. Mize Sr.

Serving as maid of honor was Kelli Slaubaugh, friend of the bride, Oakland. Bridesmaids were Lavinia Buchert, cousin of the bride, and Belinda Burns, sister of the groom, both of Mtn. Lake Park.

The maid of honor and attendants wore matching peach moire taffeta tea-length gowns with Cluny lace-trimmed bodices. They were also attired in matching rhinestone earrings, gifts from the bride. Each carried bouquets matching the bride's.

The flower girl was Amanda Beckman, niece of the bride. She wore a tea-length, white satin dress trimmed with white lace. She carried a small basket containing peach rose petals that she scattered during the ceremony.

Serving as his brother's best man was Randy Burns. Groomsmen were John Burns, brother of the groom, and Alex Mellott, cousin of the bride.

Each was dressed in a black tuxedo with a peach cummerbund and bow tie. The groom wore a white tuxedo, with a white cummerbund and peach boutonniere.

The ring bearer was Richard Burns, nephew of the groom. His tuxedo matched the groom's. He carried a white satin pillow decorated with peach-colored flowers.

A reception in the church basement followed the wedding ceremony, the peach and aqua color scheme was used in the decorations and wedding cake. The three-tiered cake and side cakes were baked and decorated by Teresa Baker, who also helped serve the guests. Others who helped serve were Janet White, Willa Uphold and Robin Shiffley. Carolyn Mellott was in charge of the reception, and Richard Buchert was master of ceremonies. Sylvia Beckman, sister of the bride, served as both program and guest book attendant. Joni Davis, friend of the bride, distributed scrolls and bird seed packets. Registering gifts was Bonnie Shearer, friend of the bride, Elizabethtown, Pa. Gary Beckman, brother in law of the bride, and Roy Dawson, friend of the bride, were the videographers. L. Thomas Geasey, Thurmont, was the photographer.

Following a brief honeymoon to Frostburg, the couple has established residency on Green Glade Road, Swanton.

The bride is a graduate of Pleasant Valley Christian Academy. She is attending Garrett Community College, and is employed by Garrett County Home Health.

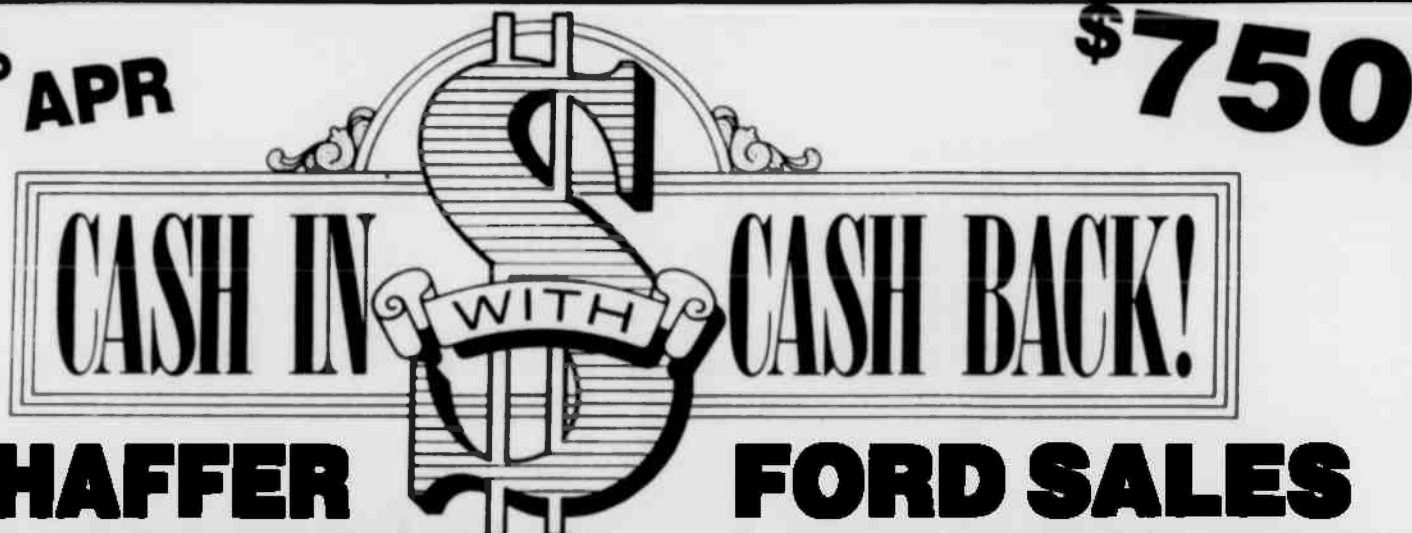

The groom attended Southern High School. He completed welding classes at Garrett Community College, and is employed by Garrett Mining.

Following the wedding rehearsal, a pizza party was hosted by the groom's parents in the church basement. The bride was honored with a bridal shower, hosted by Lavinia Buchert and Hallie Snyder.

Hopemont Notes W.Va. Day With 14th Celebration

Hopemont Hospital's residents and staff observed West Virginia's 131st birthday, with its 14th West Virginia Day celebration, June 18.

Jim Hollis, master of ceremonies, offered opening remarks to get the day's activities off to a start. Students from the Mountaineer Challenge Academy at Camp Dawson presented the colors.

Lucia Liston and Ann Nine sang the National Anthem, followed by the invocation of the Rev. William Anderson, and the welcome by Alice Westfall, administrator at Hopemont Hospital.

Jon Hooton, assistant administrator, introduced special guests. The keynote speaker was Garrett Moran, Ph.D., deputy commissioner for the West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources. Other speakers included Charles Felton, director of the W.Va. Department of Natural Resources; Ruth A. Panepinto, Ph.D., Senator David L. Miller, and Delegate Larry Williams.

Music and entertainment was provided throughout the day by "Ace In The Hole," "Wildfire," "Midnight Ramblers," and "The Never Too Late Girls."

Many area craftspeople were on hand, with their creations available for sale. Other activities provided throughout the day included face painting, caricature sketches, a cross saw and nail-driving contest, hay rides, dart throwing, a fish pond, and bean bag toss, to name a few. Antique cars were also on display in the hospital's parking lot, and soup beans and cornbread were offered in the cafeteria.

Special thanks were extended to Hugh Dopson, Wally Howerton and the students from the Mountaineer Challenge Academy, for their participation in the day's activities.

Celebration In The Park Service Set

Final plans for a third annual community church celebration in the Terra Alta Park, set for July 3, have been announced by the Rev. William Anderson, coordinator of the event, sponsored by the Terra Alta Ministerial Association.

Most of the churches in the association will combine their services for an 11 a.m. worship hour, according to the Rev. Anderson. The ministers, or a church representative, will all have a part in the program.

A highlight of the service will be special music from Anne Nine and Lucinda Freeland of the Freeland Church, who will sing the National Anthem; the Revs. Mark Smith and Mark Potter from the Wesleyan Church, who will sing a duet; volunteers from the congregation will form a choir for an anthem; and members and friends together will sing two patriotic hymns, he added.

Members of the Terra Alta Youth League will also be present in the congregation.

All residents of Terra Alta, visitors and former residents are invited to the community building at the park for the service.

Elk Garden High School Reunion Is Announced

The annual reunion of the alumni of Elk Garden High School has been set for July 24 at noon in the school cafeteria. Guests are requested to bring covered dishes or desserts for the 1 p.m. meal. Meat and utensils will be furnished.

Graduation is not a requirement for attendance. The class of 1944 will be honored this year.

For more information, persons may call Lester Brantner at 304-453-3540 or Velma Ruble at 304-446-5251.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

REUNIONS

Saturday, July 2, is the date of the annual Henry Harsh Family reunion at Cathedral Park, with the picnic dinner to begin at noon. In the event of rain, the reunion will be moved to the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. All family members and friends are welcome.

The annual reunion of the Slaubaugh Family will be held Sunday, July 3, at the Mt. Grove community center, with the basket lunch to be served at 1 p.m. Family and friends are invited.

On Sunday, July 10, the Whitehair Family will meet for their annual get-together at the Chester Whitehair farm near Silver Lake. All family and friends are invited to bring a picnic lunch to share at 1 p.m.

The annual Accident School Reunion will be held at the old school park on Sunday, July 10, with the picnic lunch to be shared at noon. All who attended or taught are invited to be present at this site near Horse Shoe Run.

Rose Schaeffer and Steven Wilt of Aurora invite their family and friends to their marriage ceremony. The open church wedding will take place at 6 p.m. in the Aurora United Methodist Church on Saturday, July 9. Everyone is also invited to the reception, which will be held at the Aurora Community Building following the ceremony.

Those who wish to have a listing on the Community Calendar this year should have ready the list of dates (anniversaries, birthdays) to be listed. A representative of the Aurora PTO will be calling during July. Those not contacted concerning the purchase of a calendar and listing may call Rence Mullenax at 735-6281. The price remains at 40 cents per listing and $4 per calendar. Persons may contact Linda Lewis at 735-6931 to place a listing.

MISS UTTERBACK, 16, will be a junior at PHIS in the fall. She was selected in a competition open to all sophomores at the school, in which she was chosen to attend the four-day, all-expense-paid seminar at the University of Charleston, Charleston, W.Va. The seminar brought together 146 students from schools all over West Virginia to discuss "America's Incentive System" with prominent leaders in business, government, education, the professions, and the volunteer sector.

While at the state leadership seminar, Miss Utterback was one of seven girls and six boys chosen to represent West Virginia at the HOBY World Leadership Congress to be conducted later this summer in Tempe, Ariz. These students were chosen for their potential leadership ability by HOBY staff members and alumni. The event will bring together sophomores representatives from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and some 20 foreign countries.

Better Hearing Tip:

When speaking to someone with a hearing loss, it is best not to yell, but speak only slightly louder. Speaking too loudly can often make it even harder for the person to hear. Speak slower and more clearly, and rephrase a sentence if the person didn't hear you the first time.

AURORA/EGLON

Alexander, for a few weeks after the Governor's School ended, both of the exchange students are from Kaliningrad, Russia, where Peter will go for a three-week visit during September and October. Peter is one of the 15 West Virginia students chosen to be the first Americans to participate in the International Space and Science Olympic which will be held in the Kaliningrad Moscow region of Russia and will also have 500 Russian participants.

During their trip to Russia, they will visit St. Petersburg and Leningrad, study culture, see their space camp, and spend weekends with host families.

Attending the Governor's School for Arts and Sciences at Fairmont State College are Elizabeth Worthing, daughter of Tom and Carolyn Worthing, and her cousin, Melanie Roberson, daughter of Sue Roberson, all Aurora. This form of the Governor's Honors Academy was founded by his wife, Rachel Worby, and is intended to enrich the experiences of those students in West Virginia who are talented in drama, music, and visual art. Both girls are students at Preston High.

Aurora School students Elizabeth Morgan, Grant Harsh, and Matthew Bachtel scored highest in their school on the Samara Test. This is a conservation program developed in cooperation with soil conservation districts throughout the state by the West Virginia Conservation Education Council and the West Virginia Soil Conservation Agency.

The program is developed for seventh grade science teachers to use in their curriculum and each school recognizes the top three scorers. They are given an award from their soil conservation district, this being the Monongahela Soil Conservation District, and the school having the highest overall score receives a traveling plaque. This year the school having the highest individual score was Central Preston Jr. High.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

Deloris Slawter was hostess of the June 21 meeting of the Aurora Extension Homemakers and Dorothy Spaid led the discussion topic, "Growing Older." The Young-Old Years.

Mary Jane Hanline read two poems and led the devotionals.

Martha Bolyard, president, reported her attendance at County Council meeting and business discussed there. A luncheon on June 23 to honor the international student, Natasa Rajkic, and the Aurora club presented her with $25 toward her expenses. Martha Bolyard and Rescie Conrad attended the luncheon. The club is scheduled to sell car tickets at the Buckwheat Festival on Friday, Sept. 30, from 2 until 5 p.m. The Buckwheat Festival exhibit theme is "Strengthening Human Relationships" for Aurora's exhibit.

Vice president Wilda

Stemple gave words of wisdom and superstitions of the area. She was also recipient of the pig-in-the-poke. The hostess displayed her special feature, a scarf made of hand-spun wool and crocheted by her grandmother to be presented to her father and mother at their wedding.

The club reported 14 hours of reading to children.

Those in attendance included Martha Bolyard, Rescie Conrad, Mary Jane Hanline, Wilda Stemple, Ruby Kempfer, Opal Myers, Virginia Martin, Deloris Slawter, and Dorothy Spaid.

HOMEMAKERS

REMINDER

The Eglon Extension Homemakers and their families will meet July 12 at Cathedral State Park for a family picnic at 6:30 p.m. All members are asked to attend.

OBITUARY

REATHA DAVIS

Reatha Burnace Marie Davis, 68, Terra Alta, died Friday, June 24, 1994, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, as the result of an automobile accident.

She was born July 22, 1925, in Fairmont, a daughter of the late Earl Emery and Esther Leora (Blue) Pigott. She was also preceded in death by her first husband, Okey Moore, in 1971.

She was a homemaker and a retired licensed practical nurse. She was a member of the Terra Alta Wesleyan Church, and the Terra Alta Senior Citizens.

Survivors include her husband, Harry A. Davis; three sons, Jerry Moore, Amherst, Ohio, Daniel Moore, Lucas, Ohio, and Terry Moore, Lorain, Ohio; two daughters, Sharon Wykoski, Elvira, Ohio, and Melonie Hellman, Medina, Ohio; four step-sons, Mike Stockovich, Washington Court House, Ohio, Daniel Stockovich, Millersburg, Ohio, Duke Stockovich, Luckeyville, Ohio, and Paul Ramos, Columbus, Ohio; two step-daughters, Kathy Galley, Millersburg, Ohio, and Martha Mullins, Killbuck, Ohio; one brother, Leroy Pigott; two sisters, Jeanette McDaniel, Elkton, Va., and Shirley B. Cramer, Terra Alta, 34 grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

A memorial service was conducted at the Terra Alta Wesleyan Church on Monday, June 27, with the Rev. Mark Smith officiating. Arrangements were handled by the Arthur H. Wright Funeral Home, Terra Alta.

PERSONAL MENTION

Brent Hauser of Eglon was a surgical patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital this weekend and returned Monday to the home of his parents, Jerry and Barbara Hauser.

Kenneth and Helen Shaffer of Baltimore were visitors in Eglon with Bessie and Barbara Heckert. Also visiting them were Beulah Dunbar and Hassaleah Snyder of Amboy.

Melinda and Tracy Teets of Eglon spent last week in Stroudsburg, Pa., with their uncle and aunt, Brad and Robin Teets. They went sight seeing in the surrounding area which included New York City and a trip to the beach. Then parents, Bruce and Mary Teets, and grandparents, Ruth and Roscoe Teets, all of Eglon, took them to meet the Stroudsburg Teetses on June 18 and picked them up June 26. On the return trip, they visited in Boonesboro, Md., with Ross Teets, a resident of the Fahrney-Keedy Home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters of Eglon spent Friday and Saturday in the Westminster vicinity where they were called because of the death of her aunt, Blanche Dolby Bonsack, 92. Mrs. Bonsack was preceded in death by her husband, Paul C. Bonsack, and is survived by one daughter, Judy Owens, with whom she resided at Hanover, Pa.; one son, James Bonsack of Aberdeen; seven grandchildren; and one great-grandchild. Services were held at the Meyers Funeral Home in Westminster on June 25 with burial at the Meadowbranch Church of the Brethren Cemetery.

Jeremy Bolyard of Eglon was injured while at work last week when an automatic nail gun drove a nail through his fingers. He was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He is the son of Davon and Betty Bolyard.

Hancell and Mildred Teets of Amboy spent last Tuesday through Thursday at the Outer Banks in North Carolina with their son-in-law and daughter, Ron and Judy Kepple, of Shepherdstown. Also visiting were Mark Kepple and his girl friend, Lisa, and Jill Kepple, children of the elder Kepples.

Sunday visitors in Grafton with Harley and Regina Donham were Jackie and Alma Snyder of Aurora.

Visiting this weekend with Mrs. Maxine Hauser, Aurora, was her daughter, Bonnie Douglas, of Ashland, Ky.

Melvin Stemple of Aurora is a patient in the Monongahela General Hospital, Morgantown.

Mary Myers McMillan has returned to her home in Rowlesburg and her sister, Jessie Fedorow of Aurora, remains there to help out.

Dean Sisler and her daughter, Cara Radford, Donetta Nice and Dane, all of Aurora and Amboy, left Tuesday for a two-week visit in Okinawa with another daughter, Tammy, and Buddy Fauber and Cody.

David and Wilma Mae Teets went recently to Goldsboro, N.C., to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mary Lou and Dick Miller. Their grandson, Michael Lantz, of North Pole (near Fairbanks), Alaska, returned with them for a visit here.

Melissa Frantz of Eglon was awarded a scholarship to the YMCA Camp Horseshoe which she attended recently. Missy is the daughter of Don and Neva Frantz.

The B.J. and Debbie Fike family were visited three times Monday by a bear at their Mt. Top home. The first sighting was in the morning from within the house when the bear navigated the length of the home and the second came later in the day when they were preparing to leave and found the bear sitting near their van. The third sighting was at night when the bear made another visit to their patio and peered into their window.

Local Students Take Part In Living History

Fourth grade students at Red House and Loch Lynn elementary schools recently participated in a colonial and Native American living experience at the Hickory Education Center. The overnight event was in conjunction with the students' studies in Maryland history, and was created and coordinated by teachers Amy Harvey and Linda Martin.

Students were involved in several hands-on activities, learning how to churn butter, make cornbread, and cook stew over an open fire. The pupils prepared and shared an evening meal.

Other activities included making pottery under the instruction of potter Madeline Collins, spinning wool into yarn, taught by spinner Sheila Elliot; use of Chesapeake Bay seafood by Native Americans, as demonstrated by Brian Canfield; and making Indian wampum belts.

The young guests were entertained with music by Hammers and Strings, a local dulcimer group, which performed several colonial songs. The students later sang the songs they had learned around a campfire.

As a culminating activity, the group traveled to the Drane House site in Accident and learned about James Drane, one of the first settlers in the local area.

The teachers stated that they plan to make the living history experience a yearly event.

LEARNING THROUGH LIVING HISTORY - Fourth graders from Red House and Loch Lynn elementary schools recently took part in an overnight colonial and Native American living history at the Hickory Education Center, Accident. The students learned first-hand how to prepare a meal in the fashion of early Marylanders. See story. The uses of Chesapeake seafood were taught by Brian Canfield, and pictured above, left to right, are Canfield, Andrea Coughlin, Kim Teter, Stacy Holler, George Hebb, and Anthony Ackerman. The young "colonialists" are pictured below making stew under the supervision of parent Jon Thayer. DHMH To Hold Public Forums On Long-Term Care

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH), the Office of Aging and the Department of Human Resources are jointly conducting several public forums throughout the state to gather information on community-based long-term care services.

This information will be used, according to the DHMH, to develop an enhanced system of home and community-based services, financed by a Medicaid waiver, for persons who qualify for nursing home care.

Information on the following questions is requested:

1. What community-based services are necessary to help people who qualify for nursing home care to remain in the community?

2. How should these community-based services be defined?

3. What are barriers to developing these services?

4. What factors help facilitate service development?

5. What should the provider requirements be?

Participants may address one or more of the items on the above list. Presentations will be limited to three to five minutes, depending upon the number of individuals wishing to speak.

The meeting nearest Garrett County will be held July 15 at the Allegany County Health Department, Willowbrook Road, Cumberland, from 1 to 3 p.m.

Written responses may be submitted to the following address by individuals unable to attend or by those who wish to submit more detailed information. Additionally, those individuals requiring special accommodations or for those who have any questions regarding the forums may contact:

Ms. Kathy King, Medical Care Policy Administration, DHMH, 201 W. Preston St. Room 123, Baltimore, MD 21201; (410) 225-5220.

Persons with a hearing or speech impairment should call 1-800-735-2258.

Local Student Accepted At A-B

Janet DeWitt, Oakland, has been accepted for admission to Alderson-Broaddus College for the fall 1994 semester. The daughter of Kenneth and Connie DeWitt, she is a 1994 graduate of Southern High School.

While in high school, DeWitt was a member of the basketball, track, cross country, and softball teams. She was a student council representative, a cheerleader, president of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, and president of the opening and closing team. She served as secretary of her freshman class, president of her sophomore and junior class, and treasurer of her senior class. Her biography was selected for inclusion in Who's Who Among American High School Students. DeWitt received the United States Academic Student Council Award, and she is a certified emergency medical technician and a certified nursing assistant. She attends the Oak Park Church of the Brethren.

DeWitt plans to major in nursing at A-B.

Alderson-Broaddus College is a four-year undergraduate liberal arts institution offering bachelors degrees in a wide variety of liberal arts majors. Over 900 students are enrolled at A-B, which is affiliated with the American Baptist Churches, USA. The college is located in Philippi, W.Va.

ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll G. DeWitt have returned from a three-week tour of Spain, Morocco, and Portugal. They visited Madrid, Toledo, Seville, Cordoba, Granada, Badajoz, and Salamanca in Spain; and Meknes, Fes, Marrakesh, Casablanca, Rabat, and Tangier in Morocco. They spent two nights in Lisbon, Portugal, and two days at the Rock of Gibraltar.

Rosenthal Helps Establish Office Of Rural Health

A State Office of Rural Health was established in Maryland during the fall of 1993, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital President Benjamin Rosenthal was active in the efforts for its establishment.

The office is part of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Division of Primary Care and Rural Health. Jonathan Foley, of the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, serves as administrator for the office, with Marita Novicky serving as rural health coordinator.

The purposes of the office are to: improve communications among those working to improve health care in non-urban areas; assess health needs; support the availability of health care personnel in rural areas; provide technical assistance for program development in rural areas; and improve coordination among programs and development initiatives serving rural areas.

SHERIFF ACCEPTS ACCREDITATION CERTIFICATE - Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans and the correctional staff of his office were presented with a certificate of accreditation on Tuesday from the Maryland Commission on Correctional Standards. The county jail was recently the target of an audit process effected by the state in which over 100 standards are reviewed. The standards are set to insure that inmates are treated fairly and humanely and that their constitutional rights are protected. Commission Executive Director Donald Jones noted that detention center accreditation is difficult to achieve and that fewer than half of all state detention centers are in compliance at one given time. Jones said that compliance lowers insurance premiums and limits the number of lawsuits filed by inmates. Evans commended the jail staff for "a job well done," and noted that compliance was indeed difficult, initiated in the midst of budgetary restraints. The current crowded conditions at the jail was an added obstacle. "The jail staff members often work under very stressful conditions and seldom get the recognition they deserve for their performance and vital service to the community," Evans said. He especially noted the diligent work of Correctional Officers Dale Harvey and Michael Stem, and expressed gratitude to the Garrett County Commissioners for supporting the compliance initiative. Pictured left to right are Stem, Commissioners Brenda Butscher and John Braskey, Harvey, Evans, and Jones.

Serving on a newly established advisory council for the office from Western Maryland are: Rosenthal; Bruce Cash, executive director of the Western Maryland Health Planning Agency; and Donald Spencer, executive director of the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center. The main objectives of the advisory council, which meets bi-monthly, are to: improve communication among rural practitioners; set a rural health agenda; advise the Office of Rural Health; and advocate for policy changes.

The State Office of Rural Health is currently planning for the first Maryland Rural Health Conference to be held at the Wisp Resort on October 6 and 7. The office is also developing a newsletter and establishing priorities in rural health concerns and policies.

Having Difficulty Deciding Between a Fixed or Adjustable Rate Mortgage?

No Problem...Choose Both!

American Trust Bank offers a mortgage loan that gives you the benefit of both fixed and adjustable rates. The 5/1 mortgage provides a fixed rate for the first five years and then automatically converts to a one year adjustable rate mortgage for the remaining term. You get an initial 5 year fixed rate that's lower than most 15 or 30 year fixed rate mortgages.

Plus, as with other American Trust mortgages, you have the opportunity to choose a biweekly payment feature that saves thousands of dollars in interest paid over the term, a no points option and a low downpayment option.

Visit any American Trust Bank community office for further details on how you can get a fixed rate and adjustable rate mortgage in ONE!

Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area Cautions Boaters

The festivities in the McHenry area of Deep Creek Lake on the evening of this July 4 include a fireworks display scheduled to be set off in the Wisp area.

The Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area Office has received numerous inquiries on the boat traffic that is expected in the McHenry Cove that evening. It appears that observing the display by boat will be the method of choice by many visitors. There is a possibility that several hundred boats may travel to McHenry Cove.

The ranger staff at the Recreation Area and the Natural Resources police have issued some precautionary warnings to boaters so as to ensure a safe and enjoyable event for all.

Boaters are urged to exercise caution while traveling to and from McHenry, especially after dark. "Check your boat before you leave and make sure that all navigation lights work and all required safety equipment is on board," stated a DNR spokesman. "Watch that you do not overload your boat. Finally, remember that alcohol and boating do not mix."

Rangers and Natural Resources police will be on patrol during the fireworks display and will be actively enforcing boat safety regulations throughout the evening.

"By following these few simple precautions and operating your boat in a safe and responsible manner, the Recreation Area Office hopes that the evening will be one well remembered for everybody," the spokesman said.

"Ride-A-Long" Rangers Sought

Deep Creek Lake State Park is holding its annual Ranger Ride-A-Long Program for those with a sincere interest in a career with the Department of Natural Resources.

Prospective applicants must be at least 16 years of age, submit to a preliminary interview, and be willing to ride for a minimum of four hours. For more information on this or other volunteer community service activities, persons may contact Carson Hummel, volunteer coordinator, at (301) 387-5563.

THE 1994 SAFE BOATING FESTIVAL at Deep Creek Lake was a fair success despite the cool weather. Bill's Marine Service, Flying Scot, Patterson Boat, and the Aquatic Center sponsored the program. Shown above is a portion of the Chesapeake Kid's Man-Overboard rescue demonstration.

Deep Creek Lake Boating Regulations Reminder Issued

Several changes have occurred in lake boating regulations that are currently in effect and will be actively enforced during the July 4 weekend, according to Department of Natural Resources police.

Emergency action re-instituting the Deep Creek Lake boating regulations occurred on June 20. In addition to posted speed limits and other restrictions around the lake, the following regulations also apply:

*Personal watercraft may not operate on the lake between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays through Labor Day.

*A person may not operate a vessel towing a skier, aquaplane, or similar device within 100 feet of any bridge on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays until after the Labor Day weekend between the same hours as listed above.

*A person may not operate a vessel at any time at a speed in excess of three knots within 100 feet of the shoreline except when towing a skier from a dock or the shore, provided that the person immediately leaves the 100-foot area.

*Marker buoys restricting speed and skiing hours are also enforceable under these regulations.

In addition to these, a new statewide boating regulation recently went into effect for inland waters that extends the required distance for boats towing skiers from other boats or objects.

The distance that a motorboat towing an individual or individuals on water skis, aquaplane, or similar device must keep at all times from the shore, wharf, pier, jetty, bridge structure or abutment, or an individual or individuals in the water, has been extended from 50 feet to a new requirement of 100 feet.

Rangers and Natural Resources police officers will be enforcing these regulations this holiday weekend.

Maple Glen Bible School Scheduled

The Maple Glen Mennoite Church, Grantsville, will be sponsoring Vacation Bible School from July 11-15 from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m.

The theme for the program is "Let Us Go and See," from the Herald Press Bible School series. Classes will be held for ages 3 through 10th grade. Everyone is welcome.

For more information, persons may call 662-4108.

On Dean's List

Among the 315 students of Susquehanna University, Selingsgrove, Pa., who were named to the dean's list for the 1994 spring semester is a Garrett County student.

Ashley Smith, daughter of Manning and Kathie Smith, Mtn. Lake Park, earned at least a 3.4 grade point average for the semester and was named to the list. A graduate of Southern High School, she is a sophomore elementary education major.

Items Sought For B&L Auction

Bausch & Lomb is currently soliciting items for its second annual auction.

Proceeds from the auction, sponsored by Bausch & Lomb employees, will benefit the Rotary Club's Christmas tree and food drive.

Donations, including furniture, gift certificates, household, and miscellaneous items, as well as other donations, may be made by calling Mary Rush, 334-9933. All donations are tax deductible.

Dairy Products A Good Deal For Consumers -- And Taxpayers

If you are concerned about how much of your tax bill goes to support dairy farmers, rest assured. The answer is, very little.

In the 1990s, the volume of dairy products bought by the government has declined to very low levels. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), dairy farmers no longer receive payments to reduce milk production. And surplus dairy products removed from the commercial market are expected to amount to less than two percent this year.

When the government distributes the dairy products it buys, the value of the product often is credited back to the cost of the government program, so the actual cost to taxpayers of government cheese and butter purchases is minimal.

Annual dairy price support expenditures have declined to about $200 to $300 million - about one-tenth of what they were a decade ago, according to USDA dairy economist Jim Miller. Government dairy purchases this year are projected to be about four billion pounds of milk equivalent (the amount of milk contained in the dairy product purchased), compared to 16.6 billion a decade ago. One reason is that greater volumes of the various by-products-including butterfat-are sold now.

What is more, producers themselves are carrying a sizable part of the cost of the dairy price support program. The federal government takes out 11 1/2 cents per hundredweight of fluid milk from each milk check to help offset the cost of the program. Any producer who does not increase production can reclaim that assessment at the end of the year.

Producers must pay the entire cost of surpluses above seven billion pounds a year. In short, the federal government is no longer "in the business" of dairy farmer subsidies.

In fact, the price support level of milk has declined to the point where the market price has remained above the government support price of $10.10 per hundredweight of milk.

"Through the price support program, the government simply buys enough quantities to help provide a safety net for milk prices," says Miller. "Long-term, we want to provide enough capacity to meet current and future market needs."

The dairy industry continues to work hard to bring supply and demand into closer balance. Dairy farmers contribute promotion dollars to expand both domestic and foreign markets to allow this to happen.

For the consumer, meanwhile, milk and dairy products have been a good deal price-wise. Over the past 10 years, retail prices of dairy products have risen only 28.5 percent on average. That compares to 40 percent for all foods and for consumer prices in general.

All things considered, consumers continue to get a good deal on dairy products without paying on "the other end" as taxpayers.

Report Concludes Americans Need Dairy Foods

Without dairy foods, Americans would have to make "substantial changes in their choices from practically every food group" to meet calcium needs, according to a report by the American Council on Science and Health (ACSH), a non-profit consumer education and public health organization advised by over 200 prominent physicians and scientists.

The report, "Much Ado About Milk," refutes allegations made over the last two years claiming a variety of ills are caused by milk.

ACSH stated that milk and milk products are "healthful, exceptionally nutritious foods" that "provide high-quality protein and several vitamins" and are the "best source" of calcium. The report goes on to discuss the important role of calcium in the prevention of osteoporosis, or the development of weak bones.

Osteoporosis afflicts 25 million people in the United States, and is four times more common in women than men. It accounts for 13 million associated bone fractures at an annual cost of $10 billion, according to the National Osteoporosis Foundation.

The peak preventive time is adolescence and young adulthood, according to the ACSH report, but adequate calcium intake is essential throughout life to maintain what calcium is already in the bones. The Recommended Dietary Allowance of calcium is 1200 mg/day for young people aged 11 to 24 years, and 800 mg/day for most other ages.

An eight-ounce glass of milk provides approximately 300 mg (whole, low-fat or nonfat), an ounce of cheese approximately 200 mg, and eight ounces of yogurt around 375 mg.

Farm Bureau Asks Beef Retailers For Cooperation

The American Farm Bureau Federation is urging beef retailers to lower the prices they are charging at the meat counter "as quickly as possible." Adjusted retail prices should reflect fed-cattle prices, which have fallen by more than 15 percent since last year, financially devastating many cattle feeders.

AFBF President Dean Kleckner, in a letter to more than 30 of the nation's top food retailers and food industry associations, urged beef retailers to be sensitive to a fed-cattle industry that has experienced 11 months of red ink and is reporting a record number of cattle still in the nation's feedlots.

Kleckner stated that it is "especially critical" for retailers to make timely adjustments in their retail beef prices, since fed-cattle producers are receiving prices substantially below the cost of production. While farm prices decreased sharply from April to May of this year, choice beef retail prices increased slightly. That resulted in a record high spread of $1.42 per retail pound between the prices paid for beef at the farm and at the meat counter, according to USDA's Lawrence Duewer.

"The (beef) price in the stores should reflect the abundant supplies available," Kleckner's letter stated. "I would like to urge food retailers to be sensitive to this situation and initiate actions through featuring and other types of sales promotions to give consumers the benefit of lower prices and thereby stimulate demand for beef products."

Kleckner also urged retailers to support a beef promotion program being coordinated by the beef industry. Just as producers have worked with retailers to produce lean, high-quality beef for the consumer, Kleckner called for similar cooperation and support from retailers on the issue of pricing.

According to Ed Uvacek, a livestock marketing specialist and president of Western Research, the spread between prices received by cattle producers and beef retailers usually widens when farm prices decline and narrows when farm prices increase. The retail industry is not geared toward reflecting, in a timely manner, changes in the cattle market.

"It takes retailers a long time," he said. "It works in

Ag. Dept. Issues Disaster Guidelines For Horse Owners

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Department of Agriculture has produced a pamphlet outlining steps all horse owners need to take to protect their horses during the time of a natural or man-made disaster.

"The key to protecting your horse is to plan in advance for an emergency. By planning ahead, you can increase your chances of saving your horse's life," Riley said.

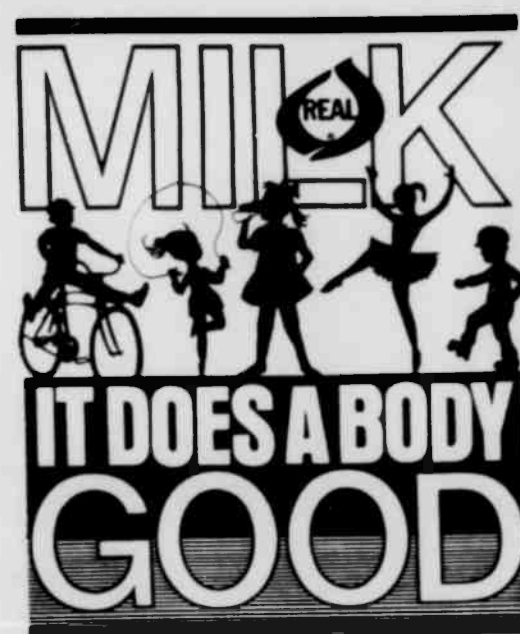

The pamphlet outlines specific steps all horse owners should take before, during and after a disaster occurs. They include evacuation plans, permanent horse identification and the preparation of an emergency kit. It is important to have enough fresh water both directions. Retailers hate to change the price level to consumers. On the downside you (eventually) get a stepping down of retail prices, but it's a delayed reaction."

According to Uvacek, cattle prices have plummeted almost 20 percent over the last few months. Choice fed steers in the Southern Plains are selling in the low $60 per hundredweight range, compared to the high $70s in early April. Break-even prices for most fed cattle producers are currently near $80 per hundredweight, which means they are facing losses of up to $200 per head.

and having them with you can help in documenting ownership when claiming lost horses.

"I think every horse owner will want a copy of this emergency action pamphlet for horses. Its simple step by step approach can help you come up with an efficient check list for protecting your horse. More and more people are taking seriously the need to plan for any eventuality. We hope this little brochure will help all horse owners," said Riley. For more information on horse safety during disasters or to obtain a copy of the brochure, send a self-addressed envelope to the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Office of Food Safety and Consumer Services, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401; telephone (410) 841-5782.

Dairy Farm Family Picnic

Recently the Garrett County Holstein Association decided it would be nice to get together as a group of farming families for a relaxing evening of food, fun and get to know each other a bit better. Therefore, the Association will be hosting a picnic at the Grantsville

Community Park on Saturday, July 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Each family should bring one covered food dish. The club has rented the lighted ball field for a softball game so bring your bat and glove. The Association members hope your family can find the time to join them at the picnic for a nice break from the busy summer work. Hopefully, by the end of the evening we will have the world's problems solved.

Plates, cups, and tableware will be provided.

Would You Be Arrested And Fined?

If a pesticide inspector from MDA walked on your farm today what would be the consequences? According to law, pesticides must be stored according to a set of minimum standards which includes:

* Pesticides will have to be physically separated from seed, feed and fertilizers.

* A warning sign must be posted on all pesticide storage buildings and areas.

* The storage area or building must be secured or locked to prevent unauthorized persons from gaining access.

* Storage areas must be dry and have some type of ventilation to prevent the buildup of fumes.

* The storage area must be kept clean and all pesticide containers must be stored free of leaks with the label attached.

* Minimum emergency equipment must be on hand in the storage area, such as a fire extinguisher and absorbent material to handle spills.

* Pesticides must be stored in an area located at least

50 feet from any water well, or stored within secondary containment.

If you don't meet all of the above regulations you are leaving the door open for trouble if an inspector would happen to drop in.

Crop Situation

In spite of all the adverse weather conditions, field crops are doing pretty good. The cool, wet spring turning into hot, dry weather has kept the insect population minimal on field corn. In fact, I have not seen any significant insect problem in corn. It's a different story on alfalfa.

The potato leafhopper is abundant. In general, I would say that most alfalfa fields have a damaging level of leafhoppers. If the plants have turned slightly yellow, you should harvest immediately, wait for some regrowth and spray. A lot of the grasses, such as timothy and orchard grass, went into semi-dormancy during the hot dry period.

If the grasses have set seed head, it would be advisable to harvest. Once the plant has reached maturity, the nutritional value becomes less and less with each passing day.

Celebrate Dairy Month JUNE 1994

Jennifer Brenneman

Jennifer Brenneman has gratuitously served as the Allegany/Garrett County Dairy Princess for two years. During her term, she has appeared in parades, at schools and handed out ribbons at the Garrett County Fair and the Garrett County Holstein Show. She has certainly done her part to make dairy products and the dairy industry better known to the consuming public.

Jennifer says that dairy shows were one of her favorite promotions. She says that she can hardly put into words how she feels at the end of her reign. "I am left almost speechless. I am so glad to have had this opportunity. The past two years have been a wonderful growing experience, and I'd like to thank everyone for helping make it that way."

She thanks everybody for the great times, and would like to leave us with a few encouraging words.

"To the dairy farmers, be proud of who you are and the quality products you produce. To the public, don't settle for less than 'Real' dairy products."

And to Heidi Hauser, the new Dairy Princess, she offers this encouragement. "I wish you all the best things this position has to offer and a really great year. Congratulations!"

Jennifer, for all you've done, the dairy industry certainly thanks you, too.

Heidi Hauser

The new 1994 Allegany/Garrett County Dairy Princess is Heidi Hauser, of Oakland. Heidi is the daughter of Tom and Alice Hauser. She has one brother, Bryan. She is a senior at Southern High School and plans to attend college upon graduation.

Heidi lives on a 99 acre dairy farm where they currently milk a herd of 45 cows. The new Dairy Princess also has a 7 year old Quarter Horse and enjoys trail riding and competition.

She shows veal and has shown sheep in the past. She currently is employed at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy and is an active member of the Oakland FFA Chapter. She is presently serving as vice president of her chapter and has attended two state FFA conventions as well as the National Convention in Kansas City, MO. She has competed in FFA horse judging, dairy judging, ag bowl, parliamentary procedure, extemporaneous speaking, crops and forestry.

Heidi is also a member of the Country Kids 4-H Club, where she also serves as vice president. She has completed many 4-H projects such as horse, public speaking, fashion revue, and dairy.

At home she enjoys working with her animals. Last year, her veal calf placed first among its weight class and this year, Heidi was awarded champion fitting and showing, receiving two trophies at the Western Maryland Spring Show.

The dairy cattle, as well as her horses, mean a great deal to her and she says she would never trade anything for having agriculture in her life.

As dairy princess she hopes to encourage youngsters as well as people her own age to stand up for what they believe, and try to get people to understand why the dairy industry is so important. "If it were not for this industry, then we would not be where we are in the world today," the new Dairy Princess says.

Welcome, Heidi!

Senator Sarbanes Announces Plans For Re-Election

Senator Paul Sarbanes officially began his campaign for re-election on Monday with an announcement statement made in Salisbury. The senator emphasized his role "to fight for the hard-working families of Maryland."

"I have worked hard to provide Marylanders with dedicated, independent representation; representation based upon intelligence and integrity, representation which gives people the confidence that elected officials are there to serve the public interest," Sarbanes said.

The senator, who is seeking his fourth six-year term, noted what he considers to be issues of importance, including the fight for economic growth and jobs, for lower interest rates for homeowners and small businesspersons, quality education, and the fight for the end of discrimination.

Youth, Seniors Get Chance To Hear Symphony

When the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra makes a visit to the Frostburg State University campus on July 1, many western Marylanders may be hearing symphony music for the first time.

Through a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission administered by the Maryland Office of Planning, numerous tickets for the free classical concert of the BSO have been reserved for area teenagers and senior citizens who may not normally have had a chance to participate in the cultural event in FSU's new Performing Arts Center.

Described as a "performmance plus" by Dr. Philip Allen, FSU's Dean of the School of Arts and Humanities, the world-class BSO presentation is viewed as an educational service to western Maryland audiences. Free tickets were given to groups such as YMCA, YWCA, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, and secondary music students from Allegany and Garrett counties.

According to Allen, the performance of the BSO will help "develop new audiences for great music."

Senior citizens have also been approached by both private and public agencies to attend the concert, courtesy of the ARC funds.

"These are both groups that don't easily have a chance to hear music of this caliber," Allen added.

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, which returns to western Maryland after a six-year absence, enters its ninth year under the leadership of Music Director David Zinman. The partnership with Zinman has brought the orchestra growing acclaim as one of America's premier orchestras, including winning a Grammy Award in 1990.

The FSU performance will feature Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 3 in A minor, opus 56, Scottish Symphony, Rossini's La Scala di Seta Overture, and Chopin's Piano Concerto No. 1 in E minor, opus 11 with featured soloist Henri-Paul Sissic, an international soloist and chamber musician, and artist-in-residence at FSU for the past two years.

Although there are no longer any free tickets available, at 6:15 p.m., 15 minutes before the performance, unclaimed seats will be filled.

For those who may not have been able to get tickets for the July 1 performance at FSU, Allen reminds music lovers of the August 4 BSO performance at Rocky Gap State Park.

"We are very fortunate to have them coming twice to Allegany County this summer," he added.

On Dean's List

Chatham College, Pittsburgh, released this week its dean's list for the 1994 spring term. Included on that list was Joy McCain, daughter of Asa and Marilyn McCain, Oakland, and a graduate of Southern High School.

A student must earn at least a 3.5 grade point average in order to be named to the dean's list at Chatham, an independent women's college that offers undergraduate, graduate, and certification programs to some 650 students.

ACADEMIC AWARDS GIVEN AT ACCIDENT ELEM. - Several academic awards were recently distributed to students at Accident Elementary for various achievements. Deer Park Civic Group Organizes

Residents of Deer Park gathered Monday evening for a community-oriented civic group meeting, to voice their hopes and concerns for the future of the town.

A spokesperson for the group noted many of the residents agreed to a need for a "grassroots organization to help beautify the town and bring back the community events that have been long forgotten."

The next meeting is set for Thursday, July 14, at 7 p.m., in the Deer Park Community Center, located on Main Street. An election of officers will be conducted during the meeting, and all residents are urged to attend.

For more information, persons may call Lonnie Rodeheaver at 334-8320.

Chicken Dinner Set In Swanton

The Swanton Community Center will serve a barbecued chicken dinner on Saturday, July 9, with serving to begin at 4 p.m. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children. All proceeds benefit the center and its programs.

Swimming Safety Is Emphasized By DNR Police

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) report five swimming fatalities occurred in Maryland during the past week, and urge citizens to exercise extreme caution in all water related activities.

"The swimming fatalities over the last week point out the importance of water safety rules," said acting NRP Superintendent Thomas R. Turner. "Tragically, some of the drownings this week occurred in situations where warning signs and other safety precautions were ignored."

For maximum enjoyment of recreational swimming and boating, the NRP recommends strict adherence to the following rules of water safety:

- *Know your abilities in and around the water. If you cannot swim, or are not a strong swimmer, do not enter the water without a personal flotation device.

- *Know the area where you intend to swim and heed warning signs. If the area is posted "no swimming," do not swim there.

- *Ascertain the depth and temperature of the water before diving. While air temperatures may be warm to hot, water temperatures are not as high. Entry of a hot body into cold water can cause a variety of problems including cramping, hypothermia and inner ear disturbances.

- *Wait 30 minutes after eating a meal before entering the water to swim.

- *Avoid alcohol consumption and or drug use.

- *Swim with a buddy or in a supervised area.

- *Never leave children unsupervised in or around the water.

Officials note the best advice is to swim in familiar waters, preferably with supervision. There are a number of county, city, and state parks which offer swimming in clear, supervised locations.

SWAN MEADOW, KITZMILLER PEN-PALS GET TOGETHER - After a year of exchanging letters pen-pal style, first and second graders from Kitzmiller Elementary and the Swan Meadow School gathered for a picnic recently to meet face to face. The students, under the direction of Kitzmiller teacher Kathy Helbig and Swan Meadow teacher Jeneane Tice, maintained the year-long "postal friendships" as part of their community unit of study. When they finally met one another at the picnic, Mrs. Helbig said there was a hint of apprehension at first, but they soon interacted with ease and had an enjoyable afternoon. The Swan Meadow students are pictured above center as they greet the Kitzmiller students (in the foreground) with their rendition of a German folk song. The picnic was sponsored by the classes and the students' parents.

and Kara are students at West Virginia University, Morgantown, and Travis is spending a week's vacation there with them.

Blake Harman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Harman, spent Monday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Forno, Addison, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Forno and Blake were guests of Mrs. Matthew Glatfely, Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Long and family were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. William Lear, Farmington, Pa., and were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Eva Long, Mtn. Lake Park. J.R. spent Sunday with Jim Thomas, Kingwood, W.Va.

A guest of Ralph Georg Sunday and Monday was John Georg, Annandale, Va.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman were Mr. and Mrs. Parley Deal, Ron Hockman, and Dean Hockman.

Thursday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs.

Walter Hanft were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer and family, Timonium. Ryan Needer, who spent almost two week's vacation with the Hanfts, accompanied them to Cincinnati, Ohio, on Friday for the AIWONN Conference for nurses from the U.S. and Canada. They were sightseeing at the Cincinnati Zoo, King's Island Amusement Park, had a luncheon cruise on the Becky Thatcher on the Ohio River and toured the Basilica of the Assumption at Covington, Ky. They were Tuesday overnight guests of the Hanfts, where Carroll Hanft, and daughters, Addison, Pa., were evening visitors.

Fiddle, Banjo Contests Slated In Friendsville

The 30th Annual Old-Time Fiddlers Contest and 6th Annual Banjo Contest will be held Saturday, July 16, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Town Park in Friendsville. The Fiddle Contest was first held in conjunction with the Friendsville Bicentennial in 1965 and has since become an annual event.

Sponsored by the Friendsville Rotary and Lions Clubs, the contests are open to all amateur fiddlers and banjo players in the area. Prize money and trophies will be awarded to the top three winners in three age divisions of the fiddle contest and one age division of the banjo contest. During intermission, the Fisher Family from Dawson, Pa., will perform. Family members include Carol Ann, who plays fiddle and sings, mother Judy, who plays piano and sings, father Cal, who plays guitar, and Uncle Harry, who plays 5-string banjo and sings. The Fisher Family has recorded two albums and performed at many fairs, festivals, and malls throughout a seven-state area.

Local bands and dancers will perform country, bluegrass, and gospel music from 3 to 6 p.m. on Saturday and refreshments will be available. Contest registration begins at 6 p.m. Spectators are requested to bring a lawn chair. In the event of rain, the contest will be held the following day (Sunday) at 2 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

For more information, persons may contact Judy A. Fisher, R.D. #1, Box 179, Dawson, PA 15428; telephone (412) 736-2297 (evenings), or contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948.

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival Announces '94 Season Offerings

The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival 1994 season is well underway, with two well-attended productions already past and 10 more to follow. This year marks the non-profit organization's most expansive season yet, having begun in mid-June and scheduled to continue through October. The offerings will be diverse, with "something for everyone," including shows especially for children, two military musical groups, two Neil Simon plays, a Shakespeare On Wheels production of Hamlet, and the return of the popular Dear Friends music group and the yearly classical music festival. Two of the remaining events will be free of charge.

"We are aiming to reach out to the local population more this year," said Fred Stemple, GLAF executive director. "We hope to see more and more familiar faces in our audiences this season."

Most of the performances will take place in the auditorium of Garrett Community College, Melleny. Others will be performed on the lawn of GCC, and one military group - United States Marine Band "The President's Own" - will present an admission-free October program at Southern High School. All performances will be accessible to persons with disabilities. Except where noted, tickets are $7.50 for adults and $2 for students aged 16 and under.

"We have been expanding our program each year, and are pleased to be able to offer such a varied season," Stemple said. "Everyone should be able to find something to enjoy this summer and fall."

The season opened on Sunday, June 12, with an outdoor performance of "Commodores," the United States Navy jazz ensemble. The group presented "big band" sounds in an admission-free performance to an audience numbering over 400.

The second presentation of GLAF was held on June 17 and 18 as the popular children's story Peter and the Wolf was performed by Applause Unlimited's Puppets Christopher Hudert and Terry Snyder.

The third event of the GLAF season was the yearly gala benefit on June 25, which attracted over 200 supporters of the arts, whose presence and participation in the annual auction will help defray the costs of the non-profit organization. The guests were treated to a "Totally Tropic" evening, featuring a delectable meal, brightly arrayed tables, and 70 tropical birds designed and created by local middle and high school students.

An ever-popular offering will take the stage July 6-9 as local actors undertake a Neil Simon play, Lost in Yonkers, the Pulitzer Prize winning work, is scheduled to be performed by Act IV Productions each night, beginning at 8 p.m. Local talent has traditionally attracted large audiences, and GLAF organizers expressed their hope to see packed houses for this year's comical yet poignant presentation.

Featured in the show are local actors Tyler Smith, Jesse Shimrock, Neil Leveranz, Robyn Ingram, Frances Acton, Rob Smith, and Sue Harkms. The play is set in an upstairs apartment over "Kurnitz's Kandy Store" in Yonkers, New York. The time is 1942, and the world is at war. Grandma Kurnitz (played by Frances Acton), a harsh tyrant bred from years of turbulence and trial, lives with her daughter Bella (Robin Ingram). Son Eddie (Neil Leveranz), recently bereaved and hopelessly in debt, must travel to find new markets for goods needed in the present world conflict. He must leave his two sons, aged 15 and 13 (Tyler Smith and Jesse Shimrock), with their grandmother, who doesn't particularly want them.

Another son, Louie (Rob Smith), a gangster, is also in the picture, as is daughter Gertrude (Sue Harkins), who has a nervous speech impediment. The play covers nearly a year in the lives of this family during the turmoil of war.

The show is under the direction of Jay Batham, assisted by Dan Ladden, who will also serve as technical director. Ben Sincell is the set designer, and Joan Sussman is the costume consultant. Ryan Anderson will serve as properties manager.

The melody Be Careful, It's My Heart will be used, with music and lyrics by Irving Berlin and used by special arrangement with the Rodgers & Hammerstein Theatre Library on behalf of the Irving Berlin Music Company, New York, New York. The Mini-Stars of Broadway will be next on the season schedule, as children aged 8 to 18 years from the Civic Light Opera of Pittsburgh will perform famous songs and dances from popular Broadway shows. The Mini-Stars, who have been described as "dynamic powerhouses of energy," are set to perform July 15 at 8 p.m. The group has performed in many theatres in and around Pittsburgh, and has presented programs at Walt Disney World's Epcot Center, Orlando.

The young performers will present their rendition of A Whole New World from Disney's Aladdin and selections from the movie Fame. Shakespeare on Wheels will roll into the county on July 22 and 23 for an outdoor performance of Hamlet. The lawn performance of the famous play will be admission-free, and audience members will be able to relax in the outdoors atmosphere.

JAMAICAN MUSIC ON THE SHORE AT DEEP CREEK LAKE - The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival welcomes Rasta Rafiki, a Morgantown, W.Va.-based rock/reggae quintet, on Sept. 3 at Deep Creek Lake State Park, for a 6 p.m. concert. Featuring traditional Jamaican music, this free concert will feature the band's upbeat mixture of island-style music and '60s rock. If you've ever found yourself yearning for a musical intermission while listening to a reggae band, or more variety in your island stew, look no further - this one's for you, mon. Members of Rasta Rafiki, shown left to right, are Steven Markle, John Schmitt, Thomas P. Batchelor, Derrick McDonald and Andy Lindsay.

The renowned percussion ensemble of West Virginia University will bring its steel band corps to the GCC stage on July 30. The show will offer the unique sounds and tones produced on molded steel drums as the accomplished group performs several well-known works. The show will begin at 8 p.m.

Because GLAF audiences have asked for more theatre, a third theatrical event will take place on August 3-6 as the Maryland Traveling Repertory Theatre will present Broadway Bound. The play, written by Neil Simon, is suitable for the whole family. Each performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the GCC auditorium.

A return of a favorite musical group will take place on August 13. Dear Friends, a resident ensemble of the University of Pittsburgh's Stephen Foster Memorial, will present music from America at the turn of the century with "Come to the Fair." The music will begin at 8 p.m. on the GCC stage.

The yearly classical music series of GLAF will this year take place over two weekends, scheduled for August 18 and 19, and August 25 and 26.

"These concerts will afford local audiences some of the finest music in the world," said Jim Harvey, GLAF president. "The unmatched expertise of these musicians is truly evident with every note. And no where can audiences be treated to such wonderful music for a ticket price of $7.50."

Erick Friedman, renowned violinist and music professor at Yale University, will again serve as musical director, with Garrett County native Kathryn Sincell serving as executive director. This season will feature the talents of Friedman and his duet partner, Jesse Levine, a world-celebrated violinist. The two will perform Mozart's Symphonic Concertante on Thursday, Aug. 25. Other composers' works to be interpreted will be those by Brahms, Chausson, Dvorak, and Beethoven.

An original composition by Neal Corwell, commissioned Maryland composer, will be presented on Friday, Aug. 19, and Bach's well-known Brandenburg Concerto #1 will be played on Friday, Aug. 26, with a full orchestra of New York City musicians.

Handel's Concerto Grosso will also be presented on August 26.

"This year may be our best ever," said Kathryn Sincell. "It's a very exciting program."

The next offering of GLAF will also be musical, as a Reggae musical group is scheduled to perform traditional Jamaican music. This admission-free concert will take place on the shore at Deep Creek Lake State Park on Sept. 3, beginning at 6 p.m. Concert-goers are again invited to pack a meal and enjoy the outdoor entertainment.

The season will end on an impressive note as the United

Summer Sensations 94
States Marine Corps's "The President's Own" band will perform an admission-free concert in the gymnasium of Southern High School. This engagement will be the band's first of a national tour, and promises to be a rousing, lively performance for the whole family. Although the concert is free, tickets will be required for the event, and instructions on obtaining them will be released in the near future.

"We were extremely fortunate to schedule this group," Stemple said. "They are fantastic."

THE WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY STEEL BAND will present a unique concert, July 30, on the lawn of Garrett Community College, beginning at 6 p.m., as part of The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival activities. Although only in existence since 1990, the band has performed for various professional conventions, regional functions, and in public schools throughout Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania. The steel band provides both its players and audiences with an excellent educational and aesthetic experience. So bring a picnic and enjoy this exceptional band as it plays traditional calypso music and special arrangements of jazz, popular, and classical music.

THE GARRETT LAKES ARTS FESTIVAL welcomes Dear Friends to its stage on Aug. 13 for "Coms to the Fair," beginning at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College. The concert commemorates some of America's famous fairs, including the 1892 Columbian Exposition, better known as the Chicago World Fair. In keeping with the musical sounds that filled the midway, concert halls, resorts, and saloons of turn-of-the-century expositions and fairs, Dear Friends will recreate their festive atmosphere with piano rags by Scott Joplin, rousing Sousa marches, and popular songs of the day, such as "Meet Me in St. Louis" and Victor Herbert favorites, including "I'm Falling in Love with Someone." Dear Friends is the only professional music ensemble nationwide devoted exclusively to the performance of 19th century American music, especially that of the home, stage, marketplace, ballroom, town square and public park. Performers who will appear in the Aug. 13 concert are Jean Thomas, director and flute; Kate Young, mezzo-soprano; James Faria, guitar; Guy Russo, tenor; and Robert Russo, piano.

PLENTY OF GOLFING OPPORTUNITIES exist in and around Garrett County, as 18-hole courses are located in Oakland, McHenry, Canaan Valley, and at Alpina Lake near Terra Alta. Among the tournaments is the annual Western Maryland Men's Amateur Championships, slated for Aug. 11-14 at the Oakland Golf Club course, and the American Trust Bank Charity Tournament, set for July 22.

American Trust Plans 6th Charity Golf Tournament

American Trust Bank is planning its sixth annual Charity Golf Tournament to be held at the Oakland Country Club on July 22. The recipient of funds raised will once again be the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library.

The bank has sponsored a charity tournament of this nature for the last five years and has succeeded in raising over $52,000 for a number of philanthropic organizations through the generosity of area contributors, a spokesperson said.

The library, which is located in Oakland and serves all of Garrett County, conducts a fund-raising campaign each year during July. Without these needed funds, the library may not be able to continue providing services it has offered in the past, the spokesperson said. Proceeds from the tournament and the entire campaign help support the public library's worthy projects, such as the Children's Book Fund and the Bookmobile service.

A spokesperson for the Ruth Enlow Library reported that the largest segment of library materials used are those produced for children and young adults, which results in a more frequent need for replacement. The Children's Book Fund allows the library to continually replace these ma-

Symphony At Deep Creek Returns; Two Virtuosos To Be Featured

The Symphony at Deep Creek will return this summer as part of the 1994 Garrett Lakes Arts Festival season. This year's classical music festival will feature well-known orchestral and chamber pieces presented by an ensemble of professional musicians from New York City. Four different concerts will be offered at the Garrett Community College auditorium on August 18, 19, 25, and 26.

Featured this season will be the renowned Jesse Levine, violist, who will perform with returning director and violinist Erick Friedman on August 25.

Also in the line-up this year will be the talents of Neal Corwell, euphonium virtuoso, who will be the featured soloist in a piece he was commissioned to compose for the festival.

Jesse Levine is in his 13th season as music director of the Norwalk Symphony Orchestra and in his third year as music director of the Orquesta del Principado de Asturias in Spain. He has formerly held the positions of music director and conductor of the Chappaqua Orchestra and the Feld Ballet.

Prior to these appointments, Mr. Levine was associate conductor of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra from 1973 until 1979, and assistant conductor of the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra in 1972. In addition to his conducting activities, the musician has held the position of principal violist of the Buffalo, Dallas, and Baltimore symphony orchestras. Since 1983, he has held the position of professor of viola and chamber music at the Yale School of Music.

Levine studied viola with William Kroll in New York City and conducting with Igor Markevitch in Monte Carlo. He has appeared in recital, chamber music, and as soloist with orchestras in Europe, South America, Israel, Australia, and throughout the United States and Mexico.

He has guest conducted the Puerto Rico Symphony, the Rochester and Brooklyn philharmonies, the Orchestra of the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., the Ives Center Orchestra, the Norfolk Music Festival Or-

KITTY WELLS, Johnny Wright, and Bobby Wright with the Tennessee Mountain Boys will appear in concert at the 38th Annual Garrett County Agricultural Fair. The three will present two shows on Tuesday, August 16, the first at 8 p.m. and the second at 9:30 p.m., on the fairground's 4-H stage. Ms. Wells was the first female country artist to have a "number one" record in trade publication charts. A string of hits followed her first top record, as did awards for her outstanding achievements. She was awarded a Grammy Lifetime Achievement Award in 1991, and in 1976 was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame. She received Billboard Magazine's Outstanding Achievement Award in 1964 and 1965, as well as that magazine's Ten Year Consistence Award in 1964 as the Top Country Female Artist. Ms. Wells has recorded 47 albums to date. Gate admission to the fair includes admission to all musical performances.

Indian Pow Wow Returns To Garrett County July 2, 3

The American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization (AIITCO) will host its 12th annual Pow Wow at the Garrett County Fairgrounds on Route 219 in McHenry, on July 2-3. This will be the 10th consecutive year this event has been held in Garrett County.

Traditional American Indian singing and dancing will be featured throughout the Pow Wow, and members of American Indian tribes from across the United States are expected to attend. Participants will include Master of Ceremonies Ezra Fields (Pawnee) from Oklahoma, Head Man Dancer Clint Cayou (Omaha); Head Lady Dancer Lisa Drum (Omaha); and the Cedar Tree Singers are Host Drum.

A wide variety of Native Americans will demonstrate Indian craftwork throughout the Pow Wow and Native American Indian food will be available. The outdoor dance arena will offer covered dancing in the event of rain.

Pow Wow hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $4 per day for adults and free for children 12 and under. Parking is free, with handicapped parking and seating available. Spectators are welcome to bring lawn chairs and cameras.

For general information, persons may contact Steve Rabbit, chairman, at (301) 869-9381 or AIITCO, Twinbrook Station, P.O. Box 775, Rockville, MD 20848-0775, or the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581, telephone (301) 334-1948.

pedagogy. He is currently an adjunct faculty member at both Frostburg State University and Shepherd College, where he provides instruction in brass performance and electronic music.

From 1981 until 1989, Mr. Corwell served as a featured euphonium soloist and clinician with Pershing's Own, the United States Army Band in Washington, D.C. He presently serves as one of the contributing editors of the T.U.B.A. Journal, and is active in both the U.S. and Japan as a guest soloist, clinician, and adjudicator.

Corwell is a published composer and arranger with his specialty being music for brass solo instruments with synthesizer accompaniment. His composition Odyssey, for euphonium and synthesizer, was premiered by Brian Bowman at the 1990 International TUBA Symposium in Sapporo, Japan, and in 1991, an adaptation of both Odyssey and Night Song, for an instrumental ensemble and a troupe of dancers, received rave reviews at the British Band Festival.

The composer's recent work for synthesizer and tuba, New England Reveries, is the title work for a compact disc by tuba soloist Mark Nelson, released by Crystal Records in 1992. Corwell's first solo euphonium/trombone CD, Distant Images, is scheduled for release by Nicolai Music this year.

Corwell's original piece for the Symphony at Deep Creek will be presented on Friday, August 19. Other composers' works to be interpreted during this year's series by the professional orchestra will include those of Brahms, Chausson, Bach, Dvorak, and Beethoven.

"This calibre of musical entertainment could be seen in the city for no less than 70 to 80 dollars per ticket," said GLAF President James Harvey. "These concerts are a steal at $7.50 for adults and $2 for students 16 and under. This is top-of-the-line orchestral music right here at home."

Each concert is scheduled to last approximately 70 minutes with intermission, and each night will offer a different selection of music.

Executive director of the annual music series is Garrett County native Kathryn Sincell, who now resides in Clear Spring.

The programs for each evening are as follows:

Program One

Thursday, Aug. 18, 8 p.m.

Piano Quartet No. 1 in C minor, Faure; Violin Sonata No. 3 in D minor, Brahms, featuring Erick Friedman, violin, String Octet in E flat Major, Mendelssohn.

Program Two

Friday, August 19, 8 p.m.

String Quartet, Brahms; Strings & Euphonium, commissioned work by Neal Corwell, Maryland composer/musician. Concerto for Piano, Violin, and String Quartet, Chausson.

Program Three

Thursday, Aug. 25, 8 p.m.

Serenade for Strings in E Major, Dvorak; Symphonie Concertante, Mozart, featuring Jesse Levine, viola, and Erick Friedman, violin; Piano Trio, Shostakovich.

Summer Sensations 94

Program Four

Friday, August 26, 8 p.m.

Music At Penn Alps Program For Summer Season Announced

CELTIC HARPIST Lynne Barnes will be among the performers during the summer season of Music at Penn Alps, Grantsville. See story for a complete schedule.

After its successful first season last summer, Music At Penn Alps will follow with a 1994 season filled with an eclectic mix of musical styles designed for a summer of enjoyment, according to Dr. Jon Bauman, coordinator.

The summer-long series will include performances of classical and lighter music every Saturday evening at 7 p.m. during the months of July and August. All performances will be held at the Great Hall of Penn Alps or in the Spruce Forest Artisan Village, both in Grantsville.

Pianist David Kreider will be the featured performer on July 2. A Peabody conservatory graduate, Kreider was awarded a Fullbright grant to study in Vienna and London and later earned a doctor of musical arts degree from the Catholic University of America. He made his Carnegie Hall debut in 1986 and is senior lecturer in piano at Western Maryland College.

Charles Grab, trumpet, will be featured on July 9. A native of Hagerstown, he is a graduate of Frostburg State University and Youngstown State University. He teaches brass at Shenandoah University, FSU, and Hagerstown Community College.

The popular local barber-shop quartet, Men of Accord, will perform on July 16.

Swiss baritone Sergio Belluz will perform on July 23, as a part of his American premier. A resident of Lausanne, he is noted for his performances in Bucharest, Athens, Vienna, and other European capitals.

Lynne Barnes, Celtic harper, will perform July 30. A graduate of Mansfield University, Pa., she has taught music in public schools and, while living in Columbia, often performed at such Washington, D.C., venues as the Willard and Omni Shoreham Hotels.

Interesting Places To Visit

BACKBONE MOUNTAIN -- At an elevation of 3,360 feet, this is the highest point in the State of Maryland, located in the southern portion of the country at the crest of the Alleghenies. The mountain is crossed by U.S. Route 50, and the highest point is noted by a historical marker on the northern side of Route 50 just east of Red House.

BEAR CREEK FISH REARING STATION -- The history of Garrett County is closely associated with its excellent trout fishing. Since the early 19th century, sportsmen have come to the area for trout. Many records of phenomenal catches still exist. At the Bear Creek Fish Rearing Station on the Bear Creek Road near Friendsville, visitors can see the future catches in all stages of growth, from fingerlings up to 14-inch prizes. The pools are located in a green glade with large trees.

BROADFORD RECREATION AREA -- A delightful park outside Oakland in Mtn. Lake Park off Pittsburgh Avenue, this area boasts a 138-acre lake with 700 feet of beach. There is a bath house, concession building, boat ramp for rowboats, and extensive picnic grounds. The emphasis is on bathing, picnicking and fishing.

Owned and operated by the town of Oakland, a nominal admission fee is charged and planned activities and events are held each week-end throughout the season.

THE COVE -- Traveling on Route 219, you can see a panoramic view of one of the finest farming districts in the area. At a 2,800-foot elevation on the highway, the cove appears to be a huge amphitheater, surrounded on all sides by mountain ranges. Farms are laid out in soil-conserving contour strips. During the spring, summer and fall, an artist's painting could not be more picturesque. If traveling south from Interstate 68 on Route 219, the Cove scenic overlook is located on the right just a few miles north of Accident. The view is highly recommended.

CRAFTS -- In recent years, there has been a resurgence in the popularity of original crafts and hand-crafted items. There are many places in Garrett County which serve as outlets to countless area craftsmen. All are open to the public and you are encouraged to visit and see examples of original handcrafted items. Demonstrations of various crafts are scheduled throughout the year at Penn Alps in Grantsville, where examples of weaving, woodworking, wood carving, clock making, casting and forging, as well as many other crafts are demonstrated. Local craft outlets are listed in the Directory of Services.

THE CRANESVILLE, SUB-ARCTIC SWAMP -- One of nature's natural phenomena, the swamp covers over 500 acres of land which sprawls across the boundaries of Maryland and West Virginia. Formed during the Ice Age, this remnant of boreal forest produces growth normally found only in arctic regions and offers geologists, biologists and nature buffs the opportunity to observe many rare species of flora and fauna. The swamp is a true bog and during the wet seasons, traveling to the interior is nearly impossible. Visitors may view the perimeter of the swamp from public roads. A boardwalk has been constructed for easy visitor access. To preserve the fragile ecology of the swamp, visitors are requested to remain on the boardwalk or designated paths and removal of plants and animals is prohibited.

To reach the swamp from Oakland, follow Liberty Street out of town past the Oakland Railroad Station; this becomes the Herrington Manor Road. Go approximately 6 miles and turn left on the Cranesville Road; go 4 miles and just past the Bell Ringer Originals In Wood, turn left on the Lake Ford Road at a sign marked "Cranesville Swamp Nature Preserve;" after traveling on this road approximately 2/10 mile, bear right at the fork onto another dirt road; in another 2/10 mile, turn right onto the dirt driveway and follow the driveway past the Preserve entrance sign and turn right into the parking area. To reach the boardwalk, walk past the entrance sign and follow the marked trail under the electric power lines. The swamp is now owned by The Nature Conservancy, 2 Wisconsin Circle, Chevy Chase, MD 20815.

DEEP CREEK LAKE -- Vacationers will find Deep Creek Lake the center of Garrett County's recreational attractions--the most ideal spot for a summer or winter vacation. The largest freshwater lake in Maryland, it is 12 miles in length with a shoreline of 65 miles covering nearly 3,900 acres.

Built in 1925 by the Youghiogheny Electric Company, the lake was purchased by the Pennsylvania Electric Company in 1942. In July of 1980, the lake and buffer strip were leased to the Maryland Department of Natural Resources to be managed as a public recreational resource. Entitled Deep Creek Lake NRMA, it is managed by the Maryland State Forest and Park Service--Public Lands.

A wide variety of activities abound, including boating, water skiing, fishing, swimming, hiking, picnic-ing, sailing, downhill and cross-country skiing and snowmobiling.

Guests will find a number of campgrounds in the area. Motels, bed and breakfasts, cottages and condominiums also dot the shoreline, providing excellent accommodations. Many provide dock facilities, sandy beaches and swimming areas. Deep Creek Lake and the surrounding area also boast some of the finest dining establishments in the State.

INFORMATION BOOTH -- The Information Booth is located on Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake south of the Deep Creek Lake Bridge. It is operated by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council during the summer months. Its purpose is to direct visitors to their chosen recreation area, motel, cottage, friend's home, restaurant, service station or store. The staff is asked anything from "How much water is in the lake?" to "Where are the fish biting today?" The staff will always be as helpful as they can. They are much the same. In spite of the fact that a maple must be 40 years old before it can be tapped, many groves still exist in Garrett County. One of the most beautiful is Breneman's Grove, located near Bittinger. Sugaring takes place in the late winter or early spring and authentic Garrett County maple products are available from several stores in the area.

MUDDY CREEK FALLS -- Muddy Creek Falls is in the Swallow Falls State Park within the Garrett State Forest. At 52 feet, it is the largest waterfall in the State of Maryland, and an area of scenic perfection. Framed by tall steep slopes covered with giant hemlock, it is an area of noble primitiveness.

The land beside the falls is the site of the 1918 camp of pioneer motor tourists, Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and Harvey Firestone. These three titans of American industry, who had the world to pick from, chose to come to this site when they wanted to enjoy themselves. The site of the camp has been marked. The trio returned in 1921.

Situated in a cool, towering forest, the area has complete facilities for camping and picnicking. This 52-foot cataract is highly recommended to the nature lover and camera buff.

PENNALPS -- Penn Alps is an organization dedicated to serving residents of the Allegheny Mountains, with Garrett County lying in the heart of the area served. It operates the largest handicraft marketing facility in this mountain region. In conjunction with a restaurant containing five dining rooms. The Alpine Room, which was added in 1969, is graced by a huge fireplace of stone dressed in 1818, exposed beams and bay windows green with plant life. An upstairs dining-conference room was restored in 1988 to its original 1818 log structure.

Situated on U.S. 40, just east of Grantsville, Penn Alps is conveniently located for tourists and has ample parking facilities. From June through October, handicraft demonstrations and classes dot the large Spruce Forest Artisan Village next door.

RUTH ENLOW LIBRARY OF GARRETT COUNTY -- This county library system includes the main library in Oakland, branches in Grantsville and Accident, and community libraries in Friendsville, Kitzmiller, and Finzel. Library users (including visitors) in any part of the county may borrow from the collection of 60,000 hard-bound and 4,000 paperback books, over 150 magazines and 2,000 phonograph records. TWX connections make it easy to borrow needed materials also from the libraries in Hagerstown, Baltimore and several universities. Books borrowed in Garrett County may be returned to any other public library in Maryland. Movies, video and audio cassettes, filmstrips, slides, jigsaw puzzles and framed prints are available for home use. Art exhibits, film programs, story hours and other activities provide year round cultural enrichment and entertainment. For more information call (301) 334-3996.

SAVAGE RIVER & RESERVOIR -- A most aptly named river. For the whitewater paddler, the Savage is narrow, mean and harrowing and almost completely whitewater for 5 1/2 miles. The road from the Savage River Dam to Bloomington parallels the river for most of the run.

One of Maryland's largest, the Savage River Dam is 1,050 feet long, rising 184 feet above the stream bed. Stream flow from the dam is controlled by a concrete-lined tunnel 10 feet in diameter and 170 feet long.

Camping In Maryland State Parks

Individual parks vary in times of operation, entrance fee, etc. It is recommended that you call the specific State Park for further information. Campers are not permitted to enter the camping area after 10 p.m. Pets are not allowed in State Parks with the exception of Big Run State Park's unimproved campsites and any campsite at Swallow Falls State Park. Swallow Falls and Herrington Manor now have "equipped sites" (tent, stove lantern, propane provided). Five sites each park.

Trailers

Camping trailers up to 29 feet in length are permitted. Hook-ups not available. House trailers are not permitted.

Improved Campgrounds

Each campsite allows sufficient room to park one car and a camping trailer, or to park one car and erect a tent up to 16'. (Sometimes off-site parking is necessary). A picnic table and grill are provided at each site, and drinking fountains and water spigots are located nearby. Camping areas contain centrally located wash houses, equipped with toilets, lavatories and showers with hot water available. Laundry tubs are available in some parks during the summer. Deep Creek and Swallow Falls State Park will accept specific site reservations up to one year in advance.

Unimproved Campgrounds

These sites also allow ample room for the parking of one car and a camping trailer, or the erection of a tent; however, in some areas off-site parking may be necessary. Tables and fireplaces are available and a source of water and a comfort station are within walking distance. Comfort stations are equipped with toilets only.

Cabins

Cabins may be reserved for one week intervals from Memorial Day through Labor Day and for two night minimum stays for all other months of the year.

While in the past a lottery was held for the use of state park cabins, now prospective cabin renters may directly call the park to make those reservations. Reservations will be taken on a first-come, first-serve basis from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding holidays. Reservations may be made one calendar year in advance of the desired date. Some cabins are handicapped accessible.

Reservations must be accompanied by a non-refundable deposit and may be confirmed with a Visa or MasterCard number.

When making reservations the person must provide names, addresses, number of people and telephone

Camping In Maryland State Forests

Maryland State Forests have primitive campsites only, without man-made improvements. Camping permits must be secured from the forest manager. Pets are permitted in Maryland State Forests and a $2.00 fee is charged.

Season: Open all year, unlimited camping hours, quiet time 11 p.m.

GARRETT STATE FOREST--Mountain forests, streams and valleys make up the 7,400 acres in Garrett State Forest. In 1906 the Garrett brothers of the B&O Railroad fame gave the State of Maryland 2,000 acres of forest land providing that a state forestry department be established to manage the area. The donated area was originally named Swallow Falls State Forest. The name was changed in 1976 to Garrett State Forest in honor of the donors. Within the Forest are the two oldest State Parks in Maryland. These are Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls State Parks.

Swallow Falls State Park contains three varied waterfalls: Muddy Creek Falls, Maryland's largest; Swallow Falls, certainly one of the state's most beautiful; and the tranquilly beguiling littler Tolliver Falls. For information, call (301) 334-2038.

POTOMAC STATE FOREST--This Forest contains 12,400 acres of trees, streams and wildlife. It is located along Backbone Mountain near the headwaters of the historic Potomac River. The terrain is rugged with elevations ranging from 1,800 feet along the Potomac to 2,960 feet on Backbone Mountain. This steep gradient gives rise to numerous fast falling brooks and streams which feed the river. Several of the larger streams are Schell, Laurel, Lostland Run and Crabtree Creek.

The possibilities for recreation in the Forest are for the most part of a primitive nature. It offers scenic vistas, camping, hunting, fishing and nature appreciation. Various activities are offered throughout the year. For information, call (301) 334-2038.

SAVAGE RIVER STATE FOREST--This is the largest of Maryland's State Forests and contains almost 53,000 acres of forestland, streams and wildlife habitat for your enjoyment. This Forest is located in Garrett County and forms part of the Appalachian Plateau. Within the Savage River Forest are two State Parks--New Germany and Big Run. These are developed recreational areas offering house-keeping cabins, picnicking, improved campsites and other facilities. Also within the Forest is the 525 acre Savage River Reservoir.

The Forest offers camping, hiking, sightseeing, fishing, hunting and winter sports. For information, call (301) 895-5453.

Historical Sites In Abundance Throughout Garrett County

B&O RAILROAD STATION IN OAKLAND -- One of the oldest stations in the country, this Queen Anne-style station was built in 1884 after the B&O had developed a resort clientele for Oakland and Garrett County. The ground the station stands on was used by the B&O Railroad as early as 1851.

The Oakland station is now in the National Registry. It is distinguished by its incised brick, picturesque massing and the mixing of building materials characteristic of this disappearing building style. It was built by the Baltimore firm of Baldwin and Pennington, which constructed a similar station in Laurel, Maryland in 1881.

It is located in Oakland, near the intersection of Second and Liberty streets.

BRADDOCK'S TRAIL -- Built by British General Edward Braddock's army in 1755, under the direction of the aide-de-camp George Washington, the trail really is an improvement of the old Indian route, Nemacolin's Trail. The General died along this route while retreating from near Fort Duquesne (Pittsburgh) to Fort Cumberland, after a crushing defeat by a small force of French and Indians.

Braddock's Trail became a major route west until it was abandoned in the 19th century with the construction of the National Road (Route 40).

The Trail is most readily identified at Little Meadows, one of Braddock's most important encampments and a site often used by George Washington. It is about four miles east of Grantsville on the north side of U.S. Route 40.

CASSELMAN HOTEL -- The Casselman Hotel commemorates the great days of the National Pike. Located on Main Street (old Route 40) in Grantsville, the hotel, still in operation, was first opened as a drover's inn in 1821. Many of the early features of the building have been preserved; to the modern traveler, the hotel offers all of the modern conveniences. The hotel has been in operation for over 165 years and is one of the outstanding landmarks within Garrett County's boundaries.

CASSELMAN RIVER BRIDGE -- At the time of its construction, this was the largest single-span stone arch bridge in the United States (80 feet). Built in 1813 of beautiful native Western Maryland stone, it served traffic on the nation's first Federal highway.

Once a part of the National Pike running between Cumberland, and Wheeling, W. Va., it provided an improved method of transportation for drovers, freighters, wagoners, horsemen, stagecoach passengers and pedestrians when the western frontier was the Alleghenies.

While watching its construction, people speculated that the bridge would collapse when the supporting timbers were removed. To avoid having the general public as an audience should the bridge collapse at the celebration planned for the removal of the supports, the contractor loosened them the night before the ceremony. The next day, he stood under the bridge during the ceremony to prove its worthiness. The graceful stone arch has stood for the past 180 years as one of Garrett County's most photogenic as well as historic sites.

The bridge was closed to traffic in 1953 and restored with funds made available by the State of Maryland. In 1964, the Department of Interior designated the bridge a Registered Historical Landmark.

A beautiful setting for a summer cookout or outdoor get together, there is a picnic area with fireplaces and other facilities alongside the bridge. The bridge is located on Route 40 east of Grantsville near Penn Alps.

CHURCH OF THE PRESIDENTS IN OAKLAND -- All three of the Presidents--Grant, Harrison and Cleveland--who preferred Garrett County to any other place for their vacations, attended services in this stone building at the corner of Second and Liberty Streets in Oakland. For some years it was not used, but it is now open to the public and occupied by St. Matthew's Episcopal Congregation, who restored the building to its present handsome condition.

Historical Sites In Abundance Throughout Garrett County

B&O RAILROAD STATION IN OAKLAND -- One of the oldest stations in the country, this Queen Anne-style station was built in 1884 after the B&O had developed a resort clientele for Oakland and Garrett County. The ground the station stands on was used by the B&O Railroad as early as 1851.

The Oakland station is now in the National Registry. It is distinguished by its incised brick, picturesque massing and the mixing of building materials characteristic of this disappearing building style. It was built by the Baltimore firm of Baldwin and Pennington, which constructed a similar station in Laurel, Maryland in 1884.

It is located in Oakland, near the intersection of Second and Liberty streets.

BRADDOCK'S TRAIL -- Built by British General Edward Braddock's army in 1755, under the direction of the aide-de-camp George Washington, the trail really is an improvement of the old Indian route, Nemacolin's Trail. The General died along this route while retreating from near Fort Duquesne (Pittsburgh) to Fort Cumberland, after a crushing defeat by a small force of French and Indians.

Braddock's Trail became a major route west until it was abandoned in the 19th century with the construction of the National Road (Route 40).

The Trail is most readily identified at Little Meadows, one of Braddock's most important encampments and a site often used by George Washington. It is about four miles east of Grantsville on the north side of U.S. Route 40.

CASSELMAN HOTEL -- The Casseelman Hotel commemorates the great days of the National Pike. Located on Main Street (old Route 40) in Grantsville, the hotel, still in operation, was first opened as a drover's inn in 1824. Many of the early features of the building have been preserved, to the modern traveler, the hotel offers all of the modern conveniences. The hotel has been in operation for over 165 years and is one of the outstanding landmarks within Garrett County's boundaries.

CASSELMAN RIVER BRIDGE -- At the time of its construction, this was the largest single-span stone arch bridge in the United States (80 feet). Built in 1813 of beautiful native Western Maryland stone, it served traffic on the nation's first Federal highway.

Once a part of the National Pike running between Cumberland, and Wheeling, W. Va., it provided an improved method of transportation for drovers, freighters, wagoners, horsemen, stagecoach passengers and pedestrians when the western frontier was the Alleghenies.

While watching its construction, people speculated that the bridge would collapse when the supporting timbers were removed. To avoid having the general public as an audience should the bridge collapse at the celebration planned for the removal of the supports, the contractor loosened them the night before the ceremony. The next day, he stood under the bridge during the ceremony to prove its worthiness. The graceful stone arch has stood for the past 180 years as one of Garrett County's most photogenic as well as historic sites.

The bridge was closed to traffic in 1953 and restored with funds made available by the State of Maryland. In 1964, the Department of Interior designated the bridge a Registered Historical Landmark.

A beautiful setting for a summer cookout or outdoor get together, there is a picnic area with fireplaces and other facilities alongside the bridge. The bridge is located on Route 40 east of Grantsville near Penn Alps.

CHURCH OF THE PRESIDENTS IN OAKLAND -- All three of the Presidents -- Grant, Harrison and Cleveland -- who preferred Garrett County to any other place for their vacations, attended services in this stone building at the corner of Second and Liberty Streets in Oakland. For some years it was not used, but it is now open to the public and occupied by St. Matthew's Episcopal Congregation, who restored the building to its present handsome condition.

Visitors Flock To County Over Holiday Weekend

The July 4th weekend was a busy one locally, as a large number of travelers flocked to Garrett County and Deep Creek Lake, according to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

The Route 219 Information Booth at Deep Creek Lake opened for the summer season on Friday, May 20. From Friday through Monday of the July 4th weekend, the staff greeted 1,244 travelers who stopped at the booth seeking information about accommodations, restaurants, recreation, and historical sites in Garrett County. This number of visitors represents a 34% increase over the number visiting the booth for the same weekend in 1993. Visitors over the weekend were from 15 states, Washington, D.C. and two foreign countries.

This booth is open seven days a week from mid-May through the Autumn Glory Festival weekend and is staffed by William Sipple and Edgar Bender, both of Grantsville. This booth is managed by the Promotion Council.

Shimer Notes Poor Quality Of Fireworks

Chief Deputy Robert H. Shimer, Office of the State Fire Marshal, who was on site of the fireworks display held Monday at Broadford Lake reported the quality of the fireworks used in the display were the poorest he has seen in several years.

During the display several misfires were encountered, in addition to several aerial shots which did not produce any burst after firing.

One four-inch shell burst at ground level and caused a delay in additional shots being fired until the shooters were able to focus their eyes, Shimer said. Several shells were found to contain both short and instantaneous fuses which created potential problems for the shooters.

Milton Proudfoot, the fireworks operator, and his assistants were all briefed prior to the display by Shimer who had received a report on Sunday of problems encountered with the same fireworks manufacturer during a display in Washington County. As a result of the

Three Additional Cases Of Rabies Noted By GCHD

In three separate Garrett County incidents during the week of June 27, three raccoons were submitted and confirmed positive for rabies by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Laboratories, according to a release from the Garrett County Health Department.

The first incident, which occurred on King Wildesen Road, involved a raccoon that may have been in contact with numerous pets. As a result, one dog and four cats were euthanized because of expired or no current rabies vaccinations. One cat which was currently vaccinated will be observed for 90 days.

The second incident involved a raccoon which was found dead in a barn along Sanders Lane. An unvaccinated dog, which was confined to the barn and may have been in contact with or killed the raccoon, was euthanized as a result.

COUNTY TO BE FEATURED IN MPT PROGRAM - Outdoors Maryland, a program broadcast on Maryland Public Television and created by McHenry resident Glenn Tolbert, will feature several segments about Garrett County in the July 9 episode. Pictured above is Mike Dean as he assists in the clean-up of the North Branch of the Potomac River in Garrett County - a story to be featured. Also airing will be segments about ginseng and whitewater rafting in Garrett County. Outdoors Maryland is produced by Michael Engle, and is underwritten by the Potomac Electric Power Company. The program can be seen on Channel 38, or Channel 6 in the Oakland area. Photograph by Noonan, Maryland Public Television.

"HELLO AGAIN AND WELCOME BACK!" Old friends were reunited this week as 44 "Fresh Air" children were delivered by bus to Grantsville, where they met up with the families with whom they will stay for the next two weeks. Children from New York City have been coming to Garrett County through the Fresh Air program for over 45 years, according to Alice Orendorf, local chairperson and coordinator. Out of the 44 youngsters arriving Tuesday, 31 have been to this area before. At left is returnee Keith Lewis, who appears to be fully equipped for his vacation in the country. Shown above, left to right, are Doris, Doreene, and Carol Orendorf as they greet Tashini Williams and Kim Jenkins. Mrs. Orendorf noted her appreciation to the host families, who take one or two children into their homes for a busy two weeks. "It's not always easy," she said, but added quickly that the experience for the children and families is wonderful for the most part. She explained that she and a committee of volunteers go into prospective host homes and interview the families. They also complete a reference check on those families who wish to host a child. "We make sure the home is suitable," Mrs. Orendorf said. She noted her appreciation for the efforts of other volunteers as well, namely Eleanor Yoder, chairperson for Meyersdale, Pa.; Fanny Bender, Don Matthews, and Sara Yoder. Photos by Craig Phillips.

Blaze Destroys Mobile Home In Grantsville Area

Lighting was believed to be the cause of a blaze that destroyed a mobile home near Grantsville early Sunday evening.

Grantsville and Bittering volunteer fire fighters were summoned to the residence of Candice B. Bittering along Durst Road at 5:49 and found the 1993 14-by-67 foot mobile home fully involved in flames upon their arrival.

No one was home at the time of the fire, which was discovered by a passer-by.

The structure was completely gutted and losses were estimated to be $30,000.

Also responding to the scene was the Northern Rescue Squad and placed on standby were the Accident and Salisbury fire departments. There were no injuries reported.

Three-Day Summerfest, Quilt Show Planned In Grantsville

The 17th annual Summerfest and Quilt Show will be July 14, 15 and 16 in the Spruce Forest Artisan Village, located on Rt. 40, one-half mile east of Grantsville. Adjacent to the village is the Penn Alps Restaurant and Craft Shop. The Quilt Show is held in Grantsville Elementary School.

Summerfest is a three-day Appalachian festival that is funded in part by the Garrett County and Maryland State Arts Councils. It features more than 70 talented artisans plying their crafts under towering spruce trees that shade the wood chipped and paved pathways strolled over by visitors. These artisans include potters, wood-carvers, glass blowers, spinners, weavers, a bird carver, stained glass worker, tole painters, musicians, and story-tellers.

New this year are Karen Harley, a Native American artist, and Marie Yoder who will tell the stories of Amish settlements. In addition are artisans who make dried apple dolls, wooden baskets, scherennschnitte (using scissors to create paper designs), dried plants and herbs, nature prints, and theorem painting.

Cumberland Ballet Ensemble To Perform July 15 At Spruce Village

The internationally acclaimed Cumberland Ballet Ensemble's original production, Appalachian Patchwork, is coming to Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville for Summerfest on Friday, July 15, at 7 p.m.

This performance will include the U.S. premiere of a new movement called Schoolhouse--The Mirror's Reflection. Faye Atkinson Snow, artistic director of the group, said the new movement "brought down the house" during their recent successful Australian tour.

In a review of Appalachian Patchwork, Peter Goers wrote a glowing review of the ballet in the February 24th edition of Adelade Advertiser. Among his comments were, "The Cumberland Classical Ballet Ensemble from Maryland is a large company of mainly young, promising dancers...There's lots of color and movement and immaculate costumes. The ballet is fresh, effective, charming, fetching, and just plain peachy keen. The Snow job is well worth the trip to Angle Park."

Created by Ms. Snow, Appalachian Patchwork made its international debut at the Edinburgh Interna-

Harley, a Native American artist, and Marie Yoder who will tell the stories of Amish settlements. In addition are artisans who make dried apple dolls, wooden baskets, scherennschnitte (using scissors to create paper designs), dried plants and herbs, nature prints, and theorem painting.

Guy Mallow, a Frostburg resident, will autograph his book, King of the River, an autobiography about his days as a youth in Appalachia.

Mini-Stars Of Broadway To Hit GLAF Stage

Young performers aged 6-18 will be arriving in Garrett County on July 15 as the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival presents the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera's Mini-Stars of Broadway. The show will begin at 8 p.m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium.

The Mini-Stars perform a full-scale song and dance musical revue, featuring songs from musical theatre, top 40 tunes, and old standards.

"It's a fast-paced, breathtaking show performed by a young and talented cast," said a spokesperson. Described as "dynamic power-houses of energy," the Mini-Stars present a lively program for the entire family.

Tickets for the show are $7.50 for adults and $2 for students 16 and under. They may be purchased at Deep Creek Pharmacy, Gregg's Pharmacy, Englander's Pharmacy, or Beachy's Pharmacy. For more information, persons may contact the GLAF box office at 387-3082.

Plans Finalized For Friendsville Fiddlers Contest

The 30th Annual Old Time Fiddlers Contest and the 6th Annual Banjo Contest will be held Saturday, July 16, from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. at the Friendsville Park in Friendsville.

The fiddle contest was first held in conjunction with the Bicentennial of Friendsville in 1965 and was made into an annual event. Sponsored by the Rotary Club and Lions Club of Friendsville, the contests are open to all amateur fiddlers and banjo players in the area. Prize money and trophies will be awarded to the top three winners in three age divisions of the fiddle contest and one age division of the banjo contest. In the event of rain the event will be held the following day (Sunday) at 2 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under the age of 12.

During intermission the Fisher Family from Dawson, Pa., will perform. Family members include Carol Ann, who plays the fiddle and sings, mother Judy, who plays the piano and sings, father Cal, who plays the guitar, and uncle Harry, who plays the five-string banjo and sings. The Fisher Family has recorded two record albums and has per-

Bausch & Lomb Plans Reduction In Labor Force

The management of the local Bausch & Lomb facility announced this week that it is working to correct an "inventory imbalance" across several divisions worldwide, a situation that impacts the local plant in the sense that it currently has more production capacity than current demand requires.

According to Dave Spirk, spokesman for B&L management, employees have been offered a program of voluntary retirement and other forms of permanent separation from employment. Employees who choose this option will be granted severance pay based upon length of service with the company.

Employees have also been offered the option of taking temporary leaves of absence as a means of achieving additional reductions in production capacity.

"It has always been our position to do all we can to avoid involuntary layoffs," Spirk said. "These voluntary programs have been offered to employees to do just that."

Employees have been given two weeks to apply for the program if they are interested in volunteering. Spirk said, adding that since production plans have not yet been finalized, no number of employees who could potentially be impacted can be confirmed right now.

There are approximately 750 employees at the local plant.

Filing Deadline Arrives; Many Seek Co. Commissioner Seats

County Election Registrar Carol Paugh has reported that Garrett County voters will decide between a total of 19 candidates for county commissioner at this September's primary election.

Other contested offices include county sheriff, state House of Delegates, state's attorney, and three county school board seats. Deadline for filing for office was July 5.

All incumbents running unopposed this fall are Republicans. They are Judge of the Circuit Court, Fred A. Thayer; Clerk of the Circuit Court, David K. Martin; Treasurer, Patty L. Glover; Register of Wills, Joseph F. DiSimone; and Orphans' Court Judges Clifford C. DeWitt, Wilmer W. Margraff, and Joseph A. Peck.

Candidates for county commissioner are:

District 1
Democrats - David C. Beard and Richard W. Paugh; Republicans - Joseph F. Howe, Joseph E. Peck, Mark Proulx, and H. Wayne Wilt. Current commissioner, Republican Elwood Groves, is not seeking re-election.

District 2
Democrats - Gary E. Fratz and incumbent John G. Braskey; Republicans -

Marriage License Fee Raised To Create Shelter

Through an action of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, the fee for a marriage license in the county was increased by $5, raising the total fee from $25 to $30, effective July 1. The additional $5 has been earmarked to fund the establishment of a county shelter for victims of domestic violence.

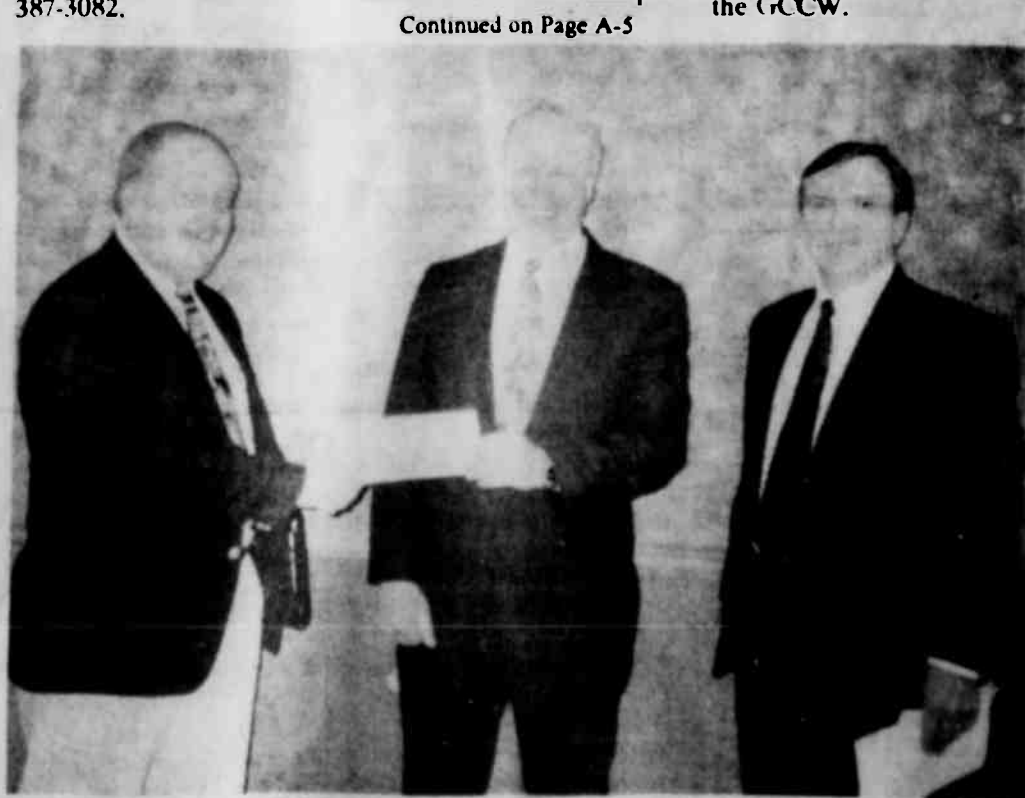

Board Chairman Brenda Butscher commented that currently the nearest domestic violence shelter is in Allegheny County. Many people support the idea of a shelter for Garrett County, she stated.

According to Dave Martin, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court, each county in the state maintains a license fee of at least $10. Counties can add up to $25 to this minimum fee to fund efforts to counteract domestic violence, he explained.

The license fee was increased from $10 to $25 approximately one year ago. The additional $15 is funneled to the county's domestic violence-sexual assault resource center. Frances Callis, resource center director, stated that this money helps to pay for basic expenses at the center, such as utility bills. Federal and state funding, she explained, provides funds for center staff members' salaries. Callis stated that the center provides education, referral, counseling, and related services to area residents.

Garrett County Commission for Women Chair Phyllis Trickett, who also serves as chair for the state Commission for Women, stated that Garrett County is in need of a shelter for victims of domestic violence. The commission for women works through social and political avenues to promote issues affecting women and families. Founded last year, the GCCW lists as its first purpose the establishment of a domestic violence shelter. Trickett is one of 12 volunteer members of the GCCW.

BAUSCH & LOMB RECENTLY COMPLETED A $25,000 PLEDGE to the Garrett Community College Foundation's Endowment Campaign. The donation will be matched dollar for dollar through the Private Donor Incentive Program of the Maryland Higher Education Commission, according to Dr. Steve Herman, GCC president. Pledges for the GCC Foundation's Endowment Campaign with matching funds through the incentive program were accepted between the fall of 1989 and June 30, 1992, with pledges to be paid through June 30, 1996. A total of $250,000 was pledged by area businesses and residents in private donations during that time period, according to Herman. That amount of money will be matched through the incentive program, with investment income generated from the Endowment Campaign to be used to support the students and programs offered at GCC. The final $5,000 of the B&L pledge contribution was presented to Herman earlier by Alan Mott, acting plant manager, pictured right, and David Smith, director of human resources at the local plant. Dr. Herman and Ann Smith, president of the GCC Foundation, expressed their appreciation and gratitude to the B&L employees for their continued and dedicated support of the college and its students.

Centennial Celebration Slated At Paradise UMC

The Paradise United Methodist Church will celebrate its 100th anniversary on July 31.

The original building still stands on Sand Flat Road, about 50 feet from where it was first constructed. When the church was moved in 1950, a basement and vestibule were added, as well as siding and a new roof.

The inside of the church was also refurbished, and during the past year a meeting room was added, which includes a small kitchen and, for the first time in the history of the church, an inside bathroom and running water.

Two years ago, the congregation decided to design and make new sanctuary lights of stained glass panels, depicting events from the Bible and the church. The lights will be hung in time for the celebration, according to the Rev. R. Samuel Wachter, the church's current pastor.

Two members of the church are direct descendants of charter members. Miss Kathryn Speicher, whose grandparents, William H. and Missouri Belle Speicher, donated the land on which the church stands, has followed in her grandfather's footsteps as teacher, officer and leader of the congregation. She has been a member of the church since childhood and has contributed much to the life and history of Paradise Church.

Miss Opal Marie Paugh, whose grandfather, William Rodeheaver, was one of the first trustees, was honored several years ago for her 50 years of teaching Sunday School. She is still an active member of Paradise Church, and "has influenced the lives of many with her teaching and witness," the Rev. Wachter added.

The Rev. Wagner was the first of more than 30 pastors at Paradise, which has been through two mergers. Originally the United Brethren in Christ, it became the Evangelical United Brethren, and later through a second merger, the United Methodist Church. During the height of its ministry, the congregation numbered more than 70 members.

The church authorities designated Paradise a Mission Church in 1986, when the membership declined. The Rev. Wachter was appointed as pastor at that time, and the congregation has since gained 37 members.

Paradise is no longer a Mission Church, but is one of three churches of the Deep Creek Lake United Methodist Charge which also includes Haves and McHenry United Methodist churches.

The centennial committee is currently asking long-time and former members to lend old church pictures, and share memories of events which happened over the past 100 years, to be used on the celebration Sunday, July 31. Persons with information or pictures to share are asked to contact Kathryn Speicher at 387-6820, or Carol Moss, 387-5166.

School Board To Meet Tues.; Agenda Noted

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, July 12, with the public session beginning at 4:30 p.m. Topics to be discussed will include the fiscal year 1995 budget and several policy revisions, among other items.

The awarding of house bids will take place at approximately 6:10 p.m., followed by the awarding of vehicle fleet insurance and revisions to the school facilities master plan.

Board concerns are scheduled to be heard at 6:45 p.m., including information on the Maryland Association of Board of Education Conference, and the primary and general election days.

Public comment is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Carl W. Garlitz, McHenry, has announced his candidacy for Garrett County Commissioner. Garlitz is a Democrat and is seeking the District 3 seat currently held by Brenda Butcher.

"I believe that every resident of Garrett County has the right to expect more of their commissioners," Garlitz said. "We don't want 'rubber stamp' commissioners. We don't need commissioners getting their pictures taken at every ribbon-cutting ceremony. We need commissioners who are willing to look out for and fight and protect the rights of Garrett County's residents and taxpayers, and who are open to the public in all their dealings."

The candidate was born in Avilton in 1946. He attended Grantsville Elementary School, Route 40 Middle School and is a graduate of Valley High School. He is a Vietnam veteran and was honorably discharged from the U.S. Navy. He has worked in the retail furniture industry since 1969.

Garlitz is married to the former Lynda E. Barich. They have three sons, Carl, William, and Scott, and have custody of another child, Gregory Krebs.

Garlitz's wife, Lynda, will serve as his campaign treasurer.

Roller Blades Needed For Camp At GCC Campus

A request for donations of roller blades in youth sizes 12-3 and an announcement of the staff for the Movement, Arts, and Fitness Camp at Garrett Community College July 18-22 were recently made by camp director Ann Wellham.

Individuals who are able to donate skates should call Ms. Wellham at 387-3052, or drop them off at the college business office.

Ms. Wellham released the names of staff members and instructors for the camp. They are: George McDowell, music; Mike Logsdon, orienteering; Gunnar Shogren, mountain biking; Susan Harkins, theatre; Theresa Yoder, roller blading; Margaret Quinn, rhythm; Lexi Frye, movement arts; Lois Dolan, arts and crafts; Mike Stone-sifer, karate; Greg Carrico, juggling; Demetrius Toler, project wild; Maggie Hockman, drawing; and Brenda Brosnihan, movement arts.

MOVEMENT, ARTS, FITNESS CAMP SCHEDULED - Opening remain for boys and girls ages 5-16 in the Movement, Arts, and Fitness Camp at Garrett Community College, scheduled for July 18-22. The pre-registration deadline is July 14, with a fee of $50 per camper, with discounts available for families with two or more participants. Pictured above center is George McDowell as he teaches a music class to last year's campers. He will teach again this year, according to Ann Wellham, camp director. See story for other instructors. For more information, persons may contact the college at 387-3000.

Boys and girls ages 5-16 may participate in the camp, which will begin promptly at 9 a.m. and conclude at 1 p.m. each day. Campers should bring their own lunches.

The fee for each camper is $50, with discounts available to families with two or more participants. Enrollment is limited to the first 100 applicants. A deadline of July 14 has been set for pre-registration. Additional registration will be taken on Monday, July 18, at 8:30 a.m., if space is available.

West Va. Woman To Serve Three Years In Jail

A Terra Alta, W.Va., woman will spend three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections for a resisting arrest conviction. Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer handed down the sentence to Nancy J. DeLauder, 30, in proceedings that took place on June 16, according to the court records.

DeLauder was arrested in October 1993 by Garrett

County Sheriff's Deputy J. Green after he observed her vehicle exceeding the speed limit and crossing the center line of Rt. 219 North. According to the officer's report, he conducted sobriety tests to DeLauder, which she failed. When he attempted to place her under arrest, she reportedly fought with him and resisted being handcuffed.

Green said DeLauder kicked the windows of the police cruiser, cursed at him, and kicked him in the chest and legs repeatedly.

In a March jury trial,

DeLauder was found guilty of the resisting arrest charge, but the jury declared her not guilty of the remaining charges, which were DWI (driving while intoxicated), assault and battery, and driving with a revoked driver's license.

Thayer had ordered a pre-sentence investigation at the time of the conviction. The defendant began serving the three-year term on June 16.

(Note: This case was not included in the court calendar for the week it occurred, and thus the sentencing was inadvertently omitted in the following week's issue of The Republican.)

Mtn. Lake Park To Get Full-Time Police Officer

A $40,000 grant from the Governor's Drug and Alcohol Abuse Commission will enable the Garrett County Sheriff's Office to hire a new full time police officer to serve Mtn. Lake Park. The Garrett County Board of Commissioners voted Tuesday to accept the grant which is intended to fund crime prevention. Now it is up to Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans to locate 25% in matching monies.

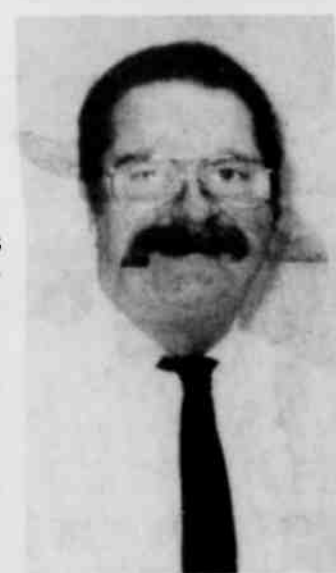

Evans explained that Mtn. Lake Park, though it is the county's most populous city, does not have a municipal police force. To fill this void, the City of Mtn. Lake Park is currently paying for overtime hours for a sheriff's officer to patrol the community, Evans stated. With this in mind, Evans plans to ask the City of Mtn. Lake Park to supply the additional 25% in matching funds which will bring the total grant amount to $53,000.

According to Evans, money from the grant will fund the new officer's salary, equipment, patrol car, and uniform. If a civilian is hired to fill the new position, Evans explained, the grant will also pay for his or her training at the state police academy.

Placing a full time officer in Mtn. Lake Park will also help Evans to apply principles of community policing, which, he stated is a current trend in law enforcement across the nation. According to Evans, the concept of community policing stresses that an officer be viewed as a member of the community he or she serves. When a police officer is assigned to regularly patrol the same area, Evans explained, local residents and business people can get to know the officer. This contact with the public also helps the officer to understand the community's needs.

Howe Announces Candidacy For GC Commissioner

Joe Howe, who has served as Garrett County revenue officer since 1987, has filed as a Republican candidate for the office of county commissioner, District 1. Howe graduated from Dundalk Community College and served with the United States Marine Corps in Vietnam. From 1978-1980 he worked with the Garrett County Sanitary Commission. After working as a railroad engineer for several years, Howe returned to Garrett County government as revenue officer.

Howe is a past president and current executive committee member of the Maryland Association of Alcoholic Beverage License Administrators. He is also a member of St. Ann's Catholic Church in Grantsville, the American Legion, and the National Rifle Association.

"Having worked in local county government for a decade," Howe stated, "I recognize the challenges that Garrett County will be faced with in the future, such as state mandates that may place a burden on our citizens and businesses. There will be a great need for leadership that can deal with federal and state government mandates as to avoid hardships on our citizens. With visionary leadership, Garrett County can preserve its recreation and tourist industry from overuse and over-development for future generations to benefit and still sustain controlled growth."

Howe lives with his wife, Alice, and their two sons, Nicholas and Timothy, in Savage River State Forest. Treasurer for Howe's campaign is Dennis Otto Merrill.

Sheriff's Office Arrests Noted

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged various arrests this week, including two for DWI (driving while intoxicated), one for telephone harassment, and one for trespassing on private property. Bench warrants were also issued and served.

Edwin E. Heffelfinger Jr., 45, Greensburg, Pa., was arrested on July 4 and charged with DWI, according to the report. He was stopped on Doerr Road at approximately 7:30 p.m.

John M. Link, 19, Oakland, was charged with DWI on July 2. He was stopped on Rt. 135, and a juvenile in his vehicle was served a civil citation for underage consumption of an alcoholic beverage. This arrest took place at 12:38 a.m., the report indicated.

Paul K. Burns, 23, Oakland, was charged with telephone harassment on June 28. He is accused of repeatedly harassing Carmella Kish, Swanton.

Alan Mayles, 41, Swanton, was charged with trespassing on private property after he allegedly refused to leave a Swanton residence owned by Floyd Mayle. He apparently was asked to leave but did not, and was subsequently arrested.

An arrest warrant was issued for Ronald W. Cogley, 33, currently an inmate in the local jail. He is accused of violation of probation.

Karen R. Hanlin, 24, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant charging her with nine counts of failing to appear in court. She was scheduled to face nine bad check counts, according to

The accounts of Mal-low's youth in West Virginia relate stories of the family settling on a farm, fishing in streams, his first encounter with a plug of "tobacco," hunting in the hollows, and historical aspects of rural life, moving to the Cumberland area to work at the Celanese Plant, and teaching his son and grandsons to fish in the South Branch. Autographed copies of the book will be available for purchase during the Summerfest.

Informed Choices...

The deadline for filing for a variety of local and state offices arrived Tuesday, setting the slate of candidates for September's primaries. A number of citizens have thrown their hats into the ring and will over the next few months attempt to convince each of us as to why he or she is the best person for the job, whether it be county commissioner, board of education member, sheriff, or one of several other elected offices.

It is now the job of the rest of us registered voters to pay close attention to each of the candidates and weigh what each has to say so we can make informed selections when we enter the voting booth. Unfortunately, too many persons do not go through this process and then either don't vote at all, or make their choices based upon hearsay, half-truths, and without all of the necessary information.

Voters must also be wary of campaign promises, as candidates get on their soap boxes and tell how they are going to change things for the better, when reality dictates that such changes in some cases may be impossible, or even illegal.

Voters should also view with great caution those candidates who seek office because they have a particular axe to grind, and build their entire campaign around a single issue. History shows that this type of candidate is often among the least desirable and least effective after being elected. Too many voters make their decisions based upon emotion rather than on intellect and sound reasoning, only to find that the overall capabilities and viewpoints of the person they supported are severely limited.

Elections should also not be popularity contests, in which one casts a ballot for the candidate who is the most likable, most courteous, or most physically attractive. Such attributes contribute little to effectiveness in office.

There are a lot of candidates for several offices, so we all have our work cut out for us. Let's plan now to make intelligent, informed choices in September and then again in November.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

What is wrong with the Sheriff of Garrett County? Taking a deputy, Corporal Randy Sines, off the road and placing him in the control room as a dispatcher for the majority of July or perhaps longer.

The citizens of Garrett County should be concerned by this action. It eliminates a deputy from patrol and the use of a $6,000 K-9 dog—in essence, the loss of two personnel.

Is this the beginning of a dirty campaign? What can be gained by this action? Sheriff Evans has asked for more deputies, but how can he justify this request in light of this action?

Perhaps this action is selfish. Corporal Randy Sines is his chief opponent in the race for sheriff. Is this action an effort to keep Corporal Sines from having an effective campaign? Is this an attempt to keep Sines from attending political functions, as well? Is Sheriff Evans' action really necessary?

Again, this means fewer patrols and putting Garrett County citizens in harm's way. Is Sheriff Evans thinking of the citizens or his political needs? One can only wonder what Sheriff Evans will do next.

To the Editor:

I have some concerns about what is going on at the Garrett County dump site on Meadow Mountain, along with a few general comments and questions.

1. Why was the contaminated blacktop removed from that site and hauled by county equipment to a Garrett County employee's private property to be used as fill for his own private road, and contaminating a different site, across the Eastern Continental Divide?

2. Why did the county have to purchase more fill to complete the construction site and not use that contaminated blacktop on site for that fill needed for elevation? That was already contaminated site and contaminated material.

3. Why is county equipment being used to haul this material approximately 10 miles to benefit an employee?

4. Why are county employees being used to benefit another employee? Could all this be happening because the county commissioners are only required to work one day a week and a salary of $28,000? Could this be happening because the county commissioners are owed a county vehicle and they do not check what is going on in this county? Could this be happening because the county commissioners have other jobs? Could this be happening because they are out of touch with the real voters and taxpayers?

I will be contacting the Department of Water Resources and Department of Environmental Resources about the permitting of this material removal from this site and others concerns.

This abuse has to be stopped!

When two commissioners can sign a letter to stop the state from developing a rifle range because of one of their friends then they should show as much interest in this serious concern that affects us all.

When commissioners can stop a 10-year plan that the state has, then they can also stop the 800 acres of Potomac Garrett State forest from being traded off for 200 acres in Allegany County for mining.

Why don't the commissioners do their job and work like the rest of us 40 hours a week?

To the Editor:

I read your last week's editorial on "Trying Times At GCMI" with great interest. Having long ago been a part of the supervisory administrative hospital personnel in Pittsburgh for 20 years, I very well understand what is happening and why.

For the benefit of all the people's health care it should have happened long ago. So many people in our country have been placed out of the health care market by the outrageous medical costs.

As the various positions have been added to the

GETTING A SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER AT BIRTH IS NOW COMMON PRACTICE

by Thomas W. Armbruster

Social Security Manager in Cumberland
Last year almost three million Social Security cards were issued to new-born babies through an "Innumeration at Birth" process at hospitals where the children were born. These three million cards represented about half of all new Social Security cards issued last year.

Through special agreements between the Social Security Administration and states, parents may voluntarily choose to have the birth registration form they complete at their local hospital serve as an application for their newborn baby. The state vital statistics office shares the birth information with us, eliminating the need for parents to mail or take the newborn's birth certificate and other documents to a Social Security office later on.

Once we receive the application we assign a Social Security number and mail the cards in the child's name to the address shown on the birth certificate. The process takes about one week from the time we get the birth information.

According to statistics our agency keeps, about 85 percent of the parents of the new-borns in states where this process is available choose this option. Since 1987, when the program began as a pilot project, a total of 12.3 million babies have been enumerated this way.

A Social Security number is needed to claim any child who is at least one year old as a dependent on federal tax returns, and the number is also needed to start a savings account or buy bonds in a child's name.

I want to remind everyone that this is a free service. Don't be misled by any company who seeks to charge a fee for getting your child a Social Security card.

hospital "administrative bureaucracy" especially, costs have sky-rocketed for medical care in totality; out of reach for so many of our citizens, and putting on undue burden on the citizens who underwrite by taxes, etc., the vast welfare system of health care.

The cost of our health care is a national disgrace! Thank God for a president finally who is not a millionaire; who knows what the average citizen is experiencing and has the intestinal fortitude to fight for the right of all people to have a form of health care in America.

The elected officials have excellent medical care! Why do others who have a right to excellent medical care have to settle for inferior care because they cannot afford the awful costs?

Many in the medical community have had a field day for 20 years from the unreasonable medical care costs. They have not voluntarily been willing to change, now they are being forced to and it's long past due.

When will they begin on the administrative bureaucracy?

Thank you,
This is my opinion,
Mrs. Louise V. Harvey

To the Editor:

O.K., Jerry Stewart, I guess you and I will have a go at it again on Constitutional interpretations of school prayer (The Republican, letters of May 19, 26, and June 30).

In your letter you quoted Article 36, Declaration of Rights, Constitution of Maryland, as follows: "...Nothing shall PROHIBIT or REQUIRE the making reference to belief in, reliance upon, or invoking the aid of God or a Supreme Being in any government or public document, proceeding, activity, ceremony, SCHOOL, institution or place." We all agree that the government should not have the power to PROHIBIT our free practice of religion: in Garrett County, we can worship as protestants, Catholics, moslems, Buddhists, or we can decide not to engage in any formal religious practice at all. The "Free State" of Maryland was in fact established by a minority religious group that did not want to be subject to governmental harassment or dictates in the matter of religious practice.

Having said in one way that the government should stay out of the private practice of religion, the amendment goes on to state the flip side of freedom: government cannot "REQUIRE": If we have the right to worship as we see fit, we also have the right not to be forced to worship or participate in any religious practice not of our own choosing. And, by the very procedures of hierarchy and authority in which a school classroom is conducted, when the teacher says do this or that, the children obey. To object opens the child to ridicule from both teacher and peers. Thus, prayer in the school is the same as REQUIRING "the making reference to belief in, reliance upon, or invoking the aid of God or a Supreme Being in ... School..." and this "Nothing shall ... REQUIRE."

As for your comment on Thomas Jefferson being in France during debate of the US Constitution, I fail to see the relevance. Jefferson was vitally interested in the deliberations and corresponded regularly with such luminaries at the convention as George Wythe and James Madison. When the convention finished its work in September 1787, Jefferson had a copy by November and wrote Madison his objections, particularly the need of a Bill Of Rights. On September 25, 1789, two months after Jefferson's return, the first ten amendments, which included the First relating to religion, were submitted to the states; and it was not until December 15, 1791 that the required eleven of the fourteen had ratified them. I am sure that during this three year interval, there was much debate in which Jefferson participated, particularly in Virginia since it was the eleventh state. For trivia, the last three states ratified the Bill of Rights in March 1939, 148 years later.

If you want to continue this discussion on Constitutional interpretations, perhaps we should set up a public debate rather than communicate through letters to the editor. In that forum, we can both develop our points, and maybe members of the audience, many of whom will probably be more knowledgeable than we are, can keep us straight when we wander too far off the point.

Sincerely,
Richard Good

To the Editor:

Once again, Deep Creek Lake was treated to a great fireworks display courtesy of the Deep Creek Lake Business Association.

As chairman of the fireworks committee, I want to thank Cathy Clocker of WKII Radio and Steve Green of High Mountain Sports for all their work on this project and their great sacrifice of time. But this yearly community event would not be remotely possible if it were not for the generous financial support of the businesses and friends mentioned in this paper today. Only with their sacrifice can we produce this first class patriotic salute year after year.

Once again, a big tip of the hat to all who helped.

Sincerely,
Doug McClive

To the Editor:

If our memory serves us correctly, the roadbed here on Beckman Peninsula, including White Oak Drive has been tarred and chipped twice in the last 26 years. In the spring of this year some of the deep holes were patched and others left unpatched. The logic of that is yet to be understood.

The total tax revenue supplied by the property owners on this peninsula is certainly substantial enough to warrant a little better attention to our needs than has been demonstrated over the years by our county government.

If the county is so poor, think where they'd be if these hundreds of cottages didn't line this waterway. Please, don't ignore the hands that contribute so well to your survival. Resurface our road, please.

briefing, the fireworks crews took additional safety precautions to protect both themselves and the spectators.

"The public should be aware problems encountered at the display were not the fault of the shooters, but were due to the poor quality of the products," Shimer said.

Proudfoot advised he would be seeking products from another company next year.

Rabies Cases

The third incident, which occurred in the Route 560 and White Church Road area, involved a raccoon that was chased up a tree by a dog. The raccoon was then shot. Although the dog was currently vaccinated, it was determined that no contact was made between the dog and raccoon.

This brings to a total of 10 positive rabies cases in Garrett County for 1994.

The public is reminded by health officials of the importance of not handling their pets for at least two hours after contact with a wild animal. The rabies virus is transmitted through the saliva of the infected animal and can survive on the fur coat of one's pet for up to two hours after a confrontation. Persons should wear protective gloves if they must handle pets within the first two hours.

The Garrett County Health Department also reminds all residents of the county of the importance of having dogs or cats vaccinated against rabies. It is Maryland law that cats and dogs over four months of age be vaccinated against the disease. It is also important to check one's pet's vaccination records to make sure they are kept up to date. After the initial one year rabies vaccination, cats and dogs need to be re-vaccinated every three years.

All relatives and friends are invited to attend and bring picnic lunches for the 1 p.m. meal.

DEATH OF A BROTHER

A peril of writing a public diary (such as this weekly column) is that sometimes something happens which consumes my life to the point that there is little or nothing else to write about, and yet that something is so personal that I do not feel entirely comfortable writing about it. I have been telling my story, and so I must tell it, perilous or not.

A few months ago I confided that three times cancer had touched my inner family circle; my mother, my wife, and my brother. My mother and wife were both preserved through the immediate crisis by surgery and the providence of God. For my brother, Bart, cancer signalled his end.

He had had some pain, off and on, for several months. Like too many people, he lived with it instead of going to the doctor until he couldn't stand not to go. He was living in Franklin, N.C., at the time. The doctor there rendered what turned out to be the fatal diagnosis in February. He operated in March.

In April when we hoped Bart was recovering, he was rear-ended by a pickup travelling 55 miles per hour. From the date of the accident, Bart's decline was precipitous. By early May the cancer made it difficult for him to eat or talk, or-for that matter--breathe. Mom brought him home to Maryland.

After a false start with one hospital, Mom got him into another hospital with high standards of professionalism and compassion. They fitted him with a tracheostomy and a feeding tube. Once again he could breathe and receive nourishment. While he could communicate with us by writing notes, he had spoken his last word. The goal was no longer to cure him, rather to make him as comfortable as possible while he lived.

On Wednesday, the 29th of June, at 6:35 p.m. Bartley Thomas Wilson, my brother, 36 years and seven months old to the day, died. In one of the rare privileges of life, I was there when he died.

I should not have been home when my mother called, and said she needed help at that instant. Paperwork had prevented me from making the pastoral calls which employ me most Wednesday afternoons. I had just gotten out of the shower when my wife called out that my mother needed me. I knew why. The doctors and nurses who had attended Bart's illness had prepared us for a ruptured artery which they anticipated would bring his life to its end.

Within five minutes I was by my brother's bedside, trying--my hands trembling--to help my mother administer the morphine which had been provided for that circumstance. It took less than 10 minutes to do what we could for him medically. After that my mother ministered to him in a way that a mother can do better than anyone in the world: she made Bart know that he was loved.

I will wonder for the rest of my life what that last three-quarters of an hour was like for Bart. When the hospice nurse came just minutes after he had died, she said he looked peaceful. I take her word for it; she has the basis of experience to make such a judgment.

As a pastor I have attended many people near the hour of death, but never before had I ever actually been with someone, and touched someone as he passed from this life. There was a beauty about that death scene which will always stay with me; my brother on the white iron bed in the bay window. Outside the light kept changing colors as we heard a storm in the distance. We were in that calm that does often come before a storm when we can see the world in the full spectrum of its hues.

Bart's horse pranced back and forth across the meadow in anticipation of the storm, tail raised in a final salute to his master. Mom turned on the CD player which had provided Bart so much entertainment during his last month. We heard three of Beethoven's sonatas, Moonlight, Pastorale, and Appassionata, as Mom described the vibrant outdoor scene. Literally as Bart was breathing his last breaths people began to arrive; first a cousin, then a friend, then our grandmother, then the hospice nurses, and through that evening and the days following, dozens and dozens of others.

A half-hour after he died, the storm broke, and we were enveloped in thunder, lightning, and torrential rain. For 40 minutes, filled with panic and calm, my mother and I had been alone with Bart. I can think of little else to say except that we had prayed the Lord's Prayer together and as much of another prayer as I could remember, "by night and by day we commit those who are dear to us to Thy never-failing love for this life and the life to come."

Informed Choices...

The deadline for filing for a variety of local and state offices arrived Tuesday, setting the date of candidates for September's primary. A number of citizens have thrown their hats into the ring and will over the next few months attempt to convince each of us as to why he or she is the best person for the job, whether it be county commissioner, board of education member, sheriff, or one of several other elected offices.

It is now the job of the rest of us registered voters to pay close attention to each of the candidates and weigh what each has to say so we can make informed selections when we enter the voting booth. Unfortunately, too many persons do not go through this process and then either don't vote at all, or make their choices based upon hearsay, half-truths, and without all of the necessary information.

Voters must also be wary of campaign promises, as candidates get on their soap boxes and tell how they are going to change things for the better, when reality dictates that such changes in some cases may be impossible, or even illegal.

Voters should also view with great caution those candidates who seek office because they have a particular axe to grind, and build their entire campaign around a single issue. History shows that the most effective candidate is often among the least desirable and least effective after being elected. Too many voters make their decisions based upon emotion rather than on intellect and sound reasoning, only to find that the overall capabilities and viewpoints of the person they supported are severely limited.

Elections should also not be popularity contests, in which one casts a ballot for the candidate who is the most likable, most courteous, or most physically attractive. Such attributes contribute little to effectiveness in office.

There are a lot of candidates for several offices, so we all have our work cut out for us. Let's plan now to make intelligent, informed choices in September and then again in November.

To the Editor:
I have some concerns about what is going on at the Garrett County dump site on Meadow Mountain, along with a few general comments and questions.

1. Why was the contaminated blacktop removed from that site and hauled by county equipment to a Garrett County employee's private property to be used as a fill for his own private road and contaminating a different site, across the Eastern Continental Divide?

2. Why did the county have to purchase more fill to complete the construction site and not use that contaminated blacktop on site for that fill needed for elevated? That was already a contaminated site and contaminated material.

3. Why are county employees being paid to haul this material approximately 10 miles to benefit an employee?

4. Why are county employees being paid to benefit another employee's private property?

5. Could all this be happening because the county commissioners are only required to work one day a week, and a salary of $28,000.00? Could this be happening because the county commissioners are not required to work one day a week and a salary of $28,000.00?

6. Why are county employees being paid to benefit another employee's private property?

ment goes on to state the flip side of freedom: government cannot "REQUIRE." If we have the right to worship as we see fit, we also have the right to be forced to worship, or participate in any religious practice not of our own choosing. And, by the very procedures of hierarchy and authority in which a school classroom is conducted, when the teacher says do this or that, the children obey. To object opens the child to ridicule from both teacher and peers. Thus, prayer in the school is the same as REQUIRING "the making reference to belief in, reliance upon, or invoking the aid of God or a Supreme Being in School..." and this "Nothing shall... REQUIRE."

As for your comment on Thomas Jefferson being in France during debate of the US Constitution, I fail to see the relevance. Jefferson was vitally interested in the deliberations and corresponded regularly with such luminaries at the convention as George Wythe and James Madison. When the convention finished its work in September 1787, Jefferson had a copy by November and wrote Madison his objections, particularly the need of a Bill of Rights.

On September 25, 1789, two months after Jefferson's return, the first ten amendments, which included the first relating to religion, were submitted to the states; and it was not until December 15, 1791 that the required eleven of the fourteen had ratified them. I am sure that during this time there was much debate in which Jefferson participated, particularly in Virginia since it was the making of the Bill of Rights.

By the way, the last three states ratified the Bill of Rights in March 1939, 148 years later. If you want to continue this discussion on Constitutional interpretations, perhaps we should set up a public debate rather than communicate through letters to the editor. In that forum, we can both develop our points, and maybe members of the audience, many of whom will probably be more knowledgeable than we are, can keep us straight when we wander too far off the point.

Sincerely,
Richard Good

Once again, Deep Creek Lake was treated to a great fireworks display courtesy of the Deep Creek Lake Business Association.

As chairman of the fireworks committee, I want to thank Cathy Cocker of WKII Radio and Steve Green of High Mountain Sports for all their work on this project and their great sacrifice of time. But this year's community event would not be remotely possible if it were not for the generous financial support of the businesses and friends mentioned in this paper today. Only with their help we produce this first class patriotic salute year after year.

Once again, a big up of the hat to all who helped. Sincerely,
Doug McClive

To the Editor:
If my memory serves us correctly, the roadbed here on Beckman Peninsula, including White Oak Drive has been tarred and chipped twice in the last 26 years. In the spring of this year some of the deep holes were patched and others left unpatched. The logic of that is yet to be understood.

The total tax revenue supplied by the property owners on this peninsula is certainly substantial enough to warrant a little better attention to our needs than has been demonstrated over the years by our county government.

If the county is so poor, then why would they be if these hundreds of cottages didn't line this waterway. Please, don't ignore the hands that contribute so well to your survival. Resurfacing our road, please.

The public should be aware of problems encountered at the display were not the fault of the shooters, but were due to the poor quality of the products.

DEATH OF A BROTHER
A peril of writing a public diary (such as this weekly column) is that sometimes something happens which consumes my life to the point that there is little or nothing else to write about, and yet that something is so personal that I do not feel entirely comfortable writing about it. I have been telling my story, and so I must tell it, perforce or not.

A few months ago I confided that three times cancer had touched my inner family circle: my mother, my wife, and my brother. My mother and wife were both preserved through the immediate crisis by surgery and the providence of God. For my brother, Bart, cancer signalled his end.

He had had some pain, off and on, for several months. Like too many people, he lived with it instead of going to the doctor until he couldn't stand not to go. He was living in Franks, N.C., at the time. The doctor there rendered what turned out to be the fatal diagnosis in February. He operated in March.

In April when we hoped Bart was recovering, he was rear-ended by a pickup travelling the date of the accident, Bart's 50th birthday. The driver, a May the cancer made it talk, or-for that matter-breathe to Maryland.

Paul Bachtel Honored On 90th

A 90th birthday celebration was held June 4-5 for Paul Y. Bachtel, a resident of Davis, W.Va. He was honored with a family dinner on his birthday, June 4, and again on Sunday, June 5, with an open house and reception for friends and extended family. Both events were held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Deer House, where Mr. Bachtel is a life-long member.

He received congratulatory cards and messages for a number of people, including President and Mrs. Bill Clinton, former local pastor, Dr. W.A. Renn of Florida, and a niece, Marian Vick Blinn, of Arizona.

All four of Mr. Bachtel's children were in attendance, including: Eugene M. Flinn II, Cumberland; Sharon Flinn Avery, Lithonia, Ga.; Robert G. Frantz, Emmitsburg, Ann Schlosnagle, Deerfield, Ohio; Steven D. Schlosnagle, Twinsburg, Ohio; Robert M. Flinn, Sacramento, Calif.; and Grego-

Informed Choices...

The deadline for filing for a variety of local and state offices arrived Tuesday, setting the slate of candidates for September's primaries. A number of citizens have thrown their hats into the ring and will over the next few months attempt to convince each of us as to why he or she is the best person for the job, whether it be county commissioner, board of education member, sheriff, or one of several other elected offices.

It is now the job of the rest of us registered voters to pay close attention to each of the candidates and weigh what each has to say so we can make informed selections when we enter the voting booth. Unfortunately, too many persons do not go through this process and then either don't vote at all, or make their choices based upon hearsay, half-truths, and without all of the necessary information.

Voters must also be wary of campaign promises, as candidates get on their soap boxes and tell how they are going to change things for the better, when reality dictates that such changes in some cases may be impossible, or even illegal.

Voters should also view with great caution those candidates who seek office because they have a particular axe to grind, and build their entire campaign around a single issue. History shows that this type of candidate is often among the least desirable and least effective after being elected. Too many voters make their decisions based upon emotion rather than on intellect and sound reasoning, only to find that the overall capabilities and viewpoints of the person they supported are severely limited.

Elections should also not be popularity contests, in which one casts a ballot for the candidate who is the most likable, most courteous, or most physically attractive. Such attributes contribute little to effectiveness in office.

4. Why are county employees being used to benefit another employee? Could all this be happening because the county commissioners are only required to work one day a week for a salary of $28,000? Could this be happening because the county commissioners are not a county vehicle and they do not check what is going on in this county? Could this be happening because the county commissioners have other jobs? Could this be happening because they are out of touch with the real voters and taxpayers?

I will be contacting the Department of Water Resources and Department of Environmental Resources about the permitting of this material removal from this site and others concerns.

This abuse has to be stopped!

When two commissioners can sign a letter to stop the state from developing a rifle range because of one of their friends then they should show as much interest in this serious concern that affects us all.

When commissioners can stop a 10-year plan that the state has, then they can also stop the 800 acres of Potomac Garrett State forest from being traded off for 200 acres in Allegany County for mining.

Why don't the commissioners do their job and work like the rest of us 40 hours a week?

To the Editor:

I read your last week's editorial on "Trying Times At GCMH" with great interest. Having long ago been a part of the supervisory administrative hospital personnel in Pittsburgh for 20 years, I very well understand what is happening and why.

For the benefit of all the people's health care it should have happened long ago. So many people in our country have been placed out of the health care market by the outrageous medical costs.

As the various positions have been added to the

GETTING A SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER AT BIRTH IS NOW COMMON PRACTICE

by Thomas W. Armbruster
Social Security Manager in Cumberland

Last year almost three million Social Security cards were issued to new-born babies through an "Enumeration at Birth" process at hospitals where the children were born. These three million cards represented about half of all new Social Security cards issued last year.

Through special agreements between the Social Security Administration and states, parents may voluntarily choose to have the birth registration form they complete at their local hospital serve as an application for their newborn baby. The state vital statistics office shares the birth information with us, eliminating the need for parents to mail or take the newborn's birth certificate and other documents to a Social Security office later on.

Once we receive the application we assign a Social Security number and mail the cards in the child's name to the address shown on the birth certificate. The process takes about one week from the time we get the birth information.

According to statistics our agency keeps, about 85 percent of the parents of the new-borns in states where this process is available choose this option. Since 1987, when the program began as a pilot project, a total of 12.3 million babies have been enumerated this way.

A Social Security number is needed to claim any child who is at least one year old as a dependent on federal tax returns, and the number is also needed to start a savings account or buy bonds in a child's name.

I want to remind everyone that this is a free service. Don't be misled by any company who seeks to charge a fee for getting your child a Social Security card.

hospital "administrative bureaucracy" especially, costs have sky-rocketed for medical care in totality; out of reach for so many of our citizens, and putting on undue burden on the citizens who underwrite by taxes, etc., the vast welfare system of health care.

The cost of our health care is a national disgrace! Thank God for a president finally who is not a millionaire; who knows what the average citizen is experiencing and has the intestinal fortitude to fight for the right of all people to have a form of health care in America.

The elected officials have excellent medical care! Why do others who have a right to excellent medical care have to settle for inferior care because they cannot afford the awful costs?

Many in the medical community have had a field day for 20 years from the unreasonable medical care costs. They have not voluntarily been willing to change, now they are being forced to and it's long past due.

When will they begin on the administrative bureaucracy?

Thank you,
This is my opinion,

O.K., Jerry Stewart, I guess you and I will have a go at it again on Constitutional interpretations of school prayer (The Republican, letters of May 19, 26, and June 30).

In your letter you quoted Article 36, Declaration of Rights, Constitution of Maryland, as follows: "...Nothing shall PROHIBIT or REQUIRE the making reference to belief in, reliance upon, or invoking the aid of God or a Supreme Being in any government or public document, proceeding, activity, ceremony, SCHOOL, institution or place." We all agree that the government should not have the power to PROHIBIT our free practice of religion: in Garrett County, we can worship as Protestants, Catholics, Muslims, Buddhists, or we can decide not to engage in any formal religious practice at all. The "Free State" of Maryland was in fact established by a minority religious group that did not want to be subject to governmental harassment or dictates in the matter of religious practice.

Having said in one way that the government should stay out of the private practice of religion, the amendment goes on to state the flip side of freedom: government cannot "REQUIRE". If we have the right to worship as we see fit, we also have the right not to be forced to worship or participate in any religious practice not of our own choosing. And, by the very procedures of hierarchy and authority in which a school classroom is conducted, when the teacher says do this or that, the children obey. To object opens the child to ridicule from both teacher and peers. Thus, prayer in the school is the same as REQUIRING "the making reference to belief in, reliance upon, or invoking the aid of God or a Supreme Being in ... School..." and this "Nothing shall ... REQUIRE."

As for your comment on Thomas Jefferson being in France during debate of the US Constitution, I fail to see the relevance. Jefferson was vitally interested in the deliberations and corresponded regularly with such luminaries at the convention as George Wythe and James Madison. When the convention finished its work in September 1787, Jefferson had a copy by November and wrote Madison his objections, particularly the need of a Bill Of Rights. On September 25, 1789, two months after Jefferson's return, the first ten amendments, which included the First relating to religion, were submitted to the states; and it was not until December 15, 1791 that the required eleven of the fourteen had ratified them. I am sure that during this three year interval, there was much debate in which Jefferson participated, particularly in Virginia since it was the eleventh state. For trivia, the last three states ratified the Bill of Rights in March 1939, 148 years later.

If you want to continue this discussion on Constitutional interpretations, perhaps we should set up a public debate rather than communicate through letters to the editor. In that forum, we can both develop our points, and maybe members of the audience, many of whom will probably be more knowledgeable than we are, can keep us straight when we wander too far off the point.

Sincerely,
Richard Good
Accident

To the Editor:

Once again, Deep Creek Lake was treated to a great fireworks display courtesy of the Deep Creek Lake Business Association.

As chairman of the fireworks committee, I want to thank Cathy Clacker of WKHJ Radio and Steve Green of High Mountain Sports for all their work on this project and their great sacrifice of time. But this yearly community event would not be remotely possible if it were not for the generous financial support of the businesses and friends mentioned in this paper today. Only with their sacrifice can we produce this first class patriotic salute year after year.

Once again, a big tip of the hat to all who helped.

Sincerely,
Doug McClive

To the Editor:

If our memory serves us correctly, the roadbed here on Beckman Peninsula, including White Oak Drive has been tarred and chipped twice in the last 26 years. In the spring of this year some of the deep holes were patched and others left unpatched. The logic of that is yet to be understood.

The total tax revenue supplied by the property owners on this peninsula is certainly substantial enough to warrant a little better attention to our needs than has been demonstrated over the years by our county government.

If the county is so poor, think where they'd be if these hundreds of cottages didn't line this waterway. Please, don't ignore the hands that contribute so well to your survival. Resurface our road, please.

(Editor's note: The above letter was signed by 60 Beckman Peninsula residents, Harry E. Kight, chairman.)

briefing, the fireworks crews took additional safety precautions to protect both themselves and the spectators.

"The public should be aware of problems encountered at the display were not the fault of the shooters, but were due to the poor quality of the products," Shimer said.

Proudfoot advised he would be seeking products from another company next year.

The third incident, which occurred in the Route 560 and White Church Road area, involved a raccoon that was chased up a tree by a dog. The raccoon was then shot. Although the dog was currently vaccinated, it was determined that no contact was made between the dog and raccoon.

This brings to a total of 10 positive rabies cases in Garrett County for 1994.

The public is reminded by health officials of the importance of not handling their pets for at least two hours after contact with a wild animal. The rabies virus is transmitted through the saliva of the infected animal and can survive on the fur coat of one's pet for up to two hours after a confrontation. Persons should wear protective gloves if they must handle pets within the first two hours.

The Garrett County Health Department also reminds all residents of the county of the importance of having dogs or cats vaccinated against rabies. It is Maryland law that cats and dogs over four months of age be vaccinated against the disease. It is also important to check one's pet's vaccination records to make sure they are kept up to date. After the initial one year rabies vaccination, cats and dogs need to be re-vaccinated every three years.

DEATH OF A BROTHER

A peril of writing a public diary (such as this weekly column) is that sometimes something happens which consumes my life to the point that there is little or nothing else to write about, and yet that something is so personal that I do not feel entirely comfortable writing about it. I have been telling my story, and so I must tell it, perilous or not.

A few months ago I confided that three times cancer had touched my inner family circle; my mother, my wife, and my brother. My mother and wife were both preserved through the immediate crisis by surgery and the providence of God. For my brother, Bart, cancer signalled his end.

He had had some pain, off and on, for several months. Like too many people, he lived with it instead of going to the doctor until he couldn't stand to go. He was living in Franklin, N.C., at the time. The doctor there rendered what turned out to be the fatal diagnosis in February. He operated in March.

In April when we hoped Bart was recovering, he was rear-ended by a pickup travelling 55 miles per hour. From the date of the accident, Bart's decline was precipitous. By early May the cancer made it difficult for him to eat or talk, or--for that matter--breathe. Mom brought him home to Maryland.

After a false start with one hospital, Mom got him into another hospital with high standards of professionalism and compassion. They fitted him with a tracheostomy and a feeding tube. Once again he could breathe and receive nourishment. While he could communicate with us by writing notes, he had spoken his last word. The goal was no longer to cure him, rather to make him as comfortable as possible while he lived.

On Wednesday, the 29th of June, at 6:35 p.m. Bartley Thomas Wilson, my brother, 36 years and seven months old to the day, died. In one of the rare privileges of life, I was there when he died.

I should not have been home when my mother called, and said she needed help at that instant. Paperwork had prevented me from making the pastoral calls which employ me most Wednesday afternoons. I had just gotten out of the shower when my wife called out that my mother needed me. I knew why. The doctors and nurses who had attended Bart's illness had prepared us for a ruptured artery which they anticipated would bring his life to its end.

Within five minutes I was by my brother's bedside, trying--my hands trembling--to help my mother administer the morphine which had been provided for that circumstance. It took less than 10 minutes to do what we could for him medically. After that my mother ministered to him in a way that a mother can do better than anyone in the world: she made Bart know that he was loved.

I will wonder for the rest of my life what that last three-quarters of an hour was like for Bart. When the hospice nurse came just minutes after he had died, she said he looked peaceful. I take her word for it; she has the basis of experience to make such a judgment.

As a pastor I have attended many people near the hour of death, but never before had I ever actually been with someone, and touched someone as he passed from this life. There was a beauty about that death scene which will always stay with me; my brother on the white iron bed in the bay window. Outside the light kept changing colors as we heard a storm in the distance. We were in that calm that does often come before a storm when we can see the world in the full spectrum of its hues.

Bart's horse pranced back and forth across the meadow in anticipation of the storm, tail raised in a final salute to his master. Mom turned on the CD player which had provided Bart so much entertainment during his last month. We heard three of Beethoven's sonatas, Moonlight, Pastorale, and Appassionata, as Mom described the vibrant outdoor scene. Literally as Bart was breathing his last breaths people began to arrive; first a cousin, then a friend, then our grandmother, then the hospice nurses, and through that evening and the days following, dozens and dozens of others.

A half-hour after he died, the storm broke, and we were enveloped in thunder, lightning, and torrential rain. For 40 minutes, filled with panic and calm, my mother and I had been alone with Bart. I can think of little else to say except that we had prayed the Lord's Prayer together and as much of another prayer as I could remember, "by night and by day we commit those who are dear to us to Thy never-failing love for this life and the life to come."

All relatives and friends are invited to attend and bring picnic lunches for the 1 p.m. meal.

The Sines-Bowman family reunion will be Sunday, July 10, at the Silver Lake Park. All friends and family members are welcome.

The Bolyard family reunion will be July 17 at the Pleasant Valley Church, Kane Town Road, Fellowsville, W. Va., beginning at 10 a.m. Bring a picnic lunch, and chair, and old clothes for a contest.

The descendants of Silas C. Beachy will gather for a family reunion on Sunday, July 10, at the Bittering Community Building. A carry-in meal will be shared at 1 p.m.

The annual reunion of the descendants of the late Joseph and Caroline (Switzer) Glass will be held August 7 at the Earl and Helen Winters home, Swanton. A basket lunch will be shared at 12:30 p.m. All relatives and friends are welcome.

MEETINGS

Paul Bachtel Honored On 90th
This is so Paul Bachtel

A 90th birthday celebration was held June 4-5 for Paul Y. Bachtel, a resident of Davis, W.Va. He was honored with a family dinner on his birthday, June 4, and again on Sunday, June 5, with an open house and reception for friends and extended family. Both events were held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, where Mr. Bachtel is a life-long member.

He received congratulatory cards and messages for a number of people, including President and Mrs. Bill Clinton, former local pastor Dr. W.A. Renn of Florida, and a niece, Marian Vick Blaine, of Arizona.

All four of Mr. Bachtel's children were in attendance: Lelia M. Miller, Clearwater, Fla., and Aurora, W.Va.; Barbara B. Flinn, Mtn. Lake Park; Paul E. Bachtel, Pawley's Island, S.C.; and Mary V. Schlosnagle, Twinsburg, Ohio. Also in attendance were their respective spouses: William Miller, Eugene Flinn, Marsha Bachtel, and W. Dale Schlosnagle.

Seven of Mr. Bachtel's nine grandchildren were in attendance, including: Eugene M. Flinn II, Cumberland; Sharon Flinn Avery, Lithonia, Ga.; Robert G. Frantz, Emmitsburg; Ann Schlosnagle Miller, Deerfield, Ohio; Steven D. Schlosnagle, Twinsburg, Ohio; Robert M. Flinn, Sacramento, Calif.; and Gregory P. Flinn, Cumberland. Grandchildren unable to attend were Paul L. Bachtel Jr., South Carolina, and David A. Bachtel, Florida.

One of four great-grandchildren, Angela Riggelman O'Rourke, Inwood, W.Va., and one of four great-great-grandchildren, Jessica O'Rourke, Inwood, were also present.

After the dinner was a program consisting of music, slides, humorous stories about the honoree, and the presentation of a history booklet titled "The Life Story of Paul Young Bachtel," presented by daughter Barbara Flinn. The family also gave Mr. Bachtel a combined gift check, presented by daughter Mary Schlosnagle.

The slide presentation was given by Elaine Gnevy Roth. Daughter Lelia Miller gave the welcome and son, Paul, offered the table blessing.

Mr. Bachtel was born in Preston County, the eighth of 10 children. After graduation from the University of Maryland, he worked for the U.S. Navy in the Pacific during World War II. He received a master's degree from the University of Maryland and a Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. He has been a member of the American Psychological Association and the American Psychiatric Association. He is currently a professor of psychology at the University of Maryland.

Miss Harvey, Mr. Hague
Wed in June 4 Ceremony

Rosella J. Harvey and Stephen G. Hague were married on June 4 at Christ Church, Glendower in Kenne, Va., by the Rev. Dr. J. Edwin Pippin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Harvey, New Martinsville, W.Va. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ellis L. Harvey, Swanton, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Clarence Laub, Confluence, Pa.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Hague, Vestal, N.Y., and the grandson of Mrs. Beverly Hague, Vestal, N.Y., and Mrs. Dorothy Yoggy, Johnson, N.Y.

Cyndra H. VanClef, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor.

Best man was Thomas Evans. The ushers were Scott W. Hague, Robert Haggard, and Christopher Pepus. Alan VanClef read the scriptures.

The bride graduated with a degree of architecture from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, and is employed by Norris & Associates, Engineers.

The groom holds an M.A. degree from the University of Virginia. He is director of The Abraham Lincoln Museum and instructor of history at Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tenn.

After a wedding trip to southern Maine, the couple has made their home in Tennessee.

Cannon-Hall
Couple To Wed

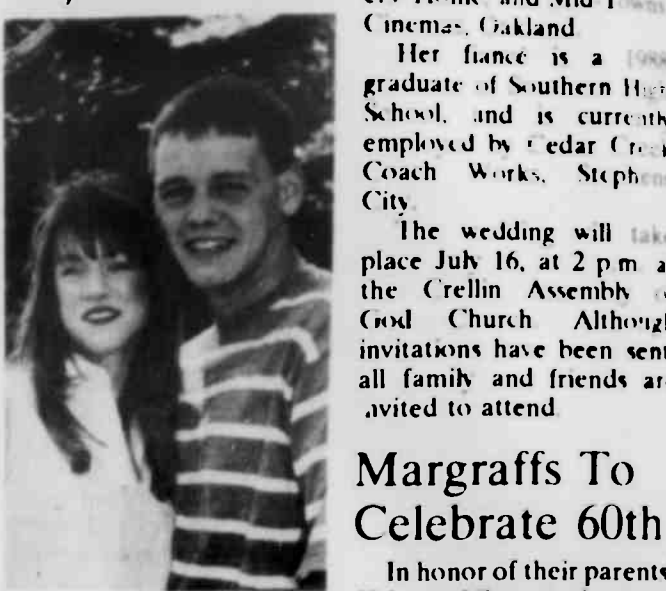

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cannon, Oakland, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Beth Ann, to Matthew Howard Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hall, Stephens City, Va., and Mrs. Mary Johnson, Birmingham, Ala.

The bride-elect is a 1990 graduate of Southern High School. She is currently employed by U.S. Navy's Home and Mid Level Cinemas, Oakland.

Her fiancé is a 1988 graduate of Southern High School, and is currently employed by Cedar Creek Coach Works, Stephens City.

The wedding will take place July 16, at 2 p.m. at the Crellin Assembly of God Church. Although invitations have been sent, all family and friends are invited to attend.

Margriffs To Celebrate 60th

In honor of their parents' 60th wedding anniversary, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Margruff will host an open house for friends and relatives on Sunday, July 10, from 2-4 p.m., at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, Main Street, Accident.

BLOOMINGTON NEWS

SHAKE
Registration for July 12, 1994, will be Tuesday, July 12, 9 to 11 a.m., and 5 to 7 p.m. at the Bloomington United Methodist Church.

CHURCH NEWS
There will be an evening of music and testimony at the Bloomington United Methodist Church on Sunday, July 10, at 7 p.m. Bob Gay, York, Pa., and Judy Bollinger, New Oxford, Pa., will provide special music for the evening.

Gay is an accomplished musician who is celebrating 52 years since his start in gospel music. He was formerly the fiddle player in the Christian Ministries with the Christian Diplomatics. The Pell Brothers, and The Delawares.

Ms. Bollinger learned to play piano by ear at an early age. In 1973, with her parents, brothers, and sisters, formed the "Millburn Family." She has recently released her first recording, "Judy Sings." All 10 songs were composed by her, and she sings all the parts and plays keyboard, synthesizer, and organ on the recording.

Pastor Bill Brown invites the public to attend.

PERSONALS
Bob Montgomery and Barb Filsinger were united in marriage on Saturday, July 2, at the Bloomington United Methodist Church.

Rev. William Brown officiated the ceremony and a reception followed at the Bloomington fire hall. Bill and Lisa Harvey, Jason, Daniel, and Kathryn, Newport News, Va., visited with Bill's parents, Glenn and Kathryn Harvey over the July 4 weekend.

Other family members visiting were: Ghinna and Shawn, Brent and Brittany Harbaugh, Lena Broadwater, and Alice and Richard Stevens. Nine-year-old Jason stayed behind for an extended visit with his grandparents.

The George E. Bever family held its annual reunion, Saturday, July 2, at the Bever Pavilion Backhouse Mountain. The reunion has been held for over 19 years, with this year having over 30 in attendance. Prizes were awarded to: Steven Holtschneider, youngest; Charles Patterson, oldest; Ashley Bever, Florida, traveled farthest; Martha and Junior Marple, most children present; and Sheri Bever, door prize. Dan Holtschneider and Bill Ward won playing horseshoes. Entertainment was provided by Ralph and Jeff Bever, Eldon Cashmere, and Bill Ward. There was also an "Amateur Hour" by some family members.

The family of Mrs. Maude Davis gathered at her home Sunday, July 3, for a family cookout. Those attending were: Bill and Shirley Davis, Mtn. Lake Park; Hurt and Carol Davis, Oakland; Mary and Donald Calcutt, Horse Shoe Run, W. Va.; Elwood and Lenora Davis, Swanton; Gary and Darlene Davis, Swanton; Harold and Geraldine Harding, Augusta, W. Va.; Patsy and Joe Myers, Oakland; Joyce and Dave Ivergood, Swanton; Sue and Ray Seyer, White Church; Donald and Debbie Davis, Swanton; Mildred Tasker, Shalimar; Jim and Marge Davis, Deep Creek Lake; and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren. There were 65 in attendance.

Pst. 2 Greg Brown visited with family, Bill and Sylvia, April and Scott Brown over the July 4 weekend. While on pass,

Proulx Announces Candidacy For Commissioner

Mark Proulx, Mountain Lake Park, has announced his candidacy for Garrett County Commissioner District 1, on the Republican ticket.

A long-time resident of Garrett County, Proulx is a graduate of Southern High School and Garrett Community College, and is currently working toward a degree in justice studies at Frostburg State University.

The candidate was active in local emergency medical services through much of the 1980's, serving as a cardiac rescue technician and emergency medical technician with the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. He is a veteran of the United States Army, in which he served as a counter-intelligence specialist for the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

After leaving the army, he worked for Garrett County Emergency Management and then for the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Currently, Proulx is an investigator for the Oakland City Police.

If elected, he will be a full-time commissioner and will stress open government, encouraging participation by all citizens of Garrett County, Proulx said.

The candidate lives in Mountain Lake Park with his wife, Nancy, and daughter Amanda. He is a member of the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren. Contributions may be made to Proulx's campaign through the candidate's treasurer, Lawrence Proulx, at Rt. 5, Box 3477, Oakland, MD 21550.

For more information on these programs, persons should contact the Potomac-Garrett State Forest office at 334-2038.

Miss Fireworks Coronation Kicks Off July 4 Celebration

Amy Smith, the 15-year-old daughter of Randy and Patty Smith, Terra Alta, was crowned Miss Fireworks 1994 during a coronation, June 30, in the Terra Alta East Preston Junior High School gymnasium, to kick off the five-day Fourth of July celebration in Terra Alta.

The Rev. Michael Mudge, pastor of the Corinth United Methodist Church, offered the invocation, followed by The Star Spangled Banner, sung by Leona Rodheaver.

Jim Teets served as master of ceremonies and introduced Miss Fireworks and her court, and "String of Pearls," a senior chorus line from Morgantown entertained the royalty with several dances. Music for the evening was provided by Sandy Kelly.

Amy was escorted during the coronation by Jason Grose, son of Bill and Patti Grose, Maid of Honor Kim Ranieri, daughter of Janice Ranieri, was escorted by Nick Loughry, son of "Moose" Loughry and Debbie Loughry; and Maid of Honor Krista Helmick, daughter of Bill and Karen Helmick, was escorted by

AFTER WAITING PATIENTLY through a long, hot parade, Joshua Freeland finally got his reward -- a trip to the carnival on Firman's Field, and all the rides his 6-year-old heart desired.

WHAT'S A PARADE WITHOUT CLOWNS? This clown strutted along the crowd-lined street and greeted youngsters with balloons, bracelets, and occasionally rings for the young at heart.

Shawn Myers, son of Jim and Tara Myers.

The princesses were Courtney Starcher, daughter of Judy Starcher and Jerry Starcher, who was escorted by Shawn Shaffer, son of Ryan and Terri Shaffer; and Amanda Groves, daughter of Butch and Bonnie Groves, whose escort was Jeff Whitehair, son of John and Kim Whitehair. Tessa Felton, daughter of Warren and Kathy Felton, was the flower girl; and serving as crown bearer was Gregory Beckman, son of Joanna Beckman.

Brad Metheny, head football coach at Preston High School, crowned Miss Fireworks, and Miss Fireworks 1993, Shannon Metheny, daughter of Steve and Carolyn Metheny, offered words of encouragement and praise for her successor.

Other presentations were awarded to Miss Fireworks by the Terra Alta Civic Club, One Valley Bank,

The Terra Alta Bank, and the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department. Two recent PHIS graduates, Edda Wilhelm and Krista Kerns, received civic club scholarships.

A teen dance, honoring Amy and her court, followed the coronation, in the gym. Joey Price provided the music for the evening's fun.

Miss Fireworks represented the town of Terra Alta throughout the 4th of July celebration, and will continue to serve throughout the coming year by attending various parades and functions.

Melissa Burns Wins TAVFD Giveaway

Melissa Burns of Terra Alta was the grand prize winner of a 1994 Ford Mustang in this year's drawing, sponsored by the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department, during the town's 68th annual 4th of July celebration.

Second prize, $500, was won by Herold Berthy Jr., Morgantown; and third prize went to Tim Barnhouse, Kitzmiller. He received $250.

Proceeds from TAVFD's fundraiser will be used for new equipment and operating costs, according to Gary Glover, treasurer for the organization.

ROYALTY PAST AND PRESENT - It's not unusual to have two Miss Fireworks together at the same time, but two on the same softball team? All of the Terra Alta Youth League's ball teams were represented in the Fourth of July Parade, and shown above are some of the members of the Arthur H. Wright Funeral Home girls' pony league team, from left to right, Miss Fireworks 1994 Amy Smith, Jessie Mersing, Miss Fireworks 1993 Shannon Metheny, Tina Freeland, and Lori Dixon.

Food For Thought

by
Chef Francesco Pisano
McClive's Restaurant

If you like the tender coral roe of lobsters, choose a female specimen by its soft, feathery feelers on the underside, where the tail meets the chest. Male lobsters have hard, pointy feelers.

Mashed potatoes get a special kick at Oprah Winfrey's restaurant in Chicago. Three pounds of cooked potatoes (half red, half russet) are mashed with 1/4 cup of heavy cream, half a stick of butter, and 3 Tbs. of cream-style bottled horseradish!

In case you wondered, there's no nutritional difference between bleached and unbleached flour. But whole wheat flour, which is unrefined, is more nutritious. It still has the bran and wheat germ.

Stir-fry green onion (cut into 1-inch pieces), diagonally sliced celery, snow peas and redish halves until tender-crisp. Season with lemon juice and salt or a splash of soy sauce.

The easy way to chop fresh herbs: just lay 'em out on a cutting board and roll a pizza cutter back and forth as you turn the board.

The easy way to enjoy dinner with the family: take everyone out for a delicious meal at

"AREN'T YOU A LITTLE YOUNG TO RIDE THE MERRY-GO-ROUND?" seems to be what 6-year-old Joshua Freeland, right, is asking his cousin, 7-month-old Austin Friend, son of Marty Friend, also pictured. This was Austin's first 4th of July, and he really didn't seem too impressed with all the excitement.

Arthurdale To Note 60th Anniversary

Arthurdale Heritage, Inc., a non-profit organization founded 10 years ago to preserve the history of America's first new deal homestead in Arthurdale, W. Va., is sponsoring activities to celebrate the community's 60th anniversary. Arthurdale was established by Eleanor Roosevelt in 1933 to offer a group of unemployed miners and their families a second chance at a secure life.

ARTHURDALE'S ORIGINAL ADMINISTRATION BUILDING STILL STANDS IN the town's community center. Arthurdale, W. Va., which celebrates its 60th anniversary this year, was created as part of the Roosevelt Administration's New Deal.

Events scheduled for the ongoing anniversary celebration are: the 60th Homecoming Weekend, July 8-10; the National Conference of the 1930s, Arthurdale, and the New Deal Homesteads, July 21-23; the annual ice cream social, July 23; the Valley District Fair, the first week in August; and a September event to be announced.

Activities for homecoming weekend and the national conference include:

July 8
Golf tournament at the Preston Country Club (contact 864-6594) 60th anniversary dinner ($7 per person, RSVP, contact 864-3959)

July 9
Breakfast at the Reedsville Methodist Church (8-9:30 a.m.); music, displays, arts, crafts (9 a.m.-3 p.m.); guided school tour (10-noon); hay-wagon farm/community tour (9:30 a.m.); architect restoration tour (10-noon); children's field day (10 a.m.); house tours (10-noon); chicken barbecue dinners for sale at noon; special postal cancellation; panoramic group picture (1 p.m.); multi-media play (2 p.m.); Arthurdale school reunion (5 p.m.)

July 10
Arthurdale church services and covered dish dinner (11 a.m.); encore play performance (2 p.m.)
The National New Deal Conference at Arthurdale will be held July 21-23. Conference planners hope to unite historians, homesteaders, and residents of New Deal communities to discuss the unique history of New Deal homestead communities. Speakers include: Dr. Ronald Lewis, West Virginia University; Dr. Stephen Haid, Charleston; Dr. Samuel Stack, West Virginia University; Sandra Barney, West Virginia University; Dr. Paul Conkin, Vanderbilt University; Dr. Harry McDean, San Diego State University; Dr. Robert Reid, Southern Indiana University; Patrick Hauck, National Trust for Historic Preservation; and Lois Scharf, Case Western Reserve University.

Persons interested in attending the conference may contact Bryan Ward at (304) 864-3959.

Dick and Mary Lou Miller of Goldsboro, N.C., were weekend guests of David and Wilma Mae Teets, her parents, at Horse Shoe Run, and their son, Michael Lantz, returned with them after his visit here.

About 60 descendants of Karen Teets's Michigan great-grandparents gathered, along with some friends, at the Paul and Karen Teets home, Horse Shoe Run, for a Friday to Tuesday camping reunion.

Leatrice and Merrill Flory of Fairborn, Ohio, were visitors with her father, Arteris Harsh, Eglon.

Tom, Linda and Sara Lewis visited for a week with their daughter, Julie Baker, in Virginia Beach, Va., and returned Wednesday to their Eglon home.

Youth from the area who attended Older Members' 4-H Conference last week at Jackson's Mill were Carla Fint and Courtney Fint of the Aurora Pioneers, and Jeremiah Feather, Becky Snyder, Mark and Katie Uitterback, all of the Eglon Mountaineers. Mark served as a sagamore at the camp, and Katie has been named eligible to attend an out-of-state camp in 1995.

Paul Bachtel

ating from Slaubaugh School at the age of 13, he worked as a hired hand on local farms. He went to Detroit around 1924 to work as a pipefitter in the Dodge Brothers plant. Later he and his brother John opened Bachtel Brothers' Garage at Gnegy Church, he drove a delivery truck, operated another garage in the Cherry Run, W. Va., area, and finally purchased a 158-acre farm along U.S. Rt. 50 between Red House and Gorman. He later purchased an adjacent farm of 153 acres, from which he sold and hauled timber props to mining operators. He then bought a sawmill and produced cross ties for the Western Maryland Railroad, as well as cross bars for mines near Unkintown, Pa. He later operated his own small mining operation on his property, and among his daily customers was Weber's Greenhouse in Oakland. He concluded his working career as a weigh master for Delsignore Coal Company.

Mr. Bachtel's first wife, Virginia Grow Bachtel, died in 1953. He married Eloise Bergstrom of Davis, W. Va., some 11 years later. They now reside along Henry Avenue in Davis, where Mr. Bachtel continues to enjoy gardening.

Summerfest

circa 1755; the Glatfelly House, 1776; the Winterberg House, 1820; and the Miller House, 1835.

The Quilt Show features hand-crafted quilts on display at the Grantsville school. They are competitively judged.

Shuttle bus transportation to the Quilt Show from the Spruce Forest is optional, with the price of admission at either location. The shuttle bus stops also include the Casselman Ventures (antique center, Thrift Shop, Four Seasons Stitchery), and Yoder's Country Market.

Special features for the 1994 Summerfest are evening programs. On July 14 at 7 p.m. is a musical program (no admission charge) featuring Elinor Benedict, fiddler, the Mountain Anthems. Beachy Amish a capella singing choir, and a vocal group in charge of Lowell Bender singing old folk songs. Appalachian Patchwork will be presented July 15 at 7 p.m. by the Cumberland School of Classical Ballet. Men of Accord, a barbershop quartet, will perform July 16 at 7 p.m.

To reach Spruce Forest Artisan Village, take Exit 19 or 22 off I-68 to Route 40. Follow the signs to Pennsylvania. For more information about Summerfest and Quilt Show, persons may call Esther Yoder at 895-3332.

Garrett Wins Two, Then Falls To Cumberland

The Garrett County Junior American Legion baseball team captured a pair of Mountain District wins this past week by rolling over Fort Cumberland last Tuesday, 13-4, in McHenry and whipping visiting Farrady Post of Frostburg Sunday, 10-4.

Garrett was then defeated by the same Fort Cumberland team on Tuesday, 13-3, in Cumberland. Coach Ed Wildesen's team, which won the first half season title in the district, is now 2-1 in the second half.

Jeff Martin led Garrett to its win over Fort Cumberland last Thursday, as he struck out 11 batters in nine innings of work on the mound.

Southern High graduate and W. Va. Wesleyan-bound Josh Woods went three-for-four at the plate and scored twice for Garrett County, while Northern High stand-out and Baltimore Orioles draftee Alan Sebold tripled and singled for three RBI. Rich Warnick and Mark Elliott each contributed two hits.

Richard Haynes smacked a two-run homer for Cumberland, while Chad Roy tripled and singled and Danny Bauer added two singles.

A five-run spurt in the eighth inning highlighted Garrett County's 10-4 win over Farrady on Sunday.

Jeremy Reams initiated the rally with a walk, after which Matt Newcomb bunted and both runners advanced on a throwing error. Seth Tressler followed with a sacrifice fly that scored Reams, after which Tim Sines singled to plate Newcomb. Woods then doubled to send Sines home, Ryan Folk walked, and Mark Dawson doubled off relief pitcher Doug Frost to bring home Woods and Folk and complete the five-run inning.

Grantsville Loses, Wins; Central Edged

Grantsville was nipped 8-7 by Keyser Moose Friday in Bi-State Pony League action, but came back to record a 9-8 win over Central Garrett at Northern High School on Tuesday.

Central also dropped a one-run contest, 3-2, last Friday to host Ellerslie. The results left Grantsville with an 8-5 mark, while Central dropped to 10-4.

Chip Mason, who relieved Matt Healy in the fifth, earned the win on the mound for Keyser Moose over Grantsville's Aaron Blocher on Friday.

Matt Fritz doubled and singled, while Joe Fullerton and Bill Speicher each singled twice to pace Grantsville's eight-hit effort.

Blocher gave up only four hits in taking the loss, with Lucas Taylor getting the only extra-base hit, a double. The win upped the Keyser Moose record to 10-2.

Speicher led Grantsville at the plate to the 9-8 win over Central Garrett on Tuesday, as he smacked two doubles and two singles for four RBI. Mike Hetz contributed a two-run single.

while Fullerton and Blocher each doubled.

Central rallied for four runs in the seventh, as Jason King also finished with two doubles and two singles for three RBI. Starting pitcher Andy Brenneman aided his own cause with a double and two singles and P.J. Schofield doubled home a pair of runs.

A squeeze bunt by pitcher Mike Brailer that brought home Todd Bartlett to give Ellerslie its win over Central Garrett last Friday.

Central held a 2-1 lead going into the final inning, but back-to-back doubles by Josh Cook and Bartlett knotted the score at 2-2. The bases were then loaded via an intentional walk and a single by Jason Garlock, which set up Brailer's winning bunt.

Cook, Bartlett, and Brian DeHaven each doubled and singled to pace the Ellerslie offense. Jason King singled twice for Central Garrett.

Brailer went the distance for the win, giving up five hits, while Cody Brenneman pitched all seven innings for Central, giving up nine hits and striking out seven.

A Few Openings Remain For MSA Camp August 1-6

The Mountaintop Soccer Association announced this week that a few openings remain for its North American Soccer Camp, to be held August 1-6 and instructed by coaches from Great Britain.

Camp Coordinator Karen Spirk said that there are currently 96 campers enrolled. "Official registration closed June 27 and our trainers have been allocated," she said. "They guarantee a maximum of 15 campers per instructor, so we still have space for a few late registrants."

Mrs. Spirk said the level of interest in the camp nearly parallels the number of players enrolled in the MSA when it was started in 1990. There were 425 participants last season, making it the ninth largest recreational association within the Maryland State Youth Soccer Association.

Anyone interested in filling one of the vacant positions in the day camp is urged by Mrs. Spirk to contact her at 387-8039 as soon as possible. The fee is $88 per camper. The camp will meet from 9 a.m. to noon daily at the Southern High School practice fields.

Enrollments for the MSA fall season are still being accepted. The fee is $25, which includes a $10 late fee, since the early registration deadline is now past. Persons desiring more information or an application form may contact Jan Finkel at 387-5488.

Oakland Little Leaguers Record Tournament Wins

The Oakland Junior Little League All-Stars (13-year-olds) recorded a 7-6 win over Clear Spring Tuesday in the Maryland District 1 Tournament to become one of four teams in the winners' bracket.

Derek Everd pitched a complete game for Oakland, while Jason Bowers, Jesse Coddington, and John Andrews each recorded two hits in the 11-game effort.

Oakland will play again this evening at 5:30 at South County and, if victorious, will meet Maugensville or Valley on Sunday in the title game.

The Oakland team is coached by Joe Healey and managed by Jeff Cooley.

The 15-year-old Oakland All-Stars recorded an easy victory last night in its first playoff contest and will advance in their tournament, but details of that game were not received by presstime.

Best Ball Is June 30 Play Of Women's Assoc.

The play of the Oakland Golf Club's Women's Association on June 30 was four-players best ball, with the teams of Janice Welch, Martha Lou Ashby, Helen Nordeck, and Celeste Lascaris; and Marianna Naylor, Margaret Moran, Ruth Ann Porter, and Hazel Wright tied for first place with 62.

Two teams also tied for second place, carding a 63: Annis Colaw, Nellie Inskeep, Ruth Ann Porter, and Sherry Grant, and Karen Browning, Betty Humberson, Carolyn Sleight, and Jo Cook. For the first flight, winners of low putts were Marj Knutson and Janice Welch with 31; second flight, Martha Ashby with 31; third flight, Ruth Ann Porter with 33; and fourth flight, Celeste Lascaris with 35.

Taking third place with 34 was the team of Jeff Orr, Scott Ruch, Mark Durst, and Kim Shirer, while two teams tied for fourth place, scoring 35: Scott Shirer, Justin Steyer, Dave Davis, and Audrey Finnance and Daryl Walters, Mike Kildow, Mary Spencer, and Wanda Pullen.

Forty-Nine Vie In Firecracker Regatta At DCL

by Harry Filemyr
The Deep Creek Yacht Racing Association held its 25th annual Firecracker Regatta this Fourth of July weekend on Deep Creek Lake, with 49 boats in competition.

The first event was the Friday night wedding of Mo Wiley and Vicki Jeffrey (FS #3401) at the Deer Haven Yacht Club.

The start of racing on Saturday had puffs of white cloud in the sky and clouds of white sail on the water. During the races the fleets stayed grouped so close together that small changes in the wind allowed large changes of position. Kevin Russell acknowledges that a wind shift popped him from third to first at a finish, and this writer was numbed by another shift that cost him four places in two minutes.

At the end of the third race on Sunday, Kevin Russell led the Lasers with three firsts. It was clear that the Merediths (mother and son), Carpenters (brother and sister) and Spinnenwebers (father and daughter) were running away with the A fleet honors. The B Fleet was still up for grabs with a half dozen boats in contention. A long lunch break became a long afternoon of watching lightning dancing on the mountain tops. Too late to start another race, the committee boat retired to its dock still flying the postponement flag.

On Monday, race commander Don Hott set the course for two short races back to back to complete the scheduled five. A blanket of clouds smoothed the wind to as steady as it gets on Deep Creek Lake. In the A fleet setbacks like a luffing duel "It was dumb! We went where there was no wind," said John Meredith ... a bad start, (A double fault, over early and hit another boat," said Jack Carpenter) and running over your spinnaker, "I can't get it out of the water," said Bruce Spinnenweber) did not keep them from finishing the regatta 1,2,3.

Sailboat racing is one of the rare sports in which fouls are called by the participants and penalties are expected to be graciously accepted. There are, however, sometimes differences of opinion as to the facts or rules, which lead to misunderstanding on the water. Differences are resolved by a protest jury as wise and just as any trial jury found in California. The scores were not final until several "misunderstandings" were cleared up. There are only four pages of instructions referring to 64 pages of rules and definitions, clarified with 100 pages of appeals rulings, so any misunderstandings are easily cleared up! A protest jury ruled that: 1. Boats have an equal right to choose their "proper" course, but the windward must still keep clear of the leeward; disqualification, and 2. Even when clearly in the right, a boat must follow specified protocol of notification and signaling; protest disallowed. Some boats were also disqualified for making skipper and crew changes that would be allowed in a series, but prohibited in regattas. And a good time was had by all, except the chief scorer who grumbled a little as he re-tallied 190 scores.

At the awards ceremony, Don Griffin, past president of DCYRA, was honored with a plaque "in appreciation of his years of tireless effort in behalf of sailboat racing on Deep Creek Lake."

Dick Gregory announced that this year's novice racing clinic will be held every Sunday morning, July 10 to August 14, from 9 to 11 a.m. It is open to anyone who can sail, has never raced, or is at the novice level and wants to improve. Any type of sailboat is OK. There will be classroom instruction at the Turkey Neck Club on Yacht Club Road and on the water activities. The DCYRA is sponsoring the clinic at no cost to participants. For more information, call Dick Gregory on weekends, at (301) 387-6031, or just show up at the dock.

Area Speedway Review

Somerset County Speedway

Last Friday night the Mid-Season Championship races were completed at the Somerset County Speedway in Meyersdale, Pa. The Pro Stock feature resumed at the 16th lap after being called for rain the week before. John Saylor from Garrett, Pa., held the lead for five laps before J.R. Isner took control. Isner held on for the win even though Saylor made several attempts to regain the lead. They were followed by Brad Brown, Greg McClellan, Doug Shaffer, Jeff Nicholson, Dana Cotter, Gene Moats and Robert Porter. Kevin Bender from Meyersdale went pole-to-pole in the 25-lap "B" Main Championship. He was followed by Roger McKenzie, Craig Brengle, Ben Ansell, Nelson Bailey, Kirk Smith, Jack Dively, Charlie Phillippi, Kevin Sanner, Doug Kimmel, Dale Wilt and Clair Dupstadt.

The "A" Main Championship was a 30-lap event with Tom Humberson from Grantsville sitting on the pole. Humberson is top in points and this race was run straight up. Humberson was too tough to beat, but Bobby Smith from Meyersdale made sure he didn't run away with the race. They were followed by Greg Cornell, Bob Davis, Vince Smith, Jon Deal, Jamie Kemp and Dave Lehman.

Several special event races were held with the first being a Pro Stock Mechanic's race. Trophies and prize money were awarded to the top three finishers in the special event races. Roger Coffman took the Pro Stock race while being followed by Bill Shuck, Dean Lehman, Brian Cotter and Gene Gindlesberger.

Two Strictly Stock Mechanics races had to be held with Scott Mitchell taking the first. He was followed by Randy Anderson, Brian Opel, Kevin Rickner, Chuck Bailey, Butch Walker, Carl Ansell, Kenny Rugg and Carl Arnold.

The second race went to Bobby Swire. He led the way for Alf Caton, Keith Brengle, Bill Nolf, Eric Stayrook, Scott Dearmitt and Jason Thomas.

Tammy Foor made an impressive win in the Pro Stock Powder Puff race as she went pole to pole. Foor showed the way for Wendy Miller, Lisa Brown, Sheila Tressler, April Piersel and Stephanie Painton.

In the Strictly Stock Powder Puff, we once again saw Pam Shultz from Meyersdale collect the trophy. She looks forward to the special event races every year and she looks like the one to beat. She was followed by B.J. Sanner, Tammy Brengle, Tammy Opel, Peggy Kemp, Chris Fazenbaker and Robin Reckner.

Racing will resume at the speedway this Friday at 7:30 p.m. This will be a double point race with all drivers trying to move up in the point standings. See you at the races!

Interstate 79 Speedway

Friday night's racing action at the Interstate 79 Speedway found drivers battling for double points and trophies. It was Mid-Season Championship Night with two new faces in victory lane.

An invert six start gave Tim Hitt the pole position for the Late Model A-Main. Hitt took the lead on the first lap and never looked back. Mid-way through the 25-lap event, Hitt had to work lapped traffic. But, he used it to his advantage and went on to take his third straight win of the '94 season.

Following Hitt to the line were Frank Wilson, Mike Hawkins, Chuck Harper, and Denny Chamberlain. Six through ten were Ernie Davis, Robbie Scott, Gary Dalton, Mike Benedum, and Doug Horton. Heat winners were Scott and Davis.

After Friday's racing, the top five in points are Harper, Wilson, Hitt, Tom Gump and Chamberlain. Rick Strickler grabbed his first win of the year in the Semi-late Division as he led Steve Booth, Donnie Dotson, Terry Conrad, and Scott Miles across the line. Heats were taken by Miles and Danny Hamrick.

Mike Wilson has been dominate in the UMP Modified class and picked up his sixth victory. Cliff Cochran took second away from Dave Groves on the final lap. Groves was subbing for Bernie Petanowick. Rounding out the top five were Steve Cook and Kevin Jones. Heat winners were Keith Bills, Wilson, and Roy Gibson.

The pure stock field had a new winner as Butch Summers got the win. Mark Bell, Jim Byers, Frankie Guy, and Steve Tarnowski came home in second through fifth. Denny Sandy took a wild flip and totally destroyed his car. He was uninjured. Bell, Jim Shaffer and Sandy took the prelims.

Matt Frazier also brought out a red flag in the 4-Cylinder Stockers when he turned over. Frazier was not hurt and Mike Lewis got his fourth win. Bud Cutlip, Jim Marshall, Terry Monroe and Don Groves rounded out the top five. Heats went to Don Cutlip, Marshall and Lewis.

Friday, July 8, will be Candy Rush night for the children. There will be no regular racing on Friday, July 15. The STARS Late Models visit for leg two of the West Virginia State Championship Series will be Sunday, July 17.

1-79 Speedway is located at Exit 125 just south of Fairmont, W.Va. For more information, call 304-592-3200 (office) or on race day 304-592-0916.

Elkins Motor Speedway

On a track that seems to get faster every week, Frank Wilson of Pennsboro outlasted a continuous assault by Weston's Tim Hitt to win his first late model feature of the season at Elkins Motor Speedway.

Wilson, a hardened veteran who makes a three hour trip to Elkins every Saturday night, won his heat then started the feature on the pole. After three laps, Hitt was right on Wilson's tail, pressuring, attempting to pass high off the turns while Wilson controlled the low groove. Finally, driving strong off the high edge of turn four, Hitt passed Wilson for the lead. Four laps later, turn four took away Hitt's lead as the #68 went too high, dropped over the apron lip and allowed four cars to pass. Wilson maintained the lead for the rest of the event, Denny Chamberlain was second and rounding out the top five were Bob Herschman, Tim Hitt and Chuck Howdershelt. Steve Booth of Buckhannon received an early birthday present Saturday night with his first Semi-late feature win of the year. After maneuvering through nine positions in the first 12 laps, Booth passed Danny Hamrick on the back straight to take the lead. Booth then held off Rick Strickler through the final laps to take the checkered flag. Strickler, Jerry Hase-leu, Danny Hamrick and Shawn Davis finished respectively behind Booth.

Ron Parrish made it three wins in a row in the 12 lap UMP Modified feature. Starting fifth, Parrish was in the lead after one lap. Behind him on that first lap came Kevin Jones and Kenny Vincent and for the entire race these top three positions never changed. Fourth place went to Steve Cook and fifth went to Jerry Teter.

The pure stock and four cylinder stock classes provided their own unique variety of excitement throughout the evening with an early heat roll-over by four cylinder driver Sanford Zirkle and a feature race car flip by pure-stocker Ronnie Tinner. Both men were not injured but their cars never returned from the pits.

In the Pure Stock feature, Bill Tinner, behind the wheel of his newly purchased #911 Camaro, captured his first win of the season in front of John Smith Jr. and David Robinson, and in the Four Cylinder Stock feature it was Thomas Simpson first across the line for his third win of the year. Rich Teter placed second; Tommy Pennington was third.

EMS wishes to thank Zambelli International for the magnificent fireworks display and the Elkins Volunteer Fire Department for all of their help in making our Independence Day celebration safe and enjoyable.

Cumberland Raceway

Regular racing will resume Saturday night at Cumberland Raceway. It will be Valvoline "Say No To Drugs" Night, with four classes running.

The gates will open at 4:30 p.m., hot laps will be at 6:30 p.m. and racing begins at 7:00 p.m.

Traditions, Past and Present, Celebrated By Native Americans

In the tradition of their forefathers, Native Americans, representing more than 35 nations, met this past weekend at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry for the 12th Annual American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization, Inc. (AIITCO) Pow Wow.

The young and old alike came from all over the United States and Canada to share their cultural traditions, history, and crafts with others, including non-Indians. The AIITCO was formed in 1983 by a group of Washington, D.C. area residents who wanted to offer the Indian community a means of maintaining contact with other Indian people.

Liza Fields, master of ceremonies, and a member of the Pawnee tribe, introduced The Cedar Tree Singers, host drum for the two-day event, whose members drummed in perfect synchronization to begin the Grand Entry. The Eagle Staff and American flag, carried by members of the Vietnam Era Veterans Inter-Tribal Association (VEVITA) Color Guard from the Washington, D.C. area, preceded hundreds of other Native Americans into the dance arena, followed in order by the head dancers, men traditional dancers, women shawl dancers and the children.

Clint Cyou, head man dancer, and Lisa Drum, head woman dancer, were present again for this year's event. The brother and sister are members of the Omaha tribe, and are traditional dancers, one of the earliest known forms of dancing, represented by buckskin clothing. According to Lisa, when they dance, they try to preserve the integrity of Native American culture."

A request was made for one of the oldest dances performed during the day. The dance originated 300-500 years ago, and depicted hunters returning from the kill. As their ancestors did, the dancers came into the arena to tell their story through dancing. The drums assisted them to explain how the hunters looked for their game, tracked it, and sneaked up on it. They then demonstrated how they made the kill, and danced in victory.

The Hoop Dance, a men's fancy dance, was performed by Michael Rose, an Eastern Band Cherokee, and the lead singer for The Cedar Tree Drum. This dance features several hoops which, according to Fields, represent the dance circle, the earth, the moon, the cycle of life, and the old Indian ways given to their ancestors hundreds and hundreds of years ago by Adias (the Creator).

Other dances during the afternoon's festivities included gourd dancing, inter-tribal dancing, grass dancing, jingle dress dancing, and fancy and traditional dancing.

A major component of the Native American culture in the world today is expressed through military service. In this way, they carry on the warrior tradition. Fields told the crowd that even though the Indians were once defeated by those carrying the American flag, they pay tribute to the flag now because they fight and die for it also. Along with the Eagle Staff, the American flag is the flag of all Indian nations throughout the continent.

Since World War I, the number of Indians serving in the armed services has grown from approximately 8,000 to more than 41,500 men and women who served in Vietnam, and many in the ranks during Operation Desert Shield/Storm. Native Americans have been fighting for the United States even before they attained citizenship in 1924, Fields said.

A major part of pow wows today show respect, and honor all service men and women, and include dances created by tribal singers for each of the nation's wars.

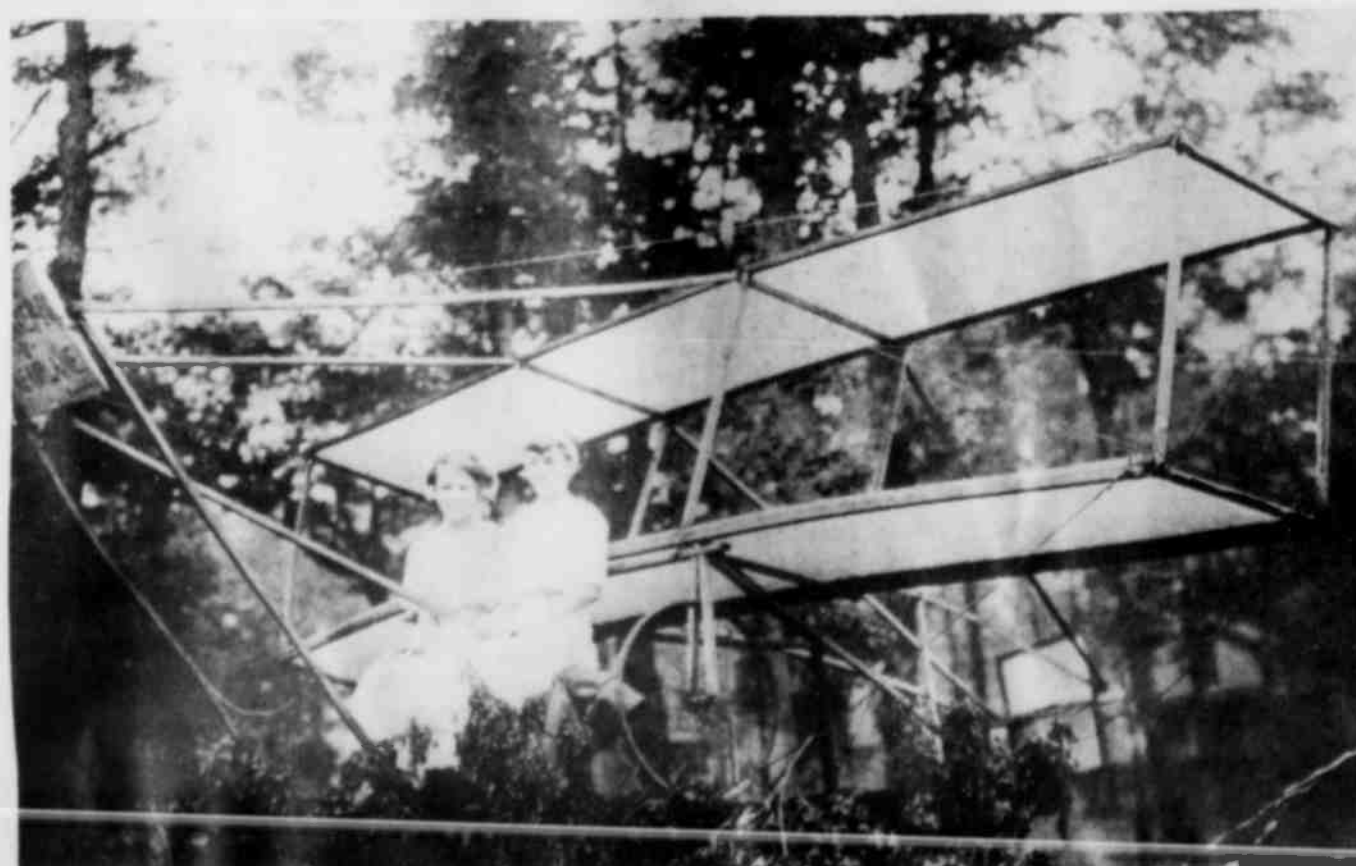

Members of AIITCO stress that Native Americans are not an extinct culture or artifact that can be labeled "Indian" and thereafter ignored. Just as other American citizens differ from their ancestors, so do the Native Americans. "People change, and as they do, their culture changes," said a spokesperson for the organization. Today, American Indians are determined to maintain their identity as Indians and are passing that sense of self-awareness on to their children and grandchildren.

New this year to the pow wow was a hatchet-throwing attraction. Under the supervision of an experienced hatchet thrower, participants were allowed to try their hand at this traditional Indian art. Other festivities

Glimpse Of The Past ...

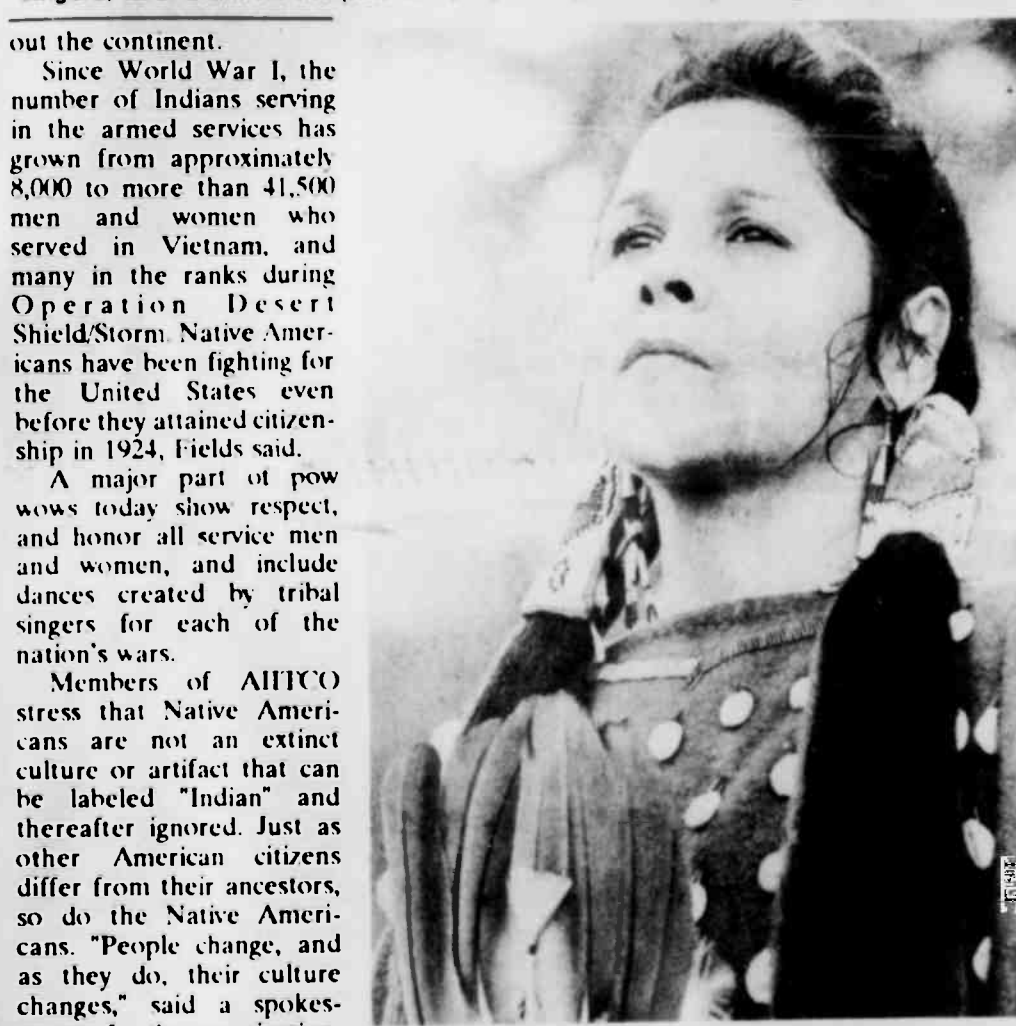

"SEEING MT. LAKE PARK BY AEROPLANE" is what it says on the sign of this odd-looking craft that most assuredly never really left the ground on any occasion. This photo was taken from a postcard with an Oakland illustration dated 1912, when the town of Mt. Lake Park

A VIETNAM ERA COLOR GUARD led the procession of Native Americans, representing more than 35 tribes, into the dance arena to begin the 12th Annual American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization, Inc. (AIITCO) Pow Wow this past weekend.

THE DRUM IS VITAL TO THE AMERICAN INDIAN. It is considered the heartbeat of the Creator, and thus is the pulse of the American Indian people. The Cedar Tree Singers, host drum for the pow wow, kept that pulse steady throughout the festivities.

included an expanded art display, and handicrafts including jewelry, blankets, and a wide variety of other Native American artifacts.

"We do not inherit the earth from our ancestors, we borrow it from our children." (American Indian proverb)

In the race for county school board, Rodney Durst is running unopposed. Patrick Riley will challenge incumbent Beverly Murphy, and incumbent Mikal Moo-mau will take on challengers Robert Paugh, Dale Carpenter, and Charlie Teets.

Three-term incumbent Delegate George C. Edwards will be challenged by DeCorsey Bolden who is a former three-term member of the House of Delegates. Both men are Republicans.

For the office of state's attorney, four-term incumbent Republican James L. Sherbin will face Democrat Thomas B. Dabney Jr.

Running for six seats on the Democratic Central Committee are Joseph E. Fink Jr., Donald H. Fratz, Nancy Jo Fratz, Charles P. Nolan, and Bruce Opel. Seven seats on the Republican Central Committee are being sought by Wendell R. Beitzel, William E. Crawford, Ruth DiPaolo, JoAnn H. Fletcher, R. Ann Groves, Arzella I. Parsons, John K. Sines, William C. Skipper, and Patricia S. White.

was a cultural, recreational, resort town well known throughout the eastern United States. The postcard is on loan by Milton Riley, Pleasant Valley, and is published here courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican.

THE MEN'S FANCY DANCE is a spectacular display of colorful feathers, bells, and whistles, as shown here. The young men prance and strut in an attempt to catch the eyes of the ladies.

Ballet

Katie Page, Leah Hoffman, Brandie Wynder, Meredith Bullamore, Tiffany Shirey, Sujata Roberts, Kate Gall, and Adriell Robinson. Faye Snow reads the poetry that complements the ballet.

Ms. Snow praised the ability of her dancers. "They are extremely hard working and dedicated. They work well together, and they produce magic on stage. There is a chemistry between the dancers, a deep feeling for their characters, and a profound understanding for how the characters relate to one another," she said.

The ballet tells the story of the pioneering spirit and rugged independence of the people who immigrated to the Appalachian Mountains in America from Europe and established flourishing family clans, farms, and businesses. Through dance and poetry and music, viewers are shown these pioneers' struggles first to find, then to enjoy, and finally to keep their freedom.

The classical dancing technique is performed to original bluegrass music.

Most of the poetry is written by Susan Allen, a published writer of short stories and poetry. Other poetry comes from the diary of Lt. Evans Atwood, an Appalachian native, and a Civil War poet. As a lieutenant in the Confederate Army, Atwood was wounded in battle and captured in 1863. During his four years as a prisoner of war, he kept a journal and wrote poetry about his experiences. Two of his poems are used in the ballet to give insight about "living, loving, and dying" during the American Civil War.

Local shows like the Spruce Forest performance at the Penn Alps Great Hall help the Ensemble raise money for its travel fund. The Cumberland Ballet Ensemble does not rely on tax dollars to support them, according to Ms. Snow. The box office proceeds from the Spruce Forest performance will help pay the expenses to send the group back to Edinburg in 1995.

Wendy Snow Walker designed the set and costumes for Appalachian Patchwork. Her costumes are colorful country calicoes, black funeral attire, and other special effects costumes that reflect the lives and legends of the region. Her props are genuine Appalachian antiques.

The ballet draws its name from the 10-foot by 30-foot Appalachian patchwork quilt, which serves as the set. The quilt shows a stylized mountain and valley scene, which includes a log cabin, a river winding down through the valley, a country church with a cemetery, cherry trees in full bloom, a plowed field of bottomland and a serene blue sky with puffy clouds, a bright yellow sun, and birds flying through the air.

Ms. Snow says the Cumberland Ballet Ensemble was formed in 1986 to give serious ballet pupils the opportunity to dance classical repertoire and to give rural populations the opportunity to see classical ballet performed. In the tradition of the spirit of self-reliance found in Appalachian Patchwork, the Cumberland Ballet Ensemble is privately funded by local sponsors.

The ensemble is trained by Ms. Snow at the Snow School of Classical Ballet in Cumberland. She is a former leading soloist for the Washington Ballet. She has been a master teacher since 1954 and her former students now dance with major companies all over the world.

Two Arrested On Drug Charges By DNR Rangers

Two campers at Swallow Falls State Park were arrested last weekend on drug charges, according to a report from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) State Forest and Park Service.

Brenton Ahalt, 24, Funkstown, and Tammy L. Karn, 22, Hagerstown, were both charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia after two rangers, Michael Berry and Timothy McMillon, raided the pair's campsite. The arrest took place at 12:30 a.m. on July 2.

The defendants were later released on their own recognizance, according to the report.

Health & Nutrition

STUDIES SHOW THAT ... drinking cranberry juice to treat urinary tract infections may well be one of those "old wives'" tales that we're seeing validated more and more these days. The University of Texas Health Letter cites a study in the Journal of the American Medical Association that says, as a common home remedy for urinary tract infection, cranberry juice can knock out some bacterial infections in older women who tend to be more at risk for these conditions. (Of course, to be on the safe side, always check with your doctor before you try any home remedy.)

... milk may contribute to infertility. The UT Health Letter says that researchers reporting in the American Journal of Epidemiology found that age-related fertility rates decline more rapidly in countries with the largest per capita consumption of milk. The milk-fertility linkage may be centered on galactose, a milk sugar that has been shown, in laboratory studies, to be toxic to ovarian cells (eggs).

... garlic continues to core high as a possible cancer-reducing factor in the diet. Dr. John Pinto of Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer center in New York City, recently reported that in his research on prostate cancer, using aged garlic extract seemed to block the growth of tumors on human prostate cells in culture.

sunlight may soon replace chlorine to produce safe, as well as environmentally friendly water-disinfection. The American Chemical Society reports that studies are being done on a method called solar-assisted water disinfection, which takes advantage of the ultraviolet (UV) part of natural sunlight to kill water-borne bacteria and to break up undesirable chemical contaminants.

The scientists involved in this project say it will be especially effective in remote and rural areas.

It will take several years before a commercial solar-assisted disinfection system for a large population can be produced, but the indications are that it's on its way.

Home Tips

MICROWAVE MAGIC — I do just what I do for my refrigerator to combat microwave odors. I slip in a small container of baking soda after using it. It works wonders for me. Wanda K., Cambria, Wis.

PLASTIC BAGS — I have a time-saving tip and a money-saver all in one. I keep the plastic bags that I get from discount stores and use them in my garbage can or wastebasket according to size. This saves buying bags. I also fold four or five bags and put them in the bottom of the wastebasket or can. When I take the full bag out, I have one ready to use without going to a different part of the house to get one. Annie J., Charlotte, N.C.

GREAT GIFT IDEA — Every Christmas, I try to hit as many after-Christmas sales as I can for decorations and cards to give as bridal shower or wedding gifts. It takes newlyweds many years to accumulate enough decorations. When decorations are 50 to 75 percent off, you can buy many things and spend $20. Besides tree decorations, you can get fingertip towels for the bath, fireplace rugs, candles, wreaths — and the list goes on. Nilda V., New Orleans, La.

SLIP-OFF PAINT — My husband bought oil-based paint and asked our son to paint the dog house. Of course, while painting, our son covered his hands as well. Our neighbor, who works with paint, told him to use vegetable oil to remove it. Amazingly, it did take off most of it and it was much gentler than gasoline or paint remover. Michelle S., Indianapolis, Ind.

DRAYTON'S DOLLY DINGLE DOORSTOP

One of the more popular illustrators of the early 20th century was Grace Drayton. Born as Grace Gebbie in 1876, her first drawings were published in the 1890s. She later gained fame as the creator of the Campbell's Soup kids in 1904 and a popular paper doll named Dolly Dingle in 1913.

She was married twice, to Theodore Widerseim and W. Heyward Drayton II. Her illustrations were marked with any one of her three surnames but she is best known as Grace Drayton.

Drayton illustrated many children's books, advertisements, magazine poems, stories and wrote a comic series called "The Pussycat Princess." Her round-eyed, full-faced characters were copied in many forms, including dolls, bookends and even iron doorstops.

Q. I have eight small plates with a pink and white design. On the back of the plate is the following: "Kent, Made in England by Swinerton Ltd. Genuine hand engraving, acid and detergent resistant colours." I know the word detergent has been in use since 1832 but to me it has only been in popular use since the use of the dishwasher. Can you help?

A. The words "detergent proof" or "detergent resistant colors" were first used about 1944. You probably have a rather recent version of an antique pink transfer design plate. Swinerton Ltd. has been making dinnerware in England since 1906.

Q. My old 7 1/2-inch milk pitcher is in the form of a deer or moose head. It is marked on the bottom, "Royal Bayreuth, Bavaria." What is it worth?

A. Your pitcher was made by a famous factory that started in Tettau, Bavaria, in 1794. The pottery company is still operating, and its mark has changed with the times and local politics. The word Bavaria was used from about 1870 to 1919. You probably own a piece known as the Elk pitcher. The spout is the animal head, the antlers curve back to form the top rim and part of the handle. A mint-condition pitcher sells for $495.

Q. Is there a quick way to check for a crack in a porcelain or glass bowl?

A. Support the foot of the bowl on one hand and "ping" the rim. The bowl will ring if it is perfect, it will "dunk" if it isn't.

TIP: For a pollution-free rug cleaner, use cornstarch. Sprinkle on rug or carpet, then vacuum.

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Bowser, Louisville, Ohio, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bowser. They attended their class reunion on Saturday evening, and the Reel reunion on Sunday.

John Walker from Channel 5 TV in Washington,

D.C., visited the homes of Mike and Joanne Walker, and with his grandparents last week.

Mrs. Evelyn Younklin, Newark, Del., stayed with Kathy Margroff and visited relatives and friends in the community.

Mrs. Mabel Miller and Mrs. Ann Miller and daughter were Friday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younklin.

Mrs. Ruth Miller returned to her home in Pittsburgh on Monday, with her grandson, David Dominick, from Virginia, and her granddaughter, Miss Amy Sasselli, and friend, after spending three weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younklin, and visiting with Mrs. Ora Younklin and other relatives and friends.

YOUNKIN REUNION

The 60th anniversary Younklin family reunion will be held at Kingwood, Pa., in Somerset County on July 22, 23 and 24. There will be a get-together of Younklin who will have an "acquaintance party" for members near and far, and all relatives are welcome at the Ramada Inn on Friday evening, July 22. There is no registration fee.

W.O.W. The Woodmen of the World met on Jun 27. Janis Pope, president, conducted the meeting.

There were 10 members present. Guests were Crystal Emmert and Jim Raley. Field representative, Ed Lytle was also present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, and a treasurer's report was given by Tom Bender.

A memorial was given to the rescue squad, in memory of Patricia Otto, and those who are ill were remembered.

Lodge No. 41 has been invited to conduct the devotional service for the 1995 convention, and have accepted the responsibility.

The adult and youth lodges have planned a combination picnic on July 23 at the lodge hall.

Harold Butler has been taking care of Negro Mountain Camp. The meeting place has been cleaned.

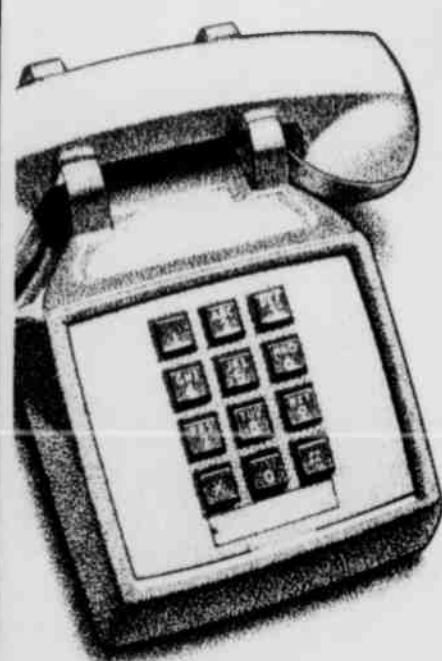

Walter Younklin won the door prize.

The W.O.W. Camp for August 15-18 is seeking counselors for camp.

This morning, did you open your window to the sun...smell the fresh scent of morning dew? Perhaps a soft breeze caressed your cheek and you smiled as a choir of birds sang their prelude to the day. While you slumbered, your Heavenly Father prepared for your awakening. "He who keeps you will not slumber" (Psalm 121:3).

As you traveled through your busy day, God was with you, guiding your steps, giving serenity to your soul. "The Lord is your shade upon your right hand..." (Psalm 121:5).

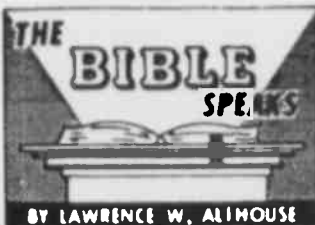

When you returned safely home to dine upon the repast from the Creator's soil, He cared for you still. "He will keep you going out and your coming in..." (Psalm 121:8).

Finally, as our Father wrapped you in the soft darkness of night, you could slumber peacefully. "The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night" (Psalm 121:6).

God is with us each day. Will you worship Him this Sabbath? "I will lift up mine eyes" (Psalm 121:1).

GOING IT ALONE
July 10, 1994

Background Scripture:
Exodus 18
Devotional Reading:
Exodus 18: 1-12

Moses had what I call "the Pastoral Syndrome," an affliction that seems to particularly strike clergy with the same disturbing frequency with which the general public is bothered with sinus and the common cold. Unlike those two maladies, however, "the Pastoral Syndrome" includes episodes of hallucination. Pastors are frequently under the delusion that they and alone must do it all if it is to be done at all. "It" may mean converting the neighborhood to Christ, solving the problems of all their parishioners, securing justice in the community, and making certain the church makes strides which are recorded in heaven.

Of course, clergy are not the only ones to be afflicted with these delusions. Lots of people I know believe that the world rests squarely on their shoulders and that they must hold it up all by themselves. I can understand that attitude, for it was mine for all too long. Unfortunately this attitude dooms one to disappointment, defeat and perhaps even bitterness. At first, it is kind of flattering to think that we are holding up the world all by ourselves, but after while we get a bit weary and begin to wonder why others aren't doing their share.

To be sure, people like this do tend to get a lot accomplished. But they also often discourage other people from shouldering their share of the burden, leading them to conclude that they have nothing to contribute. They sense that we think that they can't do it right—we're the only ones who can!—and so they never do learn to do it at all.

A FAITH PROBLEM
Most of all this is a faith problem. When we assume that it all depends upon us, it means we are not willing to trust God. Just as God taught the people to live one day at a time and trust to him for the rest, so Moses had to learn to share responsibility and trust that God had given abilities to others beside him. Yes, we need to do whatever we can with all the power and devotion that we can, but we also need to trust God to pick up where our effort ends. A clergyman associate of mine preached a sermon on this text from Exodus 18. He exhorted his congregation to learn to trust God and share responsibility with others. I was amused because this clergyman had a chronic and acute case of "the Pastoral Syndrome." He assumed that if he didn't do it, it would not be done or, at least, not done rightly. Yet, although he understood the meaning of this text for his congregation, it never occurred to him to apply it to his own life and ministry. Maybe I was so amused because I had once shared his delusion.

TAKING ADVICE
There are lots of times in our lives when we need someone like Jethro to come to us and say: "What is this that you are doing...?" Fortunately, Moses was willing to listen to his father-in-law and because he was willing, he was able to make an important change in his life. Jethro encouraged him to trust in the Lord and share the responsibility. "What you are doing is not good." (If someone said that to you, would you listen?) "You and the people with you will wear yourselves out, for the thing is too heavy for you; you are not able to perform it alone" (18:18). It is "not good" for Moses and it is "not good" for the people. When someone tries to do it on their own everyone is negatively affected.

But Moses was able to take advice from his father-in-law and he was able to share the burden, two great achievements

COVER STORY

Hodge happy to be 'Muddling Through'

BY JOHN CROOK

Less than a year after she was unceremoniously released from her "Nurses" contract to make room for Lori Anderson, Stephanie Hodge has landed the best role of her career.

The former stand-up comic plays bawdy blue collar mom Connie Drego in "Muddling Through," a new sitcom getting a trial run Saturday nights on CBS.

In the July 9 premiere, Connie returns from prison, where she spent three years for accidentally shooting her two-time husband, Sonny (D. David Morin). Within minutes of walking into Drego's Oasis, the family's cafe-service station-motel, however, she is yearning for life behind bars.

During Connie's incarceration, 18-year-old daughter Madeline (Jennifer Aniston) married "Trooper Cooper" (Tony Award winner Scott Waara), the cop whose testimony convicted Connie.

"Gee, I hope my cries of anguish as they dragged me away didn't spoil the magic of that moment," Connie snarls when she hears the young couple fell in love during her trial.

Younger daughter Kerri (Aimee Brooks), 16, has only a nodding acquaintance with school and raids her mom's closet for anything that is short, tight and made of leather. (Told that Kerri had worn one especially provocative outfit to school, Connie gasps, "T.H.I. me it wasn't career day?")

The icing on the cake is the fact that faithless husband Sonny is back in town and living in one of the rental cottages behind the cafe. This, at least, gives Connie an opportunity to terrify Sonny by awakening him and announcing that she has escaped from prison to get bloody revenge.

"Scream all you want," she purrs. "There's no one left to hear you."

I like her "Nurses" role as Sandy Miller, a character who was a mildly rewritten variation on her wisecracking stand-up persona, the "Muddling Through" role gives Hodge an opportunity to create a far more complex personality. Series creator and executive producer Barton Dean says the actress blew him out of the water with her audition reading.

"Coming off of 'Nurses,' I wasn't sure what her range was," he says. "And when she came in and read, the acting just stunned me."

"And there wasn't a thing that I would have changed. So that determined it right there. I think it was probably the range of what's available between the two shows."

"It's the depth of the characters," Hodge says. "Connie Drego is a woman with a past, she's a woman with a present, and a woman who looks forward to the future. She's not a character who's there this minute and then next week it's a different moment. It's a continuation. And that really, really helps."

"Muddling Through" is far more of a star vehicle for Hodge than her work on the ensemble-oriented "Nurses," but she says she is thriving on the increased workload.

"On 'Nurses,' I could read a lot of novels," she says drily. "Now I'm going to save them up for summer hiatus."

IN FOCUS

Mia Korf stars as Carol Lee-Rembrandt, a rising young criminal prosecutor, in "Silent Witness: What a Child Saw," a TV movie premiering Thursday, July 14, on the USA Network.

The drama, which co-stars Bill Nunn, focuses on the case of an innocent black youth accused of killing three Asians in a senseless shooting outside an inner-city market.

The only actual witness to the crime is a small boy who is terrified to come forward with the truth.

Head for hills, lakes, etc.: summer reruns are here

BY SUZANNE GILL

It's summertime, when television programmers' fancies lightly turn to thoughts of ... tall, Mr. and Mrs. America, so the executives believe, are on vacation, or by the pool or backyard grill. So need to offer anything worth watching because no one is. Woe betide the weary summer worker, then, hiding from the heat and hoping for a bit of pleasant diversion on the home screen. With rare exceptions, summer is, as Yogi Berra put it, déjà vu all over again.

In the week's rerun sweepstakes, Fox gets credit for having the most imagination, scheduling "The Babe," for Monday, July 11, just 24 hours before NBC's broadcast of the Major League All Star Game.

John Goodman (currently of "The Flintstones") stars as Babe Ruth, in a retelling of the legend that touches all the well-known bases, his lonely childhood, the discovery of his talent in a sandlot game at a Catholic boys' school, his big kid attitude toward success, his disappointing first marriage, the sickroom visit to little Johnny Sylvester, and the moment when he pointed over the fence during a World Series game at Wrigley Field, indicating where he would put the ball just moments later.

"The Babe" rushes entertainingly along to its obvious conclusion, when a besotted Ruth gives up the game. Like so many film biographies, each moment tumbles headlong into the next in an effort to avoid leaving anything out. Yet most fans already know the story, it might have been more pleasant for a film to have let Ruth bask in his glory, to have left him lobbying practice balls to the boys in the cheap seats in Yankee Stadium, hardly more than a boy himself.

Other reruns of note include "Suburban Commando," Sunday, July 10, on NBC. Hulk Hogan stars in this family fantasy as an alien warrior who gets a slice of middle-American life. Christopher Lloyd, Shelley Duvall and Jack Elam co-star.

CBS repeats the drama "In a Child's Name," with Valerie Bertinelli, Sunday and Tuesday, July 12. Bertinelli plays a woman seeking custody of her late sister's son.

HBO weighs in Saturday, July 16, with the debut of "Hot Shots! Part Deux," starring Charlie Sheen and Lloyd Bridges.

Finally, is it all an eerie coincidence, or what? The USA Network has four "Amazing Stories" movies, airing Tuesday and Wednesday, July 13, and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," Saturday

British invasion brings seasonal eccentricity

BY SUZANNE GILL

PBS hopes its summer viewers will be ready for something completely different on Monday nights beginning July 11.

The evening starts with "Rough Guide," a travel show for Generation X with hosts Magenta De Vine and Rajan Datar. A production of Britain's BBC North, the series checks out the odd, the outrageous and the unusual — from underground city dwelling in Montreal and the plastic surgery business in Venezuela to bullfighting in California and tattoos and cappuccino in Seattle.

"Rough Guide" is nothing if not politically correct, and American viewers may find issues such as the plight of the spotted owl oversimplified, but the series more than makes up for this with its instructive take on 20-something life.

Next up is "The Steven Banks Show," the long-promised series from executive producer Brandon Tartikoff, who's now heading up Rupert Murdoch's New World Communications. Banks' baby boomer love of rock 'n' roll culture is the series' centerpiece and makes for a tour de force debut, but the series continues unevenly.

"Clive James" will remind older viewers of a one-man "That Was the Week That Was," with its sly take on politics and celebrity news and its laughing-up-the-sleeve interviews of Engelbert Humperdinck, Fabio and others. There is plenty of British humor, both highbrow and low.

Finally, last summer's "In the Spotlight" concerts return, beginning with a rerun of "Billy Joel: Shades of Grey."

Viewers should check local listings for exact air dates and times for PBS programming.

Rajan Datar and Magenta De Vine are the hosts of British import travel series "Rough Guide," starting its second season, Monday on PBS (check local listings).

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Did Meg Ryan once play Betsy on "As the World Turns"? —Mary Brewster, Portsmouth, N.H.

A: Yes.

Q: I enjoy "Evening Shade" with Burt Reynolds. Can you please tell me where I can write him? —M.L.B., Daytona Beach, Fla.

A: "Shade" will not be back in the fall, but you can write Reynolds C/O CBS Inc., 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

Q: Where is the show "In the Heat of the Night" filmed? —M.G., Joplin, Mo.

Q: I keep seeing several of the supporting actors from "In the Heat of the Night" on Southern-themed TV movies. Are they regional actors? —A.L.G., Storm Lake, Iowa.

Q: Where can fans write to Howard Rollins? I think he just comes alive in "In the Heat of the Night." —M. Pullen, Huntington, W.Va.

A: "Heat," which returns next season only as four TV movies, was filmed mainly in and around Covington, Ga., and drew heavily on the talent pool in nearby Atlanta. Georgia is attracting more and more movie projects, so you're apt to see many of those "Heat" faces again and again.

As I reported earlier, Rollins was fired from "Heat" after a series of drug and alcohol arrests. He is awaiting trial on another set of the same charges. Given his current legal situation, I can't even guess where you should write him. Sorry.

Q: Where can I write to Arnold Schwarzenegger? —Nancy Breton, Webster, Fla.

A: Try writing him C/O ICM, 8912 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90211.

Q: At the end of the Charles Kuralt anniversary special on CBS, they gave instructions on how to order the show on tape, but I did not catch it. Can you help me? —Mrs. C.S. Mercer, Tyler, Texas.

A: A spokesman in the CBS archives department says viewers should call (800) 854-1331 to order copies or for additional information.

UPDATES: The video of "The Juggler of Notre Dame" now is being distributed, not by Buena Vista Home Video, but by Paulist Productions, P.O. Box 1057, Pacific Palisades, Calif. 90272.

"Christy" didn't make the final cut for a fall slot on CBS (it dropped in the ratings every week), but will continue in production and return as a midseason replacement series.

Finally, I keep getting letters asking where to write the "Next Generation" Star Trek. Though the show is gone, you can still write them C/O Paramount Television, 5555 Melrose Ave., Hollywood, Calif. 90038. Save this address.

Stephanie Hodge, D. David Morin, Jennifer Aniston and Aimee Brooks (from left) star in "Muddling Through," a new comedy series airing Saturdays on CBS.

IN FOCUS

Jose Carreras, Placido Domingo and Luciano Pavarotti perform with conductor Zubin Mehta in "Carreras, Domingo and Pavarotti With Mehta: The Three Tenors in Concert," a PBS special airing live in many areas on Saturday, July 16 (check local listings).

The concert is telecast from Los Angeles' Dodger Stadium in conjunction with World Cup soccer. The performance marks a reunion of the same singers and conductor from a famous concert staged in Rome in 1990.

CABLE OVERVIEW

Cult hit 'MST 3000' launches a new season

BY JOHN CROOK

Mike Nelson, Crow T. Roth and Tom Servo begin a sixth season of bad movies on "Mystery Science Theater 3000," Saturday, July 16, on Comedy Central.

"Girls Town" with Mamie Van Doren kicks off the 1994-95 lineup. Other offerings include "Invasion USA," "The Dead Talk Back" and "Zombie Nightmare" ("THAT's a sweet movie," laughs associate producer Kevin Murphy, the voice of little robot Servo).

Recalling a past mega-turkey called "Manos: The Hands of Fate," head writer Nelson says, "We have one coming up that has very much the same feel to it. It's called 'The Skydivers,' and it's got those same shots where the camera holds for about three seconds too long on everybody after they're done delivering their line. The cumulative effect is sort of creepy and odd and comical."

Since executive producer Jim Mallon and former host Joel Hodgson first dreamed up the series, inspired by the communal experience of good friends watching lousy movies together, the Peabody Award-winning show has continued to evolve into its current status as a cult hit. Mallon credits the chemistry of the performers themselves for that success.

Trace (Beaulieu) came in and picked up Crow and it was one of those magical moments of show biz history," he says, only half tongue-in-cheek. "Whatever Crow is, it's really a lot about who Trace Beaulieu is. Kevin came in and gave Tom Servo dimension and romance and really breathed life into Tom."

When Nelson took over as host last year, the formula changed again. "Now it's more like three brothers," he says. "I think it's like Moe, Larry and Curly," Murphy adds. "But any of us could be Moe at any given time."

VCR alert: TNT has two in demand, not-on-video titles on tap this week. "The Iron Mistress" with Alan Ladd airs Sunday, July 10, while "Heavy Metal" airs late-night Saturday, July 17.

TBS observes the 25th anniversary of the lunar landing with "Moon Shot," a four-hour presentation premiering Monday and Wednesday, July 11 and 13.

The Disney Channel commemorates the same event with "A Moon Man From Massachusetts: The Robert Goddard Story," a profile of the pioneer in rocket development. It premieres Tuesday, July 12.

"Silent Witness: What a Child Saw," a violent TV movie, premieres Thursday, July 14, on the USA Network.

SOAP TALK

Fan club events for 'Y&R' and 'B&B'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Fans of "The Bold and the Beautiful" and "The Young and the Restless" may want to take advantage of this summer's cheaper airfares the weekend of July 30 and go to Los Angeles.

July 30-31 is fan club week end for the shows at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Fans can eat breakfast with the stars of "B&B" at the Buns, Bagel & Breakfast event on Saturday morning in the Hilton's Grand Ballroom. Attending the event will be John McCook, Bobbie Eakes, Michael Sabatino, Brent Janner, Schae Harrison, Ken LaRon and some surprise guests. Fans can talk with the actors and get autographs and photos.

Tickets for the breakfast are $50 each and include breakfast, tax, tip and a welcome kit containing special photos and other commemorative items. Checks should be made payable to Cathy Tomas, C/O The Bold and the Beautiful, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Suite 3371, Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

A "B&B" fan club event will follow, and planned activities include watching videotaped highlights from the show, a talent show, a question and answer session, raffles and contests. Admission to the event is $70 for fan club members and $80 for nonmembers. Make checks payable to the series' fan club at the 7800 Beverly Blvd. address, Suite 3305.

On Sunday, "Y&R" fans can eat breakfast with cast members in the Versailles room of The Beverly Hilton. The cost is

Tonya Lee Williams

$50. Guests will include Tonya Lee Williams, John Castellanos, Laura Brann, Kate Linder, Eric Braeden, Jerry Douglas, Veronica Redd, Forrest, Scott Reeves and surprise guests. Fans who wish to attend should send their checks to Cathy Tomas at the same address given for the "B&B" breakfast.

Following the breakfast will be the fan club event, which includes luncheon, a photo and autograph session, a question-and-answer period, a silent auction of show memorabilia and other surprises. Admission is the same price as the "B&B" event.

Checks for the event should be made payable to the fan club at the 7800 Beverly Blvd. address, Suite 3305.

If you plan on staying at the hotel, call 1-800-HILTONS to inquire about their special $125 room rate for attendees of the events.

Send questions to Soap Talk, Features Dept., TV Data Technologies, Northway Plaza, Queensbury, N.Y. 12804.

Thorpe Awards honor Aaron, other athletes

BY MARK L. PASSARO

After seeing many award presentations on television, producer Ken Wolfe decided there was something missing.

"I always thought there was an absolute vacuum for a quality sports award show," Wolfe says. "These sports figures had clearly begun to go beyond the sports world to become entertainment stars, and I thought it was a natural to create a sports award show."

Wolfe's creation will turn 3 years old on Monday, July 11, when the "Jim Thorpe Pro Sports Awards" airs live on ABC.

"I wanted to do it with credibility and quality," he says, "so I named it after Jim Thorpe, who I thought was generally recognized as the greatest all-around athlete in history."

For the second consecutive year, comedian and "Hagin' With Mr. Cooper" star Mark Curry will be host of the show, which honors top professional athletes in football, baseball, basketball, boxing, ice hockey, auto racing, golf and tennis.

The winners are determined by the 40-member Thorpe Academy, which is assembled by Wolfe. The Academy consists of five voters — three athletes and two journalists — in each of the eight categories.

"You really have the legends in each of these sports voting," Wolfe says, alluding to the likes of Bob Cousy and Kareem Abdul Jabbar in the basketball category and Ernie Banks and Stan Musial in baseball. "It gives the award immediate meaning, and in a world where there are so many awards given out, I think it's quite important that it has some real quality and strength to it."

The gala in Los Angeles will be highlighted by special tributes. Among those honored will be baseball's home run king Henry Aaron, who will receive the Lifetime Achievement Award (joining past winners Muhammad Ali and Joe DiMaggio); the Inspiration Award will be presented to Olympic figure skating champion Oksana Baiul; the Thorpe Legacy Award to hockey's all-time goal and points leader Wayne Gretzky; and the Career Achievement Award to pro football's winningest coach, Don Shula.

"In Aaron, Gretzky and Shula, we have three amazing stories of record-breaking performers," says Wolfe, who recently won an award himself, an Emmy, for his production work on ABC's "Monday Night Football."

"I think ultimately it will be one of the greatest collections of multisport athletes in our place."

Marks Given Hard Knocks Degree By A-B

Lewis M. Marks of Mtn. Lake Park was a member of the 1994 Class of the University of Hard Knocks at Alderson-Broaddus College in Philippi, W. Va. The class consisted of 80 people from 16 states and class members received their honorary degrees in commencement ceremonies held Saturday, June 4, in A-B's Wilcox Chapel.

The University of Hard Knocks program at A-B recognizes individuals who have achieved knowledge and success through life's "hard knocks" rather than through higher education.

Marks, a retired construction superintendent and supervisor for Island Creek Coal Company, is a member of the Elks, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ali Ghan Shrine Club and clown unit, Oakland Chapter of the Eastern Star, and Oakland Lodge 192 AF&AM. He also served in the United States Army and was awarded the Purple Heart.

Volunteers Clean Broadford Park

Volunteers gathered at the Broadford Community Park on June 17 to help clean pavilions, weed and paint. Jerry Smith, maintenance supervisor at Broadford, and Frank King, Volunteer Maryland coordinator, helped organize the project.

Volunteering their time to the project were Charles Tusing, Melissa Green, Becky Tasker, Joe Ashby, Diane Miller, Shelly Smith, Max Dubansky, and April Paugh. The project was part of a "people helping people" network sponsored through Garrett County Community Action.

Sierra Club Plans July 12 Picnic, Field Trip

The Western Maryland Group of the Sierra Club will meet for its annual potluck picnic on Tuesday, July 12, beginning at 7 p.m. at the picnic pavilion at the Finzel ballfield. Persons planning to attend are asked to bring a covered dish and table service. Drinks will be provided.

A field trip into The Nature Conservancy's Finzel Swamp preserve will precede the picnic at 5:30 p.m. A naturalist will lead the trip, and all participants are asked to meet at the preserve sign and gate.

Following the picnic, a representative from the Maryland Chapter of The Nature Conservancy will present a program about the conservancy's work in Maryland. Its mission is "to find, protect, and manage the best examples of communities, ecosystems and endangered species in the natural world," said a spokesperson for the Sierra Club. The conservancy owns 11 swamps, caves and shale barrens in Western Maryland. Field trip and volunteer opportunities are available, the spokesperson added.

To reach the Finzel Swamp preserve, take 1-68 to Finzel Exit 29. Go north on Rt. 546 for 1.7 miles. Turn right on a dirt road on the north side of the ballfield. Continue down the dirt road past the ballfield. Where four driveways converge, take the second one from the left. Follow this road .6 miles to the preserve sign and gate.

For more information, persons may call Louis Bernstein at (301) 777-3212.

County Students On Dean's List

The Western Maryland College dean's list has been announced for the 1994 spring semester. Inclusion on the list requires a 3.4 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Highest honors are earned for a 3.8-4.0 average; high honors for a 3.6-3.79 average; and honors for a 3.4-3.59 average.

Students from Oakland on the spring dean's list include Ingrid R. Carlson, highest honors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Carlson; Amy J. Rice, highest honors, daughter of Diane and Jay Rice; and Alison C. Winters, honors, daughter of Alana and Joseph Winters.

Western Maryland College, located in Westminster, is a private, independent college emphasizing high standards and achievements in the liberal arts and sciences.

Teen Christian Expo Planned

Lakeside Assembly of God will host its first Teen Christian Expo, July 11-16.

"The evenings will be packed with excitement and challenge through crowd-breakers, music, drama, and worship," said Debbie Shank, youth pastor at the church. She and her husband, Robert Shank, will challenge the teens nightly with issues youth are facing today.

Services will be each weeknight from 6:30-9 p.m., and will conclude Saturday evening with a picnic at 5 p.m., followed by a closing program.

The expo is open to all teens in grades 7-12, and persons with questions may contact Debbie Shank at 387-9242.

Lakeside Assembly of God is located two miles south of Deep Creek Lake on Rt. 219.

NORTH STAR 4-H
Debra Green, reporter

The June 14 meeting of the North Star 4-H Club was conducted at the Accident Park.

The club talked about a 4th of July fundraiser, Pro Sports Land, and a trip to Kenneywood Park, set for July 24.

Club members cleaned the Accident fire hall on June 25, and participated in the Grantsville Day parade.

The next meeting will be July 12 at the Accident Park, beginning at 7 p.m.

COUNTRY KIDS
Nick Giotfelty, reporter

The Country Kids 4-H Club met June 21. Reports were given about a marksmanship class, a cooking class, a sheep weigh-in, and a sewing class.

The members discussed a trip to Sandcastle water park. The cost will be $9 per person, and the trip is set for July 14.

Family Planning Program Begun By Health Dept.

The Garrett County Health Department recently began project HOPE (Healthy Options for Prevention and Empowerment), offering new options in family planning and birth control for area residents with the help of state funds.

As an addition to the current family planning program that has been in existence at the local agency since 1971, Maryland residents who qualify may now receive either the Norplant system or Depo-Provera as a method of birth control. Some money is also available for a vasectomy program through local physicians.

The Norplant system is a unique subdermal contraceptive system that provides five years of continuous birth control. The system consists of six thin capsules that are placed in a fan-like pattern just under the skin on the inside surface of the upper arm through a small incision using a local anesthetic. The capsules, which contain a synthetic, progestin hormone, are placed during a 10 to 15 minute office procedure. The Norplant system is one of the most effective forms of reversible birth control.

Depo-Provera is an injectable form of contraception, given as a shot in either the buttock or the upper arm, that protects against pregnancy for three months. Its active ingredient is a chemical similar to the natural hormone progesterone. Depo-Provera is over 99% effective and is reversible.

Vasectomies are office surgical procedures for men that provide a permanent form of birth control.

The Health Department's family planning program continues to offer birth control pills, condoms, foam, diaphragms, IUDs, and vaginal contraceptive film for residents in and around the area who qualify. The program is available on an appointment basis and includes a complete physical, pap smear, and birth control. All services of the program are offered on a sliding fee scale.

For more information on the new services offered through the Health Department's family planning program or to set up an appointment, contact Carol Clark at 334-8111.

Maryland You are Beautiful®

"MARYLAND & GARRETT COUNTY YOU ARE BEAUTIFUL" CITIZEN RECOGNITION

We are looking for Maryland's Beautiful People—those special people whose inner beauty compels them to actively love their neighbors—we want to make Marylanders aware of the great things their fellow citizens are doing. The "Maryland You Are Beautiful" citizen Recognition Ceremony celebrates and honors individuals or groups from each county and the City of Baltimore who make Maryland Beautiful. Each County will select one special individual or group to be honored as "Maryland's Most Beautiful" at a private reception with the Governor and a public awards ceremony in Annapolis scheduled for October 19, 1994. This event will be free and open to every Marylander, with entertainment provided by talented groups from every corner of the state.

The individual or group chosen for Garrett County will be recognized at the commissioners meeting October 4, 1994

SUPER SUMMER PASTABILITIES

This summer, fuel friends' and family's passion for pasta with make-ahead Mex-Italian Pasta Salad (top) and made-in-minutes Roman Chicken Pasta (bottom). Both crowd-pleasing recipes take their lively, garden-fresh flavor and streamlined preparation from San Antonio's own Pace® Picante Sauce in the cook's choice of mild, medium or hot.

As a nation, we're positively passionate about pasta. The average American enjoyed 19 pounds of pasta in 1991 — up 48% from 1989 — and trend trackers predict that per person consumption will exceed 30 pounds by the year 2000. The reasons for pasta's prodigious popularity are plain: First and foremost, pasta tastes great. It's also "comforting," convenient, satisfying and super simple to prepare. One of the darlings of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Guide Pyramid — our best guide to healthy eating — pasta is protein-packed, loaded with energy-giving complex carbohydrates and low in fat. Endlessly versatile, it's never the same twice.

This summer, check out some fresh "pastabilities" with a crowd-pleasing new recipe collection from the Pace® Picante Sauce Test Kitchens. Recipes star pasta in two well-loved ways — in cool, refreshing, make-ahead salads, and in made-in-minutes, top-of-the-range main dishes. Each easy entree is ready to serve in mere minutes, and each streamlines the way to garden-fresh flavor and just the desired degree of lively jalapeno heat with San Antonio's own Pace® Picante Sauce in the cook's choice of mild, medium or hot. Mixed into mayonnaise, sour cream or favorite bottled dressings, a generous measure of this one-of-a-kind picante sauce adds Texas-size taste to any pasta or fresh vegetable salad. Stirred into store-bought or home-made pasta sauce as it heats, it packs a major flavor punch.

Try these fast and fabulous pasta pleasers to see just how easy — and delicious — summer cooking can be.

Mex-Italian Pasta Salad

- 8 ounces radiatore or rotini pasta
- 1 cup Pace® Picante Sauce
- 1/2 cup bottled Italian dressing
- 1/2 teaspoon dry basil, crushed
- 3 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1 can (8 ounces) kidney beans, rinsed and drained
- 1/2 cup thawed frozen peas, drained
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1/2 cup sliced ripe olives (optional)
- 1 cup cherry tomato halves or 1 medium tomato, seeded and chopped
- 1 to 2 ripe avocados, peeled, seeded and chopped

Cook pasta according to package directions; drain thoroughly. Transfer to large bowl. Combine picante sauce, dressing, basil, cheese and cumin, mixing well. Pour over hot pasta; mix well. Add beans, peas, celery and, if desired, olives, mix well. Chill. Just before serving, stir in tomato and avocado. Serve with additional grated parmesan cheese and additional picante sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Curried Chick 'n Pasta Salad

- 2 cups rotini pasta
- 2 cups diced cooked chicken
- 2 to 3 cups diced tart red apples, as desired
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1/2 to 1/3 cup sliced green onions with tops, as desired
- 1/2 cup Pace® Picante Sauce
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup mango chutney
- 1/2 teaspoon curry powder

Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. Transfer to large bowl. Add chicken, apples, celery and green onions. In small bowl, combine picante sauce, mayonnaise, chutney and curry powder, mixing well. Pour over pasta mixture; mix well. Chill. Serve with additional picante sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings, about 7 cups salad.

San Antonio Shrimp 'n Shells Salad

- 2 cups medium shell pasta
- 1/2 pound cooked, peeled and deveined medium shrimp
- 1 medium green pepper, cut into short, thin strips
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced green onions with tops
- 1/2 cup Pace® Picante Sauce
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh cilantro
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup small cherry tomato halves

Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. Transfer to large bowl. Add shrimp, green pepper and green onions. In small bowl, combine picante sauce, mayonnaise, cilantro, cumin and salt, mix well. Pour over pasta mixture; mix well. Chill. Just before serving, stir in tomatoes. Serve with additional picante sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Roman Chicken Pasta

- 6 to 8 ounces mostaccioli, penne or other favorite pasta
- 2 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves, cut into 1/2-inch chunks
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 can (15 ounces) kidney or black beans, rinsed and drained
- 1/2 cups chopped tomato
- 1/2 cup Pace® Picante Sauce
- 1/2 cup shredded fresh basil leaves or 1 teaspoon dry basil
- Grated parmesan cheese

Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. While pasta is cooking, cook chicken, onion and garlic in oil in large skillet, stirring occasionally, until chicken loses its pink color. Add beans, tomatoes, picante sauce and basil; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 4 to 5 minutes or to desired consistency, stirring occasionally. Add pasta; mix well. Serve with cheese and additional picante sauce. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Spaghetti Western

- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped
- 4 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 can (15 ounces) pinto, kidney or black beans, rinsed and drained
- 2 medium tomatoes, seeded and chopped
- 1 cup Pace® Picante Sauce
- 2 teaspoons ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 8 ounces thin spaghetti
- Optional toppings: Shredded cheddar cheese, chopped cilantro, sliced ripe olives

In 10-inch skillet, brown meat with onion and garlic; drain. Add remaining ingredients except spaghetti and optional toppings; mix well. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Uncover and simmer 3 to 4 minutes or to desired consistency. While meat mixture simmers, cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain. Serve meat mixture over spaghetti, top as desired and serve with additional picante sauce. Makes 4 servings, about 4 cups spaghetti sauce.

Quick Chick 'n Spinach Pesto Pasta

- 1/2 pound penne, mostaccioli or other favorite pasta
- 1 cup firmly packed fresh spinach leaves
- 1/2 cup Pace® Picante Sauce
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 large cloves garlic
- 1 teaspoon dry basil
- 2 to 2 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken breast, as desired
- 1 large tomato, chopped
- 1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese

Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. While pasta cooks, in work bowl of food processor or blender container, combine spinach, 1/4 cup of the picante sauce, oil, garlic and basil; process or blend until smooth. Transfer to medium bowl. Add remaining 1/2 cup picante sauce, chicken, tomato and cheese; mix well. Toss chicken mixture with hot cooked pasta, mixing well. Serve immediately with additional grated parmesan cheese and additional picante sauce. Makes 4 servings.

PHOTO EXHIBIT ON DISPLAY AT GCC - Currently on display in the Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery of Garrett Community College is an exhibition of photographs by Larry Smith. According to gallery coordinator Ron Skidmore, an opening reception for the exhibit will be Saturday, July 9, from 7-10 p.m. in the gallery. The public is invited. Formerly of Hagerstown, Smith has been a resident of Oakland since March 1991. His photographs, from film development to print processing, are done entirely in his own darkroom at his home. Smith is currently a licensed electrician, retired from the telephone company, whose lifelong interest has been photography. "Even before I could read or write," he said, "I saw an image projected on a wall from some broken dime-store glasses. It was a revelation -- a lesson I never forgot." That vision inspired his dedication to photography at an early age. When he was 11 years old, he built a "Camera Obscura," a simple lens, mirror, and paper in a box. Even though he never formally studied art or photography, his interest grew and he became a self-taught photographer. Smith's photography has been exhibited at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland, the Art Company in Davis, W. Va., and in the annual competition of the Cumberland Valley Photo Salon at the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts in Hagerstown. The exhibit at GCC includes 22 of Smith's black-and-white photographs, which are primarily "nature photography" focusing on landscape images and close-ups which approach abstraction. Gallery hours for the summer are 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, evenings and weekends during special events. Smith's exhibit will be on display through July 29.

Police Issue Reminder On New Gun Law

The Maryland State Police Licensing Division is reminding Marylanders who purchased handguns defined as "assault pistols" from someone other than a licensed Maryland gun dealer to comply with the new assault pistol law before August 1, 1994.

If the gun is on the list of weapons prohibited for sale and it was previously purchased in a private sale, the owner must file a form 77R with the Maryland State Police Licensing Division before August 1, 1994.

Gun owners who previously purchased one of these weapons from a licensed Maryland gun dealer are already in compliance with the law.

The new law, which took effect June 1, prohibits both the public and private sales of certain weapons defined as assault pistols. The law also requires those who purchased one of the weapons from someone other than a licensed Maryland gun dealer to file a form 77R with the licensing division. There is no filing fee required. Forms may be obtained at any Maryland State Police barracks.

Violation of this law is a misdemeanor and is punishable by three years in jail and/or a $5,000 fine.

Persons with questions about this issue may call the Maryland State Police Licensing Division at 410-298-3385.

Oral Contraceptives Shown to Prevent Cancer of the Ovaries
Researchers studied the health records of women who did and did not have family histories of ovarian cancer. Some of the women used oral contraceptives; others did not. Here's what they found:
• The risk of having ovarian cancer decreased with increased duration of oral contraceptive use. This protective effect was shown to occur in women who did and did not have family histories of ovarian cancer.
• Ten years of oral contraceptive use by women with a family history of ovarian cancer can reduce their risk to a level below that for women whose family history is negative, but who never use oral contraceptives.
• It is known that women who give birth to children have a reduced risk of developing ovarian cancer. The results of this study suggest that 5 years of oral contraceptive use by women who do not give birth can reduce their risk to that of women who have given birth, but who have never used oral contraceptives.

Maryland Bids For Special Olympics World Games 1999

Governor William Donald Schaefer has submitted Maryland's formal bid to host the 1999 Special Olympics World Summer Games. After receiving the bid from the Governor on the steps of the State House, a delegation of Maryland Special Olympics athletes traveled to Special Olympics International headquarters in Washington, D.C., where they presented it to Eunice Kennedy Shriver, founder of Special Olympics, and Sargent Shriver, chairman of Special Olympics International.

"Maryland is the ideal location for the 1999 Special Olympics World Summer Games," said Governor Schaefer. "Not only do we have the experience, the world-class facilities and the resources to make the Special Olympics World Summer Games an outstanding success, we also have a unique historical perspective. The Special Olympics movement began in Maryland more than 25 years ago, in Eunice Kennedy Shriver's back yard."

"Maryland Special Olympics is excited by the show of support and enthusiasm from the state of Maryland, its citizens and the business community," said Patricia Krebs, Ph.D., chief executive officer, Maryland Special Olympics. "As the state moves forward to host the 1999 Games, Maryland Special Olympics strives to reach its goal of 20,000 by 2,000." That is to involve 20,000 Marylanders with mental retardation in our programs by the year 2,000.

More than 8,500 athletes and coaches from over 150 countries are expected to take part in the 1999 Special Olympics World Summer Games. The Games will feature competition in aquatics, athletics, admin-ton, basketball, bocce, bowling, cycling, equestrian events, football (soccer), golf, gymnastics, power lifting, rollerskating, sailing, softball, table tennis, team handball, tennis and volleyball.

Special Olympics provides year-round training and competition in a variety of well-coached Olympic-type sports for children and adults with mental retardation. The goal of the program is to provide these individuals with continuing opportunities to develop physical fitness and become valuable citizens within their community.

Lions To Meet, Get Ready For Annual Barbecue

Members of the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions will meet Monday, July 11, at 6:15 p.m. at the Lions pavilion, McHenry fairgrounds.

The project for the evening is to clean up the area, now, trim grass, spread shale on walkways, repair the cooking pit, and other necessary jobs to prepare for the Lions' annual chicken barbecue at the Garrett County Agriculture Fair in August.

Lions are asked to bring mowers, trimmers, screwdrivers, and pliers (to pull staples from tables), rakes, and pointed shovels.

Maid of honor was Maney Upole. Other contestants included Cindy Teats, Hannah Schmuck, Jessica Stemple, and April Lewis.

The contestants were escorted by Accident volunteer firemen. Jeanette Wampler served as mistress of ceremonies, and the 1993 princess, Julie Strider, offered the closing remarks.

Judges for the contest were Ann Sherrard, Kathleen Fratz, Carol Miller, Phil Rook, and the Rev. Stephen Yelovich.

The homecoming contest, sponsored by the Accident Volunteer Fire Department, is open each year to Accident area girls, ages 13-18, and is conducted in conjunction with the town's 4th of July activities.

Miss Knox will promote the fire department at various activities and parades throughout the year.

Maust Wins Scholarship

Julia Maust of Accident has received the McDonald's Scholarship to attend Frostburg State University.

Maust is a junior early childhood and elementary education major with a mathematics concentration. She is a day care substitute and a member of the Baptist Student Union.

She is the daughter of Markel and Miriam Maust.

Siblings Recognized For Achievements

Both Jennifer P. Moon and Randy Kitzmiller, a sister and brother from the Oakland area, were recently recognized for their achievements in their respective areas of study.

Jennifer and Randy are the children of Libby and Randy Kitzmiller, and the grandchildren of Gertrude J. Dean. Jennifer is also the daughter of James P. Savage, and the granddaughter of Loretta (Savage) Scott. Randy's other grandparents are the late Eugene and Nina Kitzmiller.

Jennifer graduated from Allegany Community College in June with a degree in medical laboratory technology. While a student there, she was president of her class. She maintained a 3.0 and above grade point average throughout her four years, while working part-time at Garrett County Memorial Hospital as a laboratory technician.

Jennifer was awarded the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Career Scholarship for 1992-93 and 1993-94 school years. She is a volunteer for the Red Cross blood drive and Wellness Together program through the hospital, where she is currently employed full-time. She plans to take her M.I.T. board certification test on July 18 in Columbia.

Jennifer resides in Deer Park with her husband, Clifford "Moonie" Moon.

Randy was recently nominated for recognition by Who's Who Among Ameri-

State Cost-Share Applications Being Accepted For Cover Crops

Maryland Department of Agriculture Secretary Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Agricultural Cost-Share (MACS) Program is accepting funding applications for winter cover crops to be planted this fall to tie-up residual nitrogen in the soil. Cover crops are an agricultural "best management practice" used by farmers to protect water quality in the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

"This program is an excellent tool for the farmer to preserve nitrogen and phosphorus and reduce nutrients from entering the Bay waters," said Riley.

Rye, ryelegume, barley and wheat planted during the fall of 1994 are eligible to receive cost-share funding for $10.00 per acre. Following are some cost-share guidelines for farmers to consider:

- MACS assistance is limited to acreage where corn or soybean is the immediate preceding crop.

- Cover crops must be planted before certain deadlines.

- Grant payments will be awarded in the spring of 1995, after the cover crop has been destroyed.

- Cover crops being produced for commodity purposes are not eligible for funding.

- MACS assistance for cover crop is limited to 1000 acres per farm.

Farmers should submit a cost-share application to MDA through their local soil conservation district between July 5 and August 5 for the 1994 growing season. Both tenants and landowners may apply for assistance.

The Maryland Agricultural Cost-Share Program provides farmers with up to 87.5 percent of the cost to install selected best management practices (bmps) to protect water quality and control nutrient movement. Grassed waterways, spring developments, and animal waste storage structures are among more than 25 bmps currently eligible for MACS funding. During its eleven-year history, the MACS program has helped Maryland farmers install more than 8,000 bmps throughout the state.

For more information on Maryland's Agricultural Cost-Share Program, farmers should contact their local soil conservation district or call MDA at (410) 841-5864.

Farming In Maryland.....

Rain Brings Relief To Farmers

During the week ending July 3, widespread storms brought tremendous relief to farmers. Most counties reported more than 1.00 inch of rainfall which improved soil moisture. A few areas on the Lower Eastern Shore remained dry. Somerset County remains extremely dry. Green pea harvest was complete. Melon and vegetable harvests began.

Pasture feed provided poor grazing conditions. Small grains were rated in good condition. Peach harvest is underway if there are any to harvest. Apples were mostly fair. Severe infestation of leaf hoppers on alfalfa was reported in some areas.

Topsoil moisture rating averaged eight percent very short, 32 percent short and 60 percent adequate, while subsoil moisture was rated four percent very short, 58 percent short and 38 percent adequate. Conditions allowed an average of 5.8 days suitable for fieldwork, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service.

Maryland's progress for the week ending July 3 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Planting progress: Soybeans, 76, 80, 80. Small grains: wheat, harvested, 37, 46, 50; barley, harvested, 90, 93, 87; rye, harvested, 38, 35, 46; oats, turning, 47, 30, 42. Alfalfa hay, second cutting, 68, 41, 41; other hay, second cutting, 26, 19, 14. Cucumbers harvested, 17, 6, 28.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending July 1 had above normal temperatures and light to heavy precipitation. Temperatures averaged 76.6 degrees, 2.8 degrees above the normal of 73.8 degrees for the June 25 through July 1 period. Minimum temperatures were as low as 51 degrees at Hancock, but generally in the 60's. Maximum temperature was 93 degrees at College Park, but generally in the high 80's and low 90's. Precipitation averaged 1.42 inches, 0.52 inch above the normal of 0.90 inch. Precipitation ranged from 0.18 at Westminster to 3.58 inches at Cambridge. Regional rainfall averages were: western, 1.53; north central, 0.88; southern Maryland west of the Bay, 1.96 and Eastern Shore, 1.61 inches.

Food For Peace Aids World Development

Forty years after the creation of Public Law 480 -- the "Food for Peace" program -- the demand for U.S. food assistance in the world is as great as ever, according to Dean Kleckner, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Addressing a National Planning Association symposium on aid and development, Kleckner said this week that Farm Bureau, one of the program's original supporters, continually urges Congress to expand the "Food for Peace" program to meet humanitarian needs around the world.

He said nations benefit from this aid in the "short term by receiving food products for their hungry, and in the long term by becoming productive members of global society."

All of the United States' current major trading partners, except Canada, have at one time or other received shipments of American aid, according to Kleckner.

"Handled properly, aid programs encourage spending discipline, help realign spending priorities, increase market incentives and strengthen private enterprise," Kleckner said.

It is important to gradually shift recipient nations to commercial markets as they become more affluent, he added. Aid programs should not only provide assistance, but also encourage economic development and private initiative which lead to increased incomes and better living standards. Programs, Kleckner said, must do more than "put grain in a peasant's bowl."

"Farmers in developing countries deserve the same chance to pursue their goals," Kleckner observed. He noted aid programs often encourage sustainable development in recipient nations.

Sustainability, he cautioned, however, has several definitions -- one being the type of labor intensive, low-acreage "agriculture from which many third world farmers seek to free themselves." Kleckner said true sustainable agriculture is an economic activity that profitably provides an adequate and safe supply of food using environmentally sound production methods. Recipient countries should develop markets that give farmers a fair price for their product, Kleckner said. Farmers in developing countries should be permitted to create their own enterprises. Farmers should have greater access to technology, finance and inputs, and governments should invest to improve infrastructure, including transportation, storage and markets.

Sustainability requires efforts in sectors other than agriculture, Kleckner said.

"Farmers, government, agribusiness, research and development and consumers have to work together to provide the sustainability that U.S. farmers enjoy -- one that offers pride and profit," he said.

Kleckner said U.S. farmers will continue to encourage aid programs that feed the world's hungry, and through sustainable development, encourage those nations to work toward full partnership in the world marketplace.

Farm Bureau Praises EPA Ethanol Decision

A decision by the Environmental Protection Agency to require substantial use of ethanol in gasoline to reduce air pollution "is good for agriculture, the environment and those concerned about our nation's energy security," according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"EPA's decision to phase in a requirement that 30 percent of the oxygenates in gasoline come from renewable sources like ethanol is a reasonable and workable plan," said AFBF President Dean Kleckner. Starting in January 1995, EPA will require that at least 15 percent of the oxygenates used in gasoline come from ethanol. The requirement will increase to 30 percent in January 1996.

"The phase-in should alleviate any concerns that have been raised about distribution problems or production capacity to meet the full 30 percent requirement," said Kleckner.

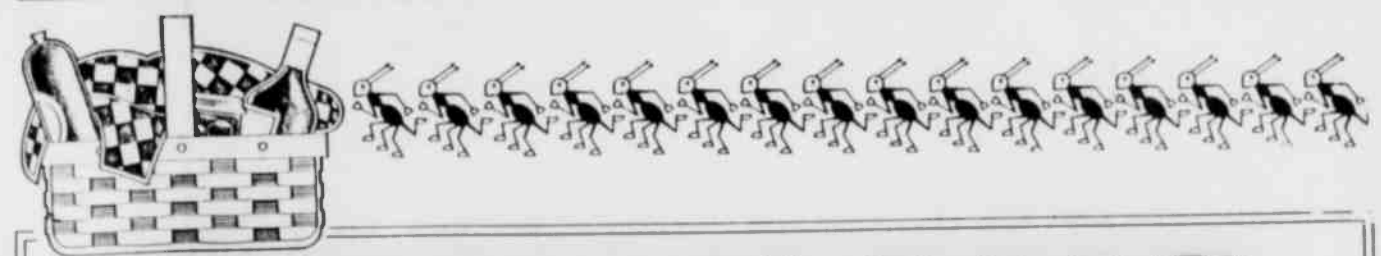

The farm leader noted that about 1 billion gallons of ethanol are processed annually and the additional 630 million gallons needed for the federal reformulated gasoline program will not be difficult to produce. He said that the new ethanol requirement will boost demand for corn by more than 250 million bushels and raise corn prices by as much as 10 cents a bushel.

"Farmers won't be the only beneficiaries of the ethanol program," Kleckner said. "Increased ethanol production could create as many as 14,000 new high-wage jobs."

Increased ethanol production will help the economy in other ways, Kleckner said. "Nearly half of our country's ever-increasing trade deficit is the result of oil imports. Expanding the use of renewable fuels from resources such as corn will not only clean up our air but also will cut our dependence on foreign oil and create jobs in America."

What Time Of The Day Do You Cut Your Alfalfa?

The losses from harvest to feed bunk are undoubtedly greater with alfalfa than any other crop you grow on the farm. Losses in yield and quality are primarily caused by: 1) continued plant respiration; 2) leaf shatter from harvesting equipment; and 3) rain. I'm sure you are aware of the losses from leaf shatter and rain, but are you aware that continued plant respiration after cutting can reduce nutrient quality as much or more?

Let's briefly review respiration losses. Cells of cut forages are alive and functioning until the moisture content reaches about 47-48 percent. Below this level, the cells die. But until the cell dies, it is functioning and using up the carbohydrates for energy. If the cells live a relatively long time, drying down to 48 percent, carbohydrates will be depleted and forage quality is reduced. Under good drying conditions, respiration accounts for 2-8 percent loss with up to 16 percent losses under poor drying conditions. Now, let's put rain on top of the alfalfa plant. While the plant is drying down to 48 percent, the stomata are open on the leaf and have a very low restriction to water vapor flow back into the leaf. Of course, this increases the moisture content of the leaf and can extend the life of the cells.

So, what time of the day do you cut your alfalfa? One thing for sure is you should not cut your alfalfa in late afternoon or evening. Moisture losses are extremely slow during night time. Cut in early morning and try to avoid cutting during high humidity periods. You may say that's nearly impossible and sometimes it's true, but planning your cutting with weather reports can enhance the opportunity for faster drying down time.

Vegetable Update

* I am starting to see some late blight on tomatoes. The symptoms are appearing on the foliage as irregular brown to grayish areas on the leaf. Later on, a white mold will form on the bottom of the leaf. Treatment should start at the first sign of the blight. I would recommend either Ridomil or Bravo fungicides. Both mixed together provides even better control.

* The potato leafhopper has wind-blown into our area. I have seen them on some of the snap beans. The leafhopper is a small yellowish-green insect that hops when disturbed. Treatment is needed when the number of leafhoppers exceeds 100 per 20 sweeps during pre-bloom, 250 during bloom and 500 during pod development. Probably, the two most available insecticides for treatment would be Orthene and Sevin. Follow label directions for restrictions. Another good reason to purchase a sweep net.

Farm Bureau Urges Congress To Act Quickly On Property Rights

Farmers, ranchers and other landowners need solid legislation to protect their property rights, which are increasingly threatened by government regulations, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

AFBF President Dean Kleckner said his organization strongly supports H.R. 3875, the Private Property Owners Bill of Rights, sponsored by Reps. Billy Tauzin (D-La.) and Jack Fields (R-Texas).

Kleckner praised the congressmen's efforts to take their bill directly to the House floor through the discharge petition process. He said the bill strikes a balance between protecting the environment and protecting the rights of property owners.

"Property owners across the nation have been deprived of the right to use their land because of wetlands regulations or enforcement of the Endangered Species Act," Kleckner said. "It is time for Congress to address this very serious problem."

Kleckner said farmers, ranchers and other property owners "too often are being forced to bear the cost of these stringent regulations." He noted that a critical part of the Tauzin-Fields bill is a provision to require compensation to property owners who have been deprived of 50 percent or more of the fair market value, or of the economically viable use, of their land when a federal "taking" occurs.

The farm leader called on lawmakers to co-sponsor H.R. 3875 and sign the discharge petition to move the bill forward.

"There must be a balance between the rights of property owners and the need to protect the environment," Kleckner said. "This bill would provide that balance, and this Congress needs to act on it."

Ice Cream And Frozen Dairy Desserts Are Still "Tops"

Ice cream lovers get ready for the fourteenth celebration of Ice Cream Month this July.

Nothing beats the cool, creamy sensation of this frozen dairy treat. Just ask the 98 percent of us who indulge, consuming about 23 quarts of ice cream annually.

Our favorite flavors? In descending order they are vanilla, chocolate, butterscotch, strawberry (tie), Neapolitan, and chocolate chip.

In the mood for something a little different? How about Jalapeno Pepper (vanilla ice cream with mild jalapeno peppers) or Prickly Pear, ice cream with pieces of cactus fruit. If you would just like to dress up an old stand-by, try one of America's favorite toppings: hot fudge, chocolate fudge, butterscotch, caramel, or strawberry.

It should come as no surprise that ice cream sales are greatest in the warm weather months of June through September, with peak sales in July. And while ice cream appeals to all age groups, 13- to 17-year olds consume the most, accounting for 53 percent of ice cream sales every week. Location also is a factor in how much ice cream we eat. New Englanders eat close to 30 quarts each year, while people on the West Coast eat 24. Folks in Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, and the Dakotas gobble up about 35 quarts a year each. Overall, Americans eat more ice cream than any other country, with Finland, Australia, New Zealand, and Canada not far behind.

Bring on the Yogurt
Topping the list of dairy dessert success stories is the increasingly popular frozen yogurt. Frozen yogurt tallied sales of $470 million last year, up 15 percent from 1991.

New flavors and flavor combinations are adding to frozen yogurt's popularity. Another reason for yogurt's booming success is its ability to transcend all age groups. Originally targeted to "yuppies," frozen yogurt appeals to children and in particular, adults watching their calorie intake.

Novel Ideas
In the mood for something really different? Try a frozen novelty. The novelty revolution was launched between 1919 and 1924 with the invention of the Eskimo Pie, Good Humor Bar, and Popsicle. Today's frozen novelties have come a long way since then. They are available in countless flavors, coatings, shapes, and sizes and are made with ice cream, ice milk, yogurt, sherbet, and fruit juice and cream combinations. Total frozen novelty sales have reached more than $3 billion and now account for nearly one-third of total retail dollar sales of all frozen desserts.

No matter what form it takes - scooped in a dish, topped with fruit and nuts or dipped in chocolate and frozen on a stick - ice cream and frozen dairy desserts continue to top the list of America's favorite foods.

Wilt Announces Candidacy For Co. Commissioner

H. Wayne Wilt, Oakland, has announced his candidacy for the office of Garrett County Commissioner in District I. Wilt, a Republican, is seeking the seat currently held by Elwood Groves.

"I have always had an interest in county government, and feel I can lead the county in a direction that is beneficial to its citizens and taxpayers," Wilt said. "With responsible leadership, I will give my undivided attention to the problems that face the county, and I will work diligently with the school system, county law enforcement, county roads department, and other interest groups to resolve the problems that face our county."

The candidate is a native of Garrett County, and a graduate of Southern High School and Garrett Community College. He is a former deputy sheriff, serving under Sheriff James E. Frantz. He retired in 1992 as supervisor of the Maryland State Department of Juvenile Services. Since then he has served as the bailiff for the Circuit Court of Garrett County.

Wilt is a volunteer for Hospice of Garrett County, a member of the Garrett County Historical Society, and a former member of its board of directors. He is currently chairman of the Garrett County Republican Central Committee.

He is married to the former Judy Speis and they are the parents of one daughter, Jodi Wilt-Biehl, a teacher at Bloomington Elementary School.

Wilt's wife, Judy, is serving as his campaign treasurer.

DONATIONS MADE TO PEDIATRIC UNIT - Garrett County Memorial Hospital's pediatric unit was a recipient of recent donations made by Oakland resident Donna Nordeck and the Alpha Alpha Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, a professional organization of key women teachers in Garrett County. Nordeck, who is a human resources assistant at Garrett Memorial, donated a Beam Bus, a pediatric transporter designed to raise children's spirits while transporting children either indoors or out. As a service project of the organization, the Delta Kappa Gamma Society gave more than 35 children's literature books to the pediatric unit. "We are very appreciative of the thoughtfulness and caring that Ms. Nordeck and the Delta Kappa Gamma Society have shown by making these donations to our hospital," commented Teresa Field-Harvey, R.N., nurse manager of the pediatric unit. "The Beam Bus and children's books will go a long way in helping to make the hospital stay of our younger patients more enjoyable and less anxiety-ridden." Shown in the above photo, Anna Marie Miller, president of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, presents Field-Harvey, left, with a collection of children's books. Pictured below, Nordeck, right, and Field-Harvey assist pediatric patient, Levi Switzer, as he enjoys a ride in the new Beam Bus.

Students Finish Nursing Assistant Training Course

All 10 class members who started the new Geriatric and Nursing Assistant Training Program in March at Garrett Community College are completing the program successfully, according to Sandy Major, program coordinator.

Their training consisted of 382 hours of classroom training and 138 hours of work site training. Participants in the program are high school graduates or GED completers who demonstrated strong interest in the health care field and a high level of motivation. They participated in extensive testing prior to acceptance in the program.

The curriculum during their first month consisted of studies designed to provide a foundation for future classroom and work-based learning experiences. This included training in basic math, composition, personal development, interpersonal skills, geriatric aid, first aid, CPR, and job getting and keeping skills. The curriculum during the remaining months consisted of training in technical skills areas as well as interpersonal skills. The technical training areas included classes in: restorative aide training, human growth and development, the aging process, risk management and safety, legal and professional issues, child care, and exercise and nutrition principles.

Students participated in work site training after attending the first month of the program. They were placed either in nursing homes, hospitals, health departments, or other public health agencies and were given the opportunity to work in several settings.

Work sites included: Area Agency of Aging, Garrett County Lighthouse, Alleghany Rehabilitation Associates, Garrett County Health Department, Garrett Memorial Hospital, Frostburg Hospital, and Freeman Ambulance. This work training experience enabled them to practice the skills that they learned in the classroom setting, Mrs. Major said.

Lynne Giotfelty, the official coach for the program has worked with the trainees to help each achieve his or her individual potential. She also worked in partnership with Robin Witt of the Western Maryland Consortium to assure that training and work place barriers were minimized and that the program offered maximum opportunities for all involved. "We're all excited about this program and the doors it will open for future possibilities," stated Mrs. Giotfelty. "Our instructors are delighted with the high level of motivation and capability that the students have demonstrated in the classroom. Our students have successfully completed all aspects of the program and have scored exceptionally high in all training areas."

Mrs. Giotfelty continued, "Our participants are excited about the job possibilities available to them now and in the future. Most are interested in pursuing additional training that will enable them to advance in the health care field once they have established themselves as valuable team members in their new work settings. We all believe that this program will give them the opportunity they need to make exciting things happen in their futures."

"One of the reasons this program has been so successful is the high level of team work that has occurred throughout the program," stated Mrs. Major, who added that team work has been a vital part of this training program from the moment it was conceived during a Private Industry Council meeting last fall.

The Western Maryland Consortium worked in partnership with Garrett Community College to develop and implement the training program to prepare JITA eligible clients for placement in entry level positions in health care settings. Working closely with Sue Shockey, Robin Witt, and Five Edwards of the Western Maryland Consortium, Mrs. Major and Mrs. Giotfelty developed the various components of the new training program. They were assisted by an advisory board composed of Norma Bolding of Garrett County Health Department, Beth Newcomb of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Verna Bender of Goodwill Mennonite Home, Sherri Hawkins of Hopemont Hospital, Elizabeth Goldsborough of Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Adina Brode of Area Agency of Aging, and Debbie Jo Noroski of Garrett County Lighthouse. Members of these agencies helped design the program to meet the growing need for nursing assistants, restorative aides, and geriatric aides.

According to Mrs. Major, the technical advisement of members of this board has continuously guided the development of the training program.

Mrs. Major said that the need to strengthen team building skills has influenced all aspects of the program. Primary instructors for the class, Kris Graber, Judith Ramer, and Lynne Giotfelty, have helped students develop their technical skills in a team oriented environment. Prior to starting classes these instructors participated in six hours of training in interactive instruction and team building.

Other contributors to the success of the program were specialty instructors Lois Cuppett, Jeanette Sweitzer, and Tiddle Wheeler. A celebration luncheon held Thursday, June 30 marked the successful completion of the program. The luncheon was attended by students, instructors, members of the Western Maryland Consortium and members of the advisory board.

According to Sue Shockey of the Western Maryland Consortium this program has worked so well that a grant for a new class has already been approved. The next Geriatric and Nursing Assistant Training class is scheduled to start at the end of August. Information about participation in the new class can be obtained by calling Sandy Major at 387-3101.

GCC Students Are Honored At Awards Reception

Nineteen students were awarded scholarships at the Awards Reception held recently by the Garrett Community College Foundation at the college, according to Crystal Filer-Odger, financial aid coordinator.

Recipients of the scholarships are: Elizabeth Anderson, James H. Nordeck Memorial Scholarship; Jennifer Beckman, AAUW, Bell Atlantic, GCC General, GCC Student Government Association, and Ronald Hugh Sister Memorial scholarships; Chad Bittinger, Westvaco Scholarship; Betty Durst, GCC Board of Trustees, and Michael Vaughn Vitez Sea Cadet Memorial scholarships; Crystal Giotfelty, Randol Memorial Scholarship; Chris Herbert, GCC General, Oakland Rotary, and Bill Ravenscroft Memorial scholarship; Sheri Nelson, GCC Board of Trustees, and Charles Briner Memorial scholarships; Dawn Panther, Helen Baumgardner, and Patience Grant scholarship; Leslie Peck, Bell Atlantic, Garrett Municipal League, and McDonald's Endowment scholarships; Heather Prince, Azza Stanton Art Scholarship; Misty Sanders, Deep Creek Lake Lions Stewart Jackson Memorial Scholarship; Jennifer Savage, Oakland Rotary, and Bill Ravenscroft Memorial scholarships; Amy Thayer, Ann Dilgard Scholarship; and Kellie White, James H. Nordeck Memorial Scholarship.

Five students who received scholarships presented by Sixth District Congressman Roscoe Bartlett are: Crystal Sines, Oakland; Michael Sharpless, Kitzmiller; Christopher Wright, Friendsville; Jeff Cook, Oakland, and Edgar Shoemaker III, Grantsville.

Two Bike Safety Rodeos Scheduled

Bike riders of all ages are invited to attend bicycle safety rodeos at both Broadford Park and the Accident Elementary School this week in Garrett County. Broadford Park's rodeo is scheduled for Saturday, July 9, from 3 to 5 p.m., and is being sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department's Community Outreach Team, Oakland's Neighborhood Crime Watch, and the Town of Oakland. Accident's bike rodeo is planned for Monday, July 11, from 6 to 8 p.m., at the Accident Elementary School's parking area. Accident's event is being organized by the Accident Community Planning Group, the elementary school, and the Outreach Team.

Following free bike inspections, riders will practice stopping, starting, balancing, signaling, and controlling their bikes throughout more than 12 riding obstacle courses. All participants will be given a brief safety presentation discussing the rules of the road, as well as the importance of always wearing a bicycle helmet properly when riding. Twenty-two bicycle helmets have been donated by the Town of Oakland for a free drawing at the Broadford Park bike rodeo, that is part of a series of events being organized for weekends throughout the summer at the park.

Numerous activities, including relay games, will take place during the course of the rodeos, and refreshments and participation certificates will be available for everyone present. Oakland's Neighborhood Crime Watch will be offering free bicycle licenses for any participating Oakland residents at the Broadford Park bike safety rodeo.

Volunteer service hours are available to local students who donate their time to help organize and set up these events. Anyone interested in volunteering for either of the rodeos should contact Joelle Plauger at 334-8111.

Broadford Park and Accident's bike rodeos are the fourth and fifth in a series of community bicycle events being sponsored throughout the summer by the Outreach Team and local community groups. The rodeos are part of a bicycle safety mini-grant that was awarded to the Health Department by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Injury Prevention program.

State Ed. Board Approves New Re-Cert Process

Maryland Superintendent of Schools Nancy Grasmick announced recently that the State Board of Education has approved changes in the process of recertifying education administrators, teachers, and specialists. The intent of the regulation is to support the important principles that educators engage in lifelong learning and keep current with developing thought and practice, Grasmick said.

"These changes in recertification emphasize professionalism and high standards," said Grasmick. "It is vital that teachers be prepared for the bold, ambitious school reforms that have been initiated in Maryland. I believe, too, that educators will welcome the added prestige that such quality control will bring."

Until this action, the state's minimum requirement for renewal of the Advanced Professional Certificate (APC), which is awarded to educators with a master's degree or equivalent, has been payment of a $10 fee every ten years. The renewal period will now be shortened to five years. Renewal will also now rely on satisfactory evaluation of performance and a professional development plan that would enhance the applicant's teaching abilities. This plan for professional development would be designed by the applicant and approved by the local superintendent of schools. Professional development may go beyond course work to such activities as mentor projects or curriculum development. Certificate holders will be allowed to renew their current certificates for the present $10 fee when the 10 year renewal period for that certificate has expired. The APC holder will then be issued a certificate that is operational under the regulations approved by the board. These changes will come into play starting in 1995, as current certificates begin to expire.

A 16-member Recertification Task Force met for over a year to make the initial recommendations for this regulation. The task force represented the Maryland State Teachers Association, the PTA, both the elementary and secondary principals associations, Maryland Association of Boards of Education, and representatives from higher education, personnel offices, and the State Department of Education.

Comments from teachers when the regulation on recertification was proposed to the state board in January 1994 reflected concerns about the fairness and consistency of the teacher evaluation process among the local school systems in the state. In response, Grasmick appointed a special task force of educators to examine more closely the present practice of teacher evaluation in Maryland and to draft a regulation for improving teacher evaluation practices. The state board granted permission to publish the recommendations of the task force and open them to public comment.

The most significant parts of the proposed evaluation regulation address holders of the Advanced Professional Certificate (APC). The regulation would require that renewal candidates be evaluated by a supervisor during year one of the five year renewal period and in one additional year during that period. The state board also approved changes in the state provisions governing required course work for entering teachers. The regulation now lists more general subject area requirements rather than specific course requirements.

"The regulation adopted today is much less prescriptive," said Shelley Clemson, assistant state superintendent for certification and accreditation. "We hope these changes will ensure that highly qualified and talented people will not be barred from certification for lack of a specific course that may not even be available at an accessible time and location."

McCain Declares Candidacy For Co. Commissioner

Asa M. McCain Jr., Oakland, has announced his candidacy for Garrett County Commissioner. A Democrat, he is seeking the District 3 seat presently held by Brenda Butscher.

Currently serving his fourth two-year term as mayor of Oakland, the candidate has 20 years of experience as a school administrator, and is principal of Dennett Road Elementary School. He is council president of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, and serves as treasurer of Woodmen of the World, Lodge 11.

"This area has been good for my family, and I have enjoyed being mayor of Oakland and having the opportunity to give back to the area," McCain said. "I would like to have the chance to work to improve the entire county. If elected commissioner, I will work hard to maintain and improve this great county."

McCain has a bachelor of arts degree in education from California State University, California, Pa., and a master's degree in administration from Frostburg State University. He and his wife, Marilyn, have lived in Garrett County for 27 years. They have two grown daughters, Lori and Joy. Nordeck Shaffer, Oakland, is serving as McCain's treasurer.

Local Educators Are Delegates To NEA Annual Meet

Jim Raley, Garrett County Teachers Association president, along with four other Garrett County education employees, attended the 132 annual meeting of the National Education Association (NEA), July 1-6. The other Garrett County educators included Mary Ann Link, GCA/SP president; John Helmick, a teacher at Northern Middle School; Ann Ellis, instructional assistant at Northern High; and Wade Grove, a Southern High instructor.

Some 15,000 delegates, exhibitors, and guests from around the nation gathered at the Ernest N. Morial

MSP Investigate B&E, Theft At Area Business

Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, are investigating a breaking and entering in Grantsville in which $170 in one-dollar bills were stolen.

According to the state police, someone broke into the Flushing Shirt Factory some time between 8 a.m., June 23, and 9 a.m., June 30, and removed the money from a change machine owned by CRH Catering, Cumberland. The report indicates the culprit used a key to remove the currency.

Tfc. G.S. Becker is the investigating officer.

DWI ARRESTS

Several DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) arrests were logged at the local state police barrack during the past two weeks. No address was available for any of the arrests.

Robin Leonard Moyer, 39, was arrested and charged with DWI on June 25, by Tfc. G.S. Becker.

Larry Miller, 39, was charged with DWI on June 24, by Tfc. P.R. Brown.

Blaine Wade Wilt Jr., 37, was arrested for DWI on June 26, by Tfc. G.S. Becker.

Elonda Y. Foglepole, 23, was charged with DWI on June 28, by Tfc. C.E. Goldstrom.

Three arrests for the offense occurred on July 2, including David Lee Layton, 30; Loretta Linda Ross, 54; and Philip Kingsley Skidmore, 57. The arresting officers were Tfc. Goldstrom, Tfc. Clapper, and Tfc. W.L. Mowbray, respectively.

Harold Dean Hebb, 42, was arrested for DWI on July 3, by Tfc. Brown.

Convention Center in New Orleans for the annual meeting, whose theme was "Public Education is a Public Trust."

The week-long event culminated in a Representative Assembly, where Raley and nearly 10,000 other voting delegates determined policies to guide the 2.2 million-member association for the coming year. The NEA Representative Assembly is the world's largest democratic deliberative body.

NEA President Keith Geiger keynoted the assembly with a call for stronger, closer ties between parents, communities, and public schools. "We must enlist all Americans as soldiers in a campaign to rekindle the values that have guided our nation in its finest hours," Geiger said.

Geiger stressed the importance of the entire community in building a foundation of support for young people. "It's time to reconnect," he said. "It's time to reconnect young people to schools, schools to communities, and yes, parents to their children."

This year's delegates discussed and debated dozens of vital issues in American education, according to Geiger, such as privatization, education

Line Dancing To Be Featured At Family Fun Day

Country line dancing will be one of the many activities featured at Family Fun Day, sponsored by the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation and set for Saturday, July 30, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

Line dancing will be featured from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Instructor, Kelly Ne-tor and her assistants, Neva Frantz and Debra Wilt, will be on hand to provide dance instruction. "This dance will be fun for the whole family, from the beginner to the experienced. We want everyone to have a great time, and we'll be there to provide as much or as little assistance as necessary," remarked Ms. Nestor.

Also scheduled for Family Fun Day will be dancing to the tunes of Mr. Z from 3 to 6 p.m.; Shriners clowns from 2 to 4 p.m.; bagpipes at 3 p.m.; duckmers at 4 p.m.; tethered balloon rides from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.; weather permitting; antique cars from 2 to 4 p.m.; weather permitting; carnival games by Fun Factory from 1 to 4 p.m.; dog show at 11 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.; 50/50 drawing; prizes; arts and crafts display; karate, gymnastic and aerobic exhibitions; and other attractions.

Cost of admission will be 50 cents per person. Games will cost 50 cents each and a variety of activities will be offered at no additional charge.

Family Fun Day is being organized by the Community Relations Committee of the GCMH Foundation, which is headed by Jon Thayer. Also working on the event are Bobby Andersen, Jean Grose, Bonnie Kelly, Betty Malloy, Hazel Myers, and Sally Poholsky.

Volunteers are still needed for a variety of tasks, from set-up, running games, to clean-up. Arrangements have been made through school representatives to provide community service credit for students who are interested in volunteering.

Any Garrett County school student interested should contact, Kathy Greaser at 334-2155, ext. 377. Additional information on Family Fun Day may also be obtained by calling Ms. Greaser.

The Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce held its annual luncheon meeting at Garrett Community College this year. Chamber Board Member Jim Murray welcomed those in attendance, and he introduced host Dr. Steve Herman, GCC President. Dr. Herman talked about GCC's role in the new information age, and GCC's new and emerging capabilities for community service and for support of Garrett County businesses. "The new information technologies are opening new opportunities for Garrett Counties to compete on an equal footing with communities anywhere. These are opportunities we must not ignore," said Dr. Herman.

Herman then introduced Don Storck, GCC's Director of Information

Services, who introduced the Chamber membership to three new technologies available at GCC. Kevin Bass, GCC's Systems administrator, demonstrated the new bulletin board system, which allows computer users to access information about the county and its businesses, organizations, and activities. Soon individuals will be able to access the bulletin board by touch telephone.

The Chamber members next visited GCC's Community Central, a newly renovated area of the college dedicated to electronic information technologies. Funding for the facility came partly from Bell Atlantic Maryland, the Appalachian Regional Commission, and the Maryland Higher Education Commission. Ed Norman, GCC's Technical & Support Services coordinator, demonstrated the use of an OP SCAN machine that transfers visual impressions into information that can be stored in a database.

The group then moved to the new CAD/CAM laboratory with its twenty 486 computer stations to see the laser printed product of the OP SCAN demonstration. Norman commented that the CAD/CAM lab was connected to the robotized manufacturing lab at Hagerstown Junior College, allowing students at GCC to design products locally and then via modem transmission have them built almost instantaneously at HJC.

The group then adjourned to GCC's new Interactive Video Laboratory, where Jim Mathews, GCC's Multi-Media Specialist, gave a live demonstration of the workings of the new laboratory and the availability of the facility for training and teleconferencing. Chamber members interacted live with people at Allegany Community College and Hagerstown Junior College.

Concluding the meeting, Dr. Herman stated that GCC was here to support Garrett County's economy, and he welcomed community use of the new facilities. Interested parties should contact Storck at 387-3015.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The moving of the Community Park last week was done by Lions Homer Rodcheaver, Marlin Lawson, Oscar Van Schuer, Bill Robinson, and Doug George and volunteer George Fiches. Use of equipment was donated by Rodcheaver and Lawson. Lawson also mowed the lawn at the old hotel.

The Friendsville Club and the Friendsville fire department co-sponsored two chicken barbecues over the holiday weekend. The first was on Saturday and the second was on Monday. They were held in the parking lot of Friendsville Discount Liquors. Special thanks was expressed to volunteers Bernice Rodcheaver and Mary Friend.

Tickets are on sale now for the Kawasaki Ninja motorcycle, a Suzuki D.R. 350 motorcycle, $100 cash, and $50 cash. Tickets are $5 each. There are four chances to win on Maryland Daily Lottery Number on July 12, 13, 14, and 15. Prizes will be awarded on July 16 during the Annual Fiddlers' Contest. Anyone wishing to purchase a ticket should contact any Lions club member.

The next meeting of the Friendsville Lions Club will be July 14, at 6:30 p.m. at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant. All members are urged to attend.

LIVENGOOD REUNION

The family of the late Wilbert and Maude Livengood reunion will be held at the community building at Lenox, W.Va., Saturday, July 9, with a picnic dinner at 5 p.m.

PUPPET SHOWS on the prevention of alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs were presented to children in the area during recent months as part of the Garrett County Health Department's Prevention, Tobacco Use Prevention, and Community Outreach programs. The Body Shop puppets, purchased from The Health Connection in Hagerstown, and donated to the local community by Eric Jones, Swanton, were the focus of presentations at Broad Ford Elementary School and Herrington Manor State Park. Ten students from Lisa Bender's student service alliance class visited with third graders at Broad Ford during the recent local Community Service Day to present a show about tobacco prevention. Pictured above, from left to right, are Brenda Bauls, narrator; Misty Sanders and Deanna McIntyre with in and ex Hale (the lungs); and Andrea DeBerry with Flossie (the tooth). Students in the second row are Crystal Flanigan with Smokin' Joe (the cigarette); Linda DeWitt with Wrinkles (the dog); Jennifer Louie with Pop, and Melissa Bateman with Tim. Standing are Hillary Gariss with Marie and Cindy Savage with Gunnar (the heart). Pictured below, members of the outreach team presented a show about alcohol and other drug prevention at the recent "Get Hooked On Fishing, Not Drugs" fishing derby at Herrington Manor State Park in June. Pictured below, front row, are Sally Boone with Bossman (the brain) and Pop; Nancy Rhine with Tim, and Donna Knox with Al K. Hall (the wine cooler). Standing in the second row are Darlene Murphy with McLyver (the liver); Sharon Savage with Marie; and Gail Dever with Dewey (the stomach) and Wrinkles. Puppet shows are being planned for the upcoming Garrett County Agricultural Fair. More information on alcohol, tobacco, and other drug prevention activities in the local area is available by calling 334-8111.

Del. Sauerbrey To Visit County

Delegate Ellen Sauerbrey, Republican candidate for governor of Maryland, will be making a two-day campaign swing through Garrett County on Thursday, July 14, and Friday, July 15.

An informal "dutch treat" luncheon has been scheduled at Point View Inn on Friday, July 15, at 11:30 a.m., details of which may be obtained by calling 334-1332 or 245-4509.

Sauerbrey has represented her Baltimore County district for the past 16 years in the Maryland House of Delegates, where she has served as the Republican minority leader since 1986.

Sauerbrey says she "looks forward" to meeting many citizens and organizations during her visit to the county "in order to become better acquainted with their thoughts and concerns about state government."

PUBLIC NOTICE

Take notice that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on June 20, 1994, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Section 19 of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the Tenth Street White-Scheffel annexation area in the general vicinity of Tenth Street. The full Resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND RESOLUTION NO. 94-10 (ANNEXATION NO. 01-TENTH STREET WHITE-SCHEFFEL ANNEXATION AREA)

WHEREAS, petitions have been presented to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by the annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries being the area known as the Tenth Street White-Scheffel annexation area; and WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council have caused to be made a verification of the signatures upon said petition and have ascertained that the persons signing the petitions represent at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered voters in county elections in the precinct or precincts in which the territory to be annexed is located, and the owners of at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the annexed valuation of real property located in the area to be annexed. The area to be annexed is located generally in the vicinity of Tenth Street, and includes properties owned by Oakley and Judy White and George A. Scheffel.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND.

All that lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in Election District 16 of Garrett County, Maryland, adjoining the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland as of June 1, 1994, and composed of a part of Tenth Street; a part of the lands of the property owned now or formerly by the Fred E. Beachy Lumber Company (Liber 263 at folio 448) which is the lot remaining between the lands owned now or formerly by Howard R. Teagarden (Liber 277 at folio 565) and the lands of Frank E. Whitehair (Liber 310 at folio 359); and the property conveyed to George A. Scheffel, Jr., by deed made April 10, 1992, from the First United National Bank and Trust and recorded in Liber 581 at folio 440, all among the land records of Garrett County, Maryland, more particularly described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING at a 3/4 inch iron pipe found at the southwesterly corner of property owned now or formerly by Howard R. Teagarden, (Liber 277 at folio 565) and in the fourth line of Lot 7 of the subdivision of "John and Mary", thence, with the southerly line of said Teagarden property, South 64 degrees 54 minutes East, 127.24 feet to a two inch iron pipe found in the westerly margin of Tenth Street, thence, crossing Tenth Street, South 68 degrees 38 minutes East, 50.39 feet to a point at the southwesterly corner of property owned now or formerly by George A. Scheffel, (Liber 494 at folio 181), and in the northwesterly corner of other property owned now or formerly by George A. Scheffel (Liber 581 at folio 440); thence, with the northerly line of said Scheffel property, South 65 degrees 23 minutes East, 126.00 feet to a 5/8 inch iron rebar and plastic cap numbered 126, hereinafter called an iron pin, set at the northwesterly corner of other lands of George A. Scheffel (Liber 533 at folio 897); thence, with the division line of the two last mentioned Scheffel properties, South 24 degrees 27 minutes West, 163.79 feet to a set iron pin in the northerly margin of a fifty foot street; thence, with said northerly margin, North 65 degrees 04 minutes West, 126.60 feet to a set iron pin in the easterly margin of Tenth Street; thence, crossing Tenth Street, North 62 degrees 28 minutes West, 50.62 feet to a two inch iron pipe found at the northwesterly corner of property owned now or formerly by Frank E. Whitehair (Liber 310 at folio 359); thence, with the northerly line of said Whitehair property, North 64 degrees 55 minutes West, 127.70 feet to a two inch iron pipe found in said seventh line; thence, with a part of said seventh line, North 24 degrees 42 minutes East, 157.66 feet to the beginning, containing 1.12 acres, more or less.

MORE BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the Charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all the real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes of the Town of Oakland, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxes as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally established by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, Maryland as have been set forth in the Outline for Extension of Services and Public Facilities which is available for inspection at the Oakland Municipal Building.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated on the Garrett County Development Plan as Suburban-Residential (SR), and that there is no actual zoning within Garrett County which effects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefor, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as Suburban-Residential in the Garrett County Development Plan and the definition of Suburban-Residential in the Oakland general plan are substantially the same, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned Suburban-Residential (SR), under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, there being no substantial difference between the definitions and features of Suburban-Residential as it exists within the Town of Oakland, and as it is defined within the Town's Zoning Ordinance, and development plan, and Suburban-Residential as it is defined by the Garrett County Development Plan.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 30th day of June, 1994.

Gwen McBea, Town Clerk
Asa M. McCain Jr., Mayor
Harvey J. Moyer, Council Member
Mary Lou Stemple, Council Member
Willard R. Ringer, Council Member
Peggy Jamison, Council Member
Arthur E. Naylor, Council Member
Harold G. Cannon, Council Member

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 30th day of June, 1994.

Robert E. Watson, Town Attorney
TAKE NOTICE THAT THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL SHALL HOLD A PUBLIC HEARING ON THIS RESOLUTION, AND THE ANNEXATION OF THE TENTH STREET WHITE-SCHEFFEL ANNEXATION AREA, ON THE 15TH DAY OF AUGUST, 1994, IN THE OAKLAND TOWN HALL LOCATED AT 15 SOUTH THIRD STREET, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, BEGINNING AT 4:30 P.M.

By authority of Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland By its Town Council, Robert E. Watson —Adv. 19-41

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Garrett County Board of County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing on July 19, 1994 at 9:00 a.m. for the purpose of taking public comments on a proposed Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) application. Garrett County Lighthouse, Inc. is considering applying for funds to install an elevator to provide handicapped accessibility to the second floor of their proposed new facility. The new facility will be constructed adjacent to the Tableland Feeds property on Rt. 39. Garrett County Lighthouse is a private non-profit organization providing rehabilitation services to adults with psychiatric disabilities.

The CDBG program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services. Copies of the Maryland Small Cities CDBG Program Design for SFY 1995 which describes the program, the funding for which the County may compete and the eligible activities are available from the County Planning and Zoning Office, Room 307, Old Courthouse, Oakland (Phone 301-334-1920).

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Friendsville Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on July 21, 1994 at 8:00 p.m. in the Town Hall. The Board will review an application made by George and Margaret Demaree for a variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the minimum setback from property lines for industrial buildings in the Industrial Zone. The Demaree property (tax map 300, parcel 1262) is located at Second Avenue and Oak Street in an Industrial Zone. Interested citizens are welcome to attend.

John E. Nelson Zoning Administrator —Adv. 19-21

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on July 21, 1994 at 7:30 p.m. in the Planning Commission Meeting Room (Third Floor Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

1) Docket SE-250; an application made by Mr. James V. Pahanish for a Special Exception permit to allow the placement of a mobile home to serve as an addition to the residence on the Pahanish property located on the Bray School Road (Zoned LR).

2) Docket VR-347; an application made by Mr. James Bernard for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the side yard setback requirements for accessory buildings. Specifically, Mr. Bernard is requesting a Variance to allow construction of an addition to the garage on his property which would extend to within 0 ft. of the side property line instead of the required 5 feet. The property is located off US 219 in McHenry (Zoned ZC).

3) Docket VR-348; an application made by Mr. Daniel Bosley for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance to allow construction of an attached garage which would extend to within 10 feet of the side property line instead of the required 15 feet. The property is located in the Lake Forest Estates Subdivision (Zoned LR).

Health Day Slated July 12 In Kitzmiller

Kitzmiller Community Health Day will be Tuesday, July 12, from 8:30 until 10:30 a.m. at the Kitzmiller Community Building.

The event, sponsored by the Wellness Together Program of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Health Department, will feature various health screenings, including cholesterol blood testing, a basic cholesterol level measurement or lipid profile blood testing, a more comprehensive test that indicates "good" and "bad" cholesterol levels. A fee of $5 will be charged for the basic cholesterol test while the lipid profile test will cost $15. Dietary evaluation, fitness testing, blood pressure measurement and information pertaining to risk factor prevention of cancer and cardiovascular disease will also be provided at the screening.

Screening participants must fast for 12 hours prior to receiving bloodwork to ensure accuracy of test results.

"Kitzmiller Community Health Day is a part of Wellness Together's ongoing efforts to go out into the community to provide services that will make area residents more aware of their overall health," explained Wellness Together staff members.

Health counselors will meet with all participants approximately two weeks following the screening to discuss results and provide consultation.

Persons desiring more information about Kitzmiller Community Health

Day may contact 334-2155, ext. 408, or 334-8111, ext. 275.

Republican Women Meet

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met at Hill Top Inn June 28. Club President Carolyn Ganoie presided and members of the Garrett County Board of Education were guest speakers. Representing the board were Beverly Murphy, president; Mikal McCartney, vice president; Hannah Sincell, Charlotte Sebold, and Jerry Rysavage.

During the business portion of the meeting, Ganoie reported on the regional club meeting held at the Will O' the Wisp restaurant.

The club's northern and southern joint picnic will be held July 14 from 5:30 p.m. until dusk at the Accident park. Members are invited to bring their families to this covered dish picnic.

Candidates for public office are also invited.

Present at the June 28 meeting were Lois Rowe, Twila Mae Pike, Helen Keller, Carol Frazee, Cora Bowser, Cleda Baker, Carolyn Ganoie, and Jo Ann Hetscher.

THANKS

I would like to thank all employees and all of my friends I made in the 22 years at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. For support given to me when my job was abolished as groundskeeper.

Thanks A Million,
Mike Collins

Thank You

I'd like to thank the Emergency Room Staff, the Third Floor Staff, Dr. Fedde, Rev. & Mrs. Paul Stauffer, Rev. Mark Hickman and everyone who sent cards, flowers and prayers while I was a patient at Garrett Memorial Hospital. I appreciate all the wonderful care I received.

Ray Owen To Perform July 23 In Kitzmiller

Among the highlights of the Sixth Annual Kitzmiller Homecoming, set for July 23, will be an appearance by Ray Owen, a national recording artist and award-winning songwriter and entertainer, who is known for his classic American songs and family humor for audiences of all ages to enjoy.

Owen's latest album release achieved national airplay and was selected as a candidate for Grammy nomination, which produced tours with such legendary entertainers as Willie Nelson, Arlo Guthrie, Hank Williams Jr., and Bob Hope. The Pennsylvania Festival Association recently named him Pennsylvania Songwriter of the Year for his original songs, and the Philadelphia Inquirer distinguished him as "one of America's premiere outdoor fair and festival performers." The first show time is 11:30 a.m.

To kick off this year's event, a dance will be held Friday evening, July 22, at the Kitzmiller Elementary School yard, beginning at 7:30 p.m., featuring music of the 1940s through the '90s. The cost will be $3 per couple, or $2 for single admission. Refreshments will be available, and the dance is sponsored by the Kitzmiller Empowerment Committee.

Back by popular demand during the homecoming is an Antique and Custom Auto Show, sponsored jointly by the Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department and the Kitzmiller Civic Association. First, second and third place trophies will be awarded in the following categories: two-wheel-drive trucks; four-wheel-drive trucks; muscle cars; modified cars; antique vehicles from 1900-1950; antique vehicles from 1951-1969; and special interest vehicles from 1970-1994. An award to the best appearing motorcycle will also be awarded.

Other trophies to be awarded during the car show will be for traveling the longest distance, in and out of state; contestants' choice; and best of show. Dash plaques will be awarded to all entries.

Entrants should plan to arrive by noon on July 23 for judging. The event will be held, rain or shine.

The homecoming and car show, to be held at the Kitzmiller Elementary School's parking area and the town park from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m., will also include a Department of Natural Resources "Scales & Tales" exhibit from noon to 2 p.m., puppet shows, a horseshoe tournament, dime pitch, dunking booth, a line dancing demonstration, 50-50 drawing, concession stand, chicken BBQ, other food booths, crafts, games, and more.

There are still spaces available to set up a booth, with prices ranging from $7.50 to $10 for an electrical hook-up. For booth and car show information, persons may call Melissa Lucas at 453-4586, or Brian and Cookie Noble at 453-3163.

Gregg Receives Md. Pharmaceutical Association's 1994 Service Award

Ernest J. Gregg, Oakland, has been honored by the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association as its 1994 recipient of the "Bowl of Hygieia" Award for outstanding community service by a pharmacist. Gregg, owner of Gregg's Pharmacy, received the award on June 21, at the association's annual convention in Ocean City.

Making the presentation was Ray Langston of Wyeth-Ayerst Laboratories, a research-based pharmaceutical company headquartered in Pennsylvania. Participating in the ceremony was Howard R. Schill, president of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association.

Gregg has served on the boards of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce and the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and from 1978 until 1990, he was a Garrett County commissioner. He is a member of and former chairman of the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland. He served with the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department for 28 years.

In pharmacy, Gregg is a member and former trustee of the Maryland Pharmacists Association. Locally, he is a member of the Garrett County Pharmacists Association. On a national level, he is a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the National Association of Retail Druggists.

According to a Association spokesman, the Bowl of Hygieia, the most widely recognized international symbol of pharmacy, derives from Greek mythology. Hygieia was the daughter and assistant of Aesculapius, the God of Medicine and Healing. Her classical symbol was a bowl containing a medicinal potion, with the serpent of Wisdom partaking of it. This is the same serpent of Wisdom which appears on the caduceus, the staff of Aesculapius which is the symbol of medicine.

Established in 1958, the award is now presented annually by participating pharmaceutical associations in each of the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the 10 provinces of Canada. The recipients are selected by their respective pharmaceutical associations.

Accepting the award for Gregg, who could not be present at the ceremony, was McHenry pharmacist Jerry Herpel. Other Garrett County pharmacists who have won this state honor in the past are Clint Englander (1969) and Robert Proudfoot (1986).

Paddyfields To Perform At Fair

The Paddyfields, a country music trio based in Annapolis, will be among the performers at the 1994 Garrett County Agriculture Fair, according to a spokesman for the fair board of directors.

Gigi, Christy, and Chelle received their first big break in the late 1980s when they were given the opportunity to work on a demo with legendary songwriter Otis Blackwell. Then in 1990, after selecting songs written by some of Nashville's top writers, The Paddyfields recorded at Cypress Room Studios in Nashville their four-song master quality cassette featuring "Goodbye Lullaby," "This One's for Texas," "Somebody's Cheatin'," and "Home Cookin'."

In April of 1990, The Paddyfields were selected to record and perform the theme song of the annual National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.D. Recorded in Nashville, the song was performed over national television by the trio while riding atop a float in the Cherry Blossom Parade.

Each of the singers takes a turn at lead vocal, which provides a variety of sound for the audience. "They can make you cry with a contemporary ballad and then they can turn you inside out with one of their gutsy swing tunes," stated Maryland Musician Magazine's Norman Kerner. "These young women are singers of American music... traditional, clean, and good for the soul."

The Paddyfields will perform two concerts on the Garrett County Fair stage on Saturday, Aug. 20, the first at 8 p.m. and the second at 9:30. As with all programs at the fair, admission is free to all who pay the $5 general gate admission.

Stories and photos of other fair performances will be featured in coming issues of The Republican, and also appear in the Garrett County Fair Book, published and mailed this week by Sincell Publishing Company.

Bender, Smith Associate Deans

LOWELL E. BENDER

Two Garrett Community College directors have recently been given the title of associate dean as recommended by the college's Organization and Salary Committee and approved by the Board of Trustees, according to President Dr. Steve Herman. They are Lowell E. Bender, now associate dean of community and continuing education, and Manning L. Smith, now associate dean of student services.

Bender is a graduate of Eastern Mennonite College in Harrisonburg, Va., where he earned a BA degree in sociology. Later he received his MBA at Frostburg State University and took additional credits in social work at West Virginia University. He first joined Garrett Community College in 1973 as director of research and development, a position he held for two years. Prior to that he had served as director of community development for the Garrett County Community Action Agency. In 1975 he became director of continuing education.

Under his leadership, the Continuing Education Division has expanded and an Oakland Center has been established. The Small Business Development Center, the New Horizons Program, and the Job Placement Center have also been established within the Continuing Education Division.

MANNING L. SMITH

Active in various community organizations, Bender is currently vice-president of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, member of the Garrett County Private Industry Council, president of the Spruce Forest Artisan Village at Penn Alps, and chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Rosedale Bible Institute for the Conservative Mennonite Conference.

Bender and his wife, Verna, live in the Bittering area with their daughter Rachel, a student at Northern Middle School.

Manning Smith is a graduate of Wake Forest University with a BA degree in sociology, of Virginia Theological Seminary with a MDiv, and West Virginia University College of Graduate Studies with an MA in counseling and guidance. He also attended Freie Universität in Berlin, the University of Maryland in the doctoral program of Curriculum and Instruction, and the Leadership Institute for Chief Student Affairs Officer in Community Colleges.

For 18 years Smith served in parish ministry and as college chaplain in West Virginia, Kentucky, and Maryland. He became director of student services at Garrett Community College in 1986. He currently holds certification with the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, as a National Certified Counselor, Certified Professional Counselor in the State of Maryland, and National Certified School Counselor.

He is a member of the American Counseling Association, the Maryland Association for Counseling Development, the Maryland Community Colleges Deans of Students, and is vice-president of the Garrett County Counselors Association.

His community activities include the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, chaplain; Garrett County Memorial Hospital, chaplain and president of Chaplaincy program; Mtn. Lake Park Tennis Association, treasurer; New Horizons Advisory Board; and Garrett County's for a Healthier Year 2000 Committee.

Smith and his wife, Katherine, live in Mtn. Lake Park. The couple has two daughters: Courtney, a graduate of Washington and Lee University, and Ashley, a student at Susquehanna University.

Sheriff's Office Arrests Noted

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged various arrests this week, involving charges of battery, assault, DWI (driving while intoxicated), theft, and other offenses.

An Accident man was arrested this week on several charges, filed by two complainants. Thomas R. Bowers, 28, was charged with indecent exposure, disturbing the peace, assault, trespassing, and battery. Details of the incident leading to the arrest were not included in the police report.

Those filing the charges were Edna G. Nair and Dianna L. Fontaine, both of Accident.

A 21-year-old Oakland woman was arrested on charges stemming from theft cases at two local residences. Teresa J. DeWitt was charged with two counts of burglary, one count of breaking and entering, one count of misdemeanor theft, according to the police report.

She is accused of stealing from the Oakland homes of Christian M. Deutsch and Richard E. Metcalf.

DeWayne E. Ashby, 41, Oakland, was arrested on July 9, charged with DWI. Ashby apparently was observed crossing the center line along Rt. 39 and was stopped by an officer at 7:40 p.m. Ashby was also operating the vehicle with a revoked license, according to the report.

A 28-year-old Accident man was charged with malicious destruction of property and battery this week. William R. Upole is accused of striking James Thomas in the face on July 4, according to the report.

Edward W. Meyers, 30, Thornton, W. Va., was arrested for DWI on July 6. He was stopped on Rt. 39 at approximately 11 p.m., according to the report.

LUAU SCHEDULED — Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., has made plans for its annual Hawaiian Luau/Silent Auction. Doris Goldsborough, chairperson of the event stated that the event will be held August 5 at the Will O' the Wisp, beginning at 6 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. with a Hawaiian menu. A silent auction will go on throughout the evening. Members of the fund-raising committee, pictured above, are collecting items for the Silent Auction. In the front row, from left, are Linda Patton, Doris Goldsborough, June Heselbach, Ruth DiPaolo, Brenda Bultscher, and Anna Mary Fratz. In the back are Lynn Patton and Carl Heselbach. A complete list of items and the donors will be listed in the newspaper at a later date. Persons may call the Hospice office at 334-5151 or 895-3111 to make reservations or donate an item to be auctioned. The luau will be a smoke-free event.

Accident Man Convicted On Three Counts Of Felony Theft

An Accident man entered three pleas of guilty for felony theft in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings.

District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett sentenced Shawn M. Robinson, 27, to 18 months in jail for each count, with all of the sentence suspended except one year. The sentences will be served concurrently. He was also fined $550 and must make $4,500 restitution to the victims. The judge placed him on one year of supervised probation following his release.

Additional charges of breaking and entering, burglary, petty theft, malicious destruction of property, and breaking and stealing, were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney's office.

The convictions stemmed from incidents that occurred between Dec. 19-23, 1993, at three residences in the McIlheny area. Robinson and an unnamed defendant reportedly broke into a residence on the Rock Lodge Road, owned by J.F. Cotter, where they stole property worth approximately $3,469, including a motorcycle helmet, an animal skin, an Indian rawhide shield, and 9mm cartridges.

On another occasion, they entered a summer cottage at the Moors Subdivision, owned by Conrad E. Adler. According to court records, the perpetrators pried the front door open with a screwdriver, and took a Panasonic VCR, and two remotes. They then broke into a storage shed and took a gas trimmer.

The third residence, also at the Moors Subdivision, is a summer home owned by Robert A. Faupel. More than $500 worth of property was taken from this residence, and the door jamb, worth $180, was damaged.

In other district court news, George Fortner, 35, no fixed address, was convicted on one count of breaking and entering. Judge Burnett sentenced him to 180 days in jail. He was given 123 days' credit for time already served. Costs were waived, and 18 months of supervised probation were imposed on Fortner.

Additional charges of rogue and vagabond, malicious destruction of property, and breaking and stealing were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney.

Court records indicate Fortner was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after they responded to the scene of a reported breaking and entering at the Roman Nose Subdivision, near Lake Shore Drive. A caretaker told the deputies he had checked on one of the residences there and felt heat coming from the building.

Upon inspection, they found Fortner inside. He had cooked food during his stay, slightly ransacked the residence, and consumed approximately $50 worth of food, according to the deputies.

David H. Upole Sr., 49, Oakland, had his request for a motion to revise his sentence denied by Judge Burnett. He had been convicted on one count of battery in an earlier court case, stemming from a Dec. 23, 1993 incident.

An Alford plea of guilty was recorded by Bradley A. Sims, 25, Oakland, on one count of battery. The judge sentenced him to 60 days in jail, with all suspended except 90 days, and placed him on one year of supervised probation. The court costs were suspended. One additional count of battery was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Sims was charged with the offense by sheriff's deputies while he was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail. He reportedly struck another inmate on two separate occasions.

In a separate case, Sims was sentenced to three years in jail, with all suspended except 18 months, on one count of felony theft. The judge fined him $50, ordered him to pay $7,500 in restitution to Betty Jane Bittinger, and placed him on two years of supervised probation.

According to court records, Sims accompanied Mrs. Bittinger, 73, to the bank, told the teller he was her grandson, and withdrew $7,500 from Mrs. Bittinger's account. Sims reportedly paraphernalia.

The defendant was also found guilty of driving a motor vehicle with suspended license and privilege. Smith had entered a "not guilty" plea to this charge as well.

Thayer ordered a presentence investigation and revoked the defendant's bail. Smith was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff pending sentencing.

The charges stemmed from a traffic stop effected on January 27 along I-68 in Garrett County. Smith was driving the vehicle stopped, and an inspection revealed two pounds of marijuana, apparently in his possession. The traffic stop was part of a Garrett County Narcotics Task Force investigation, according to the report.

Oakland Man Found Guilty Of Drug Offenses

An Oakland man who pleaded not guilty to several drug charges was convicted of those charges in Garrett County Circuit Court last week. Dewane R. Smith, 34, was found guilty by Judge Fred A. Thayer of the following counts: possession with intent to distribute marijuana, merged with possession of marijuana; and possession of drug paraphernalia.

The defendant was also found guilty of driving a motor vehicle with suspended license and privilege. Smith had entered a "not guilty" plea to this charge as well.

Thayer ordered a presentence investigation and revoked the defendant's bail. Smith was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff pending sentencing.

Ending the Hypocrisy...

The level of hypocrisy and illogic in American society never ceases to amaze us, but a new law that will take effect in Maryland August 1 will take a major swipe at this condition, unless the tobacco industry's efforts to challenge the law are successful.

As of August 1, smoking will be banned in virtually every indoor workplace, except in specific smoking areas that are self-contained and vented to the outside.

While we often come down hard on the various levels of government for their excessive intervention into our private lives, we are compelled to support most of the anti-smoking legislation that has been proposed and/or implemented in recent years. It is outrageous that the pollution of the air by smokers that must be breathed by non-smokers has been allowed to continue for so long.

Water and food, like air, are among life's essentials. If one were to pour poison into another's water supply or taint another's plate of food with a dash of arsenic, that person would suffer severe consequences if caught. Yet similar poisoning of air by smokers has been allowed for decades.

The Food and Drug Administration has stringent rules for the preparation, handling, and marketing of food items, all designed to protect the consumer. Violators of those rules, no matter how slight the violation may be, face major fines and even imprisonment. Yet the tobacco industry is allowed to produce its deadly product, full-steam ahead.

OSHA inspectors invade the workplace, issuing mandates (many of which are ridiculous) and handing out fines to employers for allowing what they determine to be dangerous conditions, all in the name of protecting the defenseless and supposedly ignorant employees. Employers must make sure they tell their workers, for example, that spraying WD-40 in their mouths and eyes is a dangerous practice. Yet the government has basically ignored the dangers of toxic tobacco smoke that is sucked into the lungs of non-smokers.

There is, of course, a reason for the hypocrisy. It is big money and thus powerful tobacco lobbyists, coupled with a gutless Congress. Our economy loses literally billions of dollars in production each and every year because of illness and death directly caused by the use of tobacco products. Millions of people volunteer their time and talents to raise money for such organizations as the American Lung Association, American Cancer Society, and American Heart Association, all of which are working to prevent and find a cure for diseases that are caused directly by smoking cigarettes. In the meantime, our government subsidizes the tobacco industry in a variety of ways.

We are pleased that Maryland lawmakers have finally taken this courageous step to end the hypocrisy.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Anyone traveling through or visiting the town of Deer Park during the Fourth of July weekend could immediately see an awakened interest. Flags were flying, which had not been for many years, and the streets had been cleaned, debris had been removed from many places and old automobiles removed.

To those responsible we say thanks, keep up the good work, and with this type of interest and positive action in the beauty of Deer Park, it will soon find its place with the best.

Sincerely,
The Church of God of Prophecy

To the Editor:

As a result of the public's reaction to the unfolding O.J. Simpson saga, the Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center (DVSARC) wants to remind citizens that murders resulting from domestic violence are not unusual or uncommon. Last year, in Maryland, there was one death every five days as a result of domestic violence. The only thing unusual about the Simpson case is that it involves a well-known person, "An American Hero."

You might think that severe domestic violence does not occur in Garrett County, yet in 1993 a woman was killed in a domestic-violence-related shooting in the county.

America is talking. The DVSARC hopes the dialogue will produce a fired-up commitment to end this senseless crime which terrorizes thousands daily in our state. It is a sad fact of American life that domestic violence fills hospital emergency rooms and morgues, contributes to juvenile delinquency, and destroys families.

The Simpson case is a wake-up call for each of us. Now is the time to participate in protecting victims and sending the message to batterers that their actions will not be tolerated. For information about how you can help, or if you are a victim who needs help, call DVSARC at 334-9000.

Sincerely,
Debbie Holler

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of July 18-22 is as follows:
Day 1 - Orange juice, hotdog on bun w/o chili sauce, guilt-free potato salad, baked beans, cantaloupe w/ice cream or purple plums.

Day 2 - Applesauce, Salisbury steak, whipped potatoes, kale, roll, pound cake.

Milk, Coffee, and tea are served with all meals. On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows:
Flowers Vale Senior Center, Accident, 746-8824; Finzel Fire Hall, Finzel, 689-8388; Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 746-5414; Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 334-2848; Starner Hill Apts., Grantsville, 895-5092; Jennings Community Building, Jennings, 245-4204; Kitzmiller Community Building, Kitzmiller, 453-3445; Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, 334-7311, ext. 135; and Swanton Community Building, Swanton, 387-9191.

Note: Friendsville Senior Citizens are now being served "w/la's Old Mill Restaurant at noon instead of 1 p.m.

To the Editor:

I was rather appalled recently when I picked up our local newspaper and found that Friendsville had made the Chuck Shepherd column. I quote, "The democratic process: Among recent voter decisions: Friendsville, Md., Mayor Spencer Schlossnagle was returned to office in February after having been convicted a week before of indecent exposure and had four other such charges pending."

Where is your pride, Friendsville? Does anyone in Friendsville care that they're the laughing stock of the county? Surely there must be someone in Friendsville who cares about the impact immorality has on a community! I no longer live in Garrett County where I grew up, but this kind of news from "back home" certainly isn't good news.

Why doesn't the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival board purchase the Assembly Hall in Mtn. Lake Park? There's plenty of room, a theater, and plenty of ground. I am sure they could purchase this property from American Trust Bank for the sum of $300,000. This is a steal!

To the Editor:

Matthew 28:19-20 is Jesus' command to teach all nations and did not exclude schools because it might offend atheists, snake cultists, or Satanists, but was to be a witness that all would be without excuse saying they didn't know about it. Man was free to accept or reject it, but it was to be taught to all in any case.

Satan's objective is the opposite—to distort, suppress and abolish God's word or any reference to Him, therefore the continual attack on the Bible and Constitution is of great importance to Him. Since schools are where young minds are molded and most teaching is done, that is the natural place to attack.

Look at the progress he has made: creation has been replaced by evolution, sexual abstinence has been replaced by sexual freedom, moral absolutes have been replaced by no absolutes at all, monogamous marriage has been replaced by sexual preference, even marriage with one of their own sex, etc.

Satan's victories have produced too many youth who say, "I think I'll strap on my 357 and blade, go pick up my welfare check to pay for my Mary Jane, and booze, get a fix from my dealer, then go support the gay-rights rally and protest the right to life march. I'll spend the rest of the day at the rock concert where I can use my free condoms and needles with some married chick. On my way home to watch MTV maybe, I can do some drive by shooting. After all, my horoscope says I'm going to have a great day."

Truth is not debatable. Many shall be purified and made white and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly; and none of the wicked shall understand. Dan. 12:10

Commissioner Brenda Butcher then asked Rysavage why 22 acres were needed for the new southern school. He replied that a minimum of 13 acres were needed. However, he continued, if the additional acres, which lie in a flood plain, were not included in the purchased, the seller planned to raise the price of the initial 13. These additional acres may be used for environmental education, vocational agriculture, recreation, or, in the future, as a building site, Rysavage stated.

Road Repairs
In other business, Abner and Eloise Tichnell led a group of eight area residents to address the commission about the condition of Chestnut Grove Road. According to the Tichnells, the road, which turns south off State Route 135, is badly in need of repair and ditches along the road do not drain properly.

Robert Foussek, head of the county roads department, was present to hear these concerns and assured those present that the road would be patched by the end of next week and overlaid with new pavement by the end of November. Foussek stated that the Chestnut Grove Road will also be lined and ditch work will be done.

MONEY IN YOUR CHILDREN'S HANDS

by Irmgard R. Koscielniak
Extension Agent, Home Economics

With summer here, many children and young people are getting paid for work they are doing. They either work at home for pay, especially when both parents are working out, or the young people hold jobs in stores, fast food places, etc.

How should their money be managed? Does it come and go without much thought? Will it all be spent on "extras"? Will the child make the decision without any input from the parent or other responsible adult? This type of money management will probably lead to another generation of young adults where almost half will have serious financial problems by the time they are 25 years old.

Many adults do not manage money, it just happens to work out. Since children learn more from parent's action than from what they are trying to teach, young people's money management will possibly not be very efficient when they grow up. In addition, one cannot count on income steadily increasing as it did for many years during the parent's working life. This extra income generally took care of any over spending. The changing times we live in today make it imperative that family money management will be learned.

Children are not born with "money sense." Children's attitudes and value of money is shaped by what they see and hear from their parents. They learn from their parents' experiences and are aware of money problems even if no one tells them.

Pre-schoolers have no sense of wanting to save money other than to hoard it like they may stash away toys. Understanding about money can grow if they are allowed to pay the cashier for goods purchased. As they grow into the pre-teen years they can learn to make change, receive change and see that it is the correct amount. At this time they also should receive an allowance of which a part should be saved. Take the children to the bank to do their own depositing. This is probably the best way to get into the habit of saving.

Children learn how to use money by being allowed to practice, first under guidance, then slowly on their own. A teenager needs to be informed about credit use, its cost and what happens if a credit bill cannot be paid. Being able to charge on the parents' credit card and then have them pay this bill is not learning responsible money management. Your credit rating may also be put in jeopardy since you are responsible for the bill if you let others use the card. Do not give the young person the sole responsibility for managing money until you can reasonably believe they can do it. If children make wrong decisions they need to take responsibility for the results.

Making a budget and planning ahead for long term goals is probably the least enjoyable and most important activity. Financial counselors state that the majority of people in finan-

View From My Window

A FEW ODDS AND ENDS

The wonderful thing about making a mistake is that it gives a person the opportunity to show he is big enough to admit he was wrong. All of us probably have many more such opportunities than we realize, but (oh boy!) when we do realize them, what fun we can have correcting our errors.

A few weeks ago I waxed lyrical about the planets, Venus and Jupiter. They have shone brightly in the spring and summer skies this year. Little by little Jupiter is making his way toward Venus, and out of that I spun my column. So far, so good, but I proceeded to say that Jupiter was the god of war in ancient mythology.

One reader, very kindly, pointed out my faux pas. Jupiter is the big cheese of the Roman pantheon. He was the sky god, with thunder bolts in his quiver, known as Zeus by the Greeks, and in English -- at least since Chaucer's day -- known also as Jove, thus the old and fairly mild oath, "by Jove." A good tale can be spun from the movements of the planets we call Jupiter and Venus, but not the one I offered in the earlier column.

The planet Mars, visible right now at dawn in the eastern sky, is named for the Roman god of war. G. K. Chesterton, the British author and journalist, once observed that the difference between the right word and almost the right word is the difference between "lightning" and "lightning bug." So much difference was there also between what I wrote and the fact of the matter.

Do you remember when we complained how cold it was? I wrote a column in which I mentioned listening to the National Weather Service forecast on the radio, and that they use a unit called "heating degree days" to measure the extent of coldness on a daily basis. I, somewhat lazily, admitted I did not know what a heating degree day was.

A reader took the trouble to write a letter, providing me the formula for a heating or cooling degree day. To make the calculation you need a thermometer which registers the high and low temperatures. You need also to take the readings as close as possible to the same time each day. Add the high and low temperatures, and divide by two. You now have the mean average temperature. If the mean is less than 65° then subtract it from 65, and the difference equals the number of heating degree days. If the mean is more than 65° then subtract 65 from the mean. The difference equals the number of cooling degree days.

For example, on March 31 the high and low temperatures at our place were 57° and 29°. The mean was 43°. 65-43=22 heating degree days. Last Thursday the high and low temperatures were 94° and 67°. The mean was 81°. 81-65=16 cooling degree days. The primary premise of the system is that 65°F is the perfect temperature. Deviations below that cause us to heat our homes. Deviations above that cause us to cool our homes. At our home deviations above 65° just cause us to be hot.

The reader who informed me of the calculations to arrive at heating and cooling degree days also, with extreme gentleness, pointed out that both terms can be found in the dictionary. One has to open the dictionary, however, in order to find them.

Another reader asked me if a heating degree day is the same thing as a heat unit by which he planted crops. They are different, but the calculation is similar. To measure heat units, you must calculate the mean temperature just as before, and then subtract 40. Take last Thursday's temperatures again. The mean was 81°. 81-40=41 heat units. The premise here is that things grow at average temperatures above 40°F.

I visited one of my great uncles a few weeks ago who expressed his pleasure reading these columns. He did tell me, however, that some readers mix a healthy dose of skepticism with their pleasure. "How does he know all that stuff?" one friend had wanted to know. The answer, as you can see from this week's work, is that, like most people, I don't always know what I am talking about. I do get things turned around sometimes.

I would add a few other thoughts to that. Most of what I know comes from either listening or reading. In moments of uncertainty there are few things better than a dictionary or an encyclopedia to set a body straight. Most of my mistakes arise from one of two assumptions that either I already know the answer or through laziness don't think it important. If we read, pay attention to what other people say, and look up information when we are in doubt, all of us will be amazed how much we really do know.

Voters League Seeks Questions For Candidates

The Garrett County League of Women Voters is soliciting questions from citizens of Garrett County directed to the various candidates for public office.

Out of the questions submitted, the league will select one or two of them and then give all candidates the opportunity to respond to them. Those responses will then be printed in the LWV's Voter's Guide, to be published free of charge by The Republican prior to the September 13 primary elections.

Persons are invited to send their questions for candidates for county commissioner, sheriff, state's attorney, and board of education to: LWV, P.O. Box 115, Oakland, MD 21550. The deadline for submitting questions is Monday, July 25.

The league will also hold a covered dish picnic, to which the public and all candidates are invited, on Monday, Aug. 29, at Broadford Park Pavilion #1, beginning at 6 p.m.

Then on October 30, following the primary elections and prior to the general election in November, the league will sponsor a candidates' forum over a local radio station. Questions that are received for the Voter's Guide will also be among those considered for use at the forum.

Arrests Noted

Gary A. Ashby, 21, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a warrant charging him with trespassing and telephone misuse. He is accused of calling Rachel Nine repeatedly, using foul language to harass her, according to the report.

A bench warrant was served to Robert K. Critelli, 36, Deer Park, for violation of probation. His original charge was DWI.

Theft Reported

The theft of over $1,000 was reported by the owner of the Oakland Exxon station, located on Oak Street.

According to the report, the store was opened the morning of July 10 and Elbert Custer, an employee, noticed that money drawers in the business's safe had been removed. Bob Stuck, owner of the establishment, contacted the sheriff's office at that time.

The amount taken in the apparent theft was $1,075. Officers could detect no signs of forced entry, according to the report. An investigation is continuing.

Man Convicted

told Mrs. Bittinger's son, Sterl E. Bittinger, the money was his inheritance, and he wanted to help Mrs. Bittinger begin an antique business. The three then went to Pittsburgh to buy antiques, stole Sterl Bittinger's pickup truck, and left them stranded at a motel there.

Sims requested his sentences to run concurrently, but the request was denied. A motion was also made to allow Sims to complete an intensive outpatient program, and a sentence revision hearing is set for Aug. 1.

Another Oakland man was charged with Sims in the attack of the inmate at the county jail. Scott E. Kahl, 21, He, too, was handed a guilty verdict for the offense, and was sentenced to six months in jail.

A request for a sentence revision was granted and a hearing was set for July 19. Deron R. Godby, 21, McHenry, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on one count of malicious destruction of property, because the complainant failed to appear. Godby had been charged with the offense after he reportedly entered the home of Michael A. Crosby, McHenry, to get a movie from his classmate. Court documents indicate that while he was inside the home, he broke a fishing pole and a tan, and put ketchup on a mirror. Crosby told Maryland State Police his acts were merely a college prank.

Nancy J. Rothrock, 47, Friendsville, was not prosecuted on one count of battery, at the request of the complainant, Edna T. Pruitt. The charge stemmed from an incident on Feb. 5 in Oakland.

Jeffrey C. Monteleone, 23, Pittsburgh, was granted probation before judgment on an earlier charge of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), stemming from his Oct. 23, 1993 arrest by Natural Resources Police at Swallow Falls. All conditions of his probation will remain as originally imposed.

Charles B. Garlitz, 51,

Grantsville, was handed a guilty verdict for one count of battery. The judge sentenced him to a six-month jail term, with all suspended except time already served, fined him $50, and placed him on 12 months of supervised probation. Previous decisions were not prosecuted, including reckless driving, breaking and entering, and malicious destruction of property, all plea agreements with the state's attorney's office, and assault with intent to murder, because of insufficient evidence.

All charges against Garlitz stemmed from an incident in Grantsville, involving his daughter, Timmie Warnick, who charged that he had pushed her car with his, while she was in it, at one point reaching a speed of 90 miles per hour; struck her car with his; and tore up her yard.

A battery charge against Leonard L. Orendorf Jr., 35, Grantsville, was dismissed. An additional charge of fourth degree sexual offense was not prosecuted by the state's attorney. The verdict stemmed from incidents that occurred between June 1993 and February 1994, involving a male complainant.

Michael P. Sliger, 21, Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count of felony theft, and one count of conspiracy, but was convicted on one count of petty theft, resulting from his April 21 arrest. The judge handed him a six-month suspended sentence, fined him $100, and placed him on one year of supervised probation, and 24 hours of community service with the town of Oakland.

Sliger was arrested by a sheriff's deputy after he and a co-defendant reportedly took a shopping cart from Browning's Foodland and attempted to steal clothing from the Union Rescue Mission boxes. When the deputy arrived, Sliger fled toward Loch Lynn on a bicycle. The officer noted a strong odor of alcohol was detected on the defendant at the time of his apprehension.

James Patton, 20, Oakland, pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of battery. He was sentenced to six months in jail, with all suspended except four days, to be served on weekends, fined $150 plus $289.89 restitution, and placed on one year of supervised probation for the offense.

The charges stemmed from an April 13 altercation at a residence owned by Jerry Waybright, Oakland. Patton and several others were reportedly involved in an altercation with Waybright.

Three out-of-state men were convicted on CDS-related charges stemming from their Jan. 6 arrest by Maryland State Police at the Wisp Resort. Steven L. Creamer, no address given, and Ralph M. Liggett, 29, Wheeling, W.Va., were each convicted on one count of CDS possession, handed 60-day sentences, with all but 30 days suspended, fined $550 and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. An additional charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney against either defendant.

A co-defendant, Michael W. Adams, 29, Wellsburg, W.Va., was found guilty on one count of possession of CDS possession, but was not prosecuted on a CDS possession charge. His 30-day sentence was suspended, except for 48 hours, he was fined $350, and one year of supervised probation was imposed by Judge Burnett.

The three were arrested and charges imposed after police officers responded to complaint of disorderly behavior at the Wisp. A search of the premises revealed them to be in possession of marijuana and a smoking device.

A motion to revise Creamer's sentence was granted, and a hearing will be held on Aug. 30.

A Paw Paw, Mich., man was granted probation before judgment on his CDS possession charge. The judge fined Derek J. Williams, 22, $500. All of that was suspended except $50, and Williams was placed on six months of supervised probation. An additional charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement with the state's attorney.

According to court records, Williams was arrested on July 1, 1993 by state police at a drug interdiction checkpoint. The officers noticed the defendant attempt to hide something as he approached the stopping point. A subsequent search of the vehicle revealed Williams to be in possession of marijuana.

Louise Richards New Secretary Of State Assoc.

Louise Richards, executive director of The Maryland Salem Children's Trust, near Grantsville has been elected secretary of the Maryland Association of Resources for Families and Youth (MARFY). MARFY is comprised of approximately 70 organizations which provide assistance to families and children in need. Services include residential care in treatment centers and group homes, foster care, adoption services, day treatment programs, special education services and family counseling.

MARFY was founded in 1971. In recent years, it has grown considerably and, under Executive Director James P. McComb, is now one of the leading child advocacy organizations in the state. Its annual dinner in Annapolis during the legislative session keeps legislators abreast of the needs of Maryland's children. The MARFY Annual Conference held each November offers training and workshops on a variety of childcare issues. Last year's closing speaker for the conference held in Ocean City was Richard Berendzen, former president of American University and author of Come Here, an autobiographical account of his own sexual abuse as a child.

MARFY has an active training program, including recent child care worker training held at Brooklane Psychiatric Center in Hagerstown. Two house-parents from Salem attended the workshops.

Next month MARFY will co-sponsor with Salem and other member agencies the 5-For-Kids Project. This will be the second year for the fund-raising event which involves cyclists biking from Garrett County to the Eastern Shore. This year, Tom Ruckert from Salem and Alan Kauffman, pastor of Glade Mennonite Church in Accident will ride for Salem. All funds raised for Salem will support its program providing homes and families for children in need.

Ms. Richards, a licensed certified social worker, is the founder and director of The Maryland Salem Children's Trust. She is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College (B.A.) and the University of Maryland School of Social Work (M.S.W.). She opened the Salem program in Calvert County in 1977. It was relocated to Garrett County in 1979.

Salem currently offers a home and care for 30 children between the ages of 6 and 21 and an Intensity V special education school for grades K through 12. Persons desiring additional information about Salem or MARFY may call The Maryland Salem Children's Trust at 689-8176.

David Yurus To Seek 6th District Congress. Seat

David R. Yurus, West Friendship, has declared his candidacy for Western Maryland's sixth district congressional seat, presently held by Roscoe Bartlett. Yurus will run on the Republican ticket.

Yurus is a graduate of West Virginia University, where he earned a degree in economics in 1988. He is currently employed as an investment banker and is a member of United We Stand America.

If elected, Yurus has stated that he will introduce a bill requiring all able-bodied welfare recipients to work for local governments. He is for capital punishment and believes that criminals should be made to work on chain gangs. He has also stated that caning should be brought back for some offenses.

Yurus stated that he is a "strong believer" in the Second Amendment and will never vote to infringe upon the right of the people to keep and bear arms. He favors additional funding for the strategic defense initiative, asserting his opinion that the United States must always be prepared through a strong defense.

He favors a "flat tax rate" with limited deductions, and will propose an across-the-board cut of 10% on every federal program. He is against all foreign aid, stating his opinion that it is "utterly reprehensible that elected officials send hard-earned taxes to countries all around the world."

He is against the North American Trade Agreement, and favors some type of optional, low-cost, basic health care coverage. He said that he will propose that non-working welfare recipients, elected officials, and the President should not be covered by health insurance until a health plan can be offered to average Americans.

"I think America would have a reasonable health care plan in place overnight," he stated.

decided to go ahead with previously. The cost of the bus ($43,956) would cover most of the hiring costs of two math specialists.

Board member Charlotte Sebold was not in favor of the additional math teachers, stating that she was concerned about the costs involved. Board member Hannah Sincell approved of the addition, however, stating that she felt Dr. McCartney's request was based on her knowledge as an educator and that she, Sincell, as a board member should trust McCartney's and other educators' expertise in this matter. McCartney later noted that she has worked for three years on the issue.

The suggestion made by M. McCartney - to keep all six math specialists but to wait one year on the purchase of the spare bus - was approved four to one, with Sebold voting against.

Gary E. Fratz Will Run For Commissioner

Democrat Gary E. Fratz has announced his candidacy for Garrett County Commissioner for district 2.

Fratz, a life-long resident of Garrett County, spent his childhood years helping with the family owned farm supply business near Accident. After high school he attended the University of Maryland. Fratz served three years in the U.S. Army, two of which stationed in Germany.

Upon his discharge from the military he returned to work for the family business for eight years. Fratz began work for Harbison Walker Refractories as a production supervisor in 1969 and, after 24 years with the company, took early retirement in 1994.

Fratz currently owns and operates a farm south of Accident. He is assisted on the farm by his wife of 36 years, Kathleen, and his son Brent. Fratz is a father of four and grandfather of five.

He is a member and past congregation president of the Zion Lutheran Church, a member and past president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau, and a member of the Garrett County Development Corporation Board. Fratz served on the board of trustees of Garrett Community College for 10 years and on the board of directors of the Garrett County Fair for over 20 years. He is also a former member and past president of the Northern High WINNER ANNOUNCED - Martha Reams, Oakland, is pictured above right as she receives the winning prize of a recent Garrett County Livestock Association fund raiser from Alice Havner, extension agent. Proceeds from the fund raiser will go toward the newly established 4-H/FFA Scholarship Fund. Recipients of the new scholarships will be announced during the awards program to be held Saturday, August 20, at the Garrett County Agricultural Fair. Additional information on the 4-H/FFA Scholarship Fund may be obtained from the Extension Office at 202 S. Third St., Oakland, or by calling 334-1990.

School Parent-Teacher Association

"I have always been interested in county government and would like to serve the residents of Garrett County as one of their commissioners," Fratz said.

David C. Beard Seeks District 1 Commissioner Seat

The Garrett County Board of Elections Supervisor has announced the resignation of President David C. Beard and his subsequent filing as a Democratic candidate for Garrett County Commissioner in District 1. He is seeking the seat presently held by Elwood Groves.

Beard is a graduate of Frostburg State University and has done advance studies at West Virginia University, Bowie State College, Frostburg State College, and the University of Kentucky.

He is currently a civics teacher at Southern High School, a position he has held for the last 17 years. He formerly taught at North Glade School and Friendsville Elementary School. At Southern High he taught special education for many years and was also a guidance counselor there.

He is a member and past president of the Garrett County Federation of Teachers.

Prior to his teaching career, which has spanned 27 years, he was assistant director of the Backbone Mountain Boys Forestry Camp.

Beard is a former member of the Oakland Optimist Club for which he served as president of the local club and lieutenant governor of the district organization. He received the "Friend of the Boy" award and the club leadership award. He has served as both treasurer and chairman of The Democrat State Central Committee for Garrett County. He is a past president of the Maryland Classified Employees Association chapter 105 and a past member of the Mountain Top Civic Center Board of Directors.

The candidate is a current member of the American Legion, Proctor Killow Post #71, Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, Garrett County Democrat Athletic Association. He was awarded the Lions Club "Lion of the Year" for 1991 and the Southern Garrett Athletic Association "Citizen of the Year" for 1986. He was included in "Who's Who Among America's Teachers" in 1990, 91 and 92.

"I believe good things happen to people who work hard," said Beard. "I intend to work hard to promote and make good things happen in our communities. The commissioners' office is the people's office. Taxpayers should have easy access to their elected officials, especially their commissioner."

If successful the candidate will retire from teaching to serve the citizens of Garrett County full-time, he said.

All campaign donations may be sent to Jon Thayer, treasurer, Rt. 2, Box 112A, Swanton, MD 21561. Anyone willing to provide space for a yard sign or display a bumper strip may call 387-5987.

"Shakespeare"

charges him with avenging his death.

Hamlet feigns madness to carry out his revenge in secret, arousing concern in court. To assure himself of Claudius's guilt, Hamlet stages a play that parallels the ghost's story of the murder. Claudius's reaction convinces Hamlet that the ghost has told the truth.

The story has several other subplots and extenuating circumstances, with poisoned drinks and swords leading to the tragic finale of a story that includes four revenge plots, 10 deaths, a suicide, a graveyard fight, an avenging hero, a ghost, a play-within-a-play, and a fencing match.

Shakespeare on Wheels was founded in 1985 by UMBC theatre professor William T. Brown. It is funded by grants from the Maryland State Arts Council, UMBC, fees paid by host presenters in the region, and individual contributions.

For more information about the free performances, persons may contact the GLAF box office at 387-3082.

Harold F. Forsyth Throws Hat Into Commissioner Race

Harold F. "Hal" Forsyth has announced his candidacy for Garrett County Commissioner. A Republican, he is seeking the seat on the board for the third commissioner district.

Long affiliated with the Republican National Committee, Forsyth handled the successful campaign of Montana U.S. Representative James F. Battin and served four years as his administrative assistant in his Washington office. Forsyth also served as an advance man for the Republican National Committee in a presidential campaign.

A full-time resident of Garrett County for the past 10 years, the candidate said that he and his wife Edna have found the county, its people, and the lifestyle to be what they have "always wanted." They have three children and five grandchildren who live in Connecticut, Florida, and Tennessee.

Forsyth was a soil scientist with the Soil Conservation Service in Montana, and purchased mineral leases as a landman for Exxon companies in Maryland, Montana, West Virginia, and several other states. His last assignment with Exxon was manager of its West Virginia coal office. He currently does title searches, real estate appraising, and is a licensed real estate sales agent.

Forsyth holds a bachelor of science degree in forestry from Montana State University and a master's degree in forestry from Duke University. "Over the years, he has witnessed the enormous growth and development taking place in and around Garrett County," he said. "With the construction of the new prisons in Cumberland, the FBI fingerprint facility in Clarksburg, W.Va., the new NASA facility in Fairmont, W.Va., the proposed amphitheater at Deep Creek Lake State Park, and other activities, I foresee increasing tourism and industrial development for Garrett County. The county commissioners will have the problem of planning for increased traffic, adequate community services, schools, and a host of related problems. I want to help solve these problems and I ask the voters who agree with me to support my candidacy. I look forward to meeting as many of you as I can in the coming months."

Vivian Stacy, Deer Park, has agreed to serve as his campaign treasurer.

on Deep Creek Lake. According to a report filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, William C. Taylor Sr., 47, called the local barracks to report a theft at the bar, which was discovered to be unfounded. Taylor allegedly became disorderly and abusive when the officer instructed him to leave, resulting in his arrest.

Taylor was initially lodged in the Garrett County Jail, and has since been released on his own recognition.

DWI ARRESTS

Two recent arrests for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) were logged at the local state police barracks. No addresses were given for either of those charged.

Paul Donald Goetz Jr., 31, was arrested and charged with DWI on July 2 by Tfc. P.R. Brown.

Dale Thomas, 35, was arrested for DWI on July 8 by Tfc. M. Rodeheaver.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1994 A-9

OAKLAND

Michael and Christine Morrow recently spent 10 days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ruthvan Morrow, Oakland. Michael spent his early years in Oakland, living with his grandparents. He attended kindergarten and elementary school here, as well as Southern High School, and was a student for a short time at Garrett Community College. Michael worked for the Cornish family in Oakland and Deep Creek Lake.

On June 17, he graduated from the University of California, Santa Cruz, with a B.S. degree in chemistry. He was immediately given a position in an environmental laboratory in San Jose.

now returned to their homes, with the Hammels vacationing for a week following conference. Connie Nicklow represented the Brookside Church and Betty Elliott went from Gortner.

Kenneth Biser of Paughville fell Friday morning and fractured his hip. He is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital following surgery. His brother, Frank Wiser of Oakland, died Saturday morning, July 9, after a lengthy illness. Both are sons of the late Elza and Lily (Mosser) Biser.

A severe electrical storm passed through these communities Thursday evening, setting a fire in an outbuilding on Mt. Top, putting out phone service and phones in that area, also near Eglogon, and doing other electrical damage to things such as fences and pumps.

Gerald Lee of Joshua Tree, Calif., and Louella Pike of Aurora visited Saturday in Fairmont with Catherine Martin Schuman and Ethel Sauro. On Sunday, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Martin at Twin Lakes near Belington. Kenny and Melissa Wotring of Shawnee, Okla., visited recently at Aurora with and his parents, Tom and Carolyn String, his sisters, Anita Britner and family, Rebecca and Sarah Wotring.

Nancy Williams of Rayner, Colo., is visiting at Aurora with her father, Paul Stemple.

BOOSTERS' CAR WASH

A car wash and bake sale will be held at the Aurora School Saturday, July 23 from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. This event is sponsored by the Aurora Band Boosters with proceeds going to the band.

SCHOOL CALENDARS

Aurora community calendar solicitation is now underway. The cost of listings is 40 cents, and calendars are $4 each. Persons with questions or wishing to help, are asked to contact Renee Mullenax at

"There's only one place to buy a lawn mower" but actually there's about 2,900.

Everyone knows that there's no better place to buy a lawn mower than a John Deere dealer. Now if you've never been to one, chances are it's because you thought you'd have to go out of your way to get to one. But the truth is, we have more locations than most department stores do. Over 2,900 in fact. So, while there's still only one place you can buy genuine John Deere lawn and garden equipment, you'll be happy to know it's as close as the bottom of this ad.

Garrett Legion Teams Defeats Farrady Twice

The Garrett County Junior American Legion baseball team holds a 4-1 record in the second half of the Mountain District season after defeating Frostburg Farrady Post twice this past week.

Coach Ed Wildesen's squad edged the visitors Tuesday, 7-6, behind a fifth-inning grand slam by Belmore Oriole-bound Alan Sebold and then crushed the Frostburg players on their own field last night, 12-0, with a 13-hit effort.

Frostburg pitcher Terry DeHaven kept Garrett scoreless through four innings of Tuesday's game and held a 4-0 lead going into the bottom of the fifth. But that's when the home team took the lead for good by tagging DeHaven with six runs, including Sebold's blast.

Garrett County added what would prove to be the winning run in the sixth before Frostburg rallied for two runs in the eighth.

Mark Elliott and Rich Warnick each recorded two singles for Garrett County, while Josh Woods scored a pair of runs. Three Garrett County pitchers gave up a total of only two hits, but issued 10 walks to Frostburg.

Last night's game remained close until the final two innings, when Garrett County scored nine of its 12 runs to record the lopsided victory.

Elliott scattered eight hits for Garrett, while Seth Tressler and Jeremy Fitzwater led the offense. Tressler recorded two RBI with EARN SCHOLARSHIP TO WESLEYAN - Josh Woods, a baseball standout at Southern High School for the past three seasons, will continue his educational and athletic career this fall at West Virginia Wesleyan College, from which he has been awarded a four-year academic/athletic scholarship. Woods, a son of Tom and Debbie Woods, Mtn. Lake Park, recorded the third highest career batting average in the history of Southern High with a .414 average. He finished fifth all-time in hits with 87 under Coach Jim Bosley. As a sophomore, he recorded the third highest single season batting average ever at Southern with a sizzling .484 and led the team in hits. As a junior, he was again the leading hitter for the Rams with a .364 average, was named the team MVP, and was named first team All-Area. He finished with a .431 average for the Rams this past season, when they went undefeated in the regular season for the first time. Woods was named to the All-Potomac Valley Conference team, received the 1994 Coach's Award, and will most likely be named again to the All-Area squad. In his three years of starting for Coach Bosley, the Rams recorded a 43-11 record. He likewise excelled in the classroom, where he finished his high school studies with a grade point average of 3.40 and graduated 13th in his class. Woods will be joining a Wesleyan Bobcat team that finished among the top two in the past five years in the West Virginia Conference under Coach Randy Tenney. Woods is pictured above with his parents (seated) and, standing from left, Lewis Marks, SHS assistant coach; Ed Wildesen, Garrett County American Legion team coach; and Coach Bosley.

a double and a single and also scored three times, while Fitzwater smacked a three-run triple. Sebold added an RBI double, Ryan Folk sent two runs home with a pair of singles, and Woods also had two singles.

Elliott struck out five and walked just one to gain the win over Tim Neumark. Chris Snyder led Farrady's hitting with a double and two singles, while DeHaven singled twice. The defeat dropped Frostburg to 2-3.

Garrett Teams Conclude 1994 Regular Seasons

Grantsville and Central Garrett wrapped up their Bi-State Pony League regular seasons this past week, as Grantsville defeated Ellerslie last Friday at home, 12-7, and Central lost to league-leading Keyser Moose, 14-7, in Keyser.

Bill Speicher recorded three hits to lead Grantsville's offense, while Matt Fritz fanned 11 batters, gave up only three hits, and aided his own cause with two hits to record the win. Joe Fullerton, Aaron Blocher, and Cody Breneman also finished with two hits each.

Fritz gave up a solo homer to Jason Garlock in the second inning and two singles to Josh Cook. The loss evened Ellerslie's record at 7-7, while Grantsville will take a 9-5 mark into the league playoffs.

Central Garrett managed just four hits against three Keyser Moose pitchers and three Central pitchers allowed eight walks in the first inning to give the home team seven runs in that frame. Central had a 3-0 lead going into the bottom of the first. A total of 20 walks were issued in the game.

Relief pitcher Matt Healy smacked a pair of triples and Jake Ellifritz also recorded two hits to lead Keyser's eight-hit attack. Chip Mason and Josh McLaughlin each added doubles.

Zack Levensz and Ryan Butler each had a double for Central.

The victory improved Keyser's mark to 12-2, while Central wrapped up the regular season with an 8-6 record.

Rams' Football Hall Of Fame To Be Established

The Southern High School Athletic Department will establish a new athletic honorary society this fall with the organization of the Southern Rams Football Hall of Fame, according to Tom Woods, athletic director and varsity football coach.

The new program will be introduced when five charter members are named to the honorary on September 9 during the opening game of the 1994 football season against Frankfort. In the meantime, Woods said nominations for the first five honorees may be submitted by all interested persons. The nomination form appears on this page.

Woods will collect all nominations and turn them over to a selection committee which will then designate the first five inductees.

Criteria for selection into the Hall of Fame are as follows: any player who participated in the Southern football program for at least two years; any coach who was affiliated with Southern football for at least five years; any contributor who has devoted substantial time to the Southern football program; and any teacher, administrator, or Board of Education employee who has provided exceptional support for the program.

Following the first year's class, a minimum of three inductees will be chosen each year, Woods said. A large display board furnished by Signs by Domenico and bearing the names of the inductees will be placed in the Southern athletic stadium for permanent display.

Woods said persons are invited to submit nominations of favorite players, coaches, and contributors as many times as they wish to help the selection committee choose the inductees.

Glotfelty's Wins Oakland Little League Crown

Glotfelty's won the 1994 Oakland Little League Championship this past week by defeating Knights of Pythias in consecutive games, 8-6 and 17-16. Glotfelty's came from behind in both contests.

The Knights won the regular season title in the American Division with an impressive 16-2 mark. They opened the play-offs by coming from behind and defeating a much improved Lions team, 11-5. K of P then played A&A Realty, which had defeated Woodmen of the World in the first round. K of P got off to a fast start against A&A, but had to score in the last inning to defeat a solid A&A team, 9-8, and win the American Division title.

Glotfelty's advanced to the final round with a thrilling 10-9 victory over American Trust. They then played Browning's, which has defeated State Farm in the first round. Browning's, the regular season winner in the National Division with a 16-2 mark, and Glotfelty's were knotted at 2-2 after six innings. In the extra innings, Glotfelty's scored two times in the top of the eighth inning and held off Browning's in a hard-fought game, 4-2, to advance to the finals versus K of P.

In the first game of the best-of-three series, K of P recorded five runs in the first inning on hits by Jordan Uphold, Christian Warfield, Justin Rinker, John Hayhurst, and Mike DeWitt.

K of P held a 6-2 lead going into the fifth inning when Glotfelty's rallied on a bases-loaded double by Josh Bosley. Glotfelty's held on to defeat K of P, 8-6, to take a 1-0 lead in the series. Mike DeWitt and John Hayhurst had two hits apiece for K of P, while Josh Bosley had two hits for Glotfelty's.

Game two saw a total of 33 runs and 31 hits in an awesome display of hitting by both teams. K of P held a 16-9 lead after five and one-half innings and was led by Jordan Uphold's five hits and seven RBI. Uphold had a single, double, triple, and two home runs. Justin Liller, who had three hits and five RBI, while Keith Steyer added a double and a triple.

Glotfelty's rallied in the bottom of the sixth on a grand slam home run by Josh Bosley (his second homer of the game) to cut the lead to 16-14. Consecutive singles by Lance Tressler, Michael Schwalm, Jamie Bosley, Ryan Ewing, and Jared Fike accounted for three more runs and a dramatic 17-16 victory. Nathaniel Panther and Brian Panther also had two hits for Glotfelty's.

"The Little League play-offs were exceptional this year and the caliber of play at season's end had improved tremendously over the season. Every game in the play-offs were close and well-played," stated Little League Vice President Jack Rickman.

The Little League champions of the past five years are as follows: 1990, Knights of Pythias; 1991, Lions; 1992, Orioles; 1993, Glotfelty's; and 1994, Glotfelty's.

"I would like to thank all of the sponsors, Board of Directors, coaches, players, and parents for a great year," stated Rickman.

Garrett County Youth Fare Well In Cart Racing

Several Oakland area youngsters captured honors in go-cart racing events at the Fairmont Kart Track last Friday evening.

Winning first place in the stock heavy division and second place in stock appearing was Cody Hardesty.

Jennifer Murphy won third place in the rookie division, while her brother Jeremy took third in junior stock.

Jamie Lewis captured a fourth place in the gas and oil competition and Justin Furr was fifth in the rookie race.

Women Golfers Have Scramble

After a short meeting July 7 the Oakland Golf Club's Women Association golfers met for a scramble.

Two teams tied for first with a score of 80: Annis Colaw, Cheryl Wotherpoon, and Hazel Wright, and Betty Humberston, Frances Bell, and Juanita Stanton. Low team putts of 26 was won by the Humberston team.

Women's Golf Association members are reminded of the Invitational being played at the Oakland Golf Course July 19. Registration time is 8:30 a.m. and starting time is 9:30.

FRIDAY SCRAMBLE

Jim Hetrick, Janice Welch, and Jim Stephens took first place in the scramble July 8, carding a low of 31. Two teams tied for second, scoring 32: Lee Maes, Mike Kildow, Anne Jesnak, and Audrey Finnance, and Scott Shirer, Pat Filsinger, Lonnie Lewis, and Kathy Maes. Sharing third place honors were the teams of Larry Dixon, Annis Colaw and Mark Durst, and Karen Browning, Paul Sines, Joe Cilacek and Kim Shirer. Fourth place certificates were won with a score of 35 by Jr. Shillingburg, Janice Larue, Scott Rush, and Ernie Finnance.

Members wishing to participate in the Friday scramble are urged to be registered by 5 p.m. and to have the entry fee in by 5:15.

July-August Sailboat Racing Series Underway

by Harry Fienmyr
The Deep Creek Lake Yacht Racing Association started the first of its July-August races with cloudy skies and brisk winds. Race commander Kevin Russell laid out a navigator's course. Skippers had to choose whether to sail slow and short or long and fast and decide how the wind would twist around the hills and trees.

The Laser fleet had 10 starters and 10 finishers. In the B Fleet, Ted Kemp explained later that his win was "just lucky" because the two boats ahead of him each made unwise tacks, allowing him to slip by. Ted may be more "lucky" than others as he has been in only three races this year and has won all three. Ted did not have Barbara to crew the second race because, "She's a grandmother and that is more important than racing."

The course of the second race was similar to the first. Near the end of the race with the Lasers on their last leg, and John Meredith, Harry Fienmyr, and Al Riebel leading the A Fleet (an unprecedented line-up), the race was canceled because of a thunder storm. Back on shore there was the usual debate about the relative safety of a sailboat on the water during a storm.

On Sunday the wind shifted northwest and increased to sustained 10-15 knots with shifting gusts in the 20's. Only three Lasers finished the race. Gordon Cleffon explained his mechanical failure. "When rounding that mark, I found myself in the water with the tiller extension in my hand and the boat blowing away from me."

For the Flying Scots, the "all-over-the-lake" course provided miles of hang-on and go-fast sailing. Marilyn Fienmyr said, "It was exciting and great fun!" Again the B Fleet "out-toughed" the A Fleet. All B Fleet starters finished while three A Fleet boats dropped out.

RESULTS
Saturday, First Race
Lasers -- Keith MacMillan, first; Keith Spinnenweber, second; John Coolidge, third.
Flying Scot, A Fleet -- John Meredith and George Davison, first; Dave Mahan and Jeanette Dodd, second. Jack Carpenter, Rebecca Carpenter and Carrie Carpenter, third.

Flying Scot, B Fleet -- Ted and Barbara Kemp, first; Ed and Barbara Peters, second; Mo and Vicki Willey, third.

Saturday, Second Race
Canceled
Sunday's Race
Lasers -- John Coolidge, first; Keith MacMillan, second; Keith Spinnenweber, third.
Flying Scot, A Fleet -- John Meredith and Tony Kaminski, first; Chip Dodd and Darrell Gierke, second; Harry and Marilyn Fienmyr, third.
Flying Scot, B Fleet -- John Frank and Gary Schubert, first; Ed and Barbara Peters, second; Mo and Vicki Willey, third.

Record Brown Trout Caught In North Branch

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., announced this past week that a state record brown trout was caught last week in the North Branch of the Potomac River. Tom Morgan, Midlothian, caught the 12-lb., 9½ oz. trout while fishing a put-and-take area of the Potomac near Barnum, W.Va., on June 28.

"This catch clearly shows the potential of the North Branch," Dr. Brown said. "Although it's a relatively new area and largely unexplored, tailwater fisheries are known throughout the country for their ability to produce large fish."

Morgan caught the record trout with fly fishing gear, using a muddler minnow, and checked it in at B.J.'s Tackle Store along the Savage River. The previous state record was 11 lbs., 9 oz., set in 1977.

The principal area for trout fishing in the North Branch is a seven-mile section that extends from the mouth of the Savage River upstream to the vicinity of Barnum. The stream gradient is moderate and the width ranges from 100-150 feet. Spring-like stream flows are maintained year round as a result of regulated, cold water releases from the Jennings Randolph Dam. The stream is very rocky with many long, deep riffles and rapids. "Large pools are common -- some are truly spectacular in setting, size and depth," Brown said.

DNR's Freshwater Fisheries Division has been stocking the North Branch for the last few years, and this record catch was probably from one of the first stockings in the area.

Cards Hole In One

Harvey Eidman, Timonium, recorded his second career hole in one at the Golf Club at Wisp, McHenry, Sunday afternoon.

Eidman used a five-wood to card the ace on the 140-yard, par-three hole #4. Witnesses to the event were Dave Pippenger, Peg Meckley, and Martha Pasquale, all of the Baltimore area.

Area Speedway Review

Somerset County Speedway

On Friday, July 8, 67 cars made an appearance at the Somerset County Speedway in Meyersdale. It was a spectacular night for Bobby and Mark Smith from Meyersdale, but a real heartbreaker for Ben Ansell from Rockwood and John Saylor from Meyersdale.

The heat events went smoothly as Rodger Stephens easily took the first while Bobby Smith led the way in the second. Ben Ansell went pole-to-pole to take the third heat away from top runner Tom Humberston. The fourth heat had Jamie Kemp from Confluence take the checkered flag while "rookie" Jon Deal made an impressive bid for the second spot. The consolation event in the Strictly Stock Class went to Kevin Bender. The Pro Stock heat was won by Eric Corella from Holsopple.

The "C" Main started out with 19 cars but when all was said and done, only three cars were able to complete the race. Denny Rounds from Grantsville took the checkered and the Dean O'Neil Ford trophy while Jeff Barclay and Henry Bockes followed his lead.

Several cautions came out during the Pro Stock Feature but Mark Smith from Meyersdale was able to hold the lead throughout the race. John Saylor in car #44 was running a close second to Smith when he had to pit with two laps to go. This was the first heartbreaker of the evening. Smith was followed by Brad Brown, Doug Shaffer, Eric Corella, J.R. Isner, Don Nicholson, D.J. Griffith, Dan Cotter, Alvin Hosselrode, Gene Moats, Robert Porter, and Greg McClellan.

The lead changed several times in the "B" Main but when the checkered dropped Doug Barclay from Somerset was there to collect it. The red came out in the 14th and the race was called at that point. Barclay was followed by Dave Geyer, Brad Reckner, Shawn Smith, Dale Wilt, Roger Coffman, Kevin Sanner, Ray Wilhelm Jr., Charlie Philippi, Clair Duppsdadt, and Roger Baughman.

The second heartbreaker of the evening came in the "A" Main. Ben Ansell led the race for 17 laps and looked like he was going to take the win until he hit the wall and turned the lead over to Roger Shaulis from Somerset. In the last lap, coming out of the fourth turn, Bobby Smith passed Shaulis and snatched the win. Smith and Shaulis were followed by Tom Humberston, Jim Saylor, Jamie Kemp, Bob Davis, Eric Paugh, Doug Shaffer, Jon Deal, Rodger Stephens, Ed Kemp, Roger McKenzie, Kirk Smith and Vince Smith.

This was a double point race so expect some changes in next week's point standings. Racing will resume at the speedway on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Interstate 79 Speedway

Last Friday night's racing at Interstate 79 Speedway was filled with excitement as the feature winners received trophies from the Pittsburgh Circle Track Club while the children enjoyed a Candy Rush.

Quite a battle raged in the UMP Modified Class as early leader Dave Groves and Dale Charlier raced bumper-to-bumper for the first half of the race. Charlier finally got around Groves midway through and held his line until the checkered flag flew. The top two were Charlier, Groves, Mike Wilson, Kevin Jones and Ron Parrish. Heat winners were Jones, Groves and Parrish.

Scott Miles and Rick Strickler raced side-by-side for several laps in the Semi-Late Feature until Strickler got the advantage and went on to win his second race in as many weeks. Miles held on for second with Jerry Haseleu, Danny Hamrick, and Shawn Davis rounding out the top five. Winning the heats were Hamrick and Strickler.

The Late Model A-Main had two drivers who seemed to have the win wrapped up just to run into trouble. Tim Hitt had the early lead but Frank Wilson pulled up on his bumper and the two touched and sent Hitt spinning. After Hitt was sent to the tail, Wilson was running away from the field when his car started to lift off the track. Looking like a spring car lifting the front tire off the track, Wilson led several laps until he stopped on lap 24 with a broken drive shaft. This gave the lead to Gary Dalton who had spent most of the race in third place. Dalton took the win from Nolan Dalton who chased him to the line. Third through tenth were Hitt, Doug Horton, Chuck Harper, Mike Benedum, Robbie Scott, Wilson, John Ward, and Sonny Stutler. Harper and Hitt took the prelims.

DRIVER OF THE WEEK -- MIKE LEWIS -- Burning up the West Virginia dirt tracks, this season in the 4-Cylinder Stock Class is Driver of the Week, Mike Lewis. Mike, who is 27 years old, has been racing for seven years. This year has seen his car, #29 LIT Gold Digger, carry the checkered flag a total of nine times at either Elkins Motor Speedway or Interstate 79 Speedway. The bright yellow Pinto 4-cylinder was built and is owned by Automotive Machine. The Mt. Lake Park business also serves as his sponsor, with Doug and Scott Bittinger acting as pit crew. Mike's goal for next year is another car, maybe in another class, and to continue his 1994 winning streak. Mike, his wife Linda, and his step son Aaron Wells, live in Oakland.

Mike Lewis got his fifth win of the season in his 4-Cylinder stocker just to have his motor claimed by Ivan Wamsley, Larry Speicher, Dave Summers, Jim Hunt, and Jim Marshall rounded out the top five. Lewis and Tommy Pennington won the heats.

In the Pure Stock Division, Brian Tonkery got his second victory over Jim Byers, Jim Shaffer, Mike Cuppett, and John White-man. Heat winners were Tonkery, Shaffer and Bob Medved.

This Friday evening, 1-79 Speedway will be dark as the racing will be held on Sunday evening, July 17, when the STARS Late Models come to run 30 laps for $3,000 in the second race of the West Virginia State Championship Series. Also racing will be UMPs, Pure Stocks and 4-Cylinder Stocks. Gates will open at 5:00 p.m. with time trials for Late Models beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Cumberland Raceway

Two of the three feature winners at the Cumberland Raceway were new faces. The Ponderosa Steak House Late Model Feature winner was Randy Kimmel, of South Connellsville, Pa., his first win at Cumberland this year, and Wency Sponaule, of Wiley Ford, W.Va., got his first win in the Pure Stocks. Jim Deneen, of Hyndman, Pa., won the Hamilton Dodge Semi-lates, his fourth win this year at Cumberland.

"The Gang" and Lambert's Auto Service gave Randy Kimmel an extra $125 for the win. There were 21 Late Models, 24 Semi-lates, and 34 Pure Stocks in the pits. All features had inverted starts.

In the Ponderosa Steak House Late Model Feature, Mike Altobelli, from the pole position led four laps when Randy Kimmel, who started sixth, took command. Five cautions kept the race close. On the last lap, a caution for Mike Altobelli set up a one lap shootout. It was a blanket finish, with Kimmel holding off Bob Salathe at the flagstand. Tom Clise and Scott Brode got by J.R. Keifer between turns three and four on the checkered flag lap to finish third and fourth. J.R. Keifer finished fifth, followed by Larry Wright, Bob Hershman, Todd Price, Tony Flanagan and Chuck Harper, who made his first start at Cumberland this year. Heat winners were Tom Clise and Bob Salathe.

The Hamilton Dodge Semi-late Feature saw Jim Deneen, from the outside pole position, overpowering the 24 car field in his Z&M Motor Freight Lines machine. Jim led from start to finish to get win number four out of the five races at Cumberland. The next four finishing spots kept the fans on the edge of their seats. A caution on the last lap for Brian Lowery made it a dash to the flag. At the finish it was Jim Deneen followed by Dave Troutman in a Mopar, Jack Pencil, Bob Elbin, Allen Buckley, Lynn Oden, Shane Beagle, Wade Peer, Dave Carlheim, and Bob Gordon. Heat winners were Donnie Witt and Allen Buckley.

In the Pure Stock Feature David Riley led for three laps, when Denny Sponaule came from 10th place to take the lead. Sponaule held off Darras Deneen as they raced side-by-side on the last lap for the win. Allen Stone came from 11th spot to get third, followed by John Malcolm, Johnny Harr, David Riley, George McGee, Bill Goss, Don Nicholson, and Bill VanMeter. Heat winners were Allen Stone, Denny Sponaule, and Bill Buchanan. The Convy winner was Gary Haines.

The Tri-State Racing Photos Hard Charger Award went to Scott Brode.

The Fan of the Week was Sherry Crites, of Cumberland, and the Jr. Fan Club winner was Tracey Andrews of Cumberland.

Thursday, July 14 will be Race Night at the WalMart Parking Lot in LaVale from 6 to 9 p.m. The area's drivers and cars from the Cumberland Raceway and fans are invited to attend. Take part in this endeavor.

This Saturday, July 16, is the Gatling's Auto Stores Night. There will be added purse money and trophies for all three classes.

Elkins Motor Speedway

After rain canceled Saturday's scheduled mid-season championship, Frank Wilson returned Sunday afternoon and charged his #13 late model ahead of 17 contenders to capture his second straight feature win at Elkins Motor Speedway.

On the slick afternoon clay oval, four-time winner Denny Chamberlain started the late model feature on the pole. To his right was Frank Wilson. And for the next 10 laps that's how it remained. Denny and Frank Wilson, two veterans who know the Elkins track well. Then on lap #11 Wilson got a bite on the bottom of the track out of turn four and passed Chamberlain for good.

Wilson went on to win easily but left Chamberlain with another concern, Gary Dalton, another former Elkins track Champion. Dalton challenged late in the race using lap traffic to gain ground but Chamberlain managed the second place spot leaving Dalton in third. Paul Wilmoth Jr. in fourth and Nolan Dalton in fifth.

Scott Miles of Salem took his pole position start to the finish line in the Semi-late Feature and strengthened his point lead over Jerry Haseleu with six races remaining on the schedule. Miles was "hooked up" and no one could catch him. Haseleu on the other hand had a tough night on the unusually slick track. After starting second, Haseleu lost five places in the first four laps but redeemed himself by gaining three of those positions back and finished fourth. Steve Wilmoth put on an excellent performance as he raced from an eleventh place start to a second place finish by picking his way through traffic and by avoiding several imminent accidents. Third place went to Denny Hamrick and in the fifth spot was Terry Conrad.

Nineteen UMP Modifieds started the feature in a class that continues to grow in strength and popularity each week. Sunday night, a new winner was crowned as Kevin Jones passed Ron Parrish with three laps remaining to take home his first win of the year. With double points being awarded for the mid-season championship, the win pushed Jones, second place in points to Parrish, into a prime position for an inevitable late season showdown. UMP driver Kenny Rogers returned Sunday afternoon and charged from a ninth place start to take third. Cliff Cochran Jr. showed for the first time this season and placed fourth, and in the fifth spot was Roy Gibson Jr.

John Smith Jr. of Wilkins won his fourth Pure Stock Feature of the season and maintained his comfortable points lead as he wrestled with Bill Tineher for three laps then caught the groove and led the rest of the race. Danny Bismark finished third.

In the four cylinder stock feature, a ferocious broadside hit on the first lap by Sanford Zirkle sent points leader Tommy Pennington to the pits. Mike Lewis, currently third in points, took control of the race a lap later and won his second race of the season. Thomas Simpson placed second after giving Lewis a run for this money. Third went to Mike Simpson.

Dates Announced For 73rd Annual Tennis Tourney

The 73rd Annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships, one of the nation's oldest sanctioned amateur clay court events, will be held at the Mt. Lake Park Tennis Club courts August 4-7.

Competition will be held in the following divisions: men's singles, men's singles (35), men's singles (45), senior singles (55), senior singles (65), women's singles, women's singles (35), men's doubles, men's doubles (35), men's doubles (45), senior doubles (60), women's doubles, women's doubles (35), and mixed doubles. The tournament committee reserves the right to cancel any events in which there are not at least eight entries.

Singles competition will get underway on Thursday, Aug. 7, and continue until the finals on Sunday, Aug. 7.

Social events for tournament participants and club members will include the president's reception on Thursday, Aug. 4, at 7:30 p.m. at The Gables and the corn roast on Friday, Aug. 5, from 8 to 11 p.m.

Members of the tournament committee include: Kathie Smith, Nan Gangler, Kathie Brown, Kathy Johnson, Dave Degraff, Fred Drilling, and Barbara Drilling. Persons desiring more information about the tournament may contact Fred Drilling at 202-737-1100 (office) or 301-229-0636 (home).

Alpine Lake Golf Course To Host Benefit Scramble

For the fourth year in a row, Alpine Lake Resort near Terra Alta, W. Va., will be the site of the Preston County ACS Golf Championship. The event will be held, as always, on the first Sunday in August.

In addition to helping the local chapter of the American Cancer Society, the tournament will offer a chance for local golfers to advance to state and national competition in four person scramble golf. All proceeds benefit the Preston County unit of the American Cancer Society.

"The local unit of the ACS is active in educational efforts," said Vivian Kennedy, chair of the Preston County cancer group, "with programs in schools, a smoking cessation class, educational training for health care professionals and a support group. The ACS also provides assistance with medication costs and transportation."

This tournament is part of the nation-wide ACS Golf Championship. The local winning teams will play in the ACS state golf championship tournament on September 6 at Lakeview Country Club. Winners there will be eligible to play in the ACS National Golf Championship Tournament, October 28-29, played at Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

Registration for the tournament costs $55 per player. The fee includes greens fees, cart, and a picnic dinner. For more information, persons may call Tom Hawkins at the Alpine Lake Golf Shop, 304-789-2481, or toll free at 1-800-752-7179.

New Incentive Project To Save Medicaid Funds

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced this week the creation of the Maryland Medicaid High Cost User Initiative, a project which joins the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) in a unique partnership with the University of Maryland Baltimore County (UMBC) to improve the quality of care and cost effectiveness of the state's Medicaid program.

The initiative is the first in the country to explore proactive ways to meet the health care needs of the highest risk—and consequently, highest cost—medical assistance patients. It is also one of the very few in the country to link a state health department with a research university to implement health reform.

"I am particularly pleased that Maryland continues to be at the forefront of health care reform as we launch this critical initiative," said Governor Schaefer. "Today, provision of care for 10 percent of Maryland's Medicaid population will cost the state $1.5 billion, or 70 percent of our total Medicaid budget—so it is urgent that we tackle and resolve this issue as quickly as we can."

The Maryland Medicaid High Cost User Initiative, established by DHMH, will be operated by UMBC's Center for Health Program Development and Management, and will take advantage of the university's research faculty, computer systems and expertise in public policy, health services, and information technology.

"We expect this initiative will improve the quality of care for high-risk patients while at the same time cutting the cost of the Medicaid program," said Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of DHMH. "The initiative will prevent unnecessary hospitalizations and will provide care in the least costly settings appropriate to each patient's needs. It will also establish financial incentives to reward providers for efficiency and quality of care."

The Maryland General Assembly has appropriated $8.6 million for this initiative for this fiscal year, which began on July 1, 1994. The initiative is expected to generate enough savings to break even in the first year. The FY 1995 appropriation includes $1.5 million in services which are not traditionally covered by Medicaid. They will be provided as part of a plan of care that produces savings. For instance, the care plan would encourage home care by covering the cost of wheel chair ramps, or by covering home care training for family members.

Maryland will need a waiver from the federal Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) in order to collect federal Medicaid money for these services. Today, Medicaid is submitting a proposal to HCFA to obtain this federal Research and Demonstration Waiver. In it, the Maryland Medicaid High Cost User Initiative is described as a five-year project costing $58 million, which includes $24 million in waiver services and projects $114 million in net savings over the period.

The first of several projects slated for the UMBC Center identifies the clinically focused groups who are now, or who are expected to be among, the 10 administrators anticipate that high risk, high cost patients who receive care in ICMS will have outcomes that are as good or better than what is currently offered, and they will be more satisfied with the care they receive, at less cost.

cubic yards of steep, unstable abandoned coal refuse and spoil material which is sparsely vegetated. The site also contains about 6,250 linear feet of dangerous highwall approximately 40 feet in height, located immediately adjacent to a county road; a hazardous water impoundment over 20 feet in depth; and an abandoned water storage impoundment, its dam in a state of disrepair.

Also targeted are six abandoned mine entries, and abandoned coal refuse material that was deposited within the stream channel of Three Forks Run, causing flooding and erosion of the stream channels.

The reclamation project will eliminate the public health and safety hazards at the site. All coal refuse and spoil material will be used to backfill the abandoned highwall. About 1,350 linear feet of stream channel of Three Forks Run will be reconstructed to prevent flooding and control erosion. Abandoned mine portals and a ventilation shaft will be sealed. Sediment and erosion control structures will be built to stabilize regraded slopes and control site drainage. The area will be revegetated with a mixture of grasses, trees and shrubs to further stabilize the site from erosion.

This site was once an extensive deep mine operation which was begun around 1903 by the Manor Coal Company. Mining operations were terminated at the site in 1951.

West Virginia

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties

PMH Named Preferred Provider By Md. Insurer

Preston Memorial Hospital has been named as a member of the Health Preferred Network by Blue Cross Blue Shield of Maryland. This means that employees of the Garrett County Board of Education who choose to do so will be able to get health services at the Kingwood facility. Some 25 Preston County residents work for the Garrett school system. Many other employees will have a broader range of healthcare choices because of this action.

"Health insurance for more and more employees is coming in the form of managed care," said PMH Administrator Ray Wood. "One thing this means is that we must work with insurers as we have with the Maryland plan. We want our services to be available to all those who want to use them. We are very happy that we can, once again, serve the teachers and support personnel of the Garrett County Board of Education who choose to use Preston Memorial."

PMH has joined two networks of hospitals in West Virginia which could lead to providing managed care service to Preston County residents. The two networks are the West Virginia Accountable Health Plan which is made up of 10 hospitals (including Monongalia General of Morgantown, Fairmont General and United Hospital Center in Clarksburg) serving northern and central parts of the state and the Mountain State Rural Care Network which is made up of rural hospitals in the eastern and central parts of the state. Both these organizations have made proposals to the state's Public Employees Insurance Agency (PEIA) to provide managed care health services for those who get their health insurance through the state agency. This includes employees of school systems in West Virginia.

Farmers' Market Opens in Keyser

The first weekly Farmers' Market in Keyser, sponsored by the Mineral County Chamber of Commerce, saw a variety of produce, baked goods, and floral arrangements offered by area producers at a convenient location under the Memorial Bridge on Armstrong Street.

Scheduled times are Fridays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., or until producers are sold out, whichever comes first. As more fruits and vegetables "come into season," the choices will be more abundant. Buying fresh produce directly from local growers eliminates the added costs of distribution.

The first week's offerings included corn, squash, beets, beans, and pies, breads and specialty items. Floral baskets, potted perennials, and other horticultural items were also available.

"I'm very pleased with today's first step in establishing the Keyser Farmers' Market. The location is convenient and there's ample parking nearby. I hope to see more vendors and shoppers next Friday," stated Carol Lee, executive director of the Mineral County Chamber of Commerce.

Local growers interested in participating in the weekly market should call the Chamber office at 304-788-2513 for an application.

Preston Rotarians Elect Officers

The three Rotary clubs in Preston County elected new officers the first week of July, as did the nearly 27,000 local clubs of Rotary International.

Succeeding James Engle as president of the Newburg club is Kenneth Farrell, with Ralph Piles elected as vice president and Howard Dugan, secretary. Ann Snyder was elected president of the Kingwood club to replace Bruce Whitten, with J. Samuel Moore as the new vice president and John Crogan as secretary.

Installing the new officers of the Terra Alta club was L.L. White, as Don Loudermilk received the president's gavel from Charles Minor. Kent Pomeroy was installed as secretary, while new vice president Rev. Norvell Robertson and treasurer Logan Weber were both in Alaska with a church-related work team.

Dr. Paul Getty, of the Kingwood club, reviewed the "objects of Rotary." Charles Harriman concluded the proceedings with a prayer.

The new district governor is Gregory Van Camp of Morgantown, who plans to visit each of the Preston County clubs in the next several months.

Rotary International is comprised of nearly 1.2 million members worldwide.

Potomac Valley Hospital Releases Survey Results

Potomac Valley Hospital Home Health Agency recently completed its annual Medicare survey. This is an unannounced survey conducted by the West Virginia Office of Licensing and Certification.

The surveyors reviewed patient charts, home health policies, and procedures. They also made home visits with the home health nurses and aides. The surveyors found no deficiencies as a result of their inspection.

"We were pleased with the results of the survey," stated James Heitzenrater, hospital administrator. "The survey affirms our commitment to provide the best care possible to the people that we serve."

"Our home health agency has experienced tremendous growth over the past few years," said Cathy Chapman, director of home health. "We currently carry an average daily census of 85 patients and make approximately 1,000 nursing, aide, speech therapy, and physical therapy home visits per month. We are expanding the services of our home health department to meet other needs of the community. We are implementing Right From the Start, a program for high risk mothers and infants, in July. We also hope to have our hospice program up and running by fall."

Potomac Valley Hospital Home Health is a Medicare certified and JACHO accredited agency serving Mineral County, W. Va. For information on any of the services offered through Potomac Valley Home Health Agency, contact Cathy Chapman, RN, BSN, at (304) 788-3141 or (301) 786-4396, ext. 545.

Pleasant Valley Church To Host Mr. Gospel Trumpet

Jerry Goff, Nashville, Tenn., will present a gospel music concert at the Pleasant Valley United Methodist Church, Cuzzart, beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday, July 21.

Also known as Mr. Gospel Trumpet, Goff has received numerous gospel music awards. He travels to Mexico, Haiti and many states, and was instrumental in building schools and orphanages as missionary projects.

The church's pastor is the Rev. James Remley. Mtn Lake Park. A freewill offering will be accepted during the concert. For more information, persons may call (304) 329-1156.

On Dean's List

Among the students named to the dean's list at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., for outstanding academic achievement during the spring semester is a Preston County student.

He is Mark Utterback, son of Edward and Mary Utterback, Rt. 1, Aurora. Students must earn at least a 3.5 grade point average on a scale of 4.0 to be named to the Bucknell dean's list.

PERSONAL MENTION

David and Wilma Mae Teets of Horse Shoe Run and Loran and Mary Jane Hanline of Aurora, were Sunday visitors with Rev. and Mrs. Harding Nelson in Franklin. The Rev. Nelson was a former Aurora U. M. Charge pastor and neither have been well.

Visiting this weekend with Arvin and Rita Harsh at Egdon were his brother and sister, Roy Harsh and Nell Dickenson, both of Richmond, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hauser and Devin of Egdon were called to Street, Md. because of the death of her cousin's son, Bartley Thomas Wilson, on June 29. His grandmother, Wilma Stahl Artis, and his late grandfather, Paul Artis, were natives of this area. The Hausers stayed with another cousin, Patty and Lester Varner, at Shrewsbury, Pa., and en route home, visited with Alan and Mary Teets of Springfield, Va., on July 2. Also visiting the Teetses were Mrs. Teets' brother and wife, Robert and Patience Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Teets, Tom and Lindsey Teets and Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Bolyard, Christopher, Crystal and Coral, all of Egdon, visited last week in Ohio Tuesday to Friday both at SeaWorld and other areas.

The Young Adult Class of Maple Spring spent a weekend canning retreat at Camp Galilee for the July 8-10 weekend. Services were conducted at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren on July 10 by Samuel Moon, son of Harriet Moon, Oakland, and the late Edward Moon.

Keith and Meredith Bolyard of Lima, Ohio, are visiting this week in Aurora with her mother, Mrs. Pauline Wilhelm.

Attending Church of the Brethren Annual Conference in Wichita, Kan., June 28-July 3 were Lois Layman, Rev. and Mrs. J. Rogers Fike, Pastor and Mrs. Daniel Hammel, Danielle and David of the Maple Spring Church. All have

Leader Dies

Iucile (Harvey) Sines, an educator in Garrett County for more than 30 years, who was also actively involved in community service, died Friday, July 8, at her home in Friendsville. She was 73.

A graduate of Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va., with post-graduate credits from American University, West Virginia University, and Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, Mrs. Sines was a retired music and English teacher in the Garrett County Public Schools, at Friendsville High School, and Northern High School. She also taught part-time at Garrett Community College and taught private piano, voice and guitar lessons for more than 50 years.

Mrs. Sines was a member and musical director-organist of the Friendsville United Methodist Church for more than 40 years; a member of the United Methodist Women's Group; charter member of the Town & Country Women, Inc., of Friendsville; former member and past president of the Friendsville Town Council; secretary of the Garrett County Retired Teachers Association; member of the GGC Community Chorus; Garrett Choral Society; Delta Kappa Gamma; and the former Friendsville area Heart Sunday chairman for the American Heart Association.

She was born May 2, 1921, in Gorman, a daughter of the late George Wilson and Bessie Maude (Fitzwater) Harvey.

She is survived by her husband, Thomas J.W. Sines; two sons, Thomas G. Sines, Accident, and Michael G. Sines, Friendsville; two daughters, Diana C. Fitzwater, Poolesville, and Peggy L. McElfish, Cumberland; eight grandchildren; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Friendsville. A service was conducted Monday, July 11, at the Friendsville United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Brian Schofield and the Rev. Robert Millen officiating. Interment followed in Blooming Rose Cemetery.

The family requests expressions of sympathy be directed to the American Cancer Society.

Clark Declares Candidacy For Commissioner

Earl J. Clark Sr., Red House, has announced his candidacy for the office of Garrett County Commissioner for District 3. Clark, a Democrat, is seeking the office currently held by Brenda Butscher.

"I view the office of county commissioner as a person who is entrusted with the responsibility of prudent management in seeing that the county operation is run properly and efficiently. The person elected to this position is accountable to the taxpayers whom he or she represents," Clark said. "If elected, I would strive to see that the people are represented to the best of my ability, and would work for the betterment of Garrett County and its people."

The candidate was born in Lincolnton, N.C., and is a graduate of Beall High School, Frostburg, and the School of Bank Management, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va. He has been employed since 1963 with First United National Bank & Trust, Oakland, in the lending area.

Clark served six months of active duty in the Maryland National Guard at Fort Knox, Ky., from 1957-58. He then returned to his unit at Frostburg to complete his six-year commitment. He transferred from the Frostburg unit to the National Guard Unit in Oakland, where he was honorably discharged with the rank of sergeant.

Among his numerous involvements in community activities, he is currently serving as a member of the Garrett County Community College Board of Trustees, is vice president of Garrett County Social Services Advisory Board, and was a member of the Garrett County Board of Education from 1980-86, serving as vice president from 1983-84, and president from 1985-86. He has served as treasurer of Garrett County Mental Health for 21 years, is a former director of Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, and has been a member of the Oakland Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club for 32 years, serving in several capacities within that organization.

Clark is past president of Cumberland Chapter, Bank Administration Institute, Cumberland. He served as director and treasurer of Mtn. Top Youth for Christ, is past president of the Red House PTA, and is a member of Oakland Lodge No. 192, A.L.E.M., Oakland Chapter 67, Order of Eastern Star, Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Cumberland; Ali Ghan Shrine Temple, Cumberland; and Garrett Lodge 113, Knights of Pythias.

He has also been actively involved in St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, for the past 34 years, where he is a member of the church choir, the administrative board, the council of ministries, and the finance committee, to name a few.

Clark is married to the former Carol Ann Lashbaugh, and they are the parents of five children.

Christine D. Siler is serving as the treasurer for Clark's campaign.

THIS CELEBRATION WAS NO ACCIDENT! - The town of Accident went the extra mile to offer what possibly was one of its most exciting homecomings in recent years, on July 4th, with numerous original attractions. Highlights included, above left, a long line of youngsters who donned adult fire fighting gear -- and sandals, in the case of Kristin Hoffman, 8, of Accident, pictured -- to operate real fire hoses. Above right, Raymond E. Wagner Jr. of Friendsville demonstrates the "nearly gone" art of magically mesmerizing "buck dancing." His rare talents have earned him national acclaim, having performed on a pro circuit from Las Vegas to Silver Springs Resort in Pennsylvania. His next scheduled appearance is Friendsville Days 1994. Shown below, this brave lad, after surviving two errant water-logged sponge missiles, took a direct hit in the face on a third attempt, in the name of charity. Photos by Craig Speicher.

The Community Center Association will hold its July meeting Monday, July 18, 7:30 p.m., at the center. Dues are now due for 1994-1995.

The Homecoming of the Swanton School will be Saturday, July 16, at 1 p.m. Persons are asked to bring a covered dish and drink. All former students, teachers, and families are invited.

Food For Thought

Chef Francesco Pisano
McClive's Restaurant

Warm, thin-sliced beef over cool greens makes a great dinner salad. Toss it with an Oriental dressing of 1 Tbs each of soy sauce, rice vinegar and sesame oil, 3 Tbs peanut oil, 1/2 tsp each minced garlic and ginger, plus dried crushed red pepper to taste. Super!

Gazpacho, everyone's favorite cold soup, takes on new glamour with corn kernels and chunks of crabmeat. (The corn is the only part that must be cooked--and only briefly.) It's a whole meal in a bowl.

Prettiest finish for strawberry shortcake: a sprinkling of confectioner's sugar on the biscuit. It tops the berries like a cloud.

Speedy dinner from the pantry: pasta topped with sundried tomato and eggplant sauce. Let the dry-pack tomatoes stand 15 minutes in an equal amount of boiling water, then mix with a can of tomato sauce, process until smooth. Fold in two cans of prepared caponata. Heat if you wish.

Food in history: The Romans and Greeks used carrots for medicinal purposes, but nobody in Europe would eat them 'til the 13th century!

MYSTERY OF THE EAST

Pictures embroidered on silk have been made for many years, but one special group of these pictures has been a partial mystery. They all show an American eagle, American flags and other symbols such as ships, life preservers and shields. Some also commemorate the death of Presidents Grant and McKinley, and others depict trips abroad, cruises and other events.

We recently saw a catalog from The George Washington Co. of Yokohama, Japan, that helps tell where some of these pictures were made. The company was established in 1880 to sell all sorts of Japanese art lines, especially items popular with the American Navy.

The embroidered silk pictures cost from $4 for a small 2- by 3½ foot sample to $11 for a 4- by 7-foot one. The company also made embroidered kimonos, tablecloths, shawls, painted cushion covers, oil paintings on canvas and souvenirs, including calendars and Christmas cards.

A researcher is now trying to learn more about these Japanese embroidered pictures made for the American market. They seem to date from about 1880 to World War I.

Q. I have a strange "vase" with Orphan Annie and Sandy modeled on the front. It's strange because it's small and the vase part has two small square holes. It's signed "Famous Artists Syndicate."

A. You probably have a toothbrush holder. Holders made with comic figures were very popular gifts for children in the 1930s. The holder was kept on the bathroom sink to remind children to brush each day. Mickey Mouse, Pluto, Donald Duck, the Three Little Pigs and other Disney characters were made in Japan and imported by the George Borgfeldt Co. from 1931 to 1941.

Orphan Annie and Sandy, Uncle Walt and Skeezix (characters from the Gasoline Alley comic strip) and Moon Mullins were other comic figures used for toothbrush holders in the 1930s. Prices are determined by their popularity. Yours sells for about $75.

Q. I purchased a punch bowl set at a yard sale last summer. The set includes a bowl, underplate, ladle and 12 cups. It's in the original box, which bears the stamped label "L.E. Smith Glass Co., Mt. Pleasant, Pa., Smith Glass. Over a half century of fine hand-crafted glass." I was told the lady had stored it for years and had never used it. Can you give me an idea of its age?

A. The Smith Glass Co. was founded in 1907. Your set was made after 1957.

CHILDREN AT RISK: The American Academy of Dermatologists are not very happy with the current guidelines from the Food and Drug Administration regarding protecting children from the risks involved in exposing them to the sun. Currently, these guidelines — which, by the way, are only tentative — provide that youngsters 6 months to two years, should wear sunscreens with a sun protection factor of at least 4. The AAD, however, says these guidelines are far too lax in protecting children's skin from being exposed to a high risk of cancer. They suggest a sun protection factor of, at least, 15 for youngsters in that age range. (Both the FDA and the dermatologists agree babies under 6 months should not be exposed to the sun at all.) The dermatologists point out that the risk of developing skin cancer increases with the amount of exposure to the sun over a lifetime, and most of that exposure comes during childhood.

Another safety problem for children has been found in the use of child car seats for airplanes. Tests done by the Federal Aviation Administration's Civil Aeromedical Institute found that forward facing child safety seats designed for use in cars, may be unsafe in airplanes, although they've been approved by the federal government for such use. The tests have shown that forward facing seats were not anchored sufficiently to keep a child's head from striking the seat in front of her or him. Also, the seat belts on the plane allowed too much forward seat movement, unlike belts for car seats. Small, rear-facing seats, however, did well on the tests.

Violence against older people, especially older women, is increasing, and much of it is by young people whom the law identifies as children. I witnessed one such event from my apartment window. I was taking a computer break at about 2:30 in the afternoon, an hour when some of the classes in a nearby junior high school were let out. Store owners in the neighborhood mount a two-hour vigil against the expected vandalism and petty theft that typically occurs between 2:30 and 4:30 during the school year. But while the alert was on to protect property, no one was protecting the elderly folks who were out marketing or just enjoying a stroll along one of New York's more interesting shop-lined streets and who, increasingly, were becoming assault and robbery victims. As a police officer later told me, "The old people are like sitting ducks for them: they can't chase the kids or hit back. All they can do is hope they don't get badly hurt or killed."

As I looked out the window, I was shocked to see two young people approach an older woman across the street, and while one knocked her down with a blow to her head, the other grabbed her purse and the two were gone in the proverbial wink of an eye. I called this in to 911 immediately. I learned later that the woman suffered severe facial injuries. Besides her pain and financial loss, she also faced reconstructive surgery to repair a broken cheekbone and other trauma. Who would pay for it? Medicare, no doubt — which none of us would resent, of course. As for the young perps, I don't believe they were caught for this crime — and even if they had been, it's hardly likely they would have been punished. It's just not right to put children in jail!!!, as I was told by a clucking social worker.

Well, maybe so. But children who commit crimes, especially against the more feeble members of our society, need to be made aware that we will not stand for this lapse in civilized conduct any longer. If we can't put them in jail, then put them to work after class, and deduct a set sum from their earnings to help defray the expense of paying for their victims' injuries.

Pet Care

by Cleo & Brad Conrad

SAFETY TIPS FOR CATS:

* If your cat wears a collar, use one made of elastic. This allows the cat to free itself if the collar gets stuck on a tree branch.

* Cats are attracted to warm sleeping quarters. Keep the door on the dryer and lid on the washer closed. Make sure to check inside before using. We've heard horror stories of cats being washed or dried to death — literally!

* Outdoor cats have a tendency to hide in the engine compartment of cars in winter. Tap the hood of the car before getting into it and wait several minutes before starting the engine.

* If you have a rocker or reclining chair, check to be sure the pet isn't in the chair before sitting down to rock or recline.

* If you have a sofa bed, don't fold it up until you know where your cat is.

Home Tips

A LESSON ON THE ENVIRONMENT — I just read a home tip from one of your readers who eliminates the box when Christmas wrapping. She says it's easier to clean up without the boxes and she saved another tree by not using boxes and so much tissue.

I would like to remind you and your readers that most paper in this country is made from the by-products of sawmills. The trimmings and edging from the manufacture of lumber are chipped up and sold to pulp mills to make paper. The reason for recycling paper products is to conserve space in the landfills which are overburdened with so much paper waste, not to save trees.

If your readers are interested in saving trees (as if they live forever!), they need to stop living in wooden houses and using wooden tables, chairs, cupboards, shelves, cutting boards, picture frames, etc. This, however, would only shift the manufacture of these products to other non-renewable resources such as oil, coal and minerals.

Trees are one of the few renewable resources we have. If they are managed and conserved properly, as they currently are in this country, they can provide us with beauty, shade, wildlife and wood products in perpetuity.

RACK IT UP — When we bought our new dishwasher, I saved the rack from the old one. I attached it to the wall in my sewing room and use it for my many spools of thread and bobbins. Fran V., Fort Wayne, Ind.

SHS Class Of '84 Plans Reunion; Graduates Sought

The 10-year reunion for the 1984 graduating class of Southern High School has been planned for Saturday, August 6, at the Oakland Country Club. The dinner and dance for all alumni and their guests will begin at 7 p.m. A family picnic is planned for Sunday, August 7, at the Pleasant Valley 4-H Camp.

Organizers of the event have reported difficulty in contacting classmates because of recent address changes initiated by the postal service. Numerous invitations have been returned to the senders because of the address changes, the organizers reported.

All members of the class who are interested in attending the event should immediately contact either Chris Werdebaugh Evans at 304-789-2875 or Babette Rigglesman-Smith at 334-8119. The dinner must be pre-paid, and the deadline is approaching.

"We have received so few responses because of the address problem that we may have to cancel the reunion," an organizer said. "Interested classmates need to contact us right away."

English Review Course Offered At GCC Campus

A non-credit English Review course will be offered by Garrett Community College on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings beginning August 8 and ending August 25, according to Lonnie Brewster, coordinator of composition.

The course will meet three hours each day, from 9 a.m. to noon, for a total of 27 hours. Students in the course will work at their own pace, completing work sheets and writing assignments. The course is designed to take the place of English 95 and English 99, developmental courses that would each normally require a full semester for students to complete.

With the English Review, it is hoped that students capable of accelerating their study will be able to proceed directly into English 101. Exit criteria for the Review will be the same as the criteria for the two courses it replaces.

Tammy White, adjunct instructor of English, will instruct the English Review. Tuition and registration information is available in the Continuing Education office.

New Maryland Travel Guide Now Available

Before making vacation plans, travelers may want to consult the new "Destination Maryland" travel guide. The new expanded edition of "Destination Maryland" features detailed information on Maryland's many attractions, accommodations, and outdoor recreational activities.

Available free from the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, the travel guide is intended to help visitors pre-plan their trip to Maryland. Beginning this fall, braille versions of "Destination Maryland" also will be available in Maryland libraries or by contacting the Maryland Office of Tourism Development.

"Destination Maryland" offers travelers a chance to discover the many diverse and exciting attractions that Maryland has to offer," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "With beautiful mountains, quiet waterways, excellent beaches, historic towns and exciting cities, Maryland has something for everyone."

The travel guide also includes special features on the Chesapeake Bay, hunting and fishing trips, golfing, Maryland's sports teams, Baltimore, Annapolis, and Ocean City.

Travelers interested in receiving this free publication may write to the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, 217 E. Redwood Street, Baltimore, MD 21202; or they may call 1-800-"MD IS FUN" (1-800-634-7386) to receive a free Maryland travel kit which includes the new travel guide, a calendar of events and a state map.

On Dean's List

Two Garrett County students were among those named to the dean's list for the 1994 spring semester at West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Ada Wilson, daughter of David and Mary Wilson, Swanton, and Sean Gregory, son of Gary and Patricia Gregory, Oakland, were named to the list for their outstanding academic achievement.

Wilson, a 1993 graduate of Southern High School, is a freshman majoring in elementary education.

Gregory, also a 1993 SIIS graduate, is a freshman majoring in engineering and physics.

West Virginia Wesleyan College, located in Buckhannon, offers more than 50 academic majors in liberal arts and career-related

HURDLING THE "HAZARDS"

In the game of golf, it isn't enough to aim a small ball toward an only slightly larger hole so far down the fairway it can barely be seen, and expect to sink it with one strike of the club. No, that's not challenging enough for the golfer. Add some "hazards"—sand traps, lakes, trees...anything to get in the way. Now, that's really challenging.

Life is really challenging. When you begin to think it's almost manageable, something gets in the way. How will you cope? Use the golfer's strategy...

Assuming a positive posture, keep your eyes focused ahead as you visualize your "hole in one." Attempt to avoid the hazards, use the right equipment, and remember the rules.

Worship this Sabbath. You will find a positive attitude and the rules for success. Life's path may not be a fairway, but our chances of winning improve if we live it God's way.

THE "C-WORD"

July 17, 1994

Background Scripture:

Exodus 19:1 thru 20:17

Devotional Reading:

Deuteronomy 5:2-20

My grandson, James Paul Harrison, was baptized today. For lots of people baptism is just a name-giving ritual with religious trappings. For others it is a ritual that is essential for the child's being part of the church. I have known people who believed that, if a child died before baptism, he or she would be denied salvation. Still other Christians believe that baptism is only valid for adults who have made their decision for Christ.

It is not my purpose to get into a controversy over the meaning of baptism; I respect the various different views on this subject. But, regardless of the theology of baptism, there is a common thread that runs through all or most baptisms. It is the dreaded "C-word," commitment (you remember that word, don't you?). Not that the word itself appears in the rituals, but that commitment is what baptism is all about—and lots of other things beside.

James was committed to the Lord until such time as he can personally confirm that commitment. Our daughter and her husband made commitments to bring James up in the knowledge of God and the life of the church. So did the godparents. The rest of us—family and friends—also committed ourselves to provide as we can for James' spiritual welfare and the church through its priest made a similar commitment.

A PIECE OF PAPER

It seems that there are lots of couples today who do not seek baptism for their children because they are reluctant to make the commitments it requires. This reluctance also undermines the institution of marriage. People who are to be "baptized" sometimes tell me their living-together relationship gives them everything that marriage can offer, but without being "tied-down to a contract," as one man put it. "We don't mess out on anything," he assured me.

The whole question of marriage vs. non-marriage relationships is too big and broad to tackle in the space of this column. But I am convinced that usually the one thing most likely to be missing in a relationship without marriage is commitment. "I don't want to feel that I have to do this," said one person, "I'd rather do it because I want to." Another person told me that she wanted a "relationship," not a piece of paper.

Yes, it would be nice if everything we need to do would be done because we wanted to do it. But there are times when we need to do what we may not feel like doing. (If I had done only those things that I really wanted to do, there would have been a lot more people let down. There are times when we need to act, not because we are magnanimously motivated, but because we know we have made a commitment.

MORE THAN FEELING?

I think the reason people have problems with the "C-word" is because they also misunderstand the "L-word." Lots of people assume that love is essentially a feeling, when we feel a certain way, we will act a certain way. We will do good things when we feel a certain way, we will act a certain way. We will do good things when we feel like doing them and we will do evil things when we feel like being evil. But that isn't what love is all about; it also encompasses what we do when we may not necessarily feel loving. When we respond to loving feelings, that is a lower level of love than when we respond despite the lack of loving feelings.

You can have love without a piece of paper but you cannot really have love without commitment. And that is the basis of the relationship that God proposed between himself and his people. "Now would commit to the other."

"Now therefore, if you will obey my voice, and keep my covenant, you shall be my own possession among all people" (19:5).

The word—and we need to rediscover the "C-word."

COVER STORY

Documentary details harrowing mission

BY JEFF PLASS

PBS celebrates the 25th anniversary of the historic Apollo 11 moon landing by presenting "Apollo 13: To the Edge and Back," a fascinating documentary about the Apollo 11's ill-fated sister ship, on Wednesday, July 20 (check local listings).

On April 11, 1970, astronauts Jim Lovell, Jack Swigert and Fred Haise blasted off from Cape Kennedy, believing they would follow in the footsteps of Neil Armstrong, Buzz Aldrin and Michael Collins: footsteps made on the moon.

But 200,000 miles above the Earth, something went wrong. An oxygen tank in the command module of the spacecraft exploded, leaving them with dangerously limited supplies of their three most basic resources — water, power and oxygen.

The astronauts' only hope for survival was to shut off all systems, including heat, and take refuge in the ship's lunar module.

Created strictly for moon landings, the lunar module was designed to accommodate two astronauts for two days. Now the craft had to keep three people alive for nearly twice that long.

For the next three-and-a-half days, the world watched and waited anxiously as the crippled craft attempted to make its way back to Earth.

It's a fascinating tale. One that bears repeating. And for a great portion of American viewers, a story they may be hearing for the first time.

"I have to admit, I was not a space fan before this," says the program's co-producer Noel Buckman. "You know, this was 1970. I was 21 years old, so this was just at the end of college for me. There was protesting in the street.

"There was the Vietnam War and a lot of other things going on. I was of that ilk that had 'better things' to think about. People were down on the space program.

Jim Lovell

"There were people starving in the cities," Buckman continues. "The space race was a waste of money as far as I was concerned. I didn't pay much attention to it. So I didn't know this story real well until I read it.

"In the process, I became a total space fan. To the point where I still, even after the show was done, still go out and look at the moon and think how neat it is that people actually went up there. It's something that never happened to me the first time through."

The plight of the astronauts on board the Apollo 13 was a galvanizing moment in a time when the world seemed torn apart by war and controversy.

"Again, the opposite side of my own personal experience was true for most of the world," Buckman says. "It was a time when the world was very divisive and a lot of people were unhappy.

"The Apollo 13 story was this phenomenal worldwide event. It was unlike anything that goes on today in terms of drawing the world together."

"This was something that transcended national concerns," Buckman concludes. "These were not just Americans up there. These were three human beings in space, with the potential of being the first people in history not to die on their native planet."

TV PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Please tell me what you can about Alison LaPlaca of "Tom." —Hazel M. Craddock, Flint, Mich.

A: Born in New Jersey and reared in suburban Chicago, LaPlaca made her acting debut in the failed pilot for a sitcom based on the film "Diner."

Guest-starring roles in "Brothers," "Fame," "Family Ties," "Remington Steele" and other series followed. She also appeared in the TV movies "By Reason of Insanity," "Listen to Your Heart" and "Second Serve."

She is best known to date for her hilarious work as the wildly self-absorbed Linda Phillips in Fox's sitcoms "Duet" and "Open House." Prior to "Tom," she co-starred with Tom Arnold in "The Jackie Thomas Show." A gifted pianist and singer, she has performed onstage in "Dames at Sea" and Stephen Sondheim's "Company."

Feature films include "Fletch" and "Madhouse." LaPlaca lives in Los Angeles with her husband.

Q: Are there any plans to run "Beverly Hills, 90210" from the beginning on Fox or any other network? —Jimmy Burke, Sarasota, Fla.

A: "90210" goes into syndication this fall.

Q: What can you tell us about Jim Byrnes of "Highlander"? My husband and I have been trying to recall what we used to see him in, in which he was in a wheelchair. —Linda Erwin, Poynor, Texas.

A: Byrnes, who plays Head Watcher Joe Dawson, lost his legs in a 1972 car crash. You may remember him as Daniel Benjamin Burroughs, better known as "Lifeguard." Jimmie Ferranova's contact on "Wiseguy." He's a talented blues musician.

Alison LaPlaca

Q: Where can I write to Dick Sargent ("Bewitched")? —Mrs. Audrey Sherman, San Lorenzo, Calif.

A: Write to him at 5555 Melrose Ave., Box 1, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Q: Who played Richard Mulligan's wife on "Soap"? Where is she now? —B.D., Millinocket, Maine.

A: Cathryn Damon, who won an Emmy for her work as Mary Campbell, died of cancer several years ago. The series now is airing on Comedy Central.

Q: Could you please settle a disagreement? My sister and mom insist that the Olsen twins on "Full House" are identical twins. I am sure I read somewhere that they are fraternal, not identical, twins. I want to know the answer, even if I am wrong. —S.B., Jackson, Mich.

A: Mary Kate and Ashley Olsen are identical twins.

Q: Will "The X-Files" return next season? —Mrs. S. Port, Muskegon, Mich.

A: But of course.

Moore's 'TV Nation' bows with bite and wit

BY JOHN CROOK

Here's some important advice for anyone dealing with mischievous Michael Moore: Be careful what kind of message you leave on his answering machine.

"TV Nation," a new summer series from the sly creator of 1989's acclaimed documentary "Roger & Me," premieres on NBC Tuesday, July 19.

Moore's tongue-in-cheek, smile-and-slice technique is evident in every segment of this brisk and occasionally demented hour.

"Each week I'm gonna bring you stories about the other side of America," he says in his introduction. "Some of them will be funny. Some of them will be sad. But all of them will be true."

About the answering machine, though: It turns up in the very first segment, in which Moore travels to Mexico to visit American companies that have relocated plants — and jobs — to that country.

A spokesman for one major American sporting goods firm leaves a message declining Moore's request for a visit, saying that the company does not want to publicize its presence in Mexico. Big mistake.

Without additional comment, Moore simply includes footage showing the company's Mexico plant, while replaying the message.

Among other highlights: acclaimed black actor rapper Kotto and a convicted white felon participate in an experiment to see whether New York cab drivers discriminate among passengers; correspondent Merrill Markoe visits a high-tech prison that has everything except inmates; and Moore travels to Russia to disarm the missile he "knows" is still aimed at his hometown of Flint, Mich.

Michael Moore ("Roger & Me") is the mastermind behind "TV Nation," a weekly series of "stories about the other side of America," premiering Tuesday on NBC.

Wednesday, PBS presents "Apollo 13: To the Edge and Back," a documentary about the ill-fated space mission that gripped the world in April 1970.

IN FOCUS

"Missions to the Moon" airs on PBS, Wednesday, July 20 (check local listings), in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the first lunar landing.

"Missions" chronicles a decade of space race exploration and focuses on the successes and failures of NASA's Apollo space program.

Apollo 11's triumphant moon landing of 1969 is explored along with the deployment of Skylab, a scientific research center in space.

CABLE OVERVIEW

Week holds variety for cable subscribers

BY SUZANNE GILL

"One Small Step" and "One Giant Leap" are among the week's tributes to the 25th anniversary of the first manned lunar landing, on July 20, 1969. "Step" debuts Tuesday, July 19, on The Disney Channel, while "Leap" airs Wednesday, July 20, on The Discovery Channel.

Just for fun, The Cartoon Network airs "Josie and the Pussycats in Outer Space," also Wednesday.

Other anniversaries include MTV's quarterly "House of Style" fashion series, marking five years of runway watching with a special edition Tuesday. On Saturday, July 23, A&E's "Investigative Reports" revisits the Chappaquiddick scandal. It has been 25 years since college student Mary Jo Kopechne lost her life returning home from a party in a car driven by Sen. Ted Kennedy.

TNT profiles Bette Davis Sunday, July 17, in "All About Bette," with host Jodie Foster. The affectionate retrospective features film clips of memorable Davis lines and back ground on her frequent spats with husbands, co-stars and studios.

Ross Perot, another temperamental personality, gets star treatment Monday, July 18, on A&E's "Biography." From his paper boy roots to his run for the presidency, the hour offers a succinct portrait of the outspoken politico, philanthropist and industrial pioneer.

A Summer Blues Festival begins Sunday on Bravo. Highlights include the premieres of "The Search for Robert Johnson," Monday, and

Ross Perot

"The South Bank Show: John Lee Hooker," Friday, July 22.

An amateur film showing Nazi leaders on the eve of World War II airs Sunday on Discovery. Sunny sounding "Good Morning Mr. Hitler" is paired with "Berlin at All Costs," a documentary about the Russian assault on the German capital in 1945.

The Goodwill Games begin Saturday in St. Petersburg, Russia, with coverage on TBS. Nick Charles and Fred Hickman are hosts for four hours each weeknight and extended coverage on weekends through Sunday, Aug. 7.

"The Domsday Gun" is an original drama debuting Saturday on HBO. Frank Langella stars as ballistics wunderkind Gerald Bull, whose checked career reached its climax in the Iraqi desert in 1990, where Bull was building a supergun for Saddam Hussein.

Shadowed by intelligence agents from three countries, Bull was finally murdered, but the plans for his awesome gun may still be in Iraqi hands.

SOAP TALK

New Tina sans Cain on 'One Life to Live'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: What is going on with the new Tina on "One Life to Live"? I loved Karen Winter as Tina, and now they are bringing on someone totally new. I would also like to know why they didn't bring back Cain. Christopher Cousins, who played the character, was the greatest.

The actress who is playing Tina now looks familiar. Can you tell me what other shows she has been on? Will they bring Cousins back? —L.B., Denton, Texas.

Dear Reader: Krista Tesreau is the new Tina on "OLTL." She is best known for her portrayal of Mindy Lewis on "Guiding Light." She was also Andie on "Santa Barbara."

The producers at "OLTL" asked Winter to return, but she was not interested. There is no news about Cousins.

Dear Candace: I really liked the story line with April (Cynthia Jordan) on "The Young and the Restless." Why did they move the character back to New York City? It was like, "OK, we are going to have this big trial, and you are not going to jail, but we are taking you off the show anyway." Will April be back any time soon? —M.H. in Florida.

Dear Reader: Jordan was only supposed to be on the show for a short time, and she was happy with that arrangement. "Y&R" has a full plate right now with several story lines, and there simply wasn't room for April and Heather (Concepcion Nelsom) in Genoa City. There are no plans to bring the character back at this time, but you never know.

Jordan will now have more time to concentrate on comedy, her first love. She enjoys doing stand-up comedy, and had been doing "Y&R" during the days and hitting the Los Angeles comedy circuit at night.

"Sometimes I'm so tired after working all day on the show, I can't even think about doing a gig at night," Jordan says. "April's life is always in turmoil, and she is a very emotional person. That can leave you ragged at the end of the day."

"But when I get up in front of an audience at night doing my comedy routine, I am suddenly energized. All that tiredness is gone, and I'm looking for that immediate reaction from the audience at the club."

Jordan says she is looking forward to not having to work all day and all night.

MOVIE MARQUEE

HBO drama looks to blow lid off conspiracy

BY SUZANNE GILL

HBO sets its sights on political controversy with "The Domsday Gun," an HBO Showcase production debuting Saturday, July 23.

Frank Langella stars as Gerald Bull, a Canadian-born ballistics genius who invented a long-barreled firing device for the U.S. military in 1967 that could launch a projectile into low orbit. When his funding was canceled, the embittered Bull became a freelance arms manufacturer, eventually based in Belgium.

In the late 1980s, Bull's company was hired by Saddam Hussein's government to build a supergun, a device with a barrel as long as two football fields, capable of launching a two-ton projectile more than 1,000 miles. The movie probes the secret of the Iraqi gun and its backers, from mysterious cash payments through the now infamous Bank of Credit and Commerce International to surveillance by the Israeli, British and U.S. governments.

Though muddled and necessarily incomplete, the story asks leading questions about the extent of support Hussein received from the anti-Iranian U.S. government for his arms buildup.

Starring with Langella in "Domsday Gun" are Alan Arkin, Kevin Spacey, Francesca Annis and Tony Goldwyn.

Also this week, Gene Hackman stars in 1988's "Mississippi Burning," an Oscar winner for cinematography, Sunday, July 17, on ABC.

Bette Davis fans can revel in "All About Bette," Sunday on

Frank Langella

FNT. Davis stars in "Elizabeth the Queen" immediately after and in "The Petrified Forest" overnight.

"Deadly Marriages," a fact-based 1992 drama starring Brian Dennehy, airs Sunday and Monday, July 18, on NBC.

Fox continues its John Goodman film festival with "King Ralph" Monday. "Married to the Mob," with Michelle Pfeiffer, airs on Lifetime.

Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau star in "The Odd Couple," Tuesday, July 19, on American Movie Classics.

Time in early and late for "Reflections on the Silver Screen" featuring each of the stars.

Also on Tuesday, Arnold Schwarzenegger stars in "The Running Man" on CBS. Parental discretion is advised.

"Barney Miller" fans may enjoy the reunion of Max Gail and Steve Landesburg in Eugene Levy's Western comedy, "Sundance," debuting Sunday on Showtime. The cast also includes Fred Willard and Kris Kristofferson.

TIME OUT

St. Petersburg the place to go for Goodwill

BY JEFF PLASS

"Really, the only thing you could compare the Goodwill Games to is the Olympics," says ABC commentator and Goodwill Games studio host Julie Moran.

"It's just world-class competition. Outside of the Olympic Games, I definitely don't think you'd ever see this many world-class athletes assembled together," Moran says.

Beginning Saturday, July 23, and running through Sunday, August 7, the city of St. Petersburg, Russia, will play host to some of the world's finest athletes in the 1994 Goodwill Games.

ABC will present more than 17 hours of weekend coverage of the games, while TBS will offer more than 64 hours of prime time coverage over the 15-day period.

Moran is particularly excited about the games for a number of reasons.

"I've never been to Russia," she explains, "and I think it's a great time of year to be in the city of St. Petersburg. We only have the weekend coverage, so during the week, I'm going to be out and about."

"My job as host will be pretty much a broad overview of everything that is happening. So I'm going to try to pop around to all of the events. I'm going to try and see something different every day."

"And I'd like to see some of the unusual sports too, not just the major ones," Moran says. "I'd like to take a look at the archery and the beach volleyball and the synchronized swimming and everything."

Julie Moran

"It's going to be fun. Real fun."

Moran believes the United States' chances in all of the events are very good, especially track and field and men's and women's basketball.

"I think we're going to rack up some medals in track and field," she states. "I mean, our relay teams are really strong. Our sprinters and individual competitors are all very strong."

"Pretty much everybody that you would expect to be there is going to Mike Powell, Butch Reynolds, Mike Conley, Jackie Joyner-Kersey — the list goes on and on."

"I think we'll have a great basketball team, too," Moran concludes. "We don't have the NBA players as opposed to the Olympic team and the upcoming World Basketball Championship team, but so what? We've got a ton of great college talent."

"And I think the women's team will be one team that competes at the World Championships, so that should be a strong team too."

On The Menu...

Chilled Orange-Tomato Soup

- 2 medium oranges
- 2 Tbs. unsalted butter
- 1 medium onion, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup fennel bulb, thinly sliced
- 1 1/2 lbs. plum tomatoes, quartered
- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 1 Tbs. grated orange peel
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 cup Tropicana® Pure Premium® Ruby Red Orange Juice
- 1 1/2 cups reduced-sodium chicken broth
- 1/4 tsp. basil
- 1/2 cup nonfat plain yogurt or nonfat sour cream

Using small, sharp knife, cut off peel and white pith from oranges. Working over bowl to catch juice, cut between membranes to release segments.

Melt butter in heavy, large saucepan over low heat. Add sliced onion and fennel and sauté 5 minutes. Add half of oranges with their juices and half of tomatoes and simmer 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add dry white wine, grated orange peel and salt. Mix in remaining oranges with their juices, remaining tomatoes, Tropicana® Pure Premium® Ruby Red Orange Juice, chicken stock and basil. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium and cook soup 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Puree soup in blender or processor in batches. Cover and chill soup until cold. (Can be prepared 2 days ahead.)

Ladle soup into bowls. Top with nonfat yogurt or nonfat sour cream and serve.

Asparagus with Lemon-Nut Sauce

- 1 lb. fresh asparagus
- 1/2 cup reduced-sodium chicken broth
- 1/4 tsp. thyme
- 1/4 tsp. marjoram
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 2 Tbs. margarine or butter
- 1/2 cup California walnuts, finely chopped

Place asparagus in Rival® steamer basket. Cover and steam using 1 cup water in the inner reservoir of steamer base.

Put chicken broth, thyme and marjoram in a small saucepan and simmer over medium heat until reduced to half.

Add lemon juice and margarine. Reduce heat and stir until margarine is blended. Add walnuts and cook 30 seconds or until completely combined. Spoon sauce over asparagus.

It's Summertime!

Summer reflects long, luxurious days of outdoor activities...

baseball and tennis... walks in the park... time spent with family and friends.

What better way to finish the day than with a meal that is light and delicious. So try this summery menu—it's sure to please your entire family, and it's elegant enough for dinner guests!

Start with refreshing Chilled Orange-Tomato Soup. This delicious recipe combines garden-fresh tomatoes with sun-sweet oranges for a tangy, flavorful treat. Grilled Salmon Steaks with Creamy Dill Sauce is an easy-to-prepare entree that will certainly bring compliments to the chef! Fresh, steamed Asparagus with Lemon-Nut Sauce and Nutty Wild Rice with Mushrooms are luscious complements full of natural goodness. Both of these recipes include delicious California walnuts for added texture and flavor.

And here's an interesting note: a recent clinical study showed that consuming an ounce of walnuts each day in place of saturated fats could help to lower cholesterol. To complete this summery meal, try a Ginger-Honey Custard with Blueberry Sauce. This steamed dessert is so creamy it practically melts in your mouth.

As a special beverage refresher for this breezy summer meal, whip up a heavenly light blend of Tropicana® Pure Premium® Ruby Red Orange Juice, yogurt, honey and seltzer water. Once considered only for breakfast, this new orange juice is healthy refreshment any time of day... in this blended drink or "au naturel." A lighter, less sweet 100% pure juice, Pure Premium Ruby Red combines Florida orange juice with a splash of grapefruit juice and a hint of Italian red oranges. An 8-ounce glass of the juice provides 100 percent of the daily supply of Vitamin C and is a good source of potassium.

Steaming your foods is a great way to eat healthy all year long. More nutrients and food flavors are retained through steaming, and your foods can turn out perfectly every time. The Rival® Automatic Steamer/Rice Cooker is great for steaming all types of foods... vegetables, rice, fish, eggs and even desserts! There's never any guesswork because the water level determines the precise cooking time. It even shuts off automatically when food is done!

So bring out the best in your summertime cooking with an exciting meal that is light and garden-fresh with interesting textures and flavors. Now, invite your neighbors over for a tasty and fun summertime meal!

Nutty Wild Rice with Mushrooms

- 1 can (3 oz.) sliced mushrooms
- 1 can (14 1/2 oz.) reduced sodium chicken broth
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1/4 tsp. thyme
- 1/4 tsp. marjoram
- 1/2 cup wild rice, uncooked
- 1 cup long-grain rice, uncooked
- 2 tsp. margarine
- 1/2 cup California walnuts, chopped

Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. In a saucepan, combine mushroom liquid and broth, add onion, thyme and marjoram and bring to a boil. Add washed wild rice; reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 20 minutes.

Add long-grain rice; return to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 20 minutes longer or until rice is tender.

Stir in mushrooms, margarine and walnuts. Heat through.

A BIRD'S EYE VIEW of the Garrett County Courthouse, former jail, and St. Peter's Catholic Church is provided in this 1949 aerial photo by Harold C. Carl of Frostburg. The shot was taken during the Oakland Centennial celebration, as is evidenced by the enormous birthday cake on the courthouse lawn (lower left corner) which was apparently under construction (being baked?) at the time the photo was taken. The jail was razed and the courthouse lawn was disposed of when the courthouse was remodeled in the late 1970s. The photo is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican.

Western Md. To Get Grant For Health Ed.

The U.S. Public Health Service has awarded a grant of more than half a million dollars to the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC) in Cumberland. According to U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes, the funds, totalling $513,935, will be used to provide off-campus interdisciplinary education in rehabilitation training to increase rehabilitation services available to residents of Western Maryland. Participants in the program will be eligible for degrees from the University of Maryland at Baltimore and Towson State University.

"There is currently a critical shortage of training programs for rehabilitation specialists in Western Maryland," said Sarbanes. "This grant to AHEC will help alleviate that problem by expanding the training opportunities for professionals in that region, who will then be able to provide vitally needed services to local residents. Significantly, this program will provide the training opportunities locally, for local professionals, drawing on Western Maryland's greatest resource: its own people." Sarbanes toured the AHEC facilities on a visit to Western Maryland earlier this year.

The four degrees to be offered in this project are master of social work, master of clinical nurse rehabilitation specialist, master of physical therapy, and master of occupational therapy.

The University of Maryland and Towson State will work with the Western Maryland AHEC, regional colleges, and area service institutions to provide accessible allied health education in areas where no such training now exists.

Western Maryland AHEC is a community-based, non-profit organization with the purpose of developing personnel to meet the health care needs of the people in Maryland's three Appalachian counties. The Agency recruits students for health care education, provides clinical education programs, placement services, research facilities, and interagency networking and advocacy.

Weimer Honored For Academics

The U.S. Achievement Academy has announced that local student Cindy Weimer has been named an All-American Scholar in recognition of her outstanding academic effort at Northern High School.

Persons so recognized must hold a grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale and be nominated by a teacher, counselor, coach, or other school official. Miss Weimer was nominated for the award by teacher Sharon Derlain.

Biographies of all honorees appear in the Academy's All-American Scholar directory.

Miss Weimer is the daughter of John and Debbie Weimer.

State Jobless Rate Increases, County's Drops

A seasonal increase in the number of job seekers caused the state's unemployment rate to rise slightly, from 5.2 percent in April to 5.3 percent in May. However, employment in Maryland rose for the fourth consecutive month, reaching a record high for May. Following seasonal adjustment, the statewide unemployment rate remained unchanged at 5.4 percent.

The jobless rate in Garrett County, however, fell from 10.5 percent in April to 9.8 percent in May, more than two points lower than the May 1993 rate of 12.1 percent.

The national unemployment rate fell from 6.2 percent in April to 5.9 percent in May, but remains well above the Maryland level.

As semesters ended in May for some schools, students and other summer workers entered the state's labor market to begin their job search. Nearly 17,700 job seekers entered the labor market, 13,324 of whom found employment, raising employment above the 2.5 million mark. The number of unemployed persons rose by nearly 4,400 people.

"In May, the state experienced the usual slight bump in unemployment as people began looking for summer jobs," said Secretary of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) Mark L. Wasserman. "However, we continue to see other favorable economic indicators, with increased hiring, fewer claims for unemployment insurance benefits and rising new automobile registrations."

According to a separate survey of Maryland businesses, the number of jobs increased in nearly all industrial sectors. Job gains were strongest in retail trade and services, with hiring in restaurants, amusements, business and agricultural services. The construction industry also reported considerable hiring, with May's report marking the third consecutive month of rising employment in this sector.

Other indicators of the state's economy continued to show improvement. Retail sales and new automobile registrations continued strong. Building permits for new housing showed a decline over the month, but improved from May 1993 to May 1994.

Employment advanced by slightly more than 1,000 people, reducing the number of unemployed workers and lowering the regional jobless rate to 7.5 percent in May. Employment rose throughout the region, helping to diminish joblessness in all but Allegany County. Garrett County's rate, while remaining the regional high, fell below double digits for the first time this year.

Statewide, unemployment rates in May ranged from a low of 2.8 percent in Montgomery County to a high of 12.4 percent in Somerset County.

Habitat Seeking Additional Help

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, a non-profit, non-denominational housing ministry, has some positions open for some new volunteers, according to Frank King, Volunteer Maryland coordinator.

The organization needs persons who can provide clerical assistance and in the trades of masonry, plumbing, and electrical work. Those interested may contact Barbara Briggs, executive director of Habitat, at 334-9431, extension 113.

Georg To Speak At Dinner Meeting

The guest speaker for the July 16 dinner meeting of the Oakland Chapter of Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship dinner will be Pamela Georg, Accident.

Born in November 1960, Mrs. Georg was adopted by Paul and Catherine Merrill in 1964. She is married to Gary Georg.

While attending a John Starnes concert, Mrs. Georg recommitted her life and is actively serving the Lord through music and testimony.

The public is welcome to attend the dinner meeting at the Crellin Community Center. Reservations are requested, and may be made by calling 387-6707. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

Applications For Sealing Funds Being Accepted

The Garrett County 4-H Program has announced that applications are now being accepted for the John Thomas Sealing Memorial Scholarship.

This tuition scholarship will be presented to a freshman entering college in the fall of 1994, with studies in the field of health care or education. The recipient must be or have been a 4-H member and must be a graduate of Garrett County high school or a resident of Garrett County for one year, with a high school diploma or equivalent.

The Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service 4-H program is serving as the sponsor's contact for the scholarship.

Application forms are available by contacting the Extension Office at 334-1990 and are due July 27. The scholarship recipient will be announced during August.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

FIDDLER'S CONTEST

The 30th annual Old Time Fiddler's Contest and the sixth annual Banjo Contest will be Saturday, July 16, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the park in Friendsville. People should bring their own lawn chairs. The program is sponsored by the Rotary Club and Lions Club.

FRIENDSVILLE DAYS

The 15th annual Friendsville Days, set for Aug. 5-6, is being coordinated by the Friendsville Volunteer Fire-Rescue Department. Plans are well underway, using the country western theme "Country Western Style."

To begin the weekend's festivities, a western style barbecue is planned, with a free will donation being accepted. Country and bluegrass music will follow, and line dancing will be open to any and all participants. The affair will begin at 5:30 p.m. at the newly developed town park.

Saturday's entertainment will begin at noon with the annual Friendsville Days Parade with many local fire, rescue, organizational and commercial groups participating. The parade will travel to the Friendsville Town Park where food concessions, crafts, flea market, games and live entertainment will be available. Door prizes will be awarded throughout the day. A line-up of entertainment will continue on stage throughout the day and evening, featuring the "Country Express," and will conclude with a large fireworks display.

The parade is open to anyone wishing to participate. Persons may call 746-5576 or 746-5291 for information. Tents will be provided and the event will be held rain or shine.

PRAYER BREAKFAST

The A. Mike Walters Chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Firefighters was held Saturday at the Friendsville Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department. Chapter President Frank Clark led the group in an opening hymn and W. Barney Miller led the prayer. "Joys and concerns" were shared by Pat Bowser and a poem was read by Lula Brown. There were 18 in attendance. Speaker was

W. Barney Miller, assistant chaplain of the Allegany Garrett Firemen's Association.

The next Prayer Breakfast will be held at Mt. Savage V.F.D. on Saturday, Aug. 6.

CONCERT IN PARK

The Concert in the Accident Park (West) will be held Sunday, July 17, at 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Persons should bring their own chairs. A free will offering will be taken and money will be matched by A.A.I. Branch 5821. Funds will go to rebuild the chimney at the Drane House. This concert is sponsored by A.A.I. and the Cultural-Historical Society of Accident.

CHURCH

WOMEN MEET

W.I.L.C.A. members met Monday at the church with seven members and a guest, June Grant, present. Geraldine Turney presided at the business session and Pauline Faucett led the topic on "We are hopeful." Members are asking relatives and friends to send Ms. Evelyn Jenkins a card for her 90th birthday on Thursday, July 21. Her address is: P.O. Box 133, Friendsville, MD 21531.

ROTARIANS MEET

The Friendsville Rotary Club met Monday evening at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant. Carol Calhoun, second vice president, presided at the business meeting, the plans and work schedules for the 30th annual Fiddler's Contest, to be held Saturday, July 16, were finalized.

The Garrett County Health Department will provide free blood pressure screening to the public during the afternoon.

Sarah E. Bosley will be invited to attend the Friendsville Rotary Club meetings in preparation for her trip to Slavakia as a group study exchange student.

David Meyers, Hollywood, Fla., and Eric Clemenin, Bethesda, were guest Rotarians.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The Community Park was moved last week by Lions Oscar VanScheetz and Marlin Lawson. Volunteers were Brenda Caldwell and Jason Coddington. Use of equipment was donated by Lawson. Members of the F.I.P.A. Program of the Western Maryland Consortium also worked in the park, as well as in the Town of Friendsville.

Members of the Lions Club met with the Friendsville Rotary Club on Monday to finalize plans for the Fiddler's and Banjo Contest, which will be held in the park on Saturday, July 16. Entertainment will begin at 3 p.m. and continue until the contest begins at 7 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. In the event of rain, the contest will be held the following day, Sunday, July 17.

There are bleachers on the grounds but the public is welcome to bring their own lawn chairs or blankets if they prefer to do so. There will be food concession stands on the grounds.

The Lions Club met with the Town Council on Monday and proposed plans to renovate the old Frazee Hotel, donated to the Lions Club by Drs. Don and Debbie Pepper, into a senior citizen center. The hotel will be shown to interested persons at 3 p.m. on July 13. The renovation of the property will begin in the not too distant future.

The next meeting of the Friendsville Lions Club will be July 14 at 6:30 p.m. at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant. All members should attend.

BIBLE SCHOOL

Vacation Bible School will be held at Laurel Run Church of God, White Rock Road, from Monday, July 18, to Friday, July 22, daily from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. A program will be held Friday evening. For more information, persons may call 746-5319 or 746-5320.

Three boys of Laurel Run Church of God, Donald Davis, Mike Auvil and Nathan Sisler, spent last week at Junior High Church of God Youth Camp at Rippling Waters, W.Va.

SAND SPRING CHURCH

Sand Spring Church of God held its annual Vacation Bible School June 27 to July 1, with an average nightly attendance of 80 people. The week's events included a candy-filled jar giveaway on Wednesday, June 29 (winner, April Lewis); a helium balloon launch on Thursday, June 30, and a pie-throwing contest on Friday, July 1. Bible School concluded Friday with a closing program and awarding of certificates, followed by picnic-style refreshments in the fellowship hall.

SCULPTURE BY JOSEPH CROW NEALE will be on display at the Windrush Gallery in Friendsville beginning July 16. Neale poses here with two of his works in metal.

Ursuline College, The University of Akron, and Notre Dame College, all in Ohio.

Both artists have spent time in the American Southwest and their experiences while there have influenced their work. While exploring the Sonoran Desert in Arizona, Neale encountered the remains of tribal villages, artifacts, and rock art sites which have inspired many of his sculptures. When Corrigan first travelled to the Southwest he considered moving there permanently. For exhibition at the Windrush show, his southwestern and rural photos were selected to mesh with Neale's sculptures.

The Windrush Gallery is open Fri.-Mon. from noon until 8 p.m. Promoters for "Where Spirits Dwell" have asked that persons planning to attend the show bring a contribution of canned or dried goods. These will be delivered to the House of Hope Food Pantry in Bittinger.

Actual Causes of Death in the United States
According to a report in Journal of the American Medical Association, for many years the 10 leading causes of death in the United States have been officially listed as heart disease, cancer, cerebrovascular disease, accidents, chronic lung disease, pneumonia and influenza, diabetes, suicide, chronic liver disease, and HIV infection. Listing causes of death in this manner hides underlying factors that produce the problems and, therefore, cause death. Researchers recalculated the leading causes of death to reflect these hidden risk factors. Of the more than two million deaths in the U.S. in 1990, about half can be attributed to the following:

ACTUAL CAUSE	DEATHS
Tobacco	400,000
Diet/Activity patterns	300,000
Alcohol	100,000
Microbial agents	90,000
Toxic agents	60,000
Firearms	35,000
Sexual behavior	30,000
Motor vehicles	25,000
Illicit use of drugs	20,000

The researchers concluded that many deaths in the U.S. are preventable and that health-related behaviors contribute substantially to "actual" causes of death.

Health Care Debate Shifts Into High Gear In Congress

The health care reform debate in Congress is shifting into high gear, with most of the committee work complete and lawmakers preparing for floor action.

Three committees have approved bills that used President Clinton's plan as a basis, with modification. House Education and Labor, House Ways and Means, and Senate Labor and Human Resources. A fourth committee, Senate Finance, after months of negotiations, agreed on a bipartisan "mainstream" measure that does not include employer mandates, a key component of the Clinton plan.

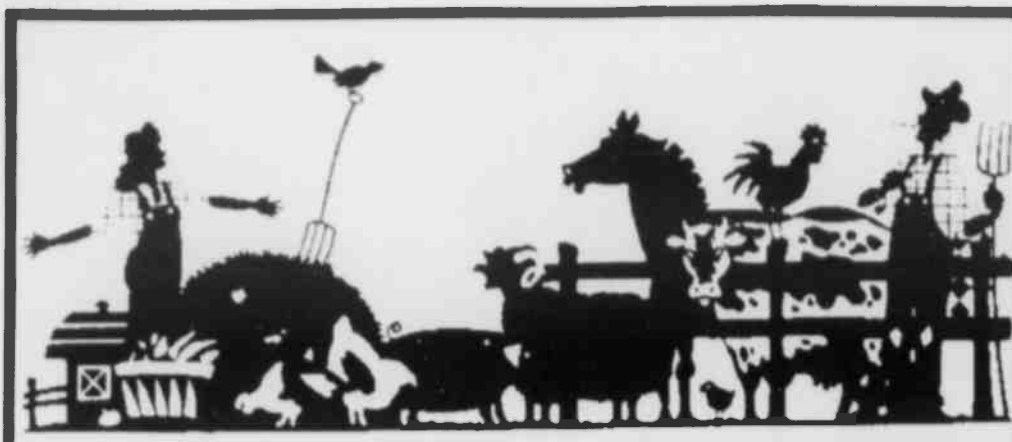

In addition, two other plans have entered the picture: a Senate Republican proposal offered by Minority Leader Bob Dole (R-Kan.) and a House bipartisan plan by Reps. Roy Towland (D-Ga.) and Michael Bilirakis (R-Fla.).

The next step in the process will be up to Senate and House leaders, who must construct a new legislative vehicle from the various proposals and from the Clinton plan—one that can gather enough votes to pass.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell of Maine and House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt of Missouri will lead the efforts to craft those proposals. They plan to have them ready for floor debate later this month. If that happens, the health care bill could see floor action before Congress recesses for the August recess. In fact, Mitchell has warned the Senate that no health care bill will mean no August break.

The outlook for rural health care needs is still uncertain, yet most proposals to some degree recognize the unique nature of rural health care delivery systems. Some include tax relief for health professionals who practice in rural areas, others provide subsidies for medical students who agree to practice in rural areas. Other proposals increase government assistance to rural health centers and promote the use of telecommunications technology to assist in delivering medicine.

A priority for Farm Bureau in health care formulation is the full tax deduction of health insurance premiums for the self-employed. According to Hyde Murray, an American Farm Bureau Federation governmental relations director, the 100 percent deduction is "universally embraced" in the various legislative proposals and is included in the Clinton plan. (Some of the committees do not include it in their proposals because they do not have jurisdiction over tax issues.)

The "rub" comes, Murray noted, in how the deduction is financed. Many of the proposals would phase it in over time, including Dole's proposal, which reached full deductibility by the year 2000.

Helping Bats Helps Farmers

Better protection of bat habitats can lead to increased crop production and reduction in needed pesticides. Because of this benefit, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Soil Conservation Service (SCS), and Bat Conservation International (BCI) have teamed up to manage a bat conservation and education program.

SCS works with BCI to educate private landowners about the benefits of bat habitats to farmland and provide technical and financial assistance to conserve and enhance bats on private lands. Bats play an important role in crop protection by eating great quantities of insects and pests that can destroy crops. Hardworking bats also help pollinate plants and flowers, spread seeds of tropical and desert plants, and control the populations of mosquitoes and other nocturnal bugs. According to scientists, a colony of 150 big brown bats can consume nearly 38,000 cucumber beetles in a single summer season. The cucumber beetle produces corn rootworms that cause about $1 billion in productivity losses each year to corn, spinach and vine plants in the United States.

Although a friend to farmers, bat populations have declined due to intentional destruction and vandalism of bats, their colonies and roosting habitats. Nearly 40 percent of bat species in the United States are endangered or threatened species.

Garrett Co. Farm Bureau Seeking 1994 Farm Queen Contestants

Garrett County Farm Bureau is seeking female applicants between the ages of 16 and 20 to compete for the title of Garrett County Farm Queen. The contestant or her parents must be a member of Farm Bureau. The contest will take place during the opening ceremonies of the Garrett County Fair on August 14 at the Fairgrounds.

The queen will reign over the activities of the fair and will also compete for the title of Maryland Farm Queen at the State Fair in Timonium. The Farm Queen will represent Garrett County Farm Bureau and agriculture during the year at various functions and parades.

Anyone interested in applications for the Farm Queen contest or Farm Bureau membership, should call Dove DeBerry at 334-9220 or Fannie Mae Kolb at 746-8484. The deadline for applications is August 1.

USDA Soil Conservation Service Chief Praises Conservation Efforts

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service Chief Paul W. Johnson paid tribute to the nation's farmers for their soil and water conservation efforts.

"This is an appropriate time to acknowledge the progress that many farmers have made in natural resources conservation as well as in agriculture production," Johnson said.

"The progress made in conservation should be celebrated and we should rededicate ourselves to good land stewardship that will provide future generations with truly sustainable soil conservation systems on farmland."

Citing information from SCS's recently released 1993 status review, Johnson summed up conservation activities over the past 10 years:

--About 1.2 million farmers have developed conservation plans on more than 140 million acres of highly erodible cropland.

--Erosion on that land is projected to decrease from 17.5 tons an acre a year to 6 tons an acre when the plans are fully implemented at the end of 1994.

--More than 1 billion tons of soil will be saved annually when conservation plans on highly erodible land are fully implemented.

"Yet for all the progress we've made, the effort cannot stop in 1994," Johnson said. "We're a long way from where we need to be in erosion control and other aspects of natural resource protection. As an example, we must work on and improve the consistency across county and state borders of our planning efforts and the systems we use. We're also concerned that we have conservation systems on the books and in use that do not meet our standards for erosion control.

"But I am optimistic about the future, given the technology available and the growing commitment of farmers and others in our society to the well-being of our land and water."

Johnson also cited progress in many areas of natural resource conservation, beyond the protection of highly erodible cropland. These include:

--increased use of crop residue management;

--improved soil erosion prediction technology;

--improved inventories of natural resource conditions and trends;

--wetlands enhancement and restoration;

--inroads in geographic information systems for conservation;

--use of remote sensing of mountain snowpacks for western water supply forecasts;

--introduction of new plant cultivars for erosion control;

--improved irrigation water management and other water management conservation techniques;

--35 million acres of the nation's most vulnerable cropland now protected by grass and trees enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program;

--major initiatives in water quality and watershed protection, including demonstration projects and new technology;

--working with rural and urban communities to improve their environment and sustainability;

--increased interagency and private sector partnerships for soil and water conservation;

--floodplain management; --a movement in natural resource management toward a more ecosystem-based approach;

--increased protection of archaeological and other cultural resources;

--international technology exchanges;

--involvement in global climate change initiatives;

--increased volunteerism;

--participation in AmeriCorps, the new "domestic Peace Corps," to encourage community service through environmental and rural development projects.

Johnson invited those who are not directly involved in natural resource activities and want to be to contact SCS for more information on its volunteer program by calling 1-800-1111-SOIL.

Did The Herbicide Do The Job?

I have heard several farmers comment that a particular herbicide was not as effective this year as it was last year. Actually, herbicides will never react exactly the same each year. Weather has the most single uncontrollable effect on herbicide activity. Let's take a quick review on weather effects for this season:

- Spring, wet and cool. Herbicide activity decreases with extreme cool conditions such as we had this spring. Pre-emergence herbicides are applied to kill the young seedlings as it germinates from the seed. The longer the seed lays dormant in the spring, the less powerful the herbicide. Excessive rainfall may also leach the herbicide material down below the soil level where most of the seeds germinate.

- Late spring and early summer, hot and dry. Again, the pre-emergence herbicide must be in the germinating seed area to be effective. The longer the material lays on top of the soil, the less effective it will be once it is watered into the seed area. Most of the common post-emergence herbicides are systemic in nature, which means they must be absorbed by the weed to be effective. If the weeds are under stress from heat and dry conditions, the absorption rate is low; therefore, there may not be enough of the active material absorbed to kill the weed. Also, the scattered heavy rainfalls wash some of the post-emergence herbicides off before enough was absorbed into the weed.

There are several good herbicides on the market. Most will live up to the company's claims. You must use good judgment concerning the weather along with good management practices such as making sure you're applying the recommended rate, mixing well and using the proper surfactant that's called for.

Southern States Oakland Cooperative, Inc., donated day-old chicks to the participants, who raised them for eight weeks. After the broilers were dressed, they were judged on several factors, including feed to meat conversion ratios, weight, and appearance. In the above photo, the junior division participants, shown from left to right, front row, are Michael Guard, second place; Duane Rice, eighth place; and Mitchell Guard, third place; second row, Elizabeth Long, sixth place; Angela Beckman, seventh place; Autumn Riser, fourth place; Joseph Ragione, ninth place; Jeremiah Guard, junior champion; and Adam Sanders, fifth place; and in the back row, Connie Hoalcraft, who served as judge for the event. Pictured below, the intermediate and senior division participants, shown left to right, seated, are Shane DeWitt, intermediate champion, and Levi Schmuck, intermediate third place; standing, George Beckman, intermediate fourth place; Hannah Schmuck, intermediate second place; Sharron Boiyard, intermediate fifth place; and Shonna DeWitt, senior champion. Not pictured is Leah Broadwater, senior division second place.

Feeding Summer Annual Forage Grasses

Summer annual grasses are used for summer pasture, green chop, hay and silage. They are often used as sources of emergency forage. Common annual grasses for our area are sudangrass, sorghum-sudangrass and pearl millet. In case you have planted a summer annual, I would offer the following reminders: graze sudangrass and pearl millet when they reach 15 to 20 inches in height and sorghum-sudangrass when they are 18 to 24 inches tall. Danger from prussic acid poisoning can occur when grazing below these heights. Graze down rapidly to six inches of stubble before moving livestock to a fresh pasture, and do not graze until 18 inches of growth accumulates. If growth is more than 36 inches tall, harvest as hay, green chop, or silage since grazing cattle will trample and waste much of the plant. Summer grazing will last about two months. By the way, I have had some farmers ask if it is too late to plant summer annuals, the answer is yes.

USDA Sizes Up Ag Economy For Farm Bill Debate

The economic situation for U.S. agriculture remains basically sound, despite some concerns on the areas hit by flood and drought last year, according to Keith Collins, USDA acting assistant secretary for economics.

Collins testified recently before a House Agriculture panel to assess the state of American agriculture prior to the 1995 farm bill debate.

The economic outlook for U.S. Agriculture in 1995 "in large measure will be influenced by how well farm production this year rebounds from the events of 1993," Collins said. "Flooding and drought reduced crop production, elevated farm prices, curtailed farm exports and triggered disaster assistance."

Corn production was off by one-third last year and soybean production dropped by one-fifth. USDA's current estimates indicate that stocks of corn will be down nearly 60 percent and soybean stocks will be down 45 percent on Sept. 1, their lowest levels since the mid-1970's.

Shortfalls for many producers last year were cushioned by record yields and production for several major crops in 1992 and disaster payments and crop insurance indemnities, which together totaled $3.7 billion nationally.

Despite the crop disasters, Collins said, higher grain and cotton prices will reduce Commodity Credit Corporation net outlays for 1994 to $12 billion, down $4 billion, and a further decline is expected for 1995.

"Farmers' cash receipts are expected to rise in 1994 and net farm income could rise sharply as inventories rebuild," he said.

Generally improving economic growth throughout the world is expected to further expand agricultural trade, Collins said. Western Europe, particularly Germany, France and Italy, appear to be moving out of recession. In Japan, economic growth is less promising but prospects of continued growth are favorable for other Pacific Rim countries. Eastern Europe appears poised for positive economic growth, but the nations of the former Soviet Union continue to suffer from excessive inflation, negative economic growth and foreign debt.

The North American Free Trade agreement is boosting U.S. exports to Mexico, which increased 15 percent during the pact's first three months.

The Uruguay Round agreement, if approved, also will increase U.S. agricultural exports, raise farm prices and income and lower farm program costs.

Collins noted that program crop acreage is expected to increase as conservation reserve program contracts expire over the next several years. Between 1993 and 2000, USDA expects an increase of 15 million acres planted to major crops - which causes a concern about "the impact this increase will have on prices and the need for acreage reduction programs," he said.

Members Push To Bring Property Rights Bill To Floor

Farmers, ranchers and other landowners need solid legislation to protect their property rights, which are increasingly threatened by governmental regulations, according to Farm Bureau.

American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner said his organization strongly supports H.R. 3875, the Private Property Owners Bill of Rights, sponsored by Reps. Billy Tauzin (D-La.) and Jack Fields (R-Texas).

Tauzin and Fields are leading a drive to take the bill directly to the House floor through the discharge petition process. A total of 218 signatures are needed for a discharge of the bill; near the end of last week the petition had 126 signatures.

The congressmen were joined by 15 other House members at a press conference last week announcing their discharge petition efforts. Each of the lawmakers spoke of the concerns they've heard from their constituents on this issue and the need for Congress to act.

Tauzin noted that the U.S. Supreme Court recently reaffirmed the constitutional rights of landowners in its ruling on Dolan vs. City of Tigard, and in doing so, strengthened the argument of proponents of H.R. 3875.

Kleckner praised the congressmen's effort and said the bill strikes a balance between protecting the environment and protecting the rights of property owners.

Property owners across the nation have been deprived of the right to use their land because of wetlands regulations or enforcement of the Endangered Species Act," Kleckner said. "It is time for Congress to address this very serious problem."

Kleckner said farmers, ranchers and other property owners "too often are being forced to bear the cost of these stringent regulations." He noted that a critical part of the Tauzin-Fields bill is a provision to require compensation to property owners who have been deprived of 50 percent or more of the fair market value, or of the economically viable use, of their land when a federal "taking" occurs.

The farm leader called on representatives to co-sponsor H.R. 3875--it currently has 149 co-sponsors--and sign the discharge petition to move the bill forward.

"There must be a balance between the rights of property owners and the need to protect the environment," Kleckner said. "This bill would provide that balance and this Congress needs to act on it."

Fewer Corn Acres Planted In Maryland

Maryland agricultural producers were faced with a cool spring this year with above normal rainfall. Although corn and soybean planting progress caught up to normal progress at the end of the planting season, it lagged behind normal progress for much of the earlier part of the season.

Corn growers planted 460,000 acres of corn for all purposes, eight percent fewer acres than were planted last year. Corn for grain is expected to be harvested from 380,000 acres, down from 420,000 acres last year.

Soybean acreage planted and to be planted is 560,000 acres, three percent less than the 580,000 acres planted in 1993. Soybeans are expected to be harvested from 550,000 acres, down from the 570,000 acres harvested in 1993. Sorghum was planted on 26,700 acres in Maryland for 1994, up 8,000 acres from last year's 18,000 acres planted. Sorghum for grain will be harvested from 23,000 acres, up 7,000 from 1993.

Winter wheat seeded in the fall of 1993 for 1994 harvest is 230,000 acres, 10 percent above the 210,000 acres, 20,000 acres more than in 1993. Barley was planted on 65,000 acres for 1994, down 13 percent from the 75,000 acres planted for 1993. Barley harvest will be the 1994 crop was 35,000, up 5,000 acres from last year's 30,000 acres planted. Rye is expected to be harvested from 4,000 acres this year, down 1,000 acres from the 5,000 harvested in 1993.

Oats acreage planted in 1994 was 8,000, down 20 percent from the 10,000 planted in 1993. Expected oats acreage to be harvested is 6,000 in 1994, down 2,000 acres from last year.

All hay acreage harvested is estimated at 200,000 acres, down 10,000 from last year's acreage. Expected harvested acreage of alfalfa hay is 60,000, down 5,000 from 1993 and hay other than alfalfa is expected to be harvested from 2,000 acres. Sweet potatoes were planted on 300 acres this year, no change from last year. Three hundred acres are also expected to be harvested this year, the same acreage harvested in 1992 and 1993.

Ag Department Reorganization Measure Stalled

Legislation to reorganize the Department of Agriculture (H.R. 3171) had been progressing in the House, until it came to a halt just before Congress adjourned for its July recess.

The measure passed the House Agriculture Committee and was set for a full House vote but was pulled over objections to a committee-approved amendment requiring risk analysis of major agricultural regulatory actions.

That provision, originally offered by Rep. Gary Condit (D-Calif.), required an assessment of risks to health and safety, costs associated with the regulation and a comparison of that risk relative to other risks that the public would be exposed to. The amendment would recreate an independent office and require cost-benefit analyses on all major regulatory actions promulgated by USDA. That would include the sodbuster and swampbuster programs, and regulations applied to farmers to reduce non-point source pollution.

H.R. 3171 was passed by the House Agriculture Committee, 27-21, along party lines, a rare occurrence in a committee noted for bipartisan agreement on most issues. The most contentious amendments were those dealing with county committee members and with soil and water conservation programs.

The committee approved a provision to create a single committee of three to five members in each county, all elected by producers, which would make program and cost share eligibility decisions. The panel rejected an amendment that would have allowed the secretary to appoint one of five county committee members. Farm Bureau supports producer-elected committees.

An amendment by Rep. Wayne Allard (R-Colo.) to move the duties of the Soil Conservation Service to the Farm Service Agency that would be created to consolidate farm program functions was supported by Farm Bureau, but was defeated 19-29.

Under the bill, the programs of the SCS would be supervised by an undersecretary for natural resources and environment. A provision was approved that would allow farmers who disagree with rulings by soil conservation administrators to appeal to the county committees.

Farm Bureau supports placing SCS within the proposed Farm Service Agency rather than under the natural resources and environment jurisdiction.

"Farm Bureau wants to make certain that the SCS maintains its role in providing technical assistance and education and does not become a regulatory agency," according to John Keeling, an American Farm Bureau Federation government relations director.

H.R. 3171 gives the secretary significant authority to restructure, while outlining the broad components of a reorganization plan. The bill mandates that the restructured USDA will have six undersecretaries and that employment will be reduced by at least 7,500 staff years by 1999. It is projected to save $2.5 billion over the first five years following its enactment.

The House version of the USDA reorganization bill is very similar to that passed by the Senate in April, although the Senate version is more detailed and gives a less direct role to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) in conservation programs.

House Agriculture Committee leaders now plan to ask the House Rules Committee for a rule covering debate and amendments before H.R. 3171 is voted on, rather than bring up the bill under suspension, which would not allow floor amendments.

If the bill is open to amendments, it is likely that measures will be offered to transfer USDA's meat and poultry inspection duties to the Food and Drug Administration and to provide for appointed county committee members—both opposed by Farm Bureau.

Fretz Appointed Dean Of College Of Agriculture

Dr. Thomas A. Fretz, associate dean and director of the Iowa Agriculture and Home Economics Experiment Station at Iowa State University, has been named dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Maryland at College Park.

Fretz, 51, succeeds Dr. Craig S. Oliver, who has served as interim dean since October 1993. Fretz, who has held positions in research, teaching and extension at institutions in Ohio, Georgia, Virginia and Iowa, will assume his responsibilities on or before October 1.

"Tom Fretz has had a remarkable and distinguished career in all facets of agriculture," said Dr. William E. Kirwan, president of the University of Maryland at College Park. "His experience and his vision for the role of agriculture in the 21st century are essential to the continued growth and success of not only the college, but also the State of Maryland's agricultural industry and economy."

"The university and, in fact, the agricultural community of this state, also owe a great debt of gratitude to Craig Oliver for his tireless work on behalf of the college during this crucial interim period," he added.

A 1964 horticulture graduate of the University of Maryland at College Park, the Buffalo, N.Y., native said he is eager to get started.

"I really look forward to joining the faculty and administration of the University of Maryland at College Park and I am excited about some of the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead for the College of Agriculture, Cooperative Extension Service and the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station," he said. "I think these are unique times ahead of us—times that will allow the college to develop and blossom during the next few years as we look to the 21st century."

Fretz said he intends to focus on the critical issues facing agriculture, including sustainability of the land, natural resources of the state, water quality issues, and continued growth and expansion of Maryland's number one industry—agriculture.

"I think there are also opportunities for the college to continue to develop, grow and provide support in areas of the basic biological sciences, which are really the fundamental backbone for many of the things we do in agriculture," he said. "I also feel very strongly that we need to continue to focus on issues related to rural development, through extension, research and teaching, to see how new technologies affect the rural parts of the population."

Additionally, he wants to focus on the "value-adding" industries of the state, such as food processing, nursery, landscaping and turf industries.

"I look forward to providing the leadership that will allow Maryland to have a truly unique and outstanding college of agriculture," Fretz said. "This is a wonderful opportunity" one in which I look forward to participating along with the leadership in the college, the university and the state."

Fretz gained his bachelor's degree in horticulture from the University of Maryland at College Park in 1964. He gained his master's degree in horticulture and his Ph.D. in plant science from the University of Delaware in 1966 and 1970.

Fretz's current responsibility is the administration, coordination and management of the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station. He has been associate dean and director since August 1989. Previously, he was interim director of international development in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Virginia Tech where he was responsible for the management of programs in Haiti, Mali, Senegal and Zambia.

Prior to that, he spent eight years as professor and head of the department of horticulture at Virginia Tech. He has also held past appointments in horticulture departments at Kansas State University, The Ohio State University and the University of Georgia.

Fretz and his wife, Susan, have two children, Peter, 21, and Kristin, 18.

Wildlife Likes Conservation Reserve Program

To the delight of conservationists and bird watchers, the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), managed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) with technical assistance provided by USDA's Soil Conservation Service (SCS), returns cropland to long-term natural wildlife habitats. CRP contains approximately 36.4 million acres of cropland on 375,000 farms that were enrolled between March 1986 and June 1992.

In 1986, CRP established land-use rental contracts with landowners to convert cropland back to long-term vegetation. The contracts ranged in time periods of up to 10 years. The CRP provides cost-sharing to establish permanent vegetation, such as grasses, shrubs and trees. SCS estimates that allowing the land to return to grassland from agricultural use saves about 700 million tons of soil each year from erosion. Wild game, such as pheasants, rabbits, deer, geese, and birds and other animals have flourished in these areas. Landowners can permit bird watching or hunting on their property during the CRP contract.

Legislation currently under discussion in Congress may determine the future of these CRP lands and the initial group of CRP leases, about 2 million acres, which are scheduled to expire in September 1995.

DENVER WELCH SHERIFF FOR

* COOPERATION

"Good police work suffers when officers are competing and fighting among themselves. By pooling our resources and personnel, we can more effectively prevent and solve criminal activity."

* EQUALITY

"The idea of community policing should extend from the southern to the northern ends of Garrett County. I will find grant money to help establish a small office in the northern end of the county, out of which officers would routinely work."

* VISIBILITY

"I will be out among the people of Garrett County - not just for social and political events, but on a regular, working basis. The sheriff must be accessible to the citizens, to hear their opinions and concerns."

Local Photographer Has Photos, Stories Printed In National Mags

LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHER and writer Jim Crabtree proudly displays some of the magazines in which he currently has articles. He hopes to see more of his work published during the rest of this year.

Several local people and organizations have been featured in nationally published articles written by Jim Crabtree of Crabtree Photography and Video of Oakland. Crabtree's articles and photographs have appeared in national magazines such as Camcorder, Rescue, Firehouse, Firefighter's News, and Law Enforcement Technology.

Two local pilots, Jason Snyder, owner of Snyder's Cabinets in Gortner, and Dwight Snyder, Jason's father, were featured in photos accompanying an article by Crabtree printed in the June issue of Camcorder, an international magazine for videographers. Crabtree's brother Randy also appeared in the photos.

The article discussed aerial video production techniques and safety.

Many of Crabtree's articles deal with ways video can be used by fire and rescue departments. For these articles he draws on a wealth of personal experience. A former member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Crabtree is also a state certified fire fighting instructor for the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute and has trained scores of local volunteer fire fighters.

Area fire and rescue companies have been photographed by Crabtree for recent issues of Rescue and Firefighter's News. These photos, which depicted personnel and equipment from the SGCRRS, Oakland VFD, and McCoole Volunteer Fire Department, were used to illustrate articles outlining Crabtree's approach to video production for emergency service workers. A photo by Crabtree of members of the SGCRRS and Oakland VFD posed in a mock video training session appeared on the cover of last June's issue of Law Enforcement Technology, and photos from the same shoot illustrated articles in Firehouse.

For the rest of this year, Crabtree has scheduled several fire, rescue, and public relations articles for publication in various emergency service magazines including an article slated for Firehouse magazine on the Second Street Fire of 1994.

Crabtree has received letters and calls from people all over the country who are interested in his articles and recently has received letters from readers who have relatives and other ties to the Oakland area.

Michael C. Gilmore, director of the Zulu Land Search and Rescue Association based in Indianapolis, Ind., wrote to Crabtree recently to suggest that he submit one of his articles to Response, a national search and rescue magazine. Gilmore, who had read the article in another publication, also told Crabtree of his ties to the Oakland area: his father was born and raised in Crellin and attended Oakland High School, and Gilmore still has many relatives in the Garrett County area. Crabtree plans to have an article on video and public relations featured in Response magazine in the fall.

In addition to his writing, Crabtree recently increased his level of video production quality with the addition of the latest in state of the art three chip video camera equipment.

VBS Slated In Deer Park

The Deer Park United Methodist Church will conduct its Vacation Bible School July 25-29, from 6-8:30 p.m. each evening, for children 4 years old through high school.

This year's VBS program is titled "Come to the Party - Celebrate Jesus." Daily activities will include crafts, games, songs, snacks and Bible study.

A closing program is planned for Sunday, July 31, at 7 p.m.

For more information, persons may call 334-4066.

Symposium On Historic Subjects Slated At FSU

The Council of the Alleghenies will present "Alleghenies Mosaic - History by Design," an all-day symposium on varied historic subjects on Saturday, July 23, at the Lane Center, Frostburg State University.

Six programs, with exhibits, free and open to the public, will be held in Room 201. In addition, a short tour with demonstration will follow in the late afternoon. Ample parking is available near the Performing Arts Center.

Following the 9:30 a.m. coffee hour the schedule will be as follows:

10 a.m. - "How to Nominate a Building or Site to the National Register of Historic Places," lecture and slide presentation by Dr. Helen M. Breitbeck, historian with the Heritage Foundation of Oswego, N.Y.

10:40 - "The Restoration of the Drane House of Accident, Md.," a success story by Rosanne Sherwood and Charles Strauss, citizens of Accident.

11:30 - "Allegheny Highlands Rails to Trails Update" (new uses for old roadbeds) by Mark Spencer of the Md. Department of Natural Resources.

12:30 - Bountiful buffet lunch. Visit the exhibits.

1:30 - "Tintinnabulations", a history of the bells, by Betty VanNewkirk, curator of the Frostburg Museum.

2:15 - "Glass Factories of Western Maryland" with a display of collectible glass by Thomas Furlow, authority on antiques.

3 - "American Folk Music" with Greg Latta of the FSU faculty performing on dulcimers, guitar, banjo, and limberjack.

4 - "How to Do Stone Rubbings", a demonstration by Margaret Guild at one of the nearby cemeteries. (Registration necessary.)

The Council recommends attendees register for the day's events so that appropriate seating, program, and eating arrangements can be made. A $10 fee covers coffee hour refreshments and lunch. Persons may call Ruth Ogden, Council board member, at 301-689-8559 for registration information.

Or checks made to Council of the Alleghenies may be mailed to July Symposium, P.O. Box 514, Frostburg, MD 21532. The deadline for registering is July 18.

The Council of the Alleghenies is a non-profit organization founded in 1960. Its purposes are to preserve, develop, and share the rich and meaningful traditions, folklore, history, human values, and natural resources of the Allegheny Highlands. The annual publication of the organization, Journal of the Alleghenies, is available in local book stores.

ENJOYING THEIR MOMENT IN THE SPOTLIGHT are members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. They served as actors in an exercise used to illustrate an article by Jim Crabtree published in Rescue magazine. Local Graduate Student Receives Fulbright Research Grant To Africa

Sherry Frick, a conservation biology graduate student at Frostburg State University, isn't sure what she is most excited about these days: receiving a prestigious Fulbright grant, travelling to a foreign country, or being able to study what she loves most: animals.

Frick, who admits she grew up with television's "Wild Kingdom" and National Geographic specials, will be venturing off to Africa in a few months to research two species of hyrax, a small gopher-sized mammal which has the unfortunate distinction of being the exclusive prey of the black eagles found in Zimbabwe's Matobo Hills National Park.

Frick's research will continue baseline studies begun by Dr. Ron Barry, professor of biology at FSU, in a project also partially funded by a Fulbright grant. Those studies investigated the declining population of the rock and yellow-spotted hyrax from an estimated 466,000 in the 1970s to 100,000 in the early 1990s.

"The number of black eagles has also declined and since the hyrax, or 'dassies', make up 98 percent of their diet we could hypothesize that the two declines are related," Frick said. Also Zimbabwe has experienced an extended drought since 1980 and that may also be placing stress on the populations.

As "keystone" species, ones that many other species depend on, the dassies are on the decline. That is bad news not only for black eagles, leopards and African hawk-eagles that prey on them, but also to communal life in the Matobo Hills.

"Humans hunt them down for their fur or food," she added.

Frick will be also be tracking them down, but only trapping them, taking body measurements, and observing their breeding and vigilance behavior. How the two different species guard themselves against predation and how long they are on alert will be important aspects of her study. She will also be observing whether individuals in mixed-species groups spend less time vigilant than those in single-species groups of the same size.

Their vigilant behavior, population size estimates, and age distributions will be important information to hand over to Zimbabwe's Department of National Parks and Wildlife Management, Frick says.

Besides providing vital research material for the south central African country and her graduate thesis, the prestigious grant will provide a unique experience for Frick who has always wanted to see the world.

"I have always dreamed of going to Africa to experience firsthand its magnificent wildlife and rich cultural heritage," she said.

Growing up as an only child in suburban Baltimore, Frick's environment wasn't exactly "out of Africa," but she said she "loved to explore" the woods and stream running through her backyard.

"My interest in other countries was sparked by my aunt and uncle who travelled extensively and always brought back beautiful pictures and stories about their adventures," she said.

Frick's furthest travels have been to Canada, but in her imagination she went further; always looking forward to seeing the travel films illuminating the Lyric Theater in Baltimore.

Frick, who received her undergraduate degree from Towson State, knew that the opportunity to study mammalogy and ecology at FSU would combine many of her interests. When she heard of the opportunity to travel to Africa she admits that she had a "gut feeling" it would become a reality.

"I knew in my heart I would receive the grant," she said.

AWARDED FULBRIGHT GRANT — Sherry Frick, a resident of Garrett County, will be leaving for Africa this fall as a result of receiving a Fulbright Research Grant to study two species of hyrax. An applied ecology and conservation biology graduate student at Frostburg State University, Frick will be looking into the small mammals' behavior patterns. She is shown here with the skull of both species of hyrax she will be studying.

Of the 304 applications sent in for research in Sub-Saharan Africa this past year, only 50 were granted. Because of the highly competitive nature of the grant program, FSU officials believe it is even more difficult for a student to receive a Fulbright than it is for a faculty member or administrator. "It is an extraordinary honor for a student to receive this award," Barry said. "It certainly is a reflection of the quality of Sherry's proposal."

According to University records, Frick's Fulbright is the first that has been awarded to a FSU student. "This also reflects the strength of the applied ecology and conservation biology program," Barry added.

Frick says she is certainly not taking the funding lightly, noting that with the Fulbright comes responsibility. She says she was profoundly influenced by the writings of conservationist

Aldo Leopold which advocate "human existence in harmony with the land and respect for the integrity of the natural communities."

"Because human activity has the greatest impact on the natural world today, ecological knowledge must be applied in ways that seek a balance between the needs of wildlife and the needs of people," she said.

Frick, recently married and living in Garrett County, will be accompanied by her husband who will assist in the field and perhaps keep an eye open for snakes. "My dad has given me a pair of snake chaps because there are about 50 different poisonous snakes in Africa," she said.

Snakes aside, Frick said she is ready for the adventure. "I'll be learning the language, working with other people and I've always wanted to go on a safari," she said. "I also hope to impart an understanding of my own culture to those I meet."

SALEM RECEIVES PLAQUE — Mrs. Bessie Bloom, left, recently presented Louise Richards, executive director of The Maryland Salem Children's Trust, near Grantsville, with a plaque in memory of her late husband, Frederick N. Bloom. The plaque was commissioned by the Mountain District American Legion for Mr. Bloom's 12 years of "energetic and dedicated work" on behalf of the children of Salem. Many years ago, Bloom had made Salem his "special cause," determined to make sure every Legionnaire in Maryland was aware of Salem's program and needs. His assistance supported the construction of new homes, the beginning of new programs, and establishment of the Salem School.

Nazarene Pastor Offers Counseling

Abounding Hope is the name of a free counseling ministry offered by Rev. Bruce Knorrp, pastor of the Oakland Church of the Nazarene. During the month of July, the ministry is reaching out specifically to victims of depression.

Persons desiring to meet with Rev. Knorrp for confidential conversation and prayer are invited to schedule an appointment by telephoning 334-9161. The number serves both the church and the parsonage and is covered in the pastor's absence by an answering machine.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Members of Company C 121st Engineer Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, Oakland, completed annual training Saturday, June 25, at Fort A.P. Hill in Virginia.

While at the fort, unit members participated in "lanes training" which portrayed combat situations. This training included breaching of barbed and concertina wire, mine fields, and anti-vehicular trenches while under fire and in dense smoke.

Members of the unit traveled between Fort A.P. Hill and Fort Pickett, Va., by helicopter on a night mission where they gathered information for a target folder of a bridge. That target folder was then used by another unit to place explosives and destroy the bridge.

The Oakland unit also used its heavy equipment to assist the 29th Infantry Division by digging obstacles and individual fighting positions. They also built berms for the division's fuel points to help protect the environment from spills.

DURING TRAINING EXERCISES IN VIRGINIA, members of the Maryland Army National Guard, Company C 121st Engineer Battalion, Oakland, got the chance to cool off during assault river crossings. Guard members also participated in combat training and operated earth moving equipment.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HELPS GUARD CLEAN UP - When guard members returned from Fort A.P. Hill, the Oakland Fire Department was contacted and asked to help rinse dirt from the guard's vehicles. A tanker truck was dispatched to the scene and the unit's vehicles were washed. This assistance by the Oakland Fire Department is very appreciated, remarked Sergeant First Class Thomas E. Blittinger.

GRANTSVILLE
by Douglas D. Weimer,

Missionaries To Speak At Local Church

Rev. Kent and Kathleen Pelton, who were appointed by the Church of the Nazarene as missionaries to Papua New Guinea in February, will speak at Oakland Nazarene Church on Monday, July 18, at 7 p.m. before their departure to the island nation.

Rev. Pelton earned his B.S. degree from Trevecca Nazarene College, Nashville, Tenn., and his master of divinity degree from Nazarene Theological Seminary, Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Pelton, attended Southern College of Business and Technology in Orlando, Fla., for training as a dental assistant. Since becoming a mother, she has remained at home to raise her five children and only recently returned to work in the dental field.

The Peltons have been assigned to the church growth and education council in Papua New Guinea. After spending the first three months in intensive language and cultural studies, Rev. Pelton will assume full teaching responsibilities at the Nazarene Bible College.

Prior to their appointment, the Peltons served as "church planters" in Silver-dale, Wash., where the Central Kitsap Church of the Nazarene was organized in 1991.

Re-Negotiations Of Leases Saving Taxpayer Dollars

As a result of lease renegotiations, the Maryland Department of General Services (DGS) announced it has topped the $15 million mark in rent savings over the last three-and-a-half years. DGS, the state's real estate agent, has re-negotiated 58 major leases statewide.

"Governor Schaefer directed DGS to aggressively seek lower rental rates for state agencies," said General Services Secretary Martin W. Walsh, Jr. "The 'soft' real estate market has allowed us to reduce lease payments and save Maryland taxpayers millions of dollars."

Since January 1, the DGS Office of Real Estate has negotiated rental reductions for nine agencies in a dozen Maryland office buildings. The largest -- a six-year renewal for the Office of the Attorney General in Baltimore -- will save taxpayers more than $3 million through the year 2000, according to Walsh.

In addition, two recent lease renewals will save the state over $1 million over the terms of the contracts. DGS renewed a 86,674 square-foot lease for the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene in Baltimore, reducing a $16.95 per square-foot option rate in the old agreement to $13.96 per square-foot over three years.

DGS also negotiated a 3,200 square-foot lease for the Motor Vehicle Administration's (MVA) Express Office in Towson that reduced a lease renewal option rate of $27.65 per square foot to a new five-year rate of $21.50 per square foot. The Kenilworth Park office, one of the MVA's busiest facilities, has served over 500,000 clients over the last five years.

"Extensive and in-depth negotiations with the state's landlords have produced these savings," Walsh said. "Rather than lose the state as a tenant, more landlords have been willing to either reduce rates or keep rates the same. Many landlords have made extensive improvements for state agencies, while also reducing rental rates."

Major rental savings include over $4.7 million for space occupied by the Department of Economic and Employment Development in Baltimore, over $786,000 for space occupied by the Department of Human Resources in Towson, and almost $494,000 for space occupied by the Department of Assessments and Taxation in Towson. Other rent reductions ranging from $1,500 to $100,000 have been accomplished for various state agencies located in Annapolis, Cambridge, Chestertown, Cumberland, Easton, Hagerstown, La Plata, Oakland, and Westminster.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Take notice that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on June 20, 1994, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Section 19 of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the Tenth Street White-Scheffel annexation area in the general vicinity of Tenth Street. The full Resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

RESOLUTION NO. 94-10

(ANNEXATION NO. 01-TENTH STREET WHITE-SCHEFFEL ANNEXATION AREA)

WHEREAS, petitions have been presented to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by the annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries being the area known as the Tenth Street White-Scheffel annexation area; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council have caused to be made a verification of the signatures upon said petition and have ascertained that the persons signing the petitions represent at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered voters in county elections in the precinct or precincts in which the territory to be annexed is located, and the owners of at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the annexed valuation of real property located in the area to be annexed. The area to be annexed is located generally in the vicinity of Tenth Street, and includes properties owned by Oakley and Judy White and George A. Scheffel.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND.

All that lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in Election District 16 of Garrett County, Maryland, adjoining the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland as of June 1, 1994, and composed of a part of Tenth Street; a part of the lands of the property owned now or formerly by the Fred E. Beachy Lumber Company (Liber 263 at folio 448) which is the lot remaining between the lands owned now or formerly by Howard R. Teagarden (Liber 277 at folio 565) and the lands of Frank E. Whitehair (Liber 310 at folio 359); and the property conveyed to George A. Scheffel, Sr., by deed made April 10, 1992, from the First United National Bank and Trust and recorded in Liber 581 at folio 440, all among the land records of Garrett County, Maryland, more particularly described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING at a 3/4 inch iron pipe found at the southwesterly corner of property owned now or formerly by Howard R. Teagarden, (Liber 277 at folio 565) and in the fourth line of Lot 7 of the subdivision of "John and Mary"; thence, with the southerly line of said Teagarden property, South 64 degrees 54 minutes East, 127.24 feet to a two inch iron pipe found in the westerly margin of Tenth Street; thence, crossing Tenth Street, South 68 degrees 38 minutes East, 50.39 feet to a point at the southwesterly corner of property owned now or formerly by George A. Scheffel, (Liber 494 at folio 181), and in the northerly corner of other property owned now or formerly by George A. Scheffel (Liber 581 at folio 440); thence, with the northerly line of said Scheffel property, South 65 degrees 23 minutes East, 126.00 feet to a 5/8 inch iron rebar and plastic cap numbered 126, hereinafter called an iron pin, set at the northwesterly corner of other lands of George A. Scheffel (Liber 533 at folio 897); thence, with the division line of the two last mentioned Scheffel properties, South 24 degrees 27 minutes West, 163.79 feet to a set iron pin in the northerly margin of a fifty foot street; thence, with said northerly margin, North 65 degrees 04 minutes West, 126.60 feet to a set iron pin in the easterly margin of Tenth Street; thence, crossing Tenth Street, North 62 degrees 28 minutes West, 50.62 feet to a two inch iron pipe found at the northeasterly corner of property owned now or formerly by Frank E. Whitehair (Liber 310 at folio 359); thence, with the northerly line of said Whitehair property, North 64 degrees 55 minutes West, 127.70 feet to a two inch iron pipe found in said seventh line;

thence, with a part of said seventh line, North 24 degrees 42 minutes East, 157.66 feet to the beginning, containing 1.12 acres, more or less.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the Charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all the real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes of the Town of Oakland, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxes as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally established by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, Maryland as have been set forth in the Outline for Extension of Services and Public Facilities which is available for inspection at the Oakland Municipal Building.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated on the Garrett County Development Plan as Suburban-Residential (SR), and that there is no actual zoning within Garrett County which effects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefor, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as Suburban-Residential, and inasmuch as the definitions of Suburban-Residential in the Garrett County Development Plan and the definition of Suburban-Residential in the Oakland general plan are substantially the same, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned Suburban-Residential (SR), under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, there being no substantial difference between the definitions and features of Suburban-Residential as it exists within the Town of Oakland, and as it is defined within the Town's Zoning Ordinance, and development plan, and Suburban-Residential as it is defined by the Garrett County Development Plan.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 30th day of June, 1994.

CWC Luncheon Planned At Wisp

The Christian Women's Club of Oakland will host a luncheon on Wednesday, July 20, from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp. The theme is "Design A Sweat," and all area women are welcome to attend.

The special feature, "Sweats Success," will be led by Kim Rush, who will display how to turn a sweat-shirt into a work of art. The musical guest will be Suzanne Bonser, with "Musical Designs."

Guest speaker for the luncheon will be Diana Grounds, Barboursville, W.Va., whose talk is titled "Patterns for Today's Living."

For registration, persons may call Debi Murphy at 334-8550, no later than July 18. A free nursery is provided. The cost of the luncheon is $6.50 per person, and all reservations must be honored.

GRANTSVILLE

The annual Kamp reunion will be held Sunday, July 24, at noon at the Grantsville Sportsmen's Club. All relatives and friends are invited to bring a covered dish and attend.

The Jennings United Methodist Church will hold its annual homecoming on Sunday, July 17. Sunday school will begin at 10 a.m. and morning worship will follow at 11, with a former local pastor, the Rev. Robert Hensor, Bluefield, W.Va., officiating. A covered dish dinner will be served at 12:30. At 2 p.m. the Jubiliators will present a program of gospel music. The Rev. Robert Lee Williams is the pastor. The public is invited.

Mrs. Kathryn Bowser and Mrs. Lavina Livingood attended a meeting at Laurville Camp over the weekend.

COVE

Miss Haley Margroll, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Margroll, was a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital July 1-4.

Saturday evening picnic guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Higson and family, Cumberland, were Mrs. Marine Seward; Ms. Juanita and Lynette Johnson; Fred Higson, Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer, Teresa, Ryan, and Kevin, Timonium, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Higson, Wiley Ford, W.Va., and Teddy Higson and fiancée, June Tessiators, Winston Salem, N.C. Birthday cake was served to celebrate the birthdays of Ted Higson on July 1 and Teddy Higson on July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft and Kristen, Addison, Pa., honored their daughter, Amanda, with a birthday party for her 6th birthday anniversary. Games were played. Cake and ice cream were served to seven guests. Weekend guests at the

Walter Hanft home were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer, Teresa, Ryan, and Kevin Needer, Timonium. Saturday morning visitors were Mrs. Julie Bender and Tony, and Carroll Hanft, Addison. Sunday afternoon guests were Mrs. Oren Bender, Chad Brown, Carroll Hanft, and friend, Tim Bender. Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bender and family spent a week camping at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Yoder and family, Meyersdale, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Bender did barn chores while Mr. and Mrs. Yoder were vacationing. Mrs. Neysa Bender, Oak Hill, W.Va., was a recent visitor of the Rev. and Mrs. Oren Bender. Ashley Bender returned home with her mother after spending some time with her grandparents.

Board Discusses Repair, Naming Of County Roads

The poor condition of an area road and a proposed policy for the naming of private roads were addressed by the Garrett County Board of Commissioners on Tuesday.

A group of almost 20 adults and children were in attendance at the commissioners' meeting to ask that King Wildesen Road be repaired.

According to Evelyn Wildesen, who has lived on the road for 40 years, the road is long overdue for major repairs. Wildesen told the commissioners that she has counted nearly fifty licensed drivers living along the bumpy road.

Commissioner John Braskey assured those assembled that the road is on the paving schedule for this year and work on the road may begin as soon as August.

Kathy Lilly, another resident of King Wildesen Road who attended Tuesday's board meeting, remarked that low tree branches also create a hazard for drivers traveling on the road.

Bradley Lilly, age seven, who accompanied his parents, Kathy and Allen Lilly, to the commissioners' meeting, commented later that the poor condition of King Wildesen Road results in a rough bus ride to and from school.

Road Naming
In other business concerning county roads, Jim Tourington, permits and inspections coordinator for the Garrett County Planning Office, delivered a revised copy of the proposed road naming policy to the board.

The planning office has undertaken an effort to give names to all unnamed private roads so that emergency service personnel will be able to respond to 911 calls more efficiently.

After reviewing the original document, which he brought to the board last week, Commissioner Elwood Groves suggested that some changes be made in the policy's wording. The revised policy was adopted by the board Tuesday in a unanimous vote.

The policy will assign road names in five steps:

1 - Each resident who uses the road will be asked to submit a name suggestion.

2 - The name favored by the majority of residents will be accepted by the NATIONAL-CLASS PAINTER and Native American (Haliwa-Saponi) Karen Yxomme (Lynch) Harley, of Laurel, displayed a wide variety of her paintings at the Penn Alps Summerfest in the Spruce Forest Artisans Village in Grantsville this past weekend. Harley, whose paintings of East Coast Native American culture adorn galleries across the Eastern Seaboard, sells her originals for anywhere from $350 to $1,200. Her paintings nearly rival actual photographs for realism and clarity. Besides placing her exhibits at Summerfest, she also sold handcrafted art pieces beside the historic Casselman Bridge and entertained visitors with stories of early Native American life. Photo by C. Three Arrested On Drug Possession By Md. State Police

The Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, charged three persons with CDS violations in two separate traffic stops this past weekend.

Heidi L. Scott, 31, Columbia, and Scott W. Jones, Glen Burnie, were charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance and CDS paraphernalia by H.C. Goldstrom.

According to Goldstrom's report, he observed a vehicle stopped along I-68, east of the Lower New Germany Road, Grantsville at 2:50 Saturday morning, and upon closer inspection, both occupants appeared to be intoxicated. A consent to search the vehicle revealed PCP. Further search of Scott's personal items revealed prescription drugs and a container, for which she reportedly had no prescription.

The two were initially incarcerated in Garrett County Jail, pending a bond hearing. Jones has since posted a $500 bond and was released. No information was available on Scott's situation.

ONE CHARGED

A Dowington, Pa. man was also arrested and charged with CDS on Friday.

LIBRARY REACHES 50,000 MARK - The Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County celebrated its 50,000th registered borrower when 3-year-old Kerry Conroy signed up for library card number 50,000 on July 7. "Kerry is one of six children in the Conroy family, and an avid reader," said Emily Ferren, director of the library. "We surprised her with a package of prizes, but she preferred to read her books instead."

Sportsman Club Raises Issue Of Rifle Range

Stanley Tichinel of the Deer Park Sportsman Club came before the Garrett County Board of Commissioners Tuesday to question Commissioners Elwood Groves and John Braskey about their stance on the proposed public shooting range for Savage River State Forest.

Groves and Braskey replied that they are not opposed to the idea of a shooting range, but are concerned by complaints of property owners neighboring the proposed range site. These property owners, Braskey explained, petitioned the board to halt construction of the shooting range at Savage River.

In response to property owners' concerns, Groves and Braskey sent a letter on May 3 to the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Assistant Secretary Jim Dunmyer which stated, in part, "we are not opposed to a shooting range, in general, only to the site that is being considered."

In the letter, Groves and Braskey also offered to help Dunmyer locate a better location for the range. Soon after the letter was sent, Braskey and Dunmyer toured the county with Delegate George Edwards to seek out another range site. According to Braskey, four alternate sites are now being considered.

During the discussion Tuesday, Tichinel expressed his concern that members of the board had not attended either of two open hearings on the shooting range. To this, Groves responded that the state holds frequent meetings and hearings, but commissioners generally don't attend unless interested citizens ask them to get involved. Tichinel then remarked that Groves had been called three times on this issue, but that these calls had not been returned. Groves hotly replied that he has no recollection of these calls, and that he answers all his messages.

Tichinel then asked the commissioners why the Mt. Zion Road has not yet been repaired. Groves answered that the board has received a letter from the Maryland

Bender, Sites To Retain Seats On GCC Board Of Trustees

At a dinner meeting of the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees held at Cornish Manor Tuesday evening, the board voted unanimously to retain Charles C. Bender and Douglas L. Sites as chairman and vice-chairman of the board, respectively, at the recommendation of nominating chairperson Rob Michael.

Bender thanked the board for its confidence. "It's been a good team effort," he said. "We're all members of a good team, and as long as we work it that way, we'll get things accomplished."

Bender announced that board member Sue Beachy will be president of the GCC Foundation for one year.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT
GCC President Dr. Stephen Herman announced the college foundation is hosting a family golf tournament, Aug. 21, at Alpine Lake Resort, Terra Alta. He hopes to get a team together from the college and board members.

Herman announced he will be speaking at two events in the coming weeks. He was invited to be part of a panel and speak to the Maryland Association of County Officials in Ocean City. He will speak about the community concept and how the college is attempting to be a resource for the whole community. He will also be speaking about logic at a bi-annual conference for teachers of philosophy.

In the college's search for a dean of administration, Herman noted considerable progress is being made. Out of approximately 35 applicants for the position, seven have been singled out, he said. From that seven, Herman hopes to soon cut the number to about four.

"We have a very good group of candidates," he said, "so I'm very optimistic about finding someone to fill the position."

ACADEMIC REPORT
Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, reported that the head count is 367, up three students from this time last year.

The FTE (full-time equivalency) is 144.67, up 5.14 from last year's FTE of

Full Hearing Ordered For Paul Ferrell

The West Virginia Supreme Court has ordered a full hearing on evidence to be presented by Paul William Ferrell in his continuing effort to be exonerated of second-degree murder and kidnapping charges. Ferrell is currently serving a life prison term for the alleged kidnapping and killing of Catherine D. Ford, Gorman.

Judge C. Reeves Taylor reportedly wished to limit the appeal hearing to just new genetic blood testing related to the case, but the defense is apparently seeking a review of alleged misconduct by prosecutors as well.

In light of the new hearing, bond for Ferrell was set previously at $900,000. This amount was lowered last week to $600,000, according to reports.

Local Ranger Fights Ariz. Forest Fires

Louise Upole, chief forest ranger for Garrett County, worked in Arizona for almost two weeks this month helping to fight western forest fires. Upole served as a dispatcher in Williams, Ariz., which is 30 miles west of Flagstaff, Ariz.

Upole stated that she worked in what is called "expanded dispatch." When several fires are occurring at the same time, she explained, an expanded dispatch center is set up to handle requests relayed from the fire fighters. While this expanded dispatch concentrates on the fire fighting effort, the main dispatch continues to take calls for traffic and other routine emergencies.

Upole operated facsimile, teletype, and other communications devices to receive messages from the front lines of the fire fighting effort and then direct needed personnel, equipment, and supplies to the crews combating the blazes. Upole stated that she recently took a class in expanded dispatch recording that prepared her to respond to the U.S. Forest Service's request for assistance in battling this summer's south western forest fires.

According to Upole, fire has destroyed over 10,000 acres of forest and grass land in Arizona this year.

"TO BE OR NOT TO BE" - The Prince of Denmark will wax poetic this weekend, July 22 and 23, as the University of Maryland Baltimore County's Shakespeare On Wheels presents Hamlet on the lawn of Garrett Community College. The performances, part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival summer season, are admission-free. Audience members are encouraged to bring lawn chairs and picnic suppers to the outdoor event, which is scheduled to begin with pre-show activities at 7 p.m. and the play getting underway at 7:30 p.m. each evening. The free performance, which is done in true Elizabethan style on a traveling stage, has been co-sponsored by the Grantsville Lions Club, the Grantsville Rotary, the Oakland Rotary, and the Civic Club of Oakland. Pictured are Jacob Zainiser as Hamlet and Jessica Matulevich as Queen Gertrude. The next event of GLAF's season will be a concert by the Steel Drum Band of West Virginia University. See separate story for details.

A DYNAMIC DUET resulted from the shared performance of state-class fiddler Alan Birkby and his student, Amanda Geisler, at the Friendsville Fiddlers' and Banjo Contest held Saturday in the newly renovated Friendsville Town Park. Miss Geisler is a daughter of Jerry and Nancy Geisler, McHenry. The scheduled three hours of entertainment was stretched to four hours and included a variety of dancing, much to the delight of the 800-plus audience. The annual contest is sponsored jointly by the Friendsville Lions and Rotary clubs. More coverage of the event will appear in next week's issue of The Republican. Photo by C. Spelcher.

Commissioners Vote 2-1 To Approve School Construction

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners voted Tuesday to affirm recent findings by the county planning office that the proposed addition to Northern High School and consolidated Southern Elementary School are consistent with the county's comprehensive development plan.

The board approved the planning office's recommendation on the Northern High addition unanimously, but Commissioner Elwood Groves disagreed with his fellow commissioners on the

GLAF To Present WVU Steel Drum Ensemble Concert

The West Virginia University Steel Band will present a concert on July 30 at 6 p.m. on the lawn of Garrett Community College as part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival summer season. Concert-goers are invited to bring lawn chairs and a picnic supper to the event.

Although in existence just since 1991, the WVU Steel Band has performed for various professional conventions, regional functions, and in public schools throughout West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania. They will also perform at the Percussive Arts Society International Convention in Atlanta, Georgia, in November.

The steel band provides both its players and audiences with an excellent educational as well as aesthetic experience, an organizer said. The band plays both traditional calypso music along with special arrangements of jazz, popular, and classical music.

Group members are students from the music department, both graduates and undergraduates, whose emphasis is in performance or education. Concert fees collected are used for music scholarships or to replace percussion equipment.

All the "pans" are designed and built by artist-in-residence Ellie Mannette, head of steel drum studies at WVU. Mannette is widely considered the "Father of the Modern Steel Drum" and is the inventor of six of the nine instruments in the steel drum family.

Dr. Tim Peterman, the director of the group, received degrees from California State University, Sacramento; Arizona State University, and the University of North Texas. He has performed with the Trini-

GCSO Arrests Noted, Theft Being Probed

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office arrested two individuals for driving while intoxicated (DWI) this week, one for battery, and a fourth for failure to pay court fines. The sheriff's office is also investigating the theft of a spare tire and rim taken from a tractor-trailer.

Brian M. Friend, 19, Oakland, was charged with DWI on July 15 after an officer reportedly observed him to be driving erratically. He was stopped on Oakland Avenue in Mountain Lake Park at approximately 4:15 p.m.

Jacob W. Rodeheaver, 19, Oakland, was charged with DWI after allegedly nearly hitting a police cruiser on Rt. 39. Rodeheaver was traveling eastbound on Rt. 39 on July 16, and at about 10:45 p.m. apparently crossed the center line, veering close to Dep. J. Sowers's westbound police cruiser.

Rodeheaver was subsequently arrested and charged with DWI.

A Mountain Lake Park man was arrested last week after he apparently assaulted a Mountain Lake Park woman. Karl A. Hamrick, 38, was engaged in a domestic argument with Jane Bennett and is accused of picking her up over his head and banging her head on the ceiling, according to the report. The victim reportedly told him to leave repeatedly, but he refused to do so.

An arrest warrant was issued for Linda C. Butler, 31, Grantsville. Butler apparently failed to pay a court fine of $335.

TROPHIES TO BE AWARDED IN CAR SHOW - A variety of trophies will be awarded at a car show held in conjunction with the Kitzmiller Homecoming on July 23. Andy Smith, pictured at left, representing the Kitzmiller Fire Department, and Brian Noble of the Kitzmiller Civic Association are shown with the trophies which will be awarded in six categories. Each entrant will receive a dash plaque. All entries are welcome and should arrive before noon for judging. Door prizes, a 50/50 drawing, and food and soft drinks will be available. For more information, persons may call 453-3567 or 446-5263.

and rim valued at approximately $300 was reported on Sunday by Glenn Teagarden. The Bridgestone radial tire was secured to the underside of a tractor-trailer operated by Teagarden and the property of the Blue Diamond Company of Baltimore.

Teagarden parked the truck at the Kelly Warehouse lot in Loch Lynn on July 16, leaving it at approximately 5 p.m. When he returned the following day at 11 a.m., the tire and rim were gone.

There are currently no suspects in the case and the investigation is continuing.

German Shepherd Shot To Death By Unknown Culprit

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently seeking information on the killing of a pet German shepherd dog owned by Douglas Kight, Garrett Road, Deer Park. The dog, which was tied to the trailer home of Kight, was shot to death in the afternoon of July 16, according to the report.

Kight told officers that he owns three German shepherds. Two of the dogs, both black German shepherds, were tied to the front of the residence, and the white shepherd, "Rambo," was secured at the back. Kight left the home at 2 p.m., and upon his return at 4 p.m. found that the white dog had been shot in the head from fairly close range, most likely with a .22 calibre gun.

A bullet had also struck a 14" tire on the trailer, the report indicated. There was no other damage found at the site. Neighbors later reported that they had seen a white pickup truck in the vicinity of the trailer at about the time of the shooting. The neighbors also reported that they had never seen the dogs running loose or causing a disturbance.

The dog was used for breeding and was worth

Lighthouse Seeks Grant For Elevator

Lighthouse, Inc., is seeking almost $100,000 in grant money to construct an elevator in its new facility to be built on State Route 39 west of Oakland.

Debbie Jo Adams-Norowski, director of Lighthouse, a private, non-profit psychological rehabilitation service for adults, told the Garrett County Board of Commissioners Tuesday that while a grant for the new building has already been secured, another $95,000 is needed to pay for the installation of an elevator which will make the two-story facility handicapped accessible. Adams-Norowski stated that she hopes to acquire this money through a small cities community development block grant.

According to Peggy Jamison, community development specialist and C.D.B.G. administrator for Garrett County, the grant that Lighthouse is seeking is funded by federal money from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, is allocated by congress, and is administered through the county department of housing and community development. Since community participation is a federally required part of the C.D.B.G. application process, the commissioners will accept public comments on Lighthouse's application for seven days, starting July 19.

Adams-Norowski stated that the new 8,000 square foot facility will house Lighthouse's administrative offices and will be the site for the organization's day programs. With the new building, she also hopes to offer expanded geriatric vocational, and other support services and to serve a greater number of area residents. Continued on Page A-11

Harpist Lynne Barnes To Perform

The lilting and ancient sound of the Celtic harp will resound through the western Maryland mountains when Lynne Barnes performs Saturday, July 30, at 7 p.m. at Music at Penn Alps.

According to Ms. Barnes, the clarsach, or Celtic harp, is Scotland's oldest instrument, brought over from Gaul to England before the birth of Christ. Its use spread throughout Wales, Scotland, and Ireland, where it was played as early as 1300 B.C. By the 17th century, bands of harpists were playing together in widely scattered parts of Scotland. But by the mid-18th century it was no longer heard: denounced as an instrument of Satan, most harps were gathered and burned.

"Fortunately," said Ms. Barnes, "today it is enjoying a wonderful revival." Barnes is a resident of Cumberland and a graduate of Mansfield University, Pa. She taught music education in public schools in Washington State, Michigan, and Maryland. While living in the Washington, D.C., area, she performed often at such venues as the Willard and Omni Shoreham Hotels, Walters Art Gallery, and the National Capital Building. In addition to performing, she teaches private lessons in her home for harp, lap dulcimer, guitar, and bowed psaltry.

Upcoming events at Music at Penn Alps include the Manchester String Quartet, August 6, and student string quartets, August 13. For more information on the series or advance tickets, persons may call the Spruce Forest Artisan Village at 301-895-3332. Music at Penn Alps is sponsored by Spruce Forest Village and Penn Alps, with additional support from the Maryland Arts Council.

Appeal And VOP Cases Heard In Circuit Court

A violation of probation case and an appeal were heard in Garrett County Circuit Court last week with Judge Fred A. Thayer presiding.

Willie G. Friend, 41, Oakland, appealed a jail sentence handed to him in Garrett County District Court on a battery conviction. In district court, Friend had been found guilty of the offense and was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail, six months suspended, and was fined $300. He was also placed on one year probation.

In the appeal case last week, the defendant pleaded guilty to the offense and Thayer accepted the plea. The judge then sentenced Friend to one year in jail, all suspended, and one year supervised probation.

The charge against Friend stemmed from an incident in November of last year when he allegedly entered the residence of Debra L. Friend and assaulted her by choking, hitting, and pushing her.

A Loch Lynn man was found guilty by Thayer of probation violation Dennis J. Garlitz, 27, was convicted in September 1993 of distribution of marijuana and at that time was sentenced to four years in the Maryland Department of Corrections with all but 18 months suspended. He was also ordered to be on three years probation.

The new sentence for Garlitz handed down by Thayer last week is 30 months in jail with all but six months suspended. A work release for the defendant was also approved, according to the court document.

The probation violation petition was filed in June of this year after the defendant reportedly tested positive for marijuana use on two occasions.

Bring The Charm Of A Romantic Cottage To Your Home

Candlewood by Broyhill is a collection of furnishings that allows you to bring to your home all the charm and warmth of a country cottage. Crafted of pine solids and pine veneers, items in this collection are offered in a warm Honey finish or a combination Buttermilk and Honey finish. Either finish will complement a wide range of decorative color schemes. Distinctive design details such as carved legs, wood pulls and turned feet lend the appearance of hand-crafted antiques while updated functional details lend practicality for today's lifestyles.

A Mathematical Experiment...

A number of years ago a teacher at Southern Middle School received some special training at what was then Frostburg State College on a new approach to teaching reading. The reading process, as it was called, was then brought back by the teacher and implemented at Southern Middle. It has been used ever since, not only throughout Garrett County, but throughout most of the nation.

The success of that process in teaching both reading and writing skills has been overwhelming, as scores of students in those areas have increased dramatically. We have heard that the most recent scores, which should be announced soon, will reveal that Southern Middle School students are at or near the top of the heap for the entire state of Maryland. We suspect the same will be true for the students at Northern Middle School, where the writing process is also utilized.

That teacher was Brenda McCartney, who is now assistant superintendent and director of secondary education for the Garrett County Board of Education.

One of Dr. McCartney's most recent efforts is to design a similar program in the math curriculum. The addition of elementary school math teachers in the FY 1995 board of education budget is part of that program, and we are hopeful that we will see a similar effect on the math scores of our children in the next few years. Nationwide, scores in math and science are still lagging behind those of many other nation's youth.

Garrett County's board of education is the first in the state to assign math specialists in the elementary schools, and the rest of the state will undoubtedly watch for the results of this rather bold experiment. We anticipate great success, similar to that of the reading process, and we are pleased, proud, and excited to have this kind of leadership by Dr. McCartney and many other local educators.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Adequate, readily available supplies of the safest possible blood products and services are vital to the well being of millions of people nationwide. One out of 10 hospital patients—one person every 12 seconds—needs a blood transfusion.

As the 61-county American Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region, neared the July 4 holiday, our ability to meet patient need was severely compromised due to inadequate supplies affected by lowered springtime inventories following 15 winter storms, summer school and work vacations, and unusually hot, humid weather.

On your short notice this past June 27, the Oakland Armory, the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross, volunteers, donors and other supporters collaborated on a very successful special emergency appeal bloodmobile which netted 163 units of blood, helping the Red Cross rebuild blood inventories which had fallen to less than two days' supply.

This week, as we approach Oakland's regularly scheduled bloodmobile this Friday (July 22), we're again asking area residents to roll up their sleeves and give blood to help the Red Cross maintain an uninterrupted supply of blood products for surgery patients, cancer patients, accident victims and others. Although the blood supply emergency is over for the present, all blood types are urgently needed, in particular type O positive, O negative, A negative, and B negative.

In reality, there is never enough blood, because the blood supply is really not a "supply" at all. It is a system of donors and patients, linked together by donor generosity and urgent patient need. It is a system only weeks ahead of patient demand; the inventory of blood, which must be tested and available before it is needed, is precious little for the real-life emergencies and operations that cannot wait. While individuals can donate blood only once every 56 days, the blood products in greatest demand must be transfused in less than 42 days.

If you are at least 17, weigh at least 105 pounds, are in generally good health and have not given blood in the last 56 days, you're needed to give blood Friday at the Oakland Armory from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. If you have questions about your ability to give blood, call the Red Cross Nursing Office toll free at 1 (800) 541-0010 for more information.

Please give blood regularly. Your gift will be felt for a lifetime.

Sincerely,
Ted Mazza
Manager, Blood Services

To the Editor:

On July 22 and 23 the members of the graduating class of 1969 from Southern Jr.-Sr. High School will celebrate their 25th reunion. On these two days over 60 former students will gather to reminisce and pull together the last 25 years of our lives.

We will have the opportunity to meet at the Hloni Hloni on Friday evening, walk or run three miles Saturday morning at 9:00 from Southern, and then have a final party at the Elks Lodge Saturday evening.

Why I write this is not just to tell everyone that the Class of '69 still gets together every five years, but thank Ann (Calhoun) Giotflety for all her hard work this year and past years putting our reunions together. It always falls on those who have remained in the hometown to plan the events, send out letters to all graduates, follow up on unanswered letters, make a yearbook, and hundreds of other details needed to carry this project out. Along with Ann there have been L.J. Lewis, Betty DeWitt, Jane Roberson, and Wayne Callis and I'm sure many more I'm not aware of, but I do want to tell them all, "Thanks." They may not know how important it is to some of us who have moved away to come back and see those we spent 12 years of school life. Twenty-five years is a long time, but it seems like only yesterday we were running through the halls of the school. Thanks, Ann, for keeping our memories alive.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of July 25-29 is as follows:

Day 1 - Cranberry juice, Hawaiian chicken, rice, peas & carrots, biscuit, orange sherbet.

Day 2 - Garden salad w/green peppers, tomatoes & carrots, lasagna w/meat sauce, Italian vegetables, Italian bread, angel food cake.

Milk, Coffee, and tea are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows:

Flowers Vale Senior Center, Accident, 746-8824; Finzel Fire Hall, Finzel, 689-8388; Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 746-5414; Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 334-2848; Starner Hill Apts., Grantsville, 895-5092; Jennings Community Building, Jennings, 245-4204; Kitzmiller Community Building, Kitzmiller, 453-3445; Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, 334-9431, ext. 135; and Swanton Community Building, Swanton, 387-9191.

Note: Friendsville Senior Citizens are now being served at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant at noon instead of 1 p.m. Friendsville Nutrition Site (Twila's Old Mill Grill) and Grantsville Nutrition Site (Starner Hill Apartments) will be using alternate menus.

drugs should be legal; the majority of our Supreme court justices say to kill is ok? Now we have no need for God, in schools, work places and next, the very coins we carry (and the green reserve notes, too) will no longer have In God We Trust (coming soon).

Just a word of caution for those poor souls who do not believe in the Bible. As a history book, you will find many references where God brought judgment on the nations who turned from Him. We have been so richly blessed until we began our journey toward destruction.

Now for those who do believe in the Bible, take a look at Matthew 24 verses 10 through 13. Jesus Christ is speaking to His disciples about the end time "at that time many will turn away from the faith and will betray and hate each other, because of wickedness the love of most will grow cold (killing of babies is one example) but he who stands firm to the end will be saved."

Look at Matthew 10:32. Here Jesus is sending out the 12 disciples. "Whoever acknowledges me before men I will also acknowledge him before my Father in heaven but whoever disowns me before men I will disown him before my Father in heaven."

Reader, those words are from Jesus Christ the son of God the Father. They are fiercely powerful and should not be taken lightly. They mean exactly what they say, no less! Anyone who can read should be careful to acknowledge Him, not reject Him.

Every living person will one day stand individually before Him and answer. How will you reply?

Thomas E. Doyle

To the Editor:

It looks as if we are in for a very interesting political season. I cannot recall in the 16 years I have been watching Garrett County politics, such a wide, varied, and interested crop of candidates for so many public offices. We are fortunate indeed.

The commissioner race in the Oakland district will be especially interesting. One hears much criticism of Commissioner Butcher by some of the people who most ardently supported her four years ago. Why?

It will certainly be interesting to compare the many claims and promises for reform she made during the last campaign with her mask-like attitude and performance while in office. I'm sure we'll be hearing a lot more about this.

It should be fun.

Sincerely,

Robert E. Watson

To the Editor,

While visiting here at the lake I had the opportunity to read a letter to the editor from a young lady upset with the fact her husband was not "allowed" to get out of jail, with or without handcuffs, to attend the birth of her child.

My thoughts: What of the child who did not live to be a father or mother? What about the father who would never see his child born because his wife and child died in a car wreck? What about the grandparents and parents whose children will never have babies of their own to give them lasting memories? What about the young and old alike who may never live a "normal" life again because of lasting injuries, all due to drinking and driving?

I say, you do the crime you do the time. No special treatment for anyone who drinks and then drives. Thank you, Victoria Crites, Los Altos, Calif.

REVISED FINANCIAL PLAN

Herman discussed GCC's operating budget for fiscal years 1994-98 and showed the revisions in the plan for FY1995.

He noted the financial plan forecasts significant progress in the funding of capital projects, including the completion of a residence hall, roof replacement, additional parking space, technical center modifications, student center renovations, an academic building, and a child care center within the planning period. The only projects that may not be completed within the planning period are a gymnasium/wellness center and a Black Box Theater.

Completion of the scheduled projects should facilitate achievement of several strategic goals, Herman said, and the completion of the academic building and tech center renovation will substantially improve instructional quality; the renovation of the student center will improve the quality of student and academic advising, and the presence of the residence hall will increase out-of-county and out-of-state enrollment, helping the college realize increased tuition revenue.

Over the period of the planning window -- fiscal years 1994-98 -- the college forecasts $5.710 million being expended from all sources to support capital projects, Herman concluded.

OTHER BUSINESS

Herman told the board the GCC Personnel Manual is not quite ready for their review, but should be ready soon.

The board voted to authorize the signatures of Michelle Quinn and Steve Herman for all items of banking business at the college.

The board also approved the president's salary for the coming fiscal year to be $70,066.

There will be no open meeting of the board of trustees in August. The next scheduled meeting is Sept. 20 at the college.

day afternoon after a traffic stop made by Tfc. G.A. Seaman.

Robert J. Hudencheck was initially stopped for traveling 72 mph in a 55 mph zone. When the officer approached the vehicle, he detected an odor of suspected marijuana. Hudencheck consented to a search of his vehicle and the officer found a brown wooden smoking pipe and a clear plastic baggie containing a trace of suspected marijuana, resulting in his arrest.

Hudencheck was initially lodged in the Garrett County Jail, but has since posted $500 bond and was released.

DWI ARRESTS

Two arrests for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) were logged at the local state police barrack in the past week.

Benton Robert Kelly, 42, no address given, was arrested for DWI on July 14 by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater.

Kelly Gene Ipley, 26, no address given, was arrested and charged with DWI on July 16 by Tfc. W.L. Mowbray.

View From My Window

TWO YEARS LATER

July 18, 1992, was one of the hottest and most humid days of that summer. Unlike the summer we are now enjoying, the summer of 92 was so cool that some crops did not get all the heat units they needed to ripen properly. There was corn that fall which was completely brown and still shelled out at 25% moisture. On the one really hot day of that year, Deborah and I got married.

The intervening two years have not only provided some of the hottest and the coldest weather either of us have ever known, but also has provided such a variety of experiences that we feel more than two years married.

One radio financial advisor says never to build a house and get married the same year. We didn't exactly build a house, but we added 1,000 square feet to my house, and have been remodeling a good bit of the rest of it. That project is as old as our marriage. The books will remain open on it for some time to come.

It also feels like we have been moving for the entire two years. During our first year of marriage we maintained two households. My place wasn't ready for Deborah and her three children to occupy. Deborah's house was in Pennsylvania; I had to live in Maryland because of holding public office. The result was that I lived at my place in Maryland, and visited her and the kids in Pennsylvania.

Last August, the weekend before school started we moved Deborah and the kids to Maryland. It was nearly Halloween before we got most (and only most) of the boxes unpacked. We have made steady but small increments of improvement since then, but we have a way still to go.

Until last week Deborah had her house in Pennsylvania. She settled on the sale six days ago. We have 30 days to get any remaining property out of the barn on the property.

You get the idea. All of these special circumstances are on top of the usual things that go with having a family in the '90's, recreational programs, music lessons, falling off the porch and all the rest. They have been two exciting years for me, but with a still learning curve. Living with someone is itself revelatory. Living with four someones is just amazing.

I have learned a lot about why God set things up the way he did, namely that a man and woman get together in marriage first. They have time to get acquainted before a third party comes along that both of them need to know.

Married for two years with children, aged 9, 11, and 13, sounds like an impossibility. In the USA of 1994 it is a familiar circumstance. While not the ideal configuration, we have learned over two years that the step-family model can work, and happily. Like most other things in life it takes a little work and lots of mutual forbearance. "Love covers a multitude of sins," St. Peter said. It has to.

In addition to the menagerie of two beagles, four cats and four hens, we have added another six hens and one puppy of mixed parentage. Meredith, the 11-year old, had been promised a puppy for a year or more. First we couldn't get it because of the move. Then we couldn't get it because school was in, and who would train the puppy.

Three weeks ago the promise was fulfilled. Maebel -- Mabes, for short -- is a pretty dog with a smooth coat and fluffy ears. She's all black with just a touch of brown about her head which looks like a gleam of soft light. Mabes has already proven a delightful addition to our family. And since Deborah has trained the hens to stay off the porch, they aren't bad either.

We celebrated our second anniversary by taking a family vacation together. That seemed appropriate since I really did marry three kids as well as a wife. We took the top section of our wedding cake along with us. I know we were supposed to eat that last year, but we were too busy. Besides, we forgot we had it. When we moved things from the old deep freezer to the new, it reappeared.

In any case, it feels as if we are beginning our third first year of marriage. We have hardly settled ourselves. However one counts the years, we have had two good ones. Even though Deborah rang my bell the first time I saw her, I could not say that I ever fell in love with her. We have through our courtship and our marriage grown in love toward each other. So far as I can tell that is a better thing and certainly sweet.

"McNeill's Rangers" Underway; Oakland Resident Among Cast

The 10th anniversary season of "McNeill's Rangers," the original outdoor musical drama is now being presented at the Larenim Park Amphitheater near Burlington, W.Va., by the Apply Alley Players, Inc. "McNeill's Rangers" is the story of John Hanson McNeill, a Southern officer in the Civil War. McNeill commanded a ragtag band of Southern sympathizers who kept the Union forces on their toes by burning bridges, capturing supply wagons, and generally wreaking havoc throughout the area that is now Western Maryland and the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia.

McNeill's son, Jessie, portrayed by Oakland resident Kevin Bennear, joined his father in the cause when he became old enough to fight, and later went on to command the troops when friendly fire took his father to an early grave.

Bennear, a native of Elk Garden, is currently the director of St. Paul's United Methodist Church Choir. He is also a student at West Virginia University.

"The story is told with drama, humor, and lots of music and dancing, and has thrilled audiences for almost every summer since its packed-house premiere in 1984," stated one critic.

"McNeill's Rangers" opened July 14 and is scheduled for July 21-23 and 28-30, 8:30 p.m., at the Larenim Park Amphitheater. Tickets are $10 for adults and $7 for seniors and students, and are now available at the Farmers

Martial Arts Youth Wins Gold Medal

Tommy Adams, a resident of Aurora, and a member of the Mountaineer Tae Kwon Do Club, Morgantown, represented West Virginia at the National AAU Tae Kwon Do Championships in Toledo, Ohio, June 30-July 3.

After sparring (fighting) and eliminating his opponents, Tommy won the gold medal in the boys' Black Belt 11-12 Lightweight Division.

Since becoming a black belt in 1990, at age 8, under local instructor, Tony Artice of the Oakland Tae Kwon Do School, Tommy has competed in various tournaments and championships across the country.

Also in 1990, he traveled to San Antonio, Texas, where he took first place in the national TKD championships. From there, he went to Fort Worth, Texas, where he won the bronze medal at the National Junior Olympics. In 1992, at Des Moines, Iowa, he also earned a first place trophy.

Tommy will continue to pursue the art of Tae Kwon Do, along with various other sports and activities, in anticipation of upcoming tournaments and events, according to a family spokesperson.

Adult athletes who also traveled to Toledo to compete in the international games were Tony Logan, Steve Dodd and Shannan Heime. Logan won a gold medal, while Dodd and Heime both won silver medals. All three are from the surrounding area, practicing under Artice.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

AURORA ALUMNI WEEKEND

The annual Aurora School Alumni Weekend is this Saturday and Sunday, July 23 and 24. On Saturday a craft and bake sale will be held at the Aurora fire hall beginning at 9 a.m. Proceeds will benefit the Aurora School Reconstruction Fund. Persons who have not been contacted and wish to contribute to the sale, may contact Deloris Slawter or Ruby Kempher. At 7:30 that evening (Saturday) a time for socializing and reminiscing will be held, also at the fire hall. Refreshments will be available.

The Alumni Dinner will be held Sunday at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building at 1 p.m. Persons should bring a covered dish; table service and beverages will be provided. A short business meeting will follow the dinner.

Anyone who attended Aurora Schools or has a connection with them is welcome to any of these activities. Persons need not be graduates of Aurora High School.

CAR WASH, BAKE SALE
There will be a car wash and bake sale at the Aurora School on Saturday, July 23, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Sponsored by the Aurora Band Boosters, proceeds go to benefit the band.

AMBOY FESTIVAL
The annual Amboy United Methodist Church Festival will be held at the church grounds on Saturday evening, July 30.

There will be a choice of steak or chicken dinners, hot sandwiches, nachos and cheese, along with pies.

cakes and homemade ice cream. There will also be string music for entertainment. Serving will begin at 5 p.m.

FAMILY REUNIONS

The Bennett-Waybright families will meet for their annual reunion on Sunday, July 24 at Mt. Grove. Dinner will be served at noon. All friends are welcome also.

CLASS OF 1944

Omissions and mistakes haunt the writer of the report on the reunion of the Aurora High School Class of 1944 reunion. To repeat: In attendance were the following former students and spouses: Hassaleah Stemple Snyder, Jessie Myers Fedorow, Jack and Doris Sanders Adams, Junior and Doris Stemple, all of Aurora; Noma Strawser Rand and husband, Button, of Crewe, Va.; Virginia Shaffer Vanderpool and husband, Jesse of Baltimore; James and Freda Pennington, Oakland; Ellis and Helen Harsh, Bridge-water, Va.; Helen Bolyard Grigalunas and husband, Frank of Franklin, N.C.; Louise Lipscomb Jackson and daughter, Sharon, Rowlesburg; Nellie Harsh Dickenson, Richmond, Va.; Keith and Meredith Bolyard, Lima, Oh.; and Claude and Jean Winters, Egdon.

It was decided to have another reunion in two years. Classmates who failed to receive an invitation and persons who know of a class member who would like to attend are asked to contact Jessie Fedorow at Rt. 1, Box 1-B, Aurora, W.Va. 26706.

FESTIVAL PLANNED

Plans are in progress for the annual Mt. Grove Potluck Festival and this year there will be something new. Two days of festival entertainment and food are planned, September 10 and 11. Organizers are now taking reservations for craft tables or flea market tables. 10x10 foot space is $10 per day, $15 for both days, payable in advance. Persons may contact Mark Teets or Robert Helmick to make reservations.

CAMPERS HONORED

At final ceremonies on Friday night, the Preston County Older 4-H Camp made awards to special or outstanding campers. Jeremiah Feather was awarded the Hand II, Tim Harsh received the Lucky Penny; Sarah Snyder a Tribal Loyalty felt; and Shawn Rembold was one of the Alpha II 1995 scholarship recipients. Elizabeth Wotring served as sagamore and was awarded a green and white felt award and received a pin in Charting. Also receiving Charting pins were Becky Snyder and Katie Utterback.

The annual Horticulture Judging took place last Thursday, July 14, at Morgantown. Egdon Mountaineer had both a senior and junior team and two individuals, one in each division, entered in competition. The senior team was composed of Jeremiah Feather, Becky Snyder, Tim Harsh, and Kelly Kowalkoski, with Katie Utterback judging individually. Tim Harsh had the highest placing of any person in competition. The junior team members were Sarah Snyder, Matthew Bachtel, Melinda Teets, and Christopher Mullenax, with Adam Bachtel competing individually. The team placed third; Adam Bachtel was highest scoring individual.

West Virginia University hosts this competition and provides tours of the campus. Adults taking the members were Elaine Roth, Linda Snyder, and Renee Mullenax.

Food For Thought

by
Chef Francesco Pisano
McClive's Restaurant

Burgers and steaks are terrific—but have you tasted seafood cooked on the grill? For extra flavor, soak one or two branches of rosemary in water, then throw them on the fire.

Fancy touch for fruit salad: a sorbet "dressing." Dissolve 1 tsp gelatin in ¼ cup orange juice. Process with 1½ cups very ripe melon plus honey, vinegar and cinnamon to taste. Freeze 'til firm.

To test a lobster for doneness, break off one of the little legs and taste. If it's ready, so is the rest.

The clear liquid that separates out of yogurt or cottage cheese is whey (as in "curds and whey"). Don't throw it out. Stir it back in to keep the calcium, B vitamins and minerals it contains.

Now's the time to make your own flavored vinegars from the herb garden. Heat a pint of white wine vinegar almost to boiling. Add a spoonful of snipped herbs. Let stand a few weeks before using. Strain out the snippets and store in a clean bottle with a sprig of the herb.

Now's the time to treat the family cook---Mom, Dad or whomever to dinner out at

Garrett Legion Team Captures District Title

Behind a 16-hit barrage led by Bobby Fritz, the Garrett County American Legion baseball team, coached by Ed Wildesen, captured the 1994 Mountain District Junior American Legion Championship on Saturday by crushing host Fort Cumberland, 17-6.

The victory completed a sweep of sorts for the local team, which won the first half season crown with a 5-1 record.

Garrett County then rolled over Farrady Post of Frostburg Tuesday, 16-0, and will host Cumberland again today in a 5 p.m. contest.

Fritz went four-for-six Saturday against Fort Cumberland with a pair of RBI, as Garrett County came back from a 3-2 deficit by scoring a dozen runs in the fourth inning.

Paul Edwards added a double and a single for three RBI and also scored a pair of runs for Garrett. Josh Woods drove in three runs with a single and a sacrifice fly, Jeremy Fitzwater smacked a triple and a single, and Alan Sebold and Jason Sweitzer each recorded to hits and two runs scored.

Leading Cumberland's seven hit effort were Rich Haynes, who tripled and a singled, and Chad Roy, who connected for two singles.

The loss dropped Cumberland's second-half season record to 1-4.

In Tuesday's contest against host Farrady Post, the local team drew a total of 16 walks off three Frostburg pitchers. They also recorded six hits, while Jeff Martin and Mark Elliott combined on a three-hitter for Garrett County.

Edwards drove home two runs with a pair of triples to pace Garrett's offense, while Woods, Sebold, Matt Newcomb, and Brian Reams each scored twice. Elliott came home three times.

Central Garrett, Grantsville Out Of Tournament

The two Garrett County teams in the Bi-State Pony League saw their 1994 seasons come to an end Friday, as both Central Garrett and Grantsville were eliminated from the league semi-finals.

Central Garrett was ousted by Keyser Moose, 11-7, on the Keyser field, while Grantsville was edged, 3-2, by George's Creek in Lonaconing.

Leading the Keyser offense were Chip Mason, who homered, Jake Ellifritz, who doubled and singled, and Larry Hott, who added two singles. All three recorded three RBI. Blake Tasker contributed a double.

Jason King smacked a home run for Central Garrett (8-6), E.J. Schofield produced three hits, and Scott Sisler had two in an eight-hit effort.

The win was the 13th in 15 starts for Keyser Moose, who will meet George's Creek in the championship game.

It was a double by Josh Broadwater with two outs in the sixth inning that gave George's Creek its one-run victory over Grantsville.

John Miller added a run-producing triple and Joe Layman singled home the third run for George's Creek (11-4).

Bill Speicher and Cody Brenneman each singled for an RBI to account for Grantsville's two runs.

Grantsville concluded its season with a 9-0 record.

Oakland Upsets First Federal In Pen-Mar Action

Behind a strong pitching performance by Brett Rice, the Oakland Oaks handed First Federal only its second loss in 23 Pen-Mar Baseball League games, as the local team recorded a 10-5 win at home Sunday afternoon.

Rice and the rest of the Oaks were aided by two First Federal pitchers who issued 14 walks and allowed nine hits, while Rice struck out eight batters, scattered seven hits, and did not allow an earned run until the ninth inning.

Jeff Kuykendall finished with two RBI on three singles and also scored twice for the Oaks, while Chad Miller added a pair of singles.

Dave Yates and Tom Metz each rapped a double and a single for First Federal, with Yates crossing the plate twice.

The win improved Oakland's record to 6-13.

Member, Guest Golf Tourney Held At Wisp

The second annual Wisp Member Guest Tournament was held this past weekend at the Wisp course, as defending champions Tom McDonnell and Bob Purkey, both of Pittsburgh, successfully defended their title.

McDonnell and Purkey carded a 213 to record a three-stroke win over the teams of Mike Sipple and Steve LaRue, Meyersdale, Pa., and Doug Otto and Kevin Yutzy, Springs, Pa. The winners were each awarded a set of Titleist DTR metal woods and irons.

Major sponsors of the event were Titleist Golf and Rudy's at Wisp.

Oakland Team Will Play For District Title

The 11-12-year-old Oakland All-Stars have won four straight District I Tournament Games. They are undefeated and will host the District One championship game this Saturday, July 23, at 6 p.m. at Broadford Park.

Oakland played its first tournament game at Cumberland, Saturday, July 9, and defeated the Cumberland Dapper All-Stars, 9-6. The Oakland team showed long-ball power, with Josh Bosley hitting two home runs and Jason Hinebaugh, Jordan Uphold, and Christian Warfield also hitting homers. Jordan Uphold was the winning pitcher, holding Cumberland to six runs on seven hits. Oakland had nine hits.

Oakland traveled to Hagerstown on July 11 and defeated the National Little League All Stars. Toby Upton hit a grand slam home run and Todd Tasker hit a solo four-bagger. Josh Bosley, Christian Warfield, Mike Shahan, and Keith Parks each singled for Oakland. Josh Bosley was the winning pitcher, as he allowed only six hits.

Oakland returned to Hagerstown on July 13 and defeated the Sharpsburg All-Stars, 10-1. Oakland trailed 1-0 going into the 5th inning, when Jordan Uphold homered to tie the game. Jason Hinebaugh walked and Josh Bosley hit a two-run home run to put Oakland ahead 3-1. Justin DiSimone doubled with the bases loaded to score two more runs. Then Lance Tressler singled, Jordan Uphold doubled, and Christian Warfield and Jason Hinebaugh singled to scored five more runs and put Oakland up 10-1. Jason Hinebaugh was the winning pitcher, as he held Sharpsburg to one run on four hits.

Oakland traveled to Hagerstown for the third time on July 15 and defeated the American All-Stars, 11-7. Toby Upton hit a three-run homer in the bottom of the 5th inning with the score 8-7 to put Oakland in the lead to stay Mike Shahan hit a solo home run in the 3rd inning to put Oakland ahead 7-5. Hagerstown scored a single run in the 4th and 5th innings to tie the score.

In the 5th inning, Oakland scored a run on singles by Jordan Uphold and Jason Hinebaugh. Josh Bosley reached first base on an error and Upton unloaded the bases with his home run.

Christian Warfield had one double and three singles in four trips to the plate for Oakland. Jordan Uphold, Jason Hinebaugh, and Toby Upton each had two hits, while Josh Bosley had a double. Todd Tasker and Justin DiSimone singled for Oakland. Jordan Uphold was the winning pitcher, his second win of the tournament, holding Hagerstown to seven runs on nine hits.

Local fans are invited to come out Saturday, to support the Oakland team in the District One playoffs.

Golf Tournament To Benefit NHS Boosters Slated

The sixth annual Northern Athletic Boosters Golf Tournament will be held Tuesday, Aug. 2, at the Wisp Resort course in McHenry.

The format for the tournament will be a four-person scramble best ball, according to Tom Vent, director. Registration will begin at 11 a.m. and there will be a shotgun start of the tourney at noon.

The $50 per person entry fee will cover all green fees, cart rental, food, beverages, and prizes. The top three finishers in both low gross and low net, as well as those closest to the pin on the par-three holes, will be awarded prizes. Various door prizes will also be given away.

The deadline to register for the tournament is July 25. Registration forms and additional information may be obtained from Vent at P.O. Box 536, Grantsville, MD 21536.

All proceeds from the tournament benefit the various programs supported by the Northern Athletic Boosters.

"Danker Schein... that means "Thank You"
So says Arty in the recent production of Neil Simon's "Lost in Yonkers" presented for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, and this is a belated "Thank You" to all those who contributed to the production.

To the Board of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival who asked us to perform.
To the Cast and Crew who gave generously of their time and talent.
To Dan Ledden for his skill in lighting and sound - and for his detailed direction without which there would have been no viable production.
To Ben Sincell, whose talent for authenticity and detail, and hard work, provided the Brooklyn apartment over Kurnitz's Candy Store.
To Bob Miller, Flexatrol Lighting, Pittsburgh - who "just decided to weekend at Swallow Falls" to bring lighting equipment I couldn't manage to travel to acquire.
To John Irving - Irving's Upholstery and Firearms - for equipping Louie with a gun holster.
To Vesta Enlow for the loan of clothes fitting for "Grandma," for an interesting visit wherein I learned a lot about Garrett County - and to Mary Bowman for putting me in touch.
To Brenda at "Just Us" Beauty Salon in Accident for the authentic hair style that helped create "Grandma."
To those persons who provided '40's radio, fan, suitcase and other memorabilia.
To Rodney Gloffely for the loan of his suit, and to Joan Sussman for her consultation.
And - to you the audience without which there would be no need to perform.

Area Speedway Review

Somerset County Speedway

Heavy rain right at race time caused the cancellation of all events last Friday night at Somerset County Speedway.

Races will resume this Friday night, July 22, with gates opening at 5:30 p.m. and races beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Interstate 79 Speedway

Rick Eckert ran the inside groove for 30 laps to take $3000 back to York, Pa., as the STARS late models came to Interstate 79 Speedway on Sunday evening for the second race in the West Virginia State Championship Series.

Forty-five cars took times with Charlie Swartz setting the quickest at 15.04. The four heat races gave the fans a preview of what the A-Main would be like later on as the drivers battled for the top three spots which gave them a starting spot in the field. Winning the heats were Steve Shaver, Bart Hartman, Tim Hitt, and Michael Smith.

The dash found the top six qualifiers shooting for the front row starting spots. John Mason got the win ahead of Eckert, Nathan Durboraw, Steve Francis, Swartz, and Davey Johnson.

Two B-Main wins were picked up by Butch McGill and Jackie Boggs. Mike Balzano was the high point man from STARS not making the show through the heats along with Sonny Stutler, the high points man from I-79.

On the first lap of the feature event, Mason got loose and as he tried to straighten the car, Hitt and Nick Jones spun. This brought out the first of several cautions. Eckert then assumed the point and never had any competition as he led every lap. In victory lane, Eckert said that soft tires and the low groove he was running gave him the edge. Following Eckert across the line were Shaver, Francis, Swartz, and Chub Frank. Rounding out the top ten were Joe Meadows, Johnson, Durboraw, Steve Lucas, and Boggs.

During the evening, Donnie Moran took George Toothman of Shinnston, W.Va., for a ride in his two-seater late model after Toothman won a raffle which benefited Special Olympics. Moran did not make the show after a driveshaft broke during his heat and he had to run the B-Main.

Mike Lewis grabbed the win in the 4-Cylinder Stock Class over Tommy Pennington and Dave Summers. Dave Groves, driving the Kevin Rogers UMP modified, got the win ahead of Mike Wilson and Kevin Jones. In the Pure Stock Main, Jim Byers was chased to the line by Jim Shaffer and Mike Cuppett.

Cumberland Raceway

Bob Salathe, of Bedford, Pa., won the Ponderosa Steak House Late Model Feature at the Cumberland Raceway. Jack Pencil, also of Bedford, won the Hamilton Dodge Semi-late Feature, his first win this year at Cumberland, and Bill Buchanan, of Cumberland, got his third win in the Pure Stock Feature. All features had inverted starts.

There were 20 Late Models, 24 Semi-lates and 45 Pure Stocks in the pits for Gattling's Auto Stores Night. District Manager Paul Buskirk gave extra money to all three feature winners, plus trophies and hats to the top three finishers in all three classes.

In the 20 lap Ponderosa Late Model Feature, Al Richards, making his first start at Cumberland, started on the pole and had a big lead until the first caution flag came out on lap 13. Richards held the lead until the fourth caution came out on lap 19. Bob Salathe, the current point leader, who started ninth, had the fans cheering when he passed Richards coming out of turn two for his second win at Cumberland. Al Richards was second, followed by Wayne Johnson, Charlie Schaffer, Scott Brode, Tom Clise, Bob Hershman, Randy Kimmel, J.R. Keifer, and Chuck Clise. Heat winners were Bob Hershman and Bob Salathe. "The Gang" and Lambert's Auto Service gave Salathe $110 bonus, making the win worth $1210.00.

DRIVER OF THE WEEK-BRIAN TAYLOR—One of the most consistent runners in the Pure Stock Class this year at the Somerset County Speedway is Brian Taylor. Brian, who is 20 years old, has been racing for two years at the Meyersdale track and has also made appearances at Interstate 79 Speedway and Elkins Motor Speedway. His 1980 Monte Carlo was built by "Sweaty" Bolyard, who is also on his pit crew along with Bill Taylor and Jim Thomas. The blue number 50 is owned by Brian and his father, Bill. Brian is employed by W.C. Taylor, Inc., one of his sponsors. Other sponsors are: Briery Mt. Hardwoods, J.B. Logging, Cheat River Wood Products, B & S Scrap, East Preston Tire, and Dream Images Hair Salon. Brian has earned two second place wins this year, and says he's still looking for a checkered flag. His goal for the year is to finish among the top 10 in points. Brian, who is single, lives in Cornith, W.Va.

In the 18-lap Hamilton Dodge Semi-late Feature, Brian Lowery drove his best race of the season at Cumberland. Lowery held off the pack until lap 16, when Allen Buckley, who started eighth, got the lead. Fans were on their feet as Jack Pencil got under Buckley coming out of turn four on the last lap for the win. A stunned Buckley finished second, followed by Brian Lowery, Shane Beagle, Lynn Ogden, Donnie Witt, Gary Kimmel, Dave Troutman, Dave Carlheim, and Rod Cannon. Heat winners were Bob Elbin and Jack Pencil. A pile-up on lap nine on the front stretch took out point leader Jim Deneen, Bob Gordon, Barry Willson and Buddy VanMeter.

In the Pure Stock Feature, current point leader Allen Stone went out to the front in his Roy Rogers #01. Stone led until there were two laps to go, when Bill Buchanan, who started eighth, passed Stone for the lead and the win. Stone finished second, followed by Darras Deneen, Johnny Harr, Troy Harrison, Don Nicholson, Dennis Sponaugle, Jim Snyder, Wally Mowry, and J.R. Isner. Heat winners were Darras Deneen, Wally Mowry, Bill Buchanan, and Troy Harrison. The Conky winner was Gary Howell.

There will be NO racing Saturday, July 23. There will be racing on Sunday, July 24 at 6 p.m. during the Allegany County Fair. The first Annual Allegany County Fair 50-lap Championship for Semi-lates paying $1,000 to win and Pure Stocks paying $500 to win. Spectators pay $7.00. Fair admission which includes free rides from 1 to 8 p.m. and admission to the races. Gates open at noon.

The Fan of the Week was R.C. Diehl, of Wiley Ford, W.Va., the Jr. Fan Club winner was Jared Nicholson, of Addison, Pa., and the Tri-State Racing Photos Hard Charger Award went to Jack Pencil.

Former Winston Cup Champion Benny Parsons will be at the Cumberland Raceway on Saturday, July 30. Parsons is now a NASCAR analyst for ESPN.

Elkins Motor Speedway

Don't say "thirteen" within earshot of Tim Hitt. Better yet, don't say "Frank Wilson." It seems that every time Wilson's #13 late model is near, Hitt falters.

In what can only be described as deja vu of their close race from July 2, Hitt gave up a strong lead to Frank Wilson Saturday night and allowed the Pennsboro driver his third consecutive late model feature victory at Elkins Motor Speedway.

Also in victory lane Saturday night were Semi-late driver, Jerry Haseleu, Pure Stocker, Bill Tinscher, and first time winners, Larry Speicher in the Four-Cylinder Stocks, and Greg Wilt in the UMP Modifieds.

Four of Elkins' best started the $1,500, 30-lap Late Model Feature with Hitt on the pole, Wilson in second, four-time winner, Denny Chamberlain, third and Beverly's, Chuck Harper, fourth. Hitt led strong through six laps, gaining as much as a full straight-away in distance from Frank Wilson, only to have the lead squandered by three different cautions. Then on lap seven something happened to Hitt's car on the back straight. A blaze of blue fire shot from under the front of the car and Hitt lost power. Wilson shot past, then Chamberlain, then Harper. Finally, after coasting into turn four and nearly coming to a stop, Hitt found the ignition and picked up speed in the seventh spot.

Still something was wrong. Hitt scraped the front concrete retaining wall twice in 10 laps, throwing sparks in front of an exhilarated crowd who were enjoying the Weston driver's ability to recapture six spots in 12 laps. But the rush from Hitt was not enough. Wilson's lead was too large and even a caution on lap 19 could not deter his victory. Hitt retained second, Sonny Stutler, now driving for Ace Metal Works, was third, fourth went to John Ward, his best finish in two years, and fifth was Chuck Harper.

In a grueling Semi-late Feature race battle, Danny Hamrick led until lap 12 when a caution scrambled the field and left Jerry Haseleu in prime position to take and keep the lead on the back straight.

For 12 laps, four cars scratched and clawed their way for position. Hamrick, Scott Miles, Rick Strickler and Haseleu were nearly four abreast in the turns as each driver tried Hamrick's lead. On lap 13, Miles lost control out of turn four, drove the length of the front straight in the grass and, upon regaining control, found himself five places back. Fortunately, before the lap was complete, Rick Strickler lost it between turns three and four and ended up stalled in the infield. A caution dropped for Strickler and Miles regained the third spot upon restart. One time around after the race continued had Haseleu nosing out Hamrick for the lead and eventual win. Hamrick, Miles, Shawn Davis and Bernard Keene rounded out the top five.

Greg Wilt outlasted assaults by Roy Gibson Jr. and Kenny Vincent in the UMP Modified feature to win his first race of the year.

In the pure stock feature, a tenth lap tangle between Kenny Reed and John Smith Jr. in turn four sent Bill Tinscher to the checkered flag for his second victory of the season.

In the Four-Cylinder Feature, it was first-timer, Larry Speicher ahead of Tommy Pennington and Hayward Baker for the win.

Sailboat Racing Is Usually A "Family Affair"

by Hurry Filemyr
Sailboat racing in two "man" dinghies has always been a family sport. The perennial problem of getting a steady crew is often solved by marrying one. When Sandy Douglass designed the Flying Scot as a family boat, he specifically had in mind the husband-wife team. It is no coincidence that one of this class's perpetual trophies is named for his wife, Mary. Even in the single-handed Lasers, the majority of sailors have relatives in the Flying Scots. But not just husband-wife teams are racing. John Meredith has been able to dominate the fleet with his mother, Barbara, crewing. Bruce Spinnenweber showed what could be done, gathering trophies with 10-year-old daughter, Lauren. This weekend Bruce added another generation by including his father, Bob, with 7-year-old son, Brian, and sailed to first and third place finishes. In the first race on Saturday, Kevin Russell did a "horizon job" on the Laser fleet. "I had my own wind all the way," he said later. "I only tacked once all the way to mark #6 (Paradise Point)."

Sometimes sailors find winds; and sometimes winds find sailors. In the Scot A fleet, as Phil Hanna explained, "We made a good start, but after two tacks we were last. So when we went by the point I figured that if they all went over there, I would go over here, in the middle of the lake, because I had nothing to lose. And then we just sailed by everyone and rounded '6' first."

He was eventually passed by John Meredith, but for the Hannas, second place was a moral victory.

All weekend, large, long duration wind shifts provided race course conditions that weren't planned. Beats became reaches, reaches became runs, and runs became beats. The solace of the race commander is to only ask the winners how they hiked the course. Jack Carpenter and Lynn Workmeister, both winners, assured the writer that "the course was great!"

On Sunday, Sally Carpenter and Jane Mahan took the helms of their boats in A Fleet competition. Could they be practicing for the mid-August Women's Regatta?

Saturday, First Race

Lasers - Kevin Russell, first; Dan Rubel, second; and Keith MacMillan, third.

Flying Scot - A Fleet - John and Barbara Meredith, first; Phil and Helen Hanna, second; Dick and Sally Gregory, third.

Flying Scot - B Fleet - Mo and Vicki Willey, first; Ed and Barbara Peters, second; and Al and Jean Thagard, Jane Workmeister, third.

Saturday, Second Race

Lasers - Keith Spinnenweber, first; Kevin Russell, second; John Coolidge, third.

Flying Scout - A Fleet - Jack and Sally Carpenter, first; John and Barbara Meredith, second; Bruce, Brian and Bob Spinnenweber, third.

McKicks Soccer
Show Slated At Frostburg State

Local McDonald's restaurants will be presenting the "McKicks" Soccer Show on Monday, July 25 beginning at 3 p.m. on the Soccer Field at Frostburg State University.

The McKicks show is an hour-long interactive youth soccer show that includes games and prizes. Presenting the show will be "Soccer Tom" Mulroy, a legend in the soccer world and recognized nationally as one of soccer's top clinicians. He played internationally for 13 years, and held the world record for juggling a soccer ball with 12,229 touches without a miss. Mulroy has also appeared on ESPN "Just for Kicks" TV show and "Nickelodeon" (USA Network).

"Soccer Tom's" show includes practical instruction, extensive audience participation, raffles, and prizes. The show is open to the general public and is free of charge. A special guest appearance will be made by Ronald McDonald.

SHS Football Season Tickets To Be Sold By New Method This Year

The sale of season tickets for the Southern Rams football season will be handled in a new fashion this year, according to a spokesperson for the school. In the past, telephone calls to previous subscribers have been made for renewal purposes, but no calls will be made this year.

Persons who wish to purchase a season ticket for this year should come to the main office at Southern High School on August 1, beginning at 9 a.m., and see Betty Liller.

The season tickets are $15 each (for both adults and students), which includes entry to the five home games, a reserved seat, and parking behind Dennett Road Elementary School. All proceeds from the ticket sales will go toward the school's Athletic Association, which benefits all of Southern's sports, the spokesperson said.

The season tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Previous subscribers should not expect a telephone call this year, but instead are instructed to go to the school on August 1 to obtain their tickets.

Women Golfers Select Flight Play On July 14

Flight Play was the play of the Oakland Golf Club's Women's Association on July 14, with that date also being the start of the Championship Tournament, best two games out of three.

In the First Flight, Karen Browning carded an 80 for low gross, while Marianna Naylor won low net with 73. Pat Filsinger won low putts for the flight with 25 putts.

Martha Lou Ashby won low gross in the Second Flight with 96 gross, while Betty Humberson took low net honors with 76.

In the Third Flight, Helen Nordeck won low gross with a total of 108, while Sherry Grant won low net with a net 74. Low putt honors were shared by Sherry Grant and Celeste Lascaris who both had 34 putts.

Jo Cook won low gross in the Fourth Flight with a score of 113, and she also took low putts with a total of 30.

The Championship Tournament will continue until July 28.

Speicher To Play Basketball And Golf At GCC

Rob Speicher, a standout basketball player and four year starter for Northern High School, will continue his athletic and academic career at Garrett Community College.

Speicher broke the career school record for assists with 372, finished second in steals with 115, and third in free throw percentage averaging 73%. In addition, he ranks eighth in two point field goal percentage at 46%, and scored a career 858 points placing him 10th in overall scoring in NHS history.

Speicher was named first team Mid-Appalachian League for four consecutive years. In his senior year he was named second team All-Area and was selected to the Maryland All Stars. In the All-Star game vs West Virginia, he scored 14 points and had 11 assists.

"Rob had a great career at Northern," remarked Northern head coach, Harvey Speicher. "He finished his high school career ranked in the top ten in six career statistics despite a knee injury in the first game of his senior year which sidelined him for six games. I feel Rob works he can contribute to the GCC program."

"I think Rob could develop into a good player at the college level. He handles the ball well, can hit the open shot, and is an excellent free throw shooter," commented GCC coach, Dennis Gibson. "He needs to work on strength and his right hand but we recruited him with the intention of developing him. A bonus is that Rob is also a very good golfer and will be an asset in that sport also."

Speicher is a son of Harvey and Barbara Speicher, Bumble Bee Road.

Jamison stated that two other county organizations have applied for C.D.B.G. funds this year. Community Action has applied for a grant to fund the construction of a 32 unit apartment complex for low income families and Appalachian Crossroads has sought funds to purchase the old Shaffer Ford building to use as a site for programs for the physically and mentally handicapped.

According to Jamison, programs seeking a C.D.B.G. grant must either
